BURGLARS

Riddle Ohio Farmer's House With Bullets.

Robbed It After Scaring Occupants Away.

Little Mountain, Ohio, April 5.—A large posse of farmers, armed with shotguns and accompanied by dogs, is today searching the surrounding country for three men who late last night riddled the house of John Lemon with bullets. While the Lemon family were entertaining a party of neighbors, three men, supposed to be members of the gang that robbed the Chardon bank Wednesday night, rapped at the door of the Lemon house and asked for food and drink.

Upon being refused, the strangers drew revolvers and began to fire rapidly into the house. One bullet rippled through Lemon's coat. More shots followed in rapid succession, the bullets crashing through the doors and windows, breaking pictures and lamps. Lemon and his guests were unarmed, and escaped as quickly as possible through rear doors to a nearby house.

At daybreak Lemon returned, to find his household effects overturned and scattered and $100, all the money he had, missing. Meanwhile the country for miles around had been aroused, and farmers turned out with their dogs and guns. Their search for the gang has so far been unsuccessful, however.

MINISTERS IN THE DARK

Pekin, April 5.—On one subject the members of the Russian legation claim to know nothing, and that is the Manchurian question. The feeling at the other legations is that Russia is bound to do something or lose prestige with the Chinese. The members of the British legation in particular are satisfied that in spits of China's refusal to sign the Manchurian agreement, she will soon sign something similar in order to protect her own interests and have even nominal control of Manchuria, which is now practically Russian territory.

The ministers think the island of Ku-Lang-Su concession just agreed upon extremely valuable, as the island can be controlled absolutely as far as sanitary and other measures are concerned, and will become largely a residential quarter for foreigners. It will be entirely under international control.

The ministers and other foreigners consider the fortifications of the German legation excessive, and believe it to be the reason for the Chinese court not returning to Pekin. A deep and wide moat has been dug on two sides of the legation premises. The barracks on the new legation grounds are well under way, including those of the American legation.

The bodies of thirty-two United States soldiers, including the remains of Capt. R. B. Paddock of the Sixth U. S. cavalry and Capt. H. J. Riley of Battery F, Fifth U. S. artillery, were shipped this morning to Taku, where they will be placed on board a vessel for transportation to the United States. The bodies were placed upon the train with imposing military ceremonies.

HAS STRONG POSITION

While Russia Blames Powers For China's Refusal to Sign Treaty She Rests Quietly In Inpregnable Position.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—As previously pointed out in these dispatches, Russia now blames the powers for China's refusal to accept the conditions of the evacuation of Manchuria, and calmly says she is in no hurry and can await events. The unbiased opinion here is that Russia occupies an impregnable diplomatic position from which nobody can dislodge her. However warlike Japan may feel, Russia is confident that no opportunity will be given her to take the offensive without placing herself in the wrong. As far as can be seen, Japanese threats have not caused a ripple of excitement here.

IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

The State Department Has Received an Important Communication From Russia That Creates a Most Favorable Impression.

Washington, April 5.—The United States government has received a communication from the government of Russia of unusual importance. It bears on conditions in China, and particularly those relating to Manchuria. The document has created a profoundly favorable impression, and at the state department it is looked upon as the most salutary development that has occurred for many months in the Eastern situation. Secretary Hay received the communication from Count Cassini last night and communicated it to the president. Although the terms of the Russian communication are withheld, it is known that Russia takes occasion to give strong assurances of her disinterested purposes throughout her dealings with China. As to Manchuria it is stated that Russia's course never has varied in the determination to leave that province as an integral part of China and to retire the Russian troops as rapidly as safety will permit. But, as a more signal evidence of Russia's purposes and as an evidence of the emperor's devotion to the principle of peace, assurances of a definite and satisfactory character are now given as to the execution of these purposes. The belief is held in official quarters that the assurances of Russia are so sweeping as completely to avert the threatened crisis in Manchuria.

DEIGNAN

Who Was With Hobson Is Appointed as Boatswain.

Washington, April 5.—The president today made the following appointments:

Navy—Rush R. Wallace, Jr., to be a first lieutenant in the marine corps; John S. Doddridge, to be a lieutenant; Thomas Lutzstitt, to be an ensign; Conrad W. L. Junquist, to be a gunner; Clayton P. Hand, a carpenter; Frederick R. Hazzard, a boatswain; Arthur Smith, to be a boatswain; Osborn Deignan, to be a boatswain.

Osborn Deignan, who is appointed boatswain, is one of the sailors who accompanied Naval Constructor Hobson on the famous Merrimac expedition into Santiago bay while the harbor was being blockaded by the American fleet. It was the desire of the president to reward Deignan for his bravery on that occasion by appointing him a naval cadet at Annapolis, but it was found that he was not eligible.

A PROTEST

Against Paying Chinese Indemnity By Increasing Tariff.

Shanghai, April 5.—The China association has cabled to London a protest against the proposal to pay the Chinese indemnity by an increase of the tariff. The association claims that although such an increase is possibly practicable it should remain for future settlement as an increased tariff is calculated to deprive the commercial powers of means of redress for treaty grievances and is also detrimental to the expansion of trade. The association considers that the honest collection of the present native sources of revenue will adequately provide for the payment of the indemnity.

FLEET SAILS.

MOULTON IS IN A PITIABLE STATE

Young Southerner Who Tried to Shoot May Buckley Is Mad.

The Actress Claims All the Property In the Moulton Flat.

New York, April 5.—Robert Hayden Moulton, the Southerner who shot two theatrical managers while trying to shoot May Buckley, an actress, in a rathskeller two weeks ago, is in a pitiable state in Bellevue hospital. He does not realize where he is and does not seem to have enough mental power to recognize anyone except his mother.

The furniture which has been taken out of the magnificent West Twenty-sixth street flat, supposed to have been conducted by Robert H. Moulton, is alleged to belong to Miss May Buckley, the actress with whom the young Tennessean was infatuated. This statement was made by Herman Fromme, the attorney.

This puts, if true, an entirely different phase on the relations between Miss Buckley and Moulton. The impression has prevailed since Moulton tried to shoot Miss Buckley and wounded Mr. Leffingwell and Mr. Dingwall, that the young man had spent several thousand dollars on Miss Buckley. If Mr. Fromme can prove that she owns this furniture, it would tend to show that the young Southerner was not the only spender when he kept a flat in a style becoming a banker earning $50,000 a year.

The expensive furniture on which Moulton borrowed $400 from two different money-lending concerns has been seized by George Kline, city marshal, and he is holding it until the courts decide who owns it.

It has been supposed to belong solely to Moulton, and the only legal question believed to be at issue was as to which of the money lending concerns had the first mortgage.

Miss Buckley, it seems, will endeavor to prove that the furniture was purchased for her by her aunt, who was with her when Moulton tried to kill her in the Pabst Rathskeller. It was brought here from Grand Rapids and placed in the flat, so Miss Buckley will allege, at the aunt's expense, and the actress was to pay off the debt in installments.

There is no doubt about the flat having been decorated by a woman, and one of some taste. It had none of the ear marks of a man's idea of fitting up a house. The question of ownership will probably come up before the Tenth municipal court in a few days.

The Borough Mortgage company, having attached all the furniture, Marshal Kline has removed it from the flat and is holding it until the court releases it. The Equitable Loan company, which advanced Moulton money with the furniture as security, is fighting against the Borough Mortgage company, and now that Miss Buckley has engaged counsel, both of these loan concerns may lose their loans.

Miss Buckley was out of the city when Moulton mortgaged the furniture, and he told the loan companies it belonged to him. Mr. Fromme ridicules the assertion that he owned even one rocking chair, or that he even spent any money on Miss Buckley.

MISS MAY BUCKLEY,

Now Appearing In the "Price of Peace" at a New York Theater.

DISCOVERY

Of New Preservative That Excels Anything Heretofore Known.

Copenhagen, March 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A Danish butter maker has discovered a new preservative which excels everything in that line heretofore known. By means of this preparation it is possible to preserve butter, meats and all kinds of perishable merchandise. Experiments show that butter, for instance, can be preserved, melted and cooled off again without losing any of its freshness. It can also be placed among goods that are decomposing or contain rank odors without being affected. The preparation is not injurious from a sanitary point of view and will, it is believed, create a revolution in the shipping of perishable merchandise.

The close commercial relations between the United States and Denmark constantly bring up new interests in different fields, and now goods are constantly added to the list of imports. Recently the large landed proprietors have commenced to introduce American quail on their estates. The Danish quail is a migratory bird, and for that reason the Danes wish to get a variety that stay all the year around, which the American does. Among those having purchased a large number of birds are Count Frijts and Baron Reedtz-Thott the former premier of Denmark.

FIRE IN ST. PAUL.

Feldhauser Residence Completely Destroyed By Fire.

St. Paul, April 5.—Fire completely destroyed the residence of Edward Feldhauser, 2268 Dooley avenue, St. Anthony Park, at 4:30 o'clock this morning, causing a loss of $40,000. The residence and contents are insured for $24,500, of which $8500 was on the contents Members of the family were forced to flee from the house in their night robes.

The origin of the fire is not known. The destroyed residence was a large three-story frame structure, built a dozen years ago by W. T. McMurran, and later owned and occupied by former Governor William R. Marshall. For the last few years it has been occupied by Joseph Eisinger. Mr. Feldhauser recently purchased the residence and moved into it last Saturday.

TROOPS TO REMAIN.

Paris, April 5.—It is understood here that in consequence of China's refusal to sign the Manchurian agreement, Russia is about to send a circular to the powers explaining that, owing to the unsettled conditions in Manchuria, her troops will continue to occupy that territory until order is established.

CLAY SHOOTS.

Irascible Old Genera Fires a Few Shots at Sheriffs.

St. Louis, April 5.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Valley View, Ky., says Gen. Cassius M. Clay today refused to admit to the famous White Hall mansion Deputy Sheriff Collier and two other deputies who had gone there from Richmond to serve a writ of delivery sent by Mary Clay for furniture. A fusilade between Gen. Clay and the deputies ensued during which fifteen shots were fired. It is not known whether any one in the Clay mansion was hurt, as neighbors fear to enter the premises. None of the shots fired at the deputies took effect.

GOING TO THE "PEN"

Goldstein Will Be Taken to Stillwater Tomorrow.

Full Time Will Keep Him In Until 1933.

Can Save About Seven Years If He Behaves.

Joseph Goldstein will leave the shelter of the county jail tomorrow morning, after a residence there for several months that has been full of incident, and will during the day enter upon a residence of thirty-two years at Stillwater, where he will be an inmate of the state penitentiary. Goldstein is now 26 years of age; when he gets out, if he serves his full term, he will be 58. It is now 1901, and when his term expires it will be 1933, and in that time an unlimited number of events may happen. Even if the trusts gets so powerful that all the world will be living on their charity, he will not have to worry, because everything will be provided for him at state expense. He will not have to scheme to make a living by the use of his ready revolver and nimble fingers, trained to the trade of a pickpocket, but he will be trained to hard and steady work, day in and day out, with no chance to converse with others except at stated intervals. He will first serve a sentence of five years for attempting to commit grand larceny in the first degree. When that crime is atoned for, he will serve ten years for making an assault upon Deputy Sheriff Frank L. Magie; when that is done he will serve another ten years for making a similar assault upon Deputy Sheriff H. N. Randall, and when that second ten years is over he will begin to serve his last sentence, one of seven years for escaping from the lawful custody of an officer.

If Goldstein behaves himself he can cut down the total of thirty-two years considerably, good behavior counting considerably to reduce the sentence. It has been estimated that if his conduct is clear all through he can get about seven years off for good behavior.

Deputy Sheriff Bates left this afternoon for Stillwater with Abner Hammond, who goes to serve a sentence of nine months for assault in the second degree.

MINING LEASES.

A Rather Peculiar One Is Filed.

The Mesaba Central Land and Exploration company has given O. D. Kinney an option for a lease on the e½ of the nw¼ of section 14-58-19, good until July 1. The proposed lease provides for a royalty of 15 cents and a minimum output of 40,000 tons per annum.

This option, and another mining transaction were filed yesterday afternoon in the office of the register of deeds. The other is rather a peculiar deal partaking of the nature of a deed as well as of a lease. The Munro Iron company, the C. M. Hill Lumber company, O. D. Kinney, J. T. Hale, E. C. Gridley, J. H. Upham and B. T. Hale sell the sw¼ of the nw¼ of section 2-58-16 to the Biwabik Mining company. The deed states that the parties of the first part believe there is 100,000 tons of ore on the property, and maybe more. The price paid is $15,000, and that is understood to pay for heat amount of ore. If it turns out that there is more, they are to be paid 25 cents a ton for it, and the Biwabik company is to get out a minimum of 30,000 tons a year. The Biwabik Mining company is operating a mine north of the property.

NOT FOUND YET.

No Trace of the Missing McCormack Boy.

New York, April 5.—Notwithstanding the statements made by Capt. Titus of the detective bureau, that detectives would return Willie McCormack to his parents within a short time, the boy who disappeared from his home in High Bridge nine days ago, had not returned up to 1 o'clock today, nor had any trace of his whereabouts been discovered. The mystery surrounding the disappearance of the boy deepens with time, and all efforts to unravel it are hindered by the many conflicting stories told.

WORD FROM LOOMIS.

Will Sail From La Guayra on Sunday.

Washington, April 5.—The state department has been informed by Minister Loomis that he will sail from La Guayra on the Scorpion Sunday. This would bring him at San Juan about Wednesday following, and at Hampton Roads about April 18, if he makes close connection at San Juan.

Copies of the brief prepared by the Warner-Quinlan syndicate as the basis for their proceedings in the high court of Venezuela against the New York and Burmedese Asphalt company, have been received here. The brief is substantially the same as that laid before the state department by ex-Senator Hiscock of counsel for the Warner-Quinlan syndicate. It was submitted on March 21 and the expectation was that the court will issue the necessary citations to secure the appearance of the New York and Burmedese company within a few days following.

PUTS IN HIS CLAIM

J. B. Richards Asks the County For Five Thousand Dollars.

Intimates That He Will Settle For a Smaller Amount.

Petitions For More Commissioners Not Yet In.

The application of former City Attorney J. B. Richards for compensation for his services in collecting delinquent personal property taxes of the Duluth Gas and Water company, amounting to $60,000 for the years 1894, 1895, 1896 and 1897 will come before the board of county commissioners at its meeting this afternoon once more, and it is probable that this time the board will allow something for his work, though not the full amount of his claim. It will be remembered that when the tax matter was up County Attorney Phelps did not believe it possible to recover on the county's claim for taxes, so Mr. Richards took the matter up, confident that the full amount could be secured, and won out in the courts. At that time an application was made for remuneration for his work, but Mr. Phelps disapproved of the claim, holding that Mr. Richards was only doing his duty as city attorney in looking after the city's interests.

In his application Mr. Richards states that this money would not have been recovered if it had not been for his efforts, and that as a direct result of this litigation over $20,000 additional has come into the county treasury since then. It also established a legal precedent meaning many thousands of dollars to the county in the future. He states that if the commissioners consider $6000 too much, he is willing to make any reasonable concession to avoid dispute and litigation.

Some of the commissioners at least favor granting Mr. Richards compensation, though none of those talked with this morning had made up their mind to any definite amount. Some suggested as low as $5000, while others spoke of as high as $8000, or half the amount of the claim.

The matter of redistricting the county in accordance with the terms of the law passed at the present session of the legislature giving the county two more commissioners will probably not come up at this afternoon's meeting. Up to noon no petitions asking for the redistricting had come into the auditor's office. Even if one came in time for the meeting, the board will probably take a month to investigate the matter and see that the signers are all right, as there is no particular hurry about making the change.

A copy of a set of resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the town of New Independence was filed with the auditor this morning. They express approval and gratitude over the action of the board in turning down the application of M. A. Hayes for a license to run a saloon at Burnett.

J. P. Johnson, clerk of district court, has filed a statement showing earnings in his office during March amounting to $1002.60, divided as follows: Certificates, $61.30; sundries, $324.05; civil cases, $273.80; criminal cases, $185.45; naturalization papers, $40; marriage licenses, $118.

IS A BOUNCER.

C. W. Wilson's Twelve-Year-Old 215 Pound Daughter.

Duluth can proudly lay claim to the largest 12-year-old girl in America. St. Louis, Chicago, New York and other cities have been quarreling for several months over which has the larger policeman and fireman, but it is doubtful if any city other than Duluth can produce a 12-year-old girl weighing 215 pounds.

Her name is Esther Wilson. She is a daughter of President C. W. Wilson of the board of public works, and lives at 2015 West Fourth street. She is an exceptionally pretty girl and despite her 215 pounds avoirdupois, is well proportioned and enjoys splendid health. She is over 5 feet 6 inches tall.

When but 8½ years of age Miss Wilson weighed 135 pounds, while her mother only weighed ninety-nine at the time. At present Miss Wilson only weighs four pounds less than her father, who is fully two inches taller and thirty years her senior.

A brother of this remarkable girl is 14 years of age and weighs 165 pounds.

Of course, you can have finer ones if you wish—$11.50, $13.50 and $15.00—but for actual service the $8.75 ones are plenty good enough.

EASTER GARMENTS FOR GIRLS

Mothers from far and near know that The Silberstein & Bondy Co. is the one store which gives adequate attention to ready-made dresses and wraps for children—big and little. Children's tailoring is hard to have done. Tailors say they can make a woman's dress as quickly as a child's dress—and they'd rather work on women's garments. The statement isn't true, though storekeepers have been fooled on it for years. That's why Children's clothes have cost so much that in self-defense you've made them at home—bought your dresses ready-made; had to make the children's. Foolish predicament—you are out of it now. And the Children's Dress and Wrap business of Duluth has centered here—two-thirds of it surely. This is so of garments for little girls of 4, 6 and 8, and 10, 12 and 14. It is quite as true regarding outfits for the big girls and young women. Tomorrow an exhibit of New Suits for these bigger girls—ages 14 to 18. (We only print news of the finer ones—there's always more to see than we can tell of)—and for smaller girls, 10 to 14—at $10, $12, $15 and $16.50—tan, navy, brown and red.

At $10.00

At $12.50

At $25.00

Millinery At Its Best

The past week brought us the greatest millinery selling the store ever knew, but we were sure it was coming. Yes, we are ready for the rush—splendidly ready. Sorry if you think we've kept the best for the last; may be we have—but it's fine at any rate—the smartest hats in town, by long odds—if we judge by what customers tell us (who have looked around)—and best of all moderately priced—$5, $6 and $8 for beautiful hats—$10, $12 and $15 for high class French creations—$15, $18, $20, $22 and $25—for the richest millinery effects in pattern hats or designed by Madam Bird.

Girls' and Children's Millinery.

We have said that we are doing girls' millinery in an original way. When we come to look into it that seems to mean that instead of using chiffon by the yard, and yards and yards of ribbon, and loading the hat down with unbecoming trimmings, we are choosing very light and effective shapes, some without any stiffening at all, some made of mohair and Tuscan braids, and putting as little trimming on as possible, but putting it where it counts—50c to $5.

NOT THE PACKERS

Claim to Have Made No Raise In Meats.

Beef Cheaper Than at Any Time Since 1893.

The raise in the price of meats, which the butchers' combine seems to have put in effect, or to be about to do so, has been laid to the packers. The butchers claim to be merely following a raise made by the packing houses, and represent that they can do nothing else, and that the raise means no more profit to them, but really a loss, for they will not raise prices all around, and hence will lose where they do not. The butchers, however, do not seem to have induced the packers to bear the onus of the advance.

The Duluth agents of the packing houses say that they have not been responsible for any increases there may have been in the price of meats to the consumer. They say that if there have been any material raises, or if there are going to be any, it is the butchers themselves that are at fault. It is, therefore, up to the butchers to explain why it is that advances in prices are threatened, or have actually been made.

"The only increase there has been is in hogs," said a packing agent yesterday afternoon, "and that is due to legitimate conditions. Receipts are light and stocks are low, and as they are not equal to the demand the price has been stiff, and that will happen every time on any commodity under the same circumstances. Pork loins, however, are off 1 cent this week, as The Herald's market report shows, the price having been reduced from 10½ cents to 9½ cents. That would hardly seem consistent with the outcry against the packers.

"On the other hand, beef has never been so cheap as it is at present since 1893, and if there are any raises in the price they are entirely unwarranted, and it is a thing that the butchers will have to explain to their patrons. Mutton, too, is extraordinarily low for this season of the year. The Herald's market quotations show it to be 7½ cents, and a year ago it was selling at 10 or 11 cents per pound. These are our prices, mind you. If the butchers are carying on a campaign for higher prices, that is something between them and the people, and we have nothing to do with it."

The butchers will probably sit back now and say, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" They are all in a combine and can make what prices they choose.

It will be noticed that the packing agent quoted says that beef is cheaper than at any time since 1893. And yet, has there ever been a time in Duluth when the butchers demanded more for beef than they do now? And now they are going to raise sirloin steak to 18 cents a pound.

The annual Maundy Thursday banquet was given last evening by A. T. C. EASTERN MINNESOTA RAILWAY CHANGES TIME.

THE WINTER.

The winter of 1900-1901 was a trifle above the normal in temperature and quite a little below in the matter of snowfall, although in the latter respect it was much above the previous winter. The weather bureau figures the months of December, January and February as the winter months, and in those three months of the past winter the average temperatures was as follows: December, 19.6; January, 12.9; February, 10.9; average, 14.05.

The average temperatures of winters in Duluth during the past thirty years has been 14 degrees. The warmest was the winter of '77-78 when the average was 20.4 degrees, and the coldest in '74-75 when the average was 6.2.

There was no very excessive cold during the winter just passed. The coldest day in December was 17 degrees below, the coldest in January 19 degrees below and the coldest in February, 12 degrees below.

The snowfall during the winter aggregated 43.1 inches. This runs from November 1 to March 31. The average is 34 inches. March brought the total up well for that month, there was a fall of 19.3 inches. The greatest fall in the history of the bureau here was in the winter of '92-93 when there was a total of 90.7 inches. The least was the winter of '99-1900 when the total was only 26.8.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Lakeside Presbyterian Church Members Meet.

The regular annual meeting of the Lakeside Presbyterian church was held last evening, there being a fair turnout of the members. John Coventry was appointed chairman, and the meeting was opened with prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The I. T. C. E. S. reported a balance on hand of 36 cents. The Y. P. S. C. E. also showed a balance on hand. William Wells gave the report of the Sunday school, which was very flattering. The Irwin Missionary society report showed this to be the banner year for that organization. The contributions were almost doubled, the increase in membership was large and now numbers thirty-six, and the literature and leaflets were greatly added to during the past twelve months. Miss Bullen gave the report of the Ladies' Aid society. All the reports were received and filed. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand, after all expenses had been met, of $142.79. Mr. Wells was chosen trustee for three years, to succeed himself. Frank Crassweller was re-elected clerk, R. S. Manley was elected treasurer, and the auditing committee consists of Miss Hicken and James McDowell.

After the business meeting the moderator, Rev. J. B. Ferguson, took the chair and Mr. Wells and Mr. Brown were re-elected elders.

CAUGHT A TARANTULA.

Sensational Experience With a Bunch of Bananas.

Chicago, April 5.—Peter Wagner, a clerk employed by F. Wevoak, 6816 Wentworth avenue, thrust his hand into a bunch of ripe bananas yesterday and started with fright when his fingers encountered a soft, warm, hairy body. Wagner decided to discover the thing that was in the bunch of fruit, and, to his horror, pulled out a live tarantula. He quickly dropped the insect, whose poison is deadly, but with the aid of a pair of thick gloves he managed to make it a prisoner in a bottle.

"I suppose the tarantula was numbed with cold, or he would have bitten me," said Wagner. "When the weather is cold the insects are usually torpid, but in hot weather they never fail to attack a person. They build their nests along the stalk of a banana bunch and there raise their young.

TOO BIG FOR THE BERTH.

Army Giant Astonishes Captain of the Philadelphia.

New York, April 5.—The tallest passenger that ever sailed on the Red liner Philadelphia arrived from San Juan, Porto Rica, Capt. John S. Battle, U. S. A., until recently a lieutenant in the Eleventh infantry.

"Never sailed with such another," said Capt. Chambers of the Philadelphia. "He was the tallest man I ever clapped eyes on. He was too long for the space between decks." He continued:

"Capt. Battle is more than seven feet tall. He had to procure special permission from the war department when he received his appointment to the military academy. He was bigger than the regulation size. Didn't know what to do about a bunk for the captain. Thought at first he was a lighthouse. He came aboard at San Juan and asked me if I had a berth long enough. Told him that I once had a man almost as long as he, and that two berths had been thrown into one, making a continuous bed about eight feet long. Capt. Battle went below with me and looked at the double berth. Said he preferred to sleep on deck. So he had to take an ordinary berth, 'bout three feet too short. Five nights the captain had to sleep with his legs hanging over the foot of the berth and curled 'round the stanchion."

OPENING OF MINES.

Will Present Serious Supply Problems to British.

New York, April 5.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The reopening of the Rand mines will present serious supply problems to the military authorities. De Wet appears still to be at Verde, notwithstanding the stories of his crossing the Vaal, and great precautions are being taken to prevent Botha reaching him or conferring with him.

BALDWIN BILL PASSED.

Pugh Forced to Move Its Reconsideration.

St. Paul, April 5.—Finding himself the subject of severe criticism on every hand, for his underhanded methods in defeating an important bill because it was fathered by Senator Baldwin against whom he had a grudge, Representative Pugh yesterday in the house moved reconsideration of the bill affecting sheriffs' certificates which was defeated at his solicitation on the previous day. After the reconsideration the bill was passed unanimously. Had not Pugh moved for reconsideration, some other member would have done so and the bill passed over his head.

KRUGER'S VIEWS

Says Boer Commandoes Can Continue Fighting Indefinitely.

Would Be Glad to Submit All Questions to Arbitration.

Has Not Yet Decided on Proposed American Trip.

New York, April 5.—A dispatch to the Herald from Paris says: An interview with Mr. Kruger appears in the Matin. The former persident of the Transvaal was seen in a modest little inn at Utrecht, where he is stopping for the moment. His eyes have been very muh improved by recent operations and he can now dispense with spectacles.

Mr. Kruger began by announcing that on Saturday next he proposed retiring into the country for complete rest. The little village of Hilbersum, not far from Utrecht, has been selected for his abode. Nothing has yet been decided regarding his trip to America. He will undertake the journey if his strength permits and if there is any hope of gaining advantage for the Boer cause. Mr. Kruger expressed his entire readiness to submit all questions to the arbitrament of an impartial tribunal, not even excepting the question of independence. "We would sacrifice our liberty," he said, "if the verdict of arbitration decided that one or the other of the republics had done anything to forfelt it. But on that point we are at ease. The South African war has been, on the part of the English, a perpetual defiance of the Geneva convention. To a much greater extent than their refusal t accept any intervention is their defiance of The Hague convention."

Referring to Gen. DeWet's raid into Cape Colony, Mr. Kruger denied that it was ever hoped to provoke a general rising.

"We know perfectly well that this would be impossible," he said, "because of the lack of munitions and arms, as well as the difficulty of combined action over such enormous distances. But the invasion demonstrated that the Afrikanders were everywhere favorable to our cause and ready to afford any help in their power. President Steyn and Gen. DeWet had, however, a different object in view, and they attained it. They were able to obtain plentiful supplies of food and horses. Moreover, these brave allies operated a diversion, which allowed Gen. Botha to escape from a tight position in the east of the Transvaal. They compelled the English to spread their forces over the enormous distances and to recognize the fact that the Boers were masters in the field.

"These results are surely not to be despised. The English cannot be masters of the two republics. They are not even undisturbed at the Cape and in Natal."

Mr. Kruger next dealt with the question of the mines, where work is now said to have been resumed. He declared that so long as he was master in Pretoria the mines were safeguarded and work was continued.

"It is only since the British occupation that proptry has deteriorated and that all work has ceased. Everybody should know that as long as we could we remained faithful guardians of this international trust, carrying our scruples so war even as to respect the mines, which are the cause of all our misfortunes."

In conclusion, Mr. Kruger declared that, far from being exhausted the Boer commandoes were able to go on fighting indefinitely. "We have combatants, arms and ammunition in sufficient quanttities. It is useless to hope to reduce us by lassitude or extermination."

UNPLEASANT.

Count Von Waldersee Has Continual Trouble With Troops.

New York, April 5.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Count Von Waldersee seems to be having a very unpleasant time of it, if the latest dispatches are to be credited. The field marshal has, it is said, sent a very urgent telegram to the German emperor, imploring him to hasten negotiations for the withdrawal of the allied troops from China. On no fewer than seven occasions has the count had to settle differences similar to the Tien Tsin affair, and he fears that unless the troops are quickly withdrawn he will not be able to prevent trouble.

FOUGHT DUEL.

Two Women Fire Away With Revolvers at Twenty Paces.

Kirk, O. T., April 5.—Mrs. Ella Seiglin and Mrs. Daughson, living near this city, fought a duel with revolvers at twenty paces Wednesday and Mrs. Seiglin is now in a hospital dangerously, but not necessarily fatally, wounded. Two of her opponent's shots lodged in her breast, but she is able to talk volubly and is anxious to recover that she may again fight Mrs. Daughson. The duel grew out of a long standing feud between the women, jealousy being the original cause.

Mrs. Daughson lives on a farm just south of the city and Mrs. Seiglin has frequently endeavored to arouse the temper of her neighbor by various means, the most effectual being the claim that she (Mrs. Seiglin) could take Mrs. Daughson's husband away any time she wished.

Mrs. Daughson finally appealed to the courts and yesterday forenoon Mrs. Seiglin was fined $300 for trespassing upon the Daughson property and inciting trouble. As soon as she paid the fine, Mrs. Seiglin drove out to the Daughson home, smarting under the loss of money and the criticism of the trial judge. Riding up to the door of the Daughson house she invited her rival to come out and fight a duel. Mrs. Daughson promptly accepted the challenge and came out armed with a revolver. The women then faced each other at fifty feet and began shooting, the signal being given by a daughter of Mrs. Seiglin, who had accompanied her. Each fired three shots without effect. Then Mrs. Daughson got the range and fired two shots in quick succession, both striking Mrs. Seiglin in the breast. She fell and Mrs. Daughson assisted in carrying her into the house, where a physician dressed her wounds, after which she was conveyed to a hospital.

Now the husbands of the women are seeking each other, vowing to kill on sight. The partisans of each woman are also burnishing up their weapons and seeking an excuse to shoot somebody. During the trial yesterday, the two women attempted several times to fly at each other and fight it out then and there.

Mrs. Seiglin says her revolver refused to work after the first three shots and that she will make a better record when next she faces Mrs. Daughson. The latter has not yet been arrested.

CANCER IN HIS TONGUE.

Actor Crane Suffering But Continues to Play.

New York, April 5.—A report is current in Broadway that William H. Crane, now starring in "David Harum," is suffering from an incipient cancer on the tip of his tongue, and that it is possible the actor will not be able to finish his season. The cancer was said to be caused from incessant smoking, similar to the growth that caused the death of Gen. U. S. Grant and Emperor Frederick.

Mr. Crane, while suffering great pain, has refused to stop playing. Dr. Irwin, a friend of the actor, is traveling about the country with him.

Prescriptions Filled Correctly.

Every drop of medicine that goes into a prescription which is filled here, is perfectly pure. We make it our business to see that everything is pure and of standard strength. There is no guess work about it. Pure drugs and intelligent compounding are what make a prescription filled here so effective.

No doctor can obtain the desired results in the sick room unless his prescriptions are filled with drugs of the highest quality. The sick room is the one place above all others where quality counts more than anything else. If you want the patient to improve, to respond to the physician's labors, you should be particular about the medicine. You should have his prescriptions filled with nothing but pure, fresh drugs and chemicals.

More and more physicians are depending on our prescription department. We compound as we think your doctor would like to have them compounded, and as we know they should be.

Most of the reputable physicians of Duluth patronize our prescription department. This fact should be of interest to you. It means that if you bring your prescriptions here to be compounded, that the physician is satisfied the patient gets the best medicine.

DEADLY GAS.

Five Persons Narrowly Escape Asphyxiation In a Chicago Residence.

Chicago, April 5.—Five persons were overcome by gas in a residence at 240 North State street last evening and except for a woman's efforts probably would have met death from asphyxiation. The rescuer, Mrs. Mary Kerney, who also was affected by gas, although slightly, managed to carry the five unconscious women and children into the yard.

A physician was summoned and after several hours' hard work he said all would recover, although two were still in a serious condition.

The persons overcome were:

Nelly Kerney, aged 18, overcome and fell from chair and cut about face; condition still serious.

Mrs. W. J. Lawler, of 164 LeSalle avenue, Mrs. Kerney's sister.

Mrs. Anna Murphy, mother of Mrs. Kerney, 70 years old, condition serious.

Child of Mrs. Lawler, aged 10 months, will recover.

The family was in a basement sitting room when Mrs. Lawler's child which was on the floor, was seen to gasp for breath. As the mother stooped to pick it up she, too, was overcome and fell to the floor. Until then none of those in the room had noticed the odor of gas, but before Mrs. Kerney was on a chair fixing a curtain. She too swayed and pitched to the floor, seriously cutting her face. Mrs. Kerney, who was herself gasping for breath, hastily opened the windows and taking her mother in her arms carried her into the back yard. She returned again and again to the room until she had carried out all the family.

FRUSTRATED.

The President and a Shot Gun Spoiled an Elopement.

Owensboro, Ky., April 5.—A sensation that happened in Bowling Green last Saturday night held the undivided attention of the grand jury yesterday and became public property despite the utmost endeavors of many people of influence to have the details kept secret. The affair ends an interrupted elopement of five young women from Potter college, Bowling Green, one of the prominent seminaries for young women in the South. About midnight five young men, all members of wealthy families, drove in carriages to the college and with ladders, aided four young women to leave the building by climbing through the second story windows. While assisting the fifth to reach the ground, the young men made so much noise that President Cabell was aroused. Seizing a shotgun the president began shooting at the young men, who returned his fire. Two of the young men were wounded, but the president was not hurt. The girls screamed, but returned to their rooms and the swains went away without them. The girls are members of the best families in Kentucky, and if indictments shall be found, it is probable they will have to appear as witnesses at the trial.

THE PREACHER ELOPED.

The Bride Is Only Fifteen Years Old.

Goshen, Ind., April 5.—Miss Gertrude Loretta Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ayers, of this city, and Rev. William Alderman Ward, for several years pastor of the First Reformed Church, eloped to South Bend, where they were married by Rev. P. J. Rice. The bride is but 15 years of age and the groom 25. Rev. Ward formed his acquaintance with Miss Ayers four years ago, when she was but 11 years of age, and has since displayed affection for her. The young couple will reside at Windslow, this state, where Ward has accepted a call by the First Christian Church.

MAY HAVE TOO MUCH

Water In Logging Streams May Be Too High.

Some of the lumbermen say that the opening of the sawing season in Northern Minnesota, particularly the country mills and those away from the lake, may be delayed a little this spring on account of high water, a condition of affairs exactly opposite to those of a year ago. During March there were some pretty heavy snow storms, and the warm weather is taking the snow off very rapidly. The snow has practically disappeared from the district close around the head of the lake, but back in the country a little, and back of the hills fringing Duluth, there is still considerable snow. It is claimed that all this snow will cause too high water in many instances for the operators. The sawmill operator of the north, who depends on the river driving for his log supply, is said to seldom have conditions that just suit him. Either there is too little water, leaving the logs stranded up stream, and sometimes so little that the rollways are not broken, or there is so much water that the logs get over the banks or the sorting works cannot be operated. Last year it was the former condition that hung up a large proportion of the logs until midsummer. This spring the indications all point to plenty of water, perhaps too much. All of the local lumber manufacturers have been preparing against the possibilities of low or high water, and this year have done a large amount of hauling by rail. There are enough logs on hand to start every mill sawing and keep them in operation for some time.

Taken on the whole, the logging operations of the past winter have been carried out under very favorable circumstances. Sometimes there have been complaint of too much snow in this state, complaint regarding the smallpox epidemic and other minor difficulties, but the season has been exceptionally free from wage troubles and operations suspended or hampered by men quitting. The woodsmen have stuck to their jobs pretty well this past season. The majority of the operators probably consider that excellent work has been done at as low a cost as possible considering the high wages and the superlative independence of the woodsmen.

"It is really difficult to tell what the comparison will be between the lumber production of 1901 and 1900," said a lumberman the other day, "but the prospect is fairly good for a supply this season equally as large as last year, and may exceed it, from the fact that preliminary conditions are more favorable, and the loggers have taken out all that they went into the woods to get."

Conditions are said to be not so favorable in the southern country, where winter logging is not the rule, but where in most sections logging goes on through the year. The winter's output there is said to have been lighter than usual.

Some idea of the immensity of the lumber industry can be gained from the biennial report of the bureau of labor statistics for the state of Minnesota regarding the log cut for the season of 1899 and 1900. The report shows that there were 389 camps, with 15,886 men and 8285 horses employed, and the cut 1,112,000,000 feet of logs. The average wages of cooks was $51.90 per month; blacksmiths, $45.59; teamsters, $35.79; loaders, $38.22; sawyers, $30.10; swampers, $27.90, and common woodsmen, $26.83. The average winter earning of the men would be about $2,988,910, to which add the cost of feeding the men, $15 each per month, and the total cost for cutting 1,112,000,000 feet of logs at $3.76 per 1000 feet, would be approximately $41,180,360.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A MILK WHITE FLAG."

Tonight Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag" will be at the Lyceum. Hoyt has written a score of comedy successes, but "A Milk White Flag" is by far his most pretentious effort, and, perhaps, his most successful. Its keen situations are side splitting and the dialogue is extremely keen. A rippling stream of comedy runs through the piece, broken only by the sharp turn of witty lines, and from beginning to end it forms a most captivating symphony of merriment and music. The special feature of this engagement is the appearance of Mary Marble as the orphan and John W. Dunne as the colonel.

JAMES-KIDDER COMPANY.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the James-Kidder company will appear at the Lyceum presenting "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The organiation umbers forty-seven players and includes a ballet and chorus. The latter will render much of the famous Mendelssohn music and special numbers written and interpolated by the eminent musician Maxim De Grosz.

The scenery is exceedinly elaborate, representing two scenes in the palace of the duke of Athens, the carpenter shop of Peter Quince and the wood where the fairies and mortals meet. It is described as a scene of wonderful beauty and picturesque elaboration. It is rich in foliage and flowers, has the atmosphere of mystery and supernaturalness, and is, in short, a fit place for the confusion of mortals by the spell of the little fairy population with which Shakespeare peoples the scene. One of the most wonderful effects, which is accomplished by the use of innumerable electric lights and calcium brilliants, is a representation of the break of day. From deep night, in which the only light is from the flitting firebugs and electric flowers, the scene grows gradually into dawn and then to brilliant day. The close of this act witnesses the barge of Theseus, a set piece in a frame, behind which a panorama nearly 400 feet in length is passed, giving the effect of a voyage of sensous beauty, accompanied by entrancing music.

"PRISONER OF ZENDA."

Monday evening this delightful romantic play will be at the Lyceum. In presenting "The Prisoner of Zenda" this season the management has spared neither time, labor nor expense in organizing a company that for completeness and merit equals any heretofore engaged to give life to this splendid romance, among whom are Vaughan Glaser, Ruth Alludys, Robert Conness, Helen Strickland, Cecil Owen, Marion Daniels, George W. Lynch, Luke Conness, etc. The scenic equipment is of such magnitude that a car is required for its transportation.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion, and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables when the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years' experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive, and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ, but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase, and by stimulating the gastric glands, increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

Tomorrow the animal transport Aztec is scheduled to sail for Manilla with 472 horses. The Ohio, now at the Union Iron works, is scheduled to sail on the 13th, the Logan on the 15th, and the Warren on the 20th. Nearly 500 men are at work on the Warren under rush orders, and repairs on the vessel are in progress day and night in the hope of having the transport ready to sail on schedule time.

CONVICT CAMP HORRORS.

Prisoner Tells of Brutal Treatment By Keepers.

Tampa, Fla., April 5.—The bruises, scars and sores that covered the body bore out the horrible story that James Miller tells of the cruelties practiced in Henderson's convict camp. He has just returned from serving a sentence there.

Miller says that Jan. 15 he was stripped, thrown to the ground and held there by negroes while Capt. John Smith applied the lash till the blood came.

Jessie Brown, Miller says, was whipped until his back became so raw he could not lie on it for two weeks. He said keepers rubbed burned leather on sore backs, and sulphur into raw places. Fifteen-year-old boys were whipped in the same way and just as severely, while some prisoners were whipped as many as six times a day.

WHOLESALE SUICIDE.

Few Women Left In Many Chinese Villages.

Washington, April 5.—Reports at the state department tell of wholesale suicide of women in China.

When a Chinese matron is abused by a white man, she notifies her own family and that of her husband, at the same time announcing that on a certain date she will kill herself. No remonstrance is made, and invariably the woman carries out her plan. If she did not commit suicide she would be ostracized by her people and compelled to change her mode of life entirely. The fate of the unmarried women mistreated by the soldiers is only a little different. In some cases, it is reported, they are killed at their own request by their relatives instead of committing suicide.

It is said that in many villages and small towns women have practically disappeared. It is reported in this state department document that in many villages it is difficult to find a female person between the age of 10 and 50.

The report gives the further information that the Russian soldiers have been exceedingly moderate in Manchuria which they propose to annex, but the same class of soldiers in other parts of the Chinese empire have behaved with indescribable brutality and ferocity.

Before and after trying other remedies use Rocky Mountain Tea this month. 'Twill keep you well all summer. A great spring blessing. Ask your druggist.

Farmer Near Devil's Lake Kills Himself By Shooting.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Devil's Lake—Herman Schroeder, a farmer living fifteen miles northeast of the city, killed himself by shooting. He was born in Germany fifty-one years ago and had been in this country two years. He recently lost all his property under mortgage foreclosure and was almost destitute. It is supposed these facts caused him to commit the act. His wife left him some years ago and lives in New Jersey. Schroeder had no children.

The Devil's Lake club, the recently organized business men's club, of this city held its first annual election of board of directors last evening, the following persons being selected: P. J. McClory, F. H. Prosser, Richard Dacley, T. A. Haslam, Professor D. E. Bangs, Edgar Hodgkinson and Edward F. Flynn. The club is duly incorporated under the state laws, and its object is to assist all projects of benefit to the city. It has elegantly furnished and arranged rooms, the furniture being all of the best quality of leather-covered articles, in addition to pool and billiard tables.

Fargo—The question of irrigation is being given a practical test in the Yellowstone and extreme upper Missouri valleys. Ditches are now run all over the old Fort Buford flats and interesting results are anticipated. The rainfall of that section is only about thirteen inches per annum, with little more than half of this between April and August, and irrigation is a necessity. It is an ideal stock country, but must be irrigated to make agriculture a success. Thousands of acres of land in that territory are taken under the desert act.

The state agricultural college board met yesterday afternoon and organized by re-electing Col. Robinson chairman and Henry J. Rusch secretary. The contracts for the barns to replace those burned last winter were let and will be completed as soon as possible.

Maj. Edwards left for Washington to attend the meeting of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee. The spring session is to be held at the national capital and President McKinley is to deliver the address of the occasion. The major was an officer in the army of the Tennessee and will enjoy meeting old comrades. There has been considerable talk about the major being given an appointment at Washington, but he says his trip has nothing to do with political matters.

Dr. Borns left for Russia, where he goes to look after some property left him a few months ago by the death of an uncle. The property includes a street railway line in a town a short distance from St. Petersburg.

Grand Forks—Red river is rising rapidly, and is now twenty-four feet above low water mark. There must be a rise of several feet yet to do any damage, and the surface water in this vicinity is all gone. There is a tremendous volume of water to come down from the Red Lake country, and floods all along Red Lake river are expected.

There is likely to be a controversy between Grand Forks and East Grand Forks over the dumping of manure and the carcasses of dead animals on the bank of the Red river, thus contaminating the water supply of Grand Forks.

Jamestown—At a meeting of the new board of trustees of the North Dakota asylum for the insane yesterday afternoon Superintendent Moore and Steward Millstead were re-elected. There were a number of candidates, but after a snarled contest for new officers, the board came to a compromise and re-elected the old officers. This action of the board meets with the general approval of the citizens.

Huron—Reports of losses of farm buildings, hay, feed and grain by the prairie fire yesterday afternoon in the southwest part of the county continue to come in. Many farmers lost seed grain. Liberal sums were raised here this morning by citizens for the relief of sufferers, and lumber is being hauled out for rebuilding. F. C. Wood is the only one yet reported who lost his house and contents. He was stripped of everything.

Belle Fourche—John Everts, of this city, raised a check drawn for $8.50 to $8.50 and got it cashed at the Butte County bank. He was arrested, pleaded guilty and was immediately sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary. Judge Moore, in giving the sentence, stated that he would help the man to get a pardon in a year or two. Everts answered that he did not want a pardon. He asked the court to give him ten years, saying that he wanted to get away from his wife, who was abusive to him.

Brookings—Charles Cheatham, living near Aurora, met with a serious accident. He was leading a horse into his barn and as he passed another horse the animal kicked Mr. Cheatham on the jaw so that it dropped out of place. The injured man was brought to this city and the fracture received proper attention.

Ed Wilson, of Aurora, was brought before Justice Bagley charged with having assaulted Professor Hazel, principal of the Aurora public school. He was found guilty and fined $20. A few weeks ago Hazel chastised Wilson's son and Wilson in turn thrashed the teacher. It is understood that the school board defends the principal in his course.

Yead—The electric road around the belt and to Spearfish seems to be a very attractive proposition at the present time. There are three companies after franchises in this city. There is the N. E. Franklin company, of Deadwood, the Gesky company, of this city, backed by Kansas City capitalists, and it is certain the Homestake company will ask for a franchise.

Yankton—While out hunting with two other boys, Johnny Conrad was shot accidentally. The boys carried two 22-caliber rifles, and while loading one of them young Conrad got a cartridge caught, and in trying to extricate it the weapon was discharged, the ball entering his face. Two teeth were knocked out and the jaw severely torn, the ball finally lodging in the back of the mouth. Surgeons have so far failed to locate the bullet, but do not consider the boy dangerously wounded.

Aberdeen—A driving northeast snow storm began at noon Thursday. Several inches of snow have fallen. The storm still prevails. Stock will suffer to some extent, but farm and grass lands are freely benefited. The storm is general in the northern part of the state.

IN MICHIGAN.

Bessemer—An opening has been effected in No. 10 shaft and all the mules in the barn 600 feet below, were found alive, but nearly suffocated as the entire mine is filled with smoke. In No. 7 shaft compressors were started to keep out the smoke. The shaft is still burning and the extent of the loss is unknown but it is not expected to spread as the shaft is very wet. Still a downward current of air may keep the fire burning for several weeks. The blaze originated by one of the tenders starting a fire in one of the shanties to keep warm. The cage and other machinery dropped to the bottom. Several hundred men will be idle while the shaft is being repaired.

Iron Mountain—John Harpster, who has been serving in the army of occupation in the Philippines, arrived in Iron Mountain this week, his term of enlistment having expired. He was mustered out Jan. 10. When he landed at San Francisco he weighted ninety-five pounds, but he now tips the scales at 165 pounds and he is the picture of health. During the last five weeks of his Philippine service his company was stationed back from Manilla in the interior where it was constantly short of rations. When the company reached Manilla after being relieved from duty there were but twelve men fit for duty.

Escanaba—Surveys were commenced last week for the extension of the Escanaba & Lake Superior road to Boney Falls, fifteen miles, on the Escanaba river, where a tremendous water power will be developed, and a paper mill built. Chief Engineer Burlington and Assistant H. E. McClintock are in charge of the survey. The extension will be built early in the spring, also an extension of eight miles to penetrate further into the big hardwood tract. Within another year a big paper mill will be built at Boney Falls by the corporation which controls the railroad and the I. Stephenson company. The water power will be developed at an expense of nearly $400,000.

There is a movement among Irish Catholics at Escanaba who have been members of St. Joseph's parish for years to separate from that congregation and organize a church of their own, to be presided over by an Irish Catholic priest. Bishop Eis' consent to the proposed change must be obtained and a petition outlining the present conditions and the steps it is desired to take will be forwarded to him within a few days. The Irish American members of the congregation are dissatisfied because the church is presided over by a priest of the Franciscan order who preaches in German.

Ishpeming—J. E. Nicollins, superintendent of the Ishpeming schools, tendered his resignation and it was accepted by the board of education. He leaves to take charge of the musical department of the American Book company, New York, at a salary larger than received here. D. D. Mayne, superintendent of the Janesville, Wis., schools, has been offered the position here and it is said he will accept.

Menominee—Monday evening Alex Stewart, of Menominee, left for Cape Nome, where he will seek a fortune. Mr. Stewart will spend several months at Dutch harbor in the employ of a sealing company before continuing the journey to Cape Nome. Mr. Stewart was in the United States hospital service at Cape Nome in the spring of 1900, and located several gold claims which he expects to develop.

It is reported that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will be built to the Niagara paper mill this season. The proposed route is via Norway, thence across the river at Sand portage, up the river to Niagara and then to Brown's spur, a point about five miles south of Iron Mountain on the present line of the road, thus forming a loop which will take in the mines at Lake Antoine, Lake Fumee, Quinnesec and Norway. This arrangement will put the road in direct connection with the Northwestern at all the principal industries in that section.

Two Trains a Day.

On May 5 the Northern Pacific Railway company will inaugurate a double train service between Duluth and Staples, Minn., to make connections with the North Coast limited train from the Twin Cities. While the time card for this service has not been definitely arranged, it is probable that there will be trains into Duluth at about 7 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and departing trains at 8 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock in the evening.

CONSUL REMOVED

The President Again Surrenders to Office-Seekers.

Drops George Sawter, Praised For His Work In Germany.

Clamor of Politicians Heeded and Connecticut Man Appointed.

Chicago, April 5.—William E. Curtis sends the following from Washington to the Record-Herald: The president has again surrendered to the office seekers, and has removed George Sawter, consul at Glauchau, Germany, to give a place to E. A. Crevy, of Bridgeport, Conn., a politician, for whom the senators and representatives from his state desire to secure an office. There are no charges against Mr. Sawter. On the contrary, he is described by Consul General Mason, of Berlin, as one of the best men in the service. The opinion of Mr. Mason is endorsed by Maj. Williams, the special agent of the treasury department at Paris, whose business is to prevent frauds upon the customs; by Mr. Chance, chief of special agents of the treasury department at Washington, and finally by Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Spaulding of the treasury department, who testify cordially to his efficiency and fidelity as an officer.

The customs department of the government is compelled to fight the German manufacturers who are continually attempting to defraud the government by the under valuation of goods to this country, and it naturally requires experience, shrewdness and vigilance to prevent it. Since 1893 Mr. Sawter has been located at Glauchau, the center of the woolen goods industries in Germany, and according to the testimony of Consul General Mason, Special Agent Chance, Special Agent Williams and other officers who have been engaged in preventing and detecting fraud, he has performed his duty with great credit to himself and benefit to the government.

Assistant Secretary Cridler, of the state department, who has charge of the consular service, and Mr. Chilton, chief of the consular bureau, also testify in the highest terms to the ability and efficiency of Mr. Sawter. One would naturally suppose that such a man would be rewarded instead of punished by his government. But Mr. Sawter is a Democrat. Nine years ago he was guilty of writing for a Democratic newspaper in Connecticut, and was appointed to the consular service by a Democratic president. For two years Senator Platt and Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, two distinguished statesmen of the highest integrity and purity of purpose, men who would resent an insinuation that they could be guilty of wrong, have been trying to persuade the president to remove Mr. Sawter and appoint a friend of theirs in Bridgeport to his place. They have been assisted by the Republican representatives from Connecticut, by the governor and lieutenant governor and the Republican committee of the state. If these great men should go to the president of the New Haven railroad, or to the proprietor of a Connecticut factory and ask him to discharge one of his most efficient employes and appoint a friend of theirs to the place, they would admit that they were engaged in a very discreditable transaction, but they approached the president of the United States upon the same errand boldly, persistently and without the slightest compunction.

The president has resisted their demands for two years, but his moral courage has finally given out. He has called for Mr. Sawter's resignation and has notified Mr. Crevy to appear at the department of state for examination. Mr. Crevy may be an excellent man, but he is entirely without experience and has no qualifications for the place he is to fill. He cannot speak the language of the country to which he is going; he knows nothing whatever about the duties of a consul, nor about the methods used by the manufacturers in their efforts to defraud the government. In other words, he is thoroughly incompetent, and under any circumstances it will be at least seven years before he can reach the same efficiency for which Mr. Sawter is commended. President McKinley is aware of that fact, and in making the removal and appointment, considers only the claim of the Connecticut senators for their share of the patronage.

In his message to congress and in his letters of acceptance he says nothing about his obligations to the Connecticut senators, but pledges himself to administer his office to the best interests of the nation.

Early in the administration of President Cleveland, Consul General Mason at Frankfort, who is generally considered the best man in the service, was notified that his resignation was expected, and that a Mr. Rapp, of Illinois, was to be his successor. He was packing up his goods when Mark Twain happened around that way and visited the consulate. Being informed of the situation, the latter wrote a letter to Ruth Cleveland, the baby daughter of the president, telling her that he could not interfere in matters of patronage because he was a mugwump, but he considered it a shame that a man of experience and ability like Consul General Mason should be turned out of office simply because some Democrat who knew nothing about its duties wanted the place. He said that he was acquainted with a great many consuls, and that Capt. Mason was the best he had ever known, and if her father ever consulted her about the consular service, he suggested that she advise him not to disturb good men merely to give places for politicians.

About a month later Mr. Clemens received a little note in President Cleveland's handwriting, in which Miss Ruth Cleveland presented her compliments to Mark Twain, thanking him for calling attention to the threatened removal of Consul Mason, and said that if he knew of any similar cases the president would be glad to hear from him. Consul General Mason is still in the service, and has since been promoted to Berlin.

HE ADMITS PLAGIARISM.

Iowa College Orator Pleads Guilty to Charge.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 5.—H. A. Keck, who represented Morningside college of Sioux City in the recent Iowa intercollegiate oratorical contest at Mount Pleasant, has pleaded guilty to plagiarism in preparing his oration. When his speech was delivered representatives of the other colleges noted a similarity between his production and one delivered last year and another the year preceding. Investigation followed, and it was found that Keck had stolen bodily large portions of each. When confronted with the charges he finally confessed, and under command of the Morningside faculty made a public admission of his guilt in chapel and offered apology for his conduct. This is the boldest instance of plagiarism yet recorded in Iowa college circles.

TO STOP BIRD SHOOTING.

A Movement Started By New York Citizens.

New York, April 5.—A revolt has started among a number of citizens of New York against indiscriminate slaughter of birds at the tournament of the Interstate association which is now in progress at Interstate Park, Queens, L. I., and it is said there is a movement to secure legislation prohibiting such events. Among the leaders in the movement is Ralph Waldo Trine, the Boston author. The promoters of the movement take the stand that such torunaments are not sport. Mr. Trine has always been a lover of animals, and is something of a naturalist.

"I regret very much," he said, "that nothing can be done to prevent the present slaughter, but a number of citizens here are in favor of bringing a bill before the legislature to make such cruelty impossible. I cannot understand how people can call the killing, maiming or torturing of 20,000 pigeons in such a deliberate way sport. I am sure every true sportsman's blood will revolt against such a carnival of slaughter. It is a disgrace to a civilized community. There will be necessarily such rapid shooting that many hundreds of the wounded birds will not be retrieved, and will die by starvation or slow torture. Shooting at clay pigeons would serve just as well. Such a cold-blooded slaughter of God's creatures is unworthy of American people, of a country like this, which is known for its humanitarian impulses.

FUEL OF HAY AND STRAW.

Invention That May Prove a Great Boon.

St. Paul, April 5.—Users of fuel in the West, especially in the farming communities, are watching with interest the experiments of S. Ogden Edison, an uncle of Thomas Edison, the inventor, in an attempt to find some way of converting the hay, straw and corn stalks into a convenient form for fuel. On the prairies, where wood is not to be found and coal is a luxury, hay and such light fuel have been forced into use. Specially designed stoves have worked quite successfully. But the invention of Edison will revolutionize the entire fuel question of the West. Not long ago he conceieved the idea of preparing these light substances in blocks of convenient size that could be used the same as chunks of wood. He has stated to a South Dakota friend that plants for the manufacture of his straw fuel can be erected for about $15,000, which will have a capacity for making fifty tons per day.

The fuel will be in the shape of round sticks, nine to twelve inches in diameter and two, four and six feet in length. The material will be as hard as wood, and will last longer and make a better heat than soft coal. One such plant will utilize the straw, hay and corn stalks of a community ten miles square. It will use weeds as well as straw. The cost of making the fuel will be much less than the present cost per ton of coal. It is stated that the invention is backed by a strong company, which proposes to put in plants for the manufacture of this sort of fuel whenever an opportunity affords.

SWORDS AND PISTOLS.

With Both the Duelists Failed to Kill.

New York, April 5.—A dispatch to the Herald from Nice says: A duel has taken place between Count Tarnowski and Lieut. Col. Tolstoi.

At first two shots were exchanged, and then the combat was continued with swords. Count Tarnowski was wounded in the forearm.

Headquarters of Steel Corporation to Be Located There.

New York, April 5.—The Times says: The headquarters of the United States Steel corporation are to be situated in this city. President C. M. Schwab has secured a suit of apartments on the second floor of the Waldorf-Astoria and proposes to make New York his temporary home. The understanding is that Mr. Schwab will not retain the presidency for an indefinite time. It is said that he needs a rest, as he shows the effects of his work in solving many difficult problems that have confronted him in the details of the organization. Just when Mr. Schwab will retire from the presidency is not predicted, but it is believed he will relinquish it within a year. President Schwab would not discuss the matter last night.

Salary of the Special Judge

According to the morning paper, the clerk of the municipal court "takes exception to one statement alleged to have been made by Senator Baldwin as justifying his opposition to the bill placing the office of the municipal judge on a salary instead of a fee basis," and he cites the increased receipts of the court last year as proof of greater business. Larger receipts do not necessarily mean a greater amount of business in the municipal court. The bill, however, is not to place "the office of the municipal judge on a salary instead of a fee basis." The judge of that court is now paid a salary. The bill would give the special judge a salary of $2000 instead of paying him for the time he actually serves. The office is not on a fee basis now and never has been. When the court was created the special judge was provided for in order that there would be some one to preside over the court in the absence of the regular judge or to assist him when there was an extraordinarily heavy rush of business. It was understood that the special judge would be a practicing attorney and would not be called on to act as judge except occasionally. Of late years the tendency has been to keep the special judge at the court most of the time, even when the regular judge is not overburdened with work. To fix his salary at $2000 would simply be adding at least $600 or $700 a year to the expense of the court. There is no good reason why this should be done.

The Frauds in the Philippines.

It is said that they prove to be, the frauds in the commissary department, if frauds were made possible by the lack of proper inspection of the accounts of the army officers in the Philippines handling army supplies. It seems that the government's interests at Manilla have not been properly protected. Inspector Gen. Breckenridge called the attention of the department to the fact that the force of inspectors was entirely inadequate to the work abroad, but he has been unable to secure the necessary men. There has been a fear at the war department for some time that the work of inspection was not given proper attention, but nothing was done to remedy the defect. A great laxity is charged in the general supervision, and there are some cases where absolutely no inspection has been made of the accounts of disbursing officers. With two-thirds of the army in the Philippines, Gen. Breckenridge believes that a large proportion of his corps should be there also and has called on Secretary Root and urged that the force be increased at once that any further scandal may be avoided. Gen Breckenridge has estimated that the annual loss to the government growing out of reckless extravagance in providing for the army is anywhere from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. This is indicated in the increased cost of maintaining each soldier. This has gone up from an average of $1000 a year to $1100. Gen. Breckenridge says that with proper inspection of accounts of all departments, there should be an actual reduction in the cost of an army during times of war as compared with the army on a peace footing. The item that runs up the total is officers' pay. When the army is increased as a result of war the main expansion is in the enlisted force, the number of officers remaining approximately the same. Under economical administration Gen. Breckenridge says that an army can be maintained at a cost of about $800 or $900 per man. The estimate usually given for cost is $1000. Recently, however, the cost has gone away beyond this and is now $1100. When this increase is multiplied by 100,000, representing the number of men in the army, the reason for the growing cost of the military establishment is found at once. Gen. Breckenridge is not prepared to say that by the mere assignment of additional inspectors to duty in the Philippines a saving of $5,000,000 can be effected, but he believes that it is within the power of the department to materially cut down the total cost of the army as at present administered. While it is no particular credit to the honesty and integrity of the officers and soldiers of the country to feel that they must be watched the same as a rogue, the proper way to look at the matter is in a purely business light, and conduct the army affairs on strictly business principles. As a matter of fact, a man is much more likely to be honest if he knows he has no opportunity to steal.

GROSS EARNINGS BILL.

The gross earnings bill has passed the senate, and with the intervention of no unforeseen accident will become a law. Whether the law is just or unjust to the railroad interests of the state need not now be discussed. The general opinion is that the advance of 1 per cent in the rate was amply justified. The decision of the supreme court of the United States, which allowed the railroads having received certain land grants to escape taxation, and which suggested that the rate of gross earnings tax might under the original contract be raised, was the signal for the action just taken by the legislature.

The bill has had a somewhat notorious career. There was a time when its friends seemed in a hopeless minority. The scheme of the railroad interests toury it in the pigeonholes of the tax commission office looked so innocent that many of the legislators who honestly favored a raise of rate also favored the reference. A timely point of order, and a more timely charge of bribery—whether well based or not The Herald cannot say, but it was well timed all the same—brought to the bill the support of all the wavering and the marketable members. It was a good piece of legislative strategy. As to the ethics involved, there may be the same criticism pronounced as is applicable to the capture of Aguinaldo, but then it won, and Mr. Jacobson as well as Mr. Funston will be forgiven the means employed.

Now let that same legislature pass the Laybourn bill, distribute the gross earnings tax where it rightfully belongs, and everybody, except the railroads, will be happy, and even the railroads will manage to get along somehow. They always have and probably will.

THE BILL SHOULD PASS.

A bill providing for an appeal to the district court from the decision of the board of medical examiners, by any physician who deems himself aggrieved by the action of the board, has been introduced by Senator Potter and reported favorably from committee.

This bill should pass by unanimous consent, but there is a possibility that it may meet with some opposition from medical men. The law vesting in the board of medical examiners the final power to determine whether or not a physician shall practice his profession in the state is going too far in the line of investing a lay body with judicial power over the business of citizens. The only authority which should pass finally on the rights of citizens under the law is the judicial department of the state. That is what it is for, and this bill which provides for an appeal is in the line of common justice.

There may cases arise where the board of medical examiners are incompetent to sit as judges on the case of a brother physician. An appeal to the district court will furnish a safeguard for such instances. It is not always best to leave the determination of any judicial matter to an irregular body of men unused to determining the proper evidence or the rights of persons.

HOIST BY THEIR OWN PETARD.

Those who had the good fortune to read "To Those Sitting in Darkness," by Mark Twain, which appeared in the February North American Review, or even those who were unfortunate enough to read the insane attacks made upon the humorous Mark by the administration press for his criticisms of the administration policy in the Philippines and elsewhere, as well as the howl sent up by the missionary societies because he took occasion to lay bare the acts of the missionaries in China, will read with zest the apology which Mark Twain offers. It is hardly in the line of an apology, but comes in response to a demand for an apology.

When Mark Twain launched his thunderbolt against the modern manner of civilizating those who sit in darkness and of bringing them to Christ, he called attention to the method of Dr. Ament in demanding of the Chinese villages where Boxer outrages had been committed not only the actual damages, but thirteen times more for purposes of spreading the gospel. To this specific charge he added others of general looting among the missionaries. This so grieved the foreign missionary board that they secured a denial from Dr. Ament regarding the excess damages collected, the good doctor saying that it was only one-third more instead of thirteen times more; that the error was made in cabling the news. Upon this discovery the board made a great fuss, as did certain sympathetic newspapers, and suggested that Mark seek "the amen corner" and formulate a suitable apology for thus attacking the good doctor and the missionaries in general.

Mark replies in the current North American Review. Some people evidently do not know when they are well off. Those people whose only habitation is constructed wholly of common glass want to watch out how they hurl hard missiles—they may soon have nowhere to get in out of the wet. People who enter a battle should always see first that their powder is reasonably dry. Do not think that because a man has done one thing well he can not do another thing well. These remarks are directed to those who attacked Mark Twain, thinking him nothing but a humorist. They have made a mistake. They caught the yellow jacket by the business end; that is always unsafe.

The missionary board has been hoist by its own petard. Next time it will know better, but the world may lose some interesting reading.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

The strained relations existing between Russia and Japan, and the possibility of war between the two countries, give especial interest to the fighting strength that could be utilized in case of hostilities. As represented on paper, the strength of Russia both on land and sea is immeasurably greater than that of Japan. According to the latest figures compiled at the military information division of the war department, Russia has at her call an army that would outnumber that of Japan about 15 to 1. Russia's army, in times of peace, consists of 1,112,000 men, divided as follows: Regular troops, 1,046,000; Cossacks and irregular troops, 66,000. The war strength of the Russian army is much greater, consisting of 3,020,000 regulars and 190,000 Cossacks, or a total of 3,210,000. In addition to this tremendous total, there is a territorial reserve, which in times of peace embraces 500,000 men, and which can be expanded to 2,500,000. Against this big array Japan makes a comparatively poor showing.

The Japanese army, according to the latest report of its organization, consisted of 6500 officers, 13,000 non-commissioned officers and 150,000 men. This is classified as follows: Battalions of infantry, 156; 39 squadrons of cavalry, 78 batteries of artillery, 13 battalions of pioneer troops and 13 train battalions. However, in a war between Russia and Japan the mere strength of force would not be the sole determining factor. Japan is greatly superior to her rival in point of efficiency, personnel and equipment. American army officers who were with the Chinese relief expedition speak in the highest terms of the Japanese troops, while some rough criticisms were made on the czar's troops on the march to Pekin. An officer who was present on that occasion expresses his ideas on the merits of the two to the Brooklyn Eagle as follows:

"Everyone was charmed at the manner in which the Japs showed up during the march to the Chinese capital. Their whole conduct, through all the weary days of fighting and marching, reminded one of a nervous, wiry, energetic, brave little fox terrier. The Japs gave the Chinese no peace whatever. They fought with the bravest in the advance all day, and the following morning they would be the first to be up and on the march again. They were always after the enemy, always up and doing.

"The Japs presented a striking contrast to the Russians. The former were little fellows, averaging about five feet in height and averaging not more than 115 pounds each. Their leg development was remarkable, and altogether they were finely muscled. The Russian troops were a magnificent looking set of men, tall and heavy, outweighing the Japs 50 per cent per man. They were dull and heavy, however, and in appearance lacked keenness and even intelligence. The Cossacks were particularly meanlooking, all wearing fierce, straggly beards. The discipline among the Japs was about perfect, and they were probably the most consistent observers of regulations of all the troops in the column. It was in this respect that especially outshone the Russians, who gave many illustrations of laxity of discipline among them and also of a low moral sentiment. The Japs were great favorites with the Americans and Europeans. It is my opinion that in a war between the two countries the Japanese would be victorious in the early campaign. They would be on the ground first, and their quickness, energy and activity would give them great advantages over the Russians. The latter, however, would surely overpower their smaller enemy and push them back by sheer weight and numbers. I do not think that Russia could make any headway against Japan in the latter's country, but she would drive the Japs out of Asia. Of course, should some European power step in and aid Japan with either money or an army, the result would be different."

In a year or two the most extensive work ever attempted by the government will be finished. It is the compiling, editing and publishing of the official records of the civil war and it has proved a most tremendous task. Government experts have estimated that there are 250,000 official reports, orders, returns, letters and telegraphic dispatches in the volumes, which number 130. The 130 books will average 1000 octavo pages each of solid long primer type, or an aggregate of 130,000 pages. The compilation of the records was begun thirty-six years ago, and for the past ten years a corps of indexers has been engaged in indexing the volumes. The first volume was published in 1880. The general plan of the work was laid out by Lieut. Col. Robert N. Scott, but he died before the first volume was issued. His arrangement has been followed very closely by subsequent officials having the work in charge. By law an edition of 11,000 copies of each separate book was printed, or more than 1,300,000 books in the aggregate. These were distributed to the public through senators and representatives who were in congress at the time the first volumes were issued. A few sets have gone to public libraries, but none now remain for distribution. There have been many attempts to have congress order a reprint of the entire set, but the cost has been considered too great.

It is stated by a recent writer that every Chinese manager of any institution employing labor must provide employment for his father, uncle, grandfather, innumerable cousins and entire clan relationship. These people do not work, are not expected to work, but are pensioners; and their great number makes a burden so heavy that the enterprises become unprofitable. This must be quite nice for the relatives, but rather discouraging to the manager, if he is also a proprietor. But the Chinese will get some new business ideas before they get through with their involuntary contact with Western peoples.

The fruit growers and curers of California have for years spent large sums of money in distributing circulars and posters and in sending decorated cars of fruit over the railway lines. Evidently the results of these methods of advertising have not been wholly satisfactory, since a meeting of the California Cured Fruit association at San Jose, on Feb. 21, resolved to authorize a committee to advertise the fruit exclusively in the leading newspapers of the country.

The death of Rev. John Jasper after half a century in church work, removes a queer character from this world. His sermon on the "Sun Do Move" made him famous, and gave him a reputation which followed him through life. Dr. Jasper would have been 90 years old on July 4. He was born a slave in Virginia and was the youngest of twenty-four children.

In the past ten years George Washington Anderson, of West Virginia, married sixteen women for their money, and yet marriage as a business investment seems to have been a failure with him, for he has just been sent to a poorhouse.

The dispatches state that a farmer at Kellerville, Ill., dropped dead Tuesday after depositing his ballot. The cause given is that he had been drinking lemon extract. Evidently he was not a Buffalo.

The promoters of the Pan-American exposition are very anxious to have Aguinaldo as an attraction for their coming exhibition. He would certainly be a star attraction, but Buffalo will not get him.

State taxes ought to be very light in New Jersey. The revenue derived from legalizing incorporations is something enormous, the fee from the steel combine amounting to $220,000.

Another play has been condemned as immoral at Paris. It is now in line for some enterprising American manager to secure the rights and produce the play in New York.

Politics don't seem to cut much figure at North Dana, Mass. David L. Richardson has just been elected to serve his fortieth consecutive term as town clerk.

The Literary Digest asks: "Is life in a flat unfavorable to religion?" It depends much on the occupants of the other flats.

There are indications that the Republicans are preparing to steal the free trade thunder of the Democrats.

The war situation is now completely obscured by the Easter hat situation.

BREEZY REMARKS.

Boston Transcript: Host—I hope my daughter's playing does not annoy you?

Quest—Oh, dear no, not at all. It is so much better than her singing, you know.

Detroit Journal: "Is he still trying to get those people? It isn't so important."

"No; but he's trying to show the telephone girl that she might as well get them first as last."

Pittsburg Chronicle: Tommy—Paw, what is an artistic temperament?

Mr. Pigg—I'm blamed if I know—only when I meet a fellow that's got it I don't lend him money.

Washington Star: "What makes you run your articles across two columns instead of the usual way?"

"Because," answered the editor, "I am a truthful man, and I desire my conscience to be at perfect ease when I assert that my paper is widely read."

Detroit Free Press: Yabsley—Mudge, could you define a gentleman if you had to?

Mudge—Certainly. A gentleman is a fellow that does all the buying and none of the talking.

Philadelphia Press: "One thing about these cigars, said the stingy man, handing a 'two-for' to his friend, "is that they last so long."

"Naturally," replied the other, "I suppose they do last a fellow till he gets to the end of his rope."

Washington Star: "You must feel that you owe your country a great deal."

"Of course," answered Senator Sorghum. "A whole lot of people owe their country a great deal. The disadvantage the country labors under is in not having a good bookkeeper to keep track of these things."

TRIBUTE TO MARK TWAIN.

Oh, Marse Mark Twain,
I'll be proud ontil I'm vain
Ef you let me hobble in behind de folks
To 'spress my howdy-do
To a truveler man lak you—
An' won't swivel mo an' put me in yo' jokes.

Oh, yas, Marse Mark,
Yas, I know my han' is dark,
An' it trimbles—but ef you would shek it once,

Don' keer ef you wrench my wris'—
I'll be proud to bust out cryin' lak a dunce.

What? No, Marse, Shooks!
No, sir. I ain't read yo' books.
But it ain't my fault, an'—"Does I know you' face?"
Why, ef it ain't no libel,

But we're sca'ce in gin-u-iners!

Veto Power In Action.

Indianapolis Journal: Governor Odell, of New York is making free use of the veto power, having killed five bills in one day. In vetoing a bill to increase the salary of a stenographer in a New York city court he said: "It is noticeable that the invariable rule for the equalization of salaries in the Greater New York is to raise the lower salary to the level of the higher, and never to reduce them. This tendency is one that does not commend itself to the executive." The same tendency has been noticed elsewhere.

Threatened Strike Averted.

Chicago Chronicle: Profound relief will be felt over the arbitration of the threatened strike of the anthracite coal miners. The men are fortunate in the conservative guidance of President Mitchell, who lets liquor and politics alone and considers the families of the workingmen before his personal prominence in controversy. His skill in making clear the just claims of labor in the mines is matched by his self-control and good personal example in life. Joint conference of reasonable representations of all the interests involved is certain to bring about a fair agreement which will be to their common benefit.

Signs of Spring Fever.

Saturday Evening Post: Spring fever has arrived. It always comes ahead of the calendar. Generally it is announced by advertisements telling of remedies that will cure the tired feeling. Occasionally a bluebird comes along to sound a note, and, finally, under the leaves some one finds a snow drop or a violet and everybody begins to wrow weary. The disease is largely mental and the sovereign cure for it is work.

DAILY STORY.

MELTON'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

BY F. GUILD AULSBROOK.

(Copyrighted 1901, William R. Miller.)

"You ask me why it was I so suddenly gave up the business I had been following successfully for three years," said Jack Melton in reply to the query I had put to him.

"Well, you know I never did care for that line of business. Undertaking is the last one on earth I would enter into on my own account, but then it fell to us through the foreclosing of a mortgage and as it was necessary for one of us to give our attention to its management, it naturally fell to my lot, as I stood oldest and most experienced of the boys. My father considered it a capital venture for me also; 'would have the effect of sobering me down,' as he expressed it.

"The thought of spending my hours in the long watches, amid the long scowling coffins, rolls of sombre looking crepe and, worst of all, the dead, was not a pleasant one to dwell upon I assure you. Ugh! I can even now fell the thrill of horror that ran through me as I contemplated it. You remember, Frank, how the boys amused themselves in talking over my new exploit—my rash break, as they expressed it. Of course you do, and you were one of them, if I remember rightly," he added laughing.

"It came hard at first. I found the work and associations much different to the time-killing pursuits of the club, but I dived into my work with a zeal to find my efforts productive of good results, and ere long I was mastering the various little details of the business. But you know that old feeling of repulsion for the work-room, with its stifling odors, chilling atmosphere and great sober-looking ice chest staring out of me from the darkness like some imposing Indian idol never quite left me.

"But to cut a long story short, after a time I fell into my old habits; spent most of my spare moments over the brandy decanter, until I found myself frequently recovering from the effects of long protracted sprees. My nerves then were always in a very uncertain and excitable condition; so much so that it was almost impossible for me to drag myself into that hated back room, where my presence was getting to be regularly required.

"One night I was aroused from my slumbers by a hurry telephone call. I jumped out of bed and made my way to the 'phone. It was one of those disagreeable March nights, cold and blustering, with occasional gusts of rain beating against the windows—one of those nights that casts one into a reflective mood, dwelling upon the unfortunate condition of those without and your own comfortable position within doors. I found I was wanted at the shop at once. Jimmie, the superintendent of the work room, was at his home sick. His assistant, a big fellow of the name of Charlton, I had discharged the day before.

"Here was a pretty plight. The body was to be ready for shipments the next morning, and I must look to the unpleasant task myself.

"There, of course, was the driver, Thompson, but as his duties consisted merely of driving the wagon, he would be no help, was probably then safely installed in his home after bringing the body to the shop.

"As I told you before, I considered myself doing handsomely, busying about the shop during the day with two men ever present, but to be called to that detestable place at the dead of night and with nerves and brain slightly upset from the last spree, it was certainly unpleasant, blood curdling. But the task had to be performed, and as for letting my men know that I felt any hesitancy in dealing with the case alone, that would be rank folly on my part. So I made my way to the shop and entered, at once, the workroom.

"As I told you before, I considered myself doing handsomely, busying about the shop during the day with two men ever present, but to be called to that detestable place at the dead of night and with nerves and brain slightly upset from the last spree, it was certainly unpleasant, blood curdling. But the task had to be performed, and as for letting my men know that I felt any hesitancy in dealing with the case alone, that would be rank folly on my part. So I made my way to the shop and entered, at once, the workroom.

"The body had preceded me and lay in the center of the room, where Thompson, the driver, had placed it. I hunted up an old kerosene lamp, we had no electrics, which fortunately was filled, and lighting it, set it on a chair near the head of the body.

"The wind had risen considerably until it howled miserably, hurling the rain against the two small windows of the room with a vehemence that added greatly to my uneasiness.

"Eventually the lamp sputtered and flashed up at irregular intervals, throwing an unsteady light across the room, and finally in one supreme effort, flared up and went out, leaving the room in total darkness. A decidedly nervous feeling crept over me; a moisture made itself felt about my temples; a peculiar dryness was in my throat. Bert Jones had narrated a funny story in my presence a day or two before, which I strangely recalled at that moment, and as I hunted about for a match, I burse out laughing and kept it up until the walls rang with the echo of my voice.

"I ran my hand along the window sill. It was not there.

"I rushed over to the next window, and in my eagerness to lay hold of the matches, unsettled a half gallon bottle of carbolic acid, which fell to the floor with a resounding crash, filling the air with its heavy odor.

"I remembered I had placed matches in my top-coat pocket and, proceeding to where it hung, secured them and relighted the lamp, setting it in the position it had occupied before, near the head of the corpse.

"Whether this lamp was possessed or not, I could not determine. It continued its curious antics, flaring up in fits and starts, leaving the room so dark at times that it was impossible to resume my labors. Durchin whiskers and a market basket on his arm.

THE SHIVERING TENANT.

Chicago Tribune: An Omaha judge has been telling tenants whose landlords do not observe contracts what they should do in defense of their rights. A citizen of Omaha rented a building to be used as a hotel. The owner agreed to keep it in good condition. He failed to do so and as a consequence the hotel business was unprofitable. The tenant sued the landlord for damages.

The learned judge saddened the plaintiff by telling him he had left undone the things he ought to have done. He had sued for damages and was entitled only to nominal damages, if any, because his contributary negligence was the cause of his losses in the hotel business. He should have had necessary repairs and then had the landlord foot the bill. Said the judge:

"If a man suffers an injury that he could have avoided by the exercise of prudence he cannot recover damages for that injury. If you rent a house and find that the furnace is out of repair, it is your duty to get it fixed, and if it's so bad that it can't be repaired, throw it out and put in a new one, charging the cost up to the owner who has contracted to keep the house in proper shape. Don't let your family freeze and then go after the landlord for damages."

This last sentence must interest some Chicago tenants. There have been instances where dwellers in flats have complained that the landlord did not live up to his agreement to keep the premises warm. They have retaliated for being frozen—sometimes by refusing to pay their rent and sometimes bringing suit to recover damages for the injured health of members of their families.

This is not what they should have done, according to the Omaha judge. If the heating apparatus was defective they should have thrown it out and had something better to put in, leaving the landlord to pay the bill. If the fault was with the man who ran the apparatus, rather than with the apparatus itself, they should have thrown him out and put in a better man who would have kept them warm.

When cold weather comes again tenants whose families are freezing should remember the advice of the Omaha judge and follow it if they have the courage to do so.

Well Paid "Slaves."

Baltimore American: Considering the fact that some men get $2500 a season for being base ball slaves two hours per day, there is no wonder that there should be so many requests for shackles.

FUNSTON'S REWARD.

Chicago Tribune: President McKinley's prompt action in promoting Frederick Funston to the rank of brigadier general in the regular army is in every way commendable. The dashing Kansan has fairly earned his new honors.

Philadelphia Press: The action of the president in appointing Gen. Funston a brigadier general in the regular army, coupled with Gen. Wheaton's advancement of a major generalship, will be hailed with delight by the country. The promptness of the recognition of the Kansan's brilliant services gives special effect to the justly deserved honor. It will put a stop to all the idle clatter about the bureaucrats and their supposed hostility to the reward of men like Funston.

St Paul Pioneer Press: The attitude of certain regular army officers toward the proposed promotion of Gen. Funston recalls the fact that a similar attitude on the part of officers of our navy, in revolutionary times, finally drove John Paul Jones out of the American service and out of the country—any command such as he deserved being denied him. He died in France, to which country he had offered his services. So the most famous of our naval heroes, prior to 1812, afforded a pitiful example of the ostracism from official appreciation and reward which our regular army men would, if they could, impose upon the most brilliant of the military heroes developed by the Philippine war.

Washington Post: It is high time to acknowledge, or rather to hail, Funston as the real hero of the Philippine war. Funston has captured and delivered Aguinaldo. There is reason to believe that many military persons are jealous of Funston's success. The fact remains that while Aguinaldo has been killed several times, Funston is the first and only man who has ever captured him alive and taken a receipt for his delivery to the authorities at Manilla. It's all right. It's a clean case. A pompadour hair-cut and eight strawberry marks are not to be pooh-hooed. We have Aguinaldo, and that's all there is about it. Those who are envious of Funston may gnaw files and flee into the mountains of Hepsidam and pool their lamentations with the stricken Whangdoodle. We've got him—meaning Aggie—and Funston is the man who did the job. The others may as well lenap into the darkness and chew the pitiless north wind. Their jig is up. The Kansas man earned the reward which has come to him.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

BOOM FOR BROOKLYN

Is Expected From the Newly Formed Transportation Plans.

Will Be the Center of a Great Shipping System.

Pennsylvania Road Is Deeply Interested In the Project.

New York, April 5.—If the plans proposed and partially completed by the New York connecting railroads are carried through in the legislature, Brooklyn will become one of the greatest, if not the most important, commercial and transcontinental shipping points in the country. The borough will be directly connected with New Jersey by a gigantic ferry and with New England points by a bridge. The Pennsylvania railroad is deeply interested in the project, and its trains will encircle the borough and connect it with the New York, New Haven & Hartford road. Thus Brooklyn, instead of being a terminal alone, will be a central point of distribution and reception for a great shipping system.

But one thing stands in the way of the scheme, and that is the clause in the new charter which would enable the city to grab the road where it crosses streets and highways after a period of twenty-five years.

The charter now provides that franchises cannot be granted for a longer term than twenty-five years, with right of renewal for twenty-five years at the end of that period. An amendment which has been offered at Albany would give the railroad the right of renewal so long as the rent agreed upon was paid. The city generally demands 3 per cent.

The New York connecting company has a franchise for a bridge over Randall's island and Ward's island to Astoria. The bridge is to start from Port Morris. This road will connect with the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, giving a clear way to New England states. From the New Haven & Hartford junction the connecting road will run over the islands to Astoria, through Charlotteville to Brunswick Junction, where it will meet the terminal line formerly possessed by the Long Island railroad and now owned by the Pennsylvania.

In the meantime the Pennsylvania road is building a dock 6000 feet long at Greenville, N. J., extending out into New York bay. It will be one of the largest and most perfectly equipped docks in the world when completed. Lighters are also in course of construction, which will be large enough to carry a whole train of passenger cars to Brooklyn. These boats and the docks will be ready in a short time. A branch ferry will be run to St. George, Staten Island, to carry freight and passengers from the Baltimore & Ohio road.

"This will make the South Brooklyn terminal," President Baldwin said, "one on the greatest shipping points for cotton, grain, etc., in the world. Every plan is drawn up and the roads are partly constructed to encircle Brooklyn. All we need now is the bill to ensure a renewal of franchise for crossing highways and streets at the expiration of each 25-year period. Brooklynites may go to bed in a sleeper in their own community and start for Chicago or any other point, east or west, without first going to Jersey City or Manhattan, when this road is completed."

BIRD S. COLER VERY ILL.

Must Undergo a Serious Surgical Operation.

New York, April 5.—Bird S. Coler, comptroller of this city, is to undergo a very dangerous surgical operation, which will probably comprehend the removal of part or all of his stomach.

That Mr. Coler's condition is serious is a surprise to the public, as it was not known until a day or so ago that he was ailing.

LAWSUIT COMPROMISED.

Mrs. Hugh K. Norman Yields Claim to Millions.

Newport, R. I., April 5.—The threatened lawsuit between the executors of the estate of George H. Norman and Dorothy Prindall Norman, executrix of the estate of Hugh K. Norman, has been averted, the probate court today assenting to a settlement by compromise for $15,000.

Mrs. Hugh K. Norman, who was Dorothy Prindall, of Gloucester, Mass., the pretty daughter of a sailmaker there, alleged that her late husband was a copartner with his father in the building of waterworks in this section of the country. It was while superintending the construction of the waterworks in Gloucester that Hugh Norman fell madly in love with her. The union, however, did not prove a happy one, and a divorce was prevented by the Norrans.

When Hugh died suddenly, a few months ago, there was $15,000 due him from the estate, but with the announcement of his death came claims which more than consumed the $15,000, leaving the widow practically penniless. She thereupon made claim to a large amount as due her husband as a partner of his father in various enterprises, which netted the elder Norman nearly $10,000,000.

NOTED CANINE PET DIES.

Mrs. George W. Primrose's "Baby" Laid In $200 Coffin.

New York, April 5.—Nestled in a bed of flowers, which had been arranged within a tiny white satin casket, in Mount Vernon, N. Y., lies the dead body of Baby, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Primrose's pet black and tan dog, which died suddenly yesterday morning. The death of this animal has caused mourning in the famous minstrel man's household. The beautiful, tiny casket, which is said to have cost $200, is lying in the front hall bedroom and the neighbors were calling all day to pay their last respects to Baby, who had a wide acquaintance on "The Hill" and in all parts of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Primrose had raised it from a pup. For nine years the dog traveled with the actors' family all over America. Mrs. Primrose told a reporter she always put the dog in a traveling bag while on trains. He never barked or made any noise.

GRANTS A RESPITE

Governor Van Sant Delays Removal of Company G Property.

Enlisted Men Are Anxious to Prevent Mustering Out.

Criticisms of Maj. Bidwell Cause Much Surprise.

The tangle in Company G affairs seems to have settled down to a contest for supremacy between the enlisted men of the company and the commanding officer of the Third regiment. The enlisted men scored a point last evening when they succeeded in having the governor postpone a very important step, which would have meant the immediate mustering out of the company.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. W. H. Hart, brigade quartermaster, arrived from St. Paul to take charge of Company G's state property. Hearing of this, the members communicated with the governor, and an order came from St. Paul on the strength of which Capt. Hart returned to the capital without taking the company property with him.

The enlisted men then drew up a petition to the governor, urging that the company be retained in the service. Col. Van Duzee, commanding officer of the Third regiment, has asked the governor to muster the company out of the service. His request is based on a report of a court of inquiry, which investigated the company's affairs several months ago. The court, it is said, found that the affairs of the company were in a bad condition, and there seemed to be a general lack of interest among the men. The report of this court was submitted without any recommendations. The commanding officer then requested recommendations, and the court recommended that the company should be mustered out.

It has been said frequently that the court of inquiry found that monthly reports of the company had been padded and sworn to, and that that was the prime reason urged for the mustering out. From a reliable source it is said that the court did not report such findings. This is probably true, as the commanding officer of the company always sent the monthly reports to St. Paul, without submitting them to the battalion commandant. Certain members of the company, however, admit that the reports may have been padded, and say that company commanders all over the state do the same thing occasionally.

One of the peculiar features of the trouble in Company G was the public criticisms of the battalion commandant by a certain non-commissioned officer of the company. Such a thing is almost without precedent in a well-regulated military organization, and has caused considerable talk in guard circles.

It seems that Corporal Reid of Company G said that company's downfall from the pathway of efficiency was partly on account of the fact that Maj. Bidwell, commanding the local battalion, did not reprimand Capt. Wigdahl when the company began showing up poorly about a year ago.

The major and the corporal came together on this account last evening, and, according to the morning paper, "the frank manner in which the corporal expressed his convictions is said to have taken the major off his feet."

In speaking of the incident this morning, Maj. Bidwell said that according to his recollection of this meeting, he did practically all the talking. He further said that he did go to Capt. Wigdahl prior to the spring inspection of 1900 and told him that if the company did not brace up it would never pass the inspection. The company, however, did pass, and Maj. Bidwell says that in view of the fact that it passed the state inspecting officer satisfactorily, he did not feel called upon to offer any more suggestions.

Is Out of Politics.

Ex-Senator Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota, dropped into the Russell house this morning and left on the afternoon train for a visit with his relatives in Lansing, says the Detroit Journal of April 3. Mr. Towne says that he is out of politics for the immediate present, but he would say that Carter Harrison might loom up as a presidential possibility and then again he might not. Mr. Towne considered the election of Carter Harrison in Chicago a grand victory for the Democratic party and a fitting rebuke to the prejudiced press of that city. He did not believe that Judge Haney lost a great many votes on account of having changed his name from the good old Irish name of Hennessey.

MONROEISM.

It Still Rankles In the British Breast.

London, April 5.—The Saturday Review, still smarting under the sting of what it calls "Cleveland's insolent message," discusses the American-Venezuelan relations and says:

"We have little sympathy for the Venezuelan government, but have the deepest sympathy with any attempt to arrest the wholesale use of Monroeism that is practiced in the United States. It menaces the legitimate development of European countries and we have reason to know it excites the gravest apprehension in governing circles in Germany. In any case, the irony of the political nemesis was rarely more delightfully apparent than under the present condition of affairs, and we await developments with no less amusement than interest."

IT WENT THROUGH

The Primary Election Bill Passed Senate and House.

The Ives Amendment Was Omitted From Its Provisions.

Voter Must Swear He Voted For Party Previously.

St. Paul, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate adopted the report of the conference committee on the primary election bill, but not without a struggle. The report recommended that the senate recede from the Ives amendment regarding party declaration and the Smith amendment allowing the use of voting machines.

Senator Benedict, one of the conferees, moved the adoption of the report, and upon that motion demanded the previous question, which carried.

No debate being allowable under this order, the discussion of the matter was confined to the explanations of senators in casting their votes.

Senator Baldwin stated that he favored an amendmen requiring that voters should take oath to support the nominees on the ticket they voted for, but he vigorously opposed the house requirement to swear that they supported that ticket at the last election. He said that a court could not compel a man to swear how he had voted, and he did not believe that this act should compel him to do so.

Several other senators took the same ground, Senator Stockwell declaring that "one of the most eminent jurists upon the bench" had informed him that it was his deliberate opinion that such a provision would vitiate the act. The majority party, however, had determined upon the defeat of Senator Ives' amendment, and the report was adopted, 33 to 25. The bill was then repassed.

Senator Young, at the request of the governor, introduced an amendment to the Sivright anti-oleo bill passed at this session, transferring jurisdiction in prosecutions under the act to justices' courts, making violations a misdemeanor instead of a felony. He wanted the rules suspended and the bill passed, but Senator Daugherty made a vigorous objection. He said that prosecutions under this law in his district were in most cases "persecutions" rather than "prosecutions," and wanted an opportunity to examine the measure. Under his objection the bill went over.

Twenty-two senate files were given their final passage, including Senator Lord's bill providing for a commission to revise and codify the general laws. It provides that the governor shall appoint a commission of three and appropriates $35,000 to carry out the provisions of the act. A recess was taken until 2:30 p. m., when the Torrens land act comes up as a special order.

IN THE HOUSE.

St. Paul, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Laybourn today introduced a resolution of condolence to Hon. Thomas Bury on the death of his mother and allowing him an indefinite leave of absence, and it was adopted unanimously by a rising vote. On motion of Chairman Mallory, of the insurance committee, the substitute for the Laybourn insurance codification bill was made a special order for Monday afternoon. Mr. Deming had his Younger boys parole bill recalled from the governor to permit an inquiry into a suggested unconstitutional feature in giving to the chief justice powers not properly pertaining to his office.

The old Kandiyohi county capital lands came up on a motion to concur in senate amendments to the bill for the sale of the lands. The motion carried and the bill was repassed as amended. The proceeds of the sale under the amendment go into the general funds of the state instead of being applied on the new capital, as originally provided.

The report of the conferees on the primary elections bill was presented, striking out the Smith voting machine amendment, and the Ives amendment, removing the requirement of an oath by the voter that he had voted for the same party previously. The house accepted the report and passed the bill as amended by a vote of 75 to 27.

Three house bills were given final passage:

Ward—To legalize mortgage foreclosure by advertisements.

Berg—Providing for drainage of lands.

CONNERS

Buffalo Discussion as to His Montreal Fiasco.

In connection with the efforts of the Wolvin syndicate to put through the Montreal elevator scheme, the following story from Buffalo appeared in the Detroit Free Press of yesterday:

"The trip to Montreal made by certain lake men this week in the interest of the elevator scheme has brought out some new statements of the case that are interesting. It is claimed by friends of W. J. Conners that he is to be let out whole, probably with little or no interest in the undertaking, but others say that this statement applies to the $50,000 forfeit only. Conners is said to have spent in all about $213,60 in the Montreal scheme, only to find that he was unable to go on with it to completion. The interesting statement is also made that the scheme was not originated by Conners, but by some of the very men who have now taken it up and propose to carry it through. Conners discovered what was going on through somebody's "leaking," and he took it up and got the lead in spite of the others. If these men go now and give him back all the money he put into the scheme, when they apparently are in no way obligated to do so, they are more generous than business men usually are. It is announced that the transfer of the Conners interest to the Wallace-Fitzgerald-Wolvin-Smith syndicate is practically complete and that the elevators and vessels will stand at the foot of McGill streets, the center of the Montreal river front, the docks there having been much improved of late There is to be no delay of the work this time."

The story will hardly be credited locally, however, from the fact that Mr. Conners was in Duluth for a conference with Capt. Wolvin, before he, Conners, proposed his scheme to the Montreal harbor commission.

A Montreal dispatch received several days ago said that the board of trade, comprised of the merchants of Montreal, have filed with the Canadian premier a protest against the elevator scheme of Capt. A. B. Wolvin and associates. The rights asked by the syndicate were granted by the harbor commission, which action is subject to the approval or disapproval of the government and it is this disapproval that the board of trade is now seeking to bring about.

WAS KILLED.

L. E. Stevens of Valley City, N. D., Falls From Train.

L. E. Stevens, whose home was near Valley City N.D.,fell off an Eastern Minnesota fast freight train about a mile south of Twenty-eighth street, West Superior, last night, and was killed. The decedent had been working in the woods in a lumber camp near Duluth all winter, and started from this point in charge of a carload of horses yesterday, bound for Minot, N. D. As near as the West Superior authorities can find out, Stevens attempted to walk back to the caboose over the tops of the cars, when he stumbled or slipped and fell on to the track. The train passed the point of the accident about 8:45 o'clock last evening. At the first stop made shortly afterward Stevens was missed by the train crew, and a message was sent back to West Superior to investigate the matter. The decedent was dead when found by the searching party and the limbs were badly mangled, the indications being that many cars went over the dead man.

Stevens' father, who resides at Ashtabula, N. D., has been sent for to take charge of his son's remains. The Douglas county authorities regard an inquest unnecessary. The body will probably be taken to Valley City tomorrow.

DIAMOND MEDAL SHOO.T

Central Gun Club to Shoot For It.

The Central Gun club will hold a diamond medal shoot for the local championship tomorrow afternoon at the club grounds on the lake shore at Thirty-second avenue east. The shoot will open at 2 o'clock, but the entries will not close till 4 o'clock, in order to give all a chance to enter.

The diamond medal is now held by Warren Mendenhall, of this city. It is expected that a number of prominent Superior shots will be over to compete for it, but Mr. Mendenhall's most dangerous competitor is said to be John Nelson, who tied him in the recent shoot at South Superior.

Another interesting event will be the shoot between Paul Sharvy and John Nelson, for the Wells medal. Mr. Sharvy at present holds this trophy.

SENT CHLOROFORM.

Jones' Brother Forwarded It From Texas.

New York, April 5.—It was announced at the district attorney's office today that an affidavia had been received from William L. Jones, of Texas, brother of Charles F. Jones, saying that in July and August, 1900, he sent bottles of chloroform to hi brother, William Marsh Rice's valet.

The affidavit says that Charles F. Jones said he wanted drug for a friend who wanted to make toothache drops. Assistant Attorney Osborne declared he would produce in court the brother from Texas, if necessary to hold Albert T. Patrick.

BEGINNING.

Rush of New Fresh Vegetables Is Under Way.

The spring rush of new, sweet, succulent vegetables, fresh from the Southern gardens, is beginning, and in its market report today The Herald includes a long list of fresh vegetables for the first time this season. Fresh vegetables have been on the market for some little time, but they are just beginning to come in quantities that make it worth while. Recent manifestations of winter in Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana threatened some of the more tender varieties and delayed shipments somewhat, but the damage done was not great, and receipts are coming quite freely. The list includes celery, lettuce, onions, shallotts, pieplant, cucumbers spinach, radishes, asparagus, tomatoes, mint, eggplant and beets, carrots and turnips, and prices are not especially high.

Butter and eggs are firm. Creamery of the best grade is selling at 22 to 23 cents, and eggs have gone from 12 to 12½ up to 13½ cents.

Lemons are easier, the California variety having come down from $3.25 and $3.50 to $3 and $3.25.

Chickens and turkeys are more expensive than they have been. Chickens have advanced from 11 and 12 to 12 and 12½ cents, and turkeys have gone up from 10 and 10½ cents to 11 and 12 cents.

On meats the only change this week is the reduction of pork loins, from 10½ cents to 9½ cents, all the other meats remaining unchanged.

To get in the game with young Mr. Phillips, of Chicago, corn has jumped a couple of cents and is now selling on Michigan street at 44 cents, instead of 42. Hay and feed are also more expensive than they have been. They are advanced 50 cents all around.

THE MARCH ARRESTS.

Statement of Police For the Month.

During the month of March the police department made 227 arrests. Out of this number 90 were for drunkenness, 20 for disorderly conduct, 19 for petty larceny, 10 for grand larceny and 4 for burglary.

Fifty-seven of those arrested paid fines aggregating $1337. Twenty-two were discharged from custody and thirty-nine were allowed to go under suspended sentences, which, had the sentences been enforced, would have raised the fine receipts of the municipal court about $417. Eighty-four prisoners were sentenced to the county jail, the aggregate of sentences being 1260 days.

During the month the department cared for 395 lodgers and five insane persons.

There were forty-two cases of larceny reported during the month, in which the estimated value of property stolen was $1060. The estimated value of stolen property, recovered, was $605.

THE ABUSED GERM.

Allegation That Microbes Infest Books at Library.

Some of the germ enthusiasts would fain create the impression that when you go to the public library nowadays and take out a book you should seize it with a pair of tongs and look over it carefully to see if there are any microbes hanging on to the leaves or binding by their claws, says the Chicago Chronicle. Since it is all the fashion nowadays to discover bacilli and their sisters and their cousins and their aunts in everything we touch, eat drink and breathe the public library felt that it couldn't afford to be left in the rush, so an energetic member of the library board started out on a determined chase and he didn't stop until he had scraped a well selected variety of disease-breeding microbes off several books, trapped them and placed them in bottles, where they are to be left to do their worst, while the library board will look on to catch them in the act.

It has been reported that the following set of rules will soon be published and issued to users of public library books to instruct them as to the proper method of procedure in relation to germ-infested books:

First—On taking a book from the library at once examine every page with a powerful microscope before reading a single line.

Second—Kill every microbe, germ or bacillus on sight. A microbe may be best dispatched with an ax, a germ with a brick, fire poker or anything that can be easily thrown, while the bacillus should be given morphine or Paris green. Never use hot water or ice to destroy the beasts. The first will injure the book and the animals will eat the latter and grow fat on it.

Third—If you are extremely humane in taking life, then call the patrol wagon and turn matters over to the police.

Fourth—Even if you have not discovered any germs, microbes or bacilli on the first examination and one should crawl across the page after you have started to read be sure to stop reading, no matter how interesting the story, and kill the objectionable creature.

Fifth—After the killing do not under any circumstances throw the dead bodies in the street or in the air. They must be safely put away. Either bury or burn them or throw them in the river that they may float down to St. Louis.

Sixth—See that the book is well laundered before being returned to the library. You should see to this washing and ironing personally in order that it may be well done.

It is hoped that after these rules have been thoroughly circulated and placed in the hands of every reader there will be little further danger to be encountered in handling a book from the public library. However, there may be more important developments in the near future. A few days ago Commissioner of Public Health Reynolds, inspired by the researches already made by a member of the library board, hurried over to the library and secured six volumes of books that had evidently been much handled, and, hugging them close under his arm, regardless of all danger, sped back to the city hall, where the books were placed in the hands of the city chemist for examination.

The city chemist will not hesitate to tell what he finds, no matter how large or how numerous are the live things which he runs across. At present there are few in Chicago who think that the books will be found to be so thickly infested that it will be necessary to burn down the public library to save the lives of the citizens who come in contact with the books of the circulating department.

Some years ago Librarian Poole set afoot a little investigation along this line, which brought out some interesting facts which might be supposed to discourage slightly the present crusaders who are camping on the trail of the microbe. Mr. Poole sent out inquiries all over the country to librarians asking them in regard to the transmission of diseases through the medium of books that were given public circulation. The answer received from each and every librarian was that they had never known or heard of a single case in which a disease had been carried from one person to another by a book.

The Chicago library already has an excellent system in operation providing against the possibility of contagion being carried by books. The health department of the city sends to the library a list of all persons who are suffering from contagious diseases. The librarian continually compares this list with the names of people who have library books. In the case of those afflicted with small pox who have books at the time the books are burned. Books in the possession of those afflicted with other contagious diseases are taken to the roof of the library and thoroughly fumigated with formaldehyde.

THE SMALLEST MONARCH.

Probably the smallest monarch in the world reigns over the Hindu vassal state of Bhopaul, and governs a people more than 1,000,000 souls. This dwarf is a woman, Pjihan-Begum by name, but, although she is about 50 years old, she does not appear larger than a child of 10.

NEEDED THE MONEY.

"I was employed once in a suit of considerable importance in which my client was a lady," related a New York lawyer the other day, in talking of Evarts' death to a writer in the Kansas City Journal. "To insure success it was thought advisable to secure the services of distinguished counsel, and accordingly I was authorized to employ Mr. Evarts. After talking over the matter with him, on rising to go, I said to Mr. Evarts that it would be the proper thing to give him a retainer, and asked him for what amount I should make out a check in his favor.

"'Oh,' said he, 'I guess $1000 will suffice,' and thereupon I tendered him the paper for that sum.

"Not long afterward the suit was settled to our satisfaction, and again I called on Mr. Evarts, this time to pay him in full for his services, which had not been of an arduous nature.

"'How much do we owe you?' I said.

"'Call it $5000,' he responded, without a moment's hesitation. I thought this a little steep, in view of the circumstances, and I started in with a mild protest.

"'You know, Mr. Evarts, that you've had $1000.'

"'Yes,' he said, with a dry smile, 'but I've spent that.'

"This was an unanswerable argument, and all further effort at reduction ceased."

SOME EVENTS MISSED.

Senator Cockrell, whose proud boast has been that he never came out second best in any kind of a swap, has met his Waterloo at the hands of a Washington fakir, says the New York World. He had some little folks from Missouri visiting him for the inauguration, and he thought it would please them to carry home some souvenirs. Mr. Cockrell meandered forth, expended about $1.39 with a curbstone merchant, and carried back an armload of silver and bronze mementos.

The senator's daughter looked at them and burst into laughter. The senator became curious and demanded to know what was the matter. Then, taking up his purchases seriatim, Miss Cockrell showed him that the souvenirs were commemorative of events reaching as far back as the Centennial, but that not one of the inauguration was in the lot.

"The only consolation I had," said the senator afterward, "was that the medal ordered struck off by Ferdinand and Isabella in honor of the discovery of America was not in the collection."

SOUNDS FISHY.

Toledo, Ohio, April 5.—The Bee publishes a story to the effect that Dr. Ash, a former resident of this city, has just sold to John D. Rockefeller for $1,000,000 150 acres in Northern Wisconsin which Dr. Ash purchased in 1884, for $1000, on speculation. The tract is said to include the only natural harbor in Northern Wisconsin.

BIG SALE.

St. Paul, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Yellowstone Park association has sold out its entire belongings and interests in the national park to the Yellowstone Park Transportation company, which consists of S. S. Huntley and E. W. aBche, of Helena, Mont., and H. W. Childs, of St. Paul, the consideration being close to $1,000,000. Among the items transferred were the Mammoth Hot Springs hotel, recently built for $200,000; the Fountain hotel, $100,000; Grand Canyon hotel, $100,000, and the Lake hotel $75,000 besides four lunchstations and other property. J. H. Dean president of the old company, will be manager of the new, and the transportation company is now the possessor of all the property in the great national park.

HEADLESS BODY.

Burlington, Vt., April 5.—The partly dismembered body of a man was found today on the bank of Lewis creek at Ferrisburg, on the farm of Lieutenant Governor Fallen. The body was headless and one arm and one leg were missing. It had been in the water several days and how it came on the bank was not apparent. There was nothing about it to indicate its identity.

REPORT UNFOUNDED.

Indianapolis, April 5.—It was reported from New York today that Russell B. Harrison intends contesting the will of his father, with the view of obtaining his portion of the estate direct. Howard Cale, Mr. Harrison's attorney, said this afternoon that the report is unfounded. Mr. Harrison, he said, is entirely satisfied.

ADDED TO MENU.

Chicken Tamales and Pigs' Feet for Soldiers.

Chicago, April 5.—Chicken tamales and canned pigs' feet are to be added to the menu for the soldiers in the Philippines. These articles of diet are on a list of provisions which will be purchased in Chicago Monday, by Maj. W. L. Alexander, chief commissary officer of the department of the lakes. The supplies include 2400 one-pound cans of chicken tamales, and 1008 two-pound cans of pigs' feet. The supplies purchased for immediate shipment, will aggregate several tons.

ST. LOUIS FRAUDS.

St. Louis, April 5.—Election canvassers today threw out the vote of the Third ward owing to alleged fraudulent voting. This will seat a Republican instead of a Democratic alderman. A citizens' committee is securing evidence in regard to the election frauds, which will probably form the basis of a demand for an investigation by a special grand jury.

FATALLY INJURED.

Milwaukee, April 5—An Evening Wisconsin special from Iron Mountain, Mich., says: Two men were probably fatally injured and two others not seriously, by a peramture explosion of a dynamite charge in the Pewabik mine today. Their names are not given.

A LINCOLN STORY.

Lincoln used to be fond of telling a story which he got from Mr. Connaut, of a lawyer in a Western town who desired the nomination for county judge, says the Los Angeles Times. On the morning preceding the evening on which the county convention was to meet he applied to the livery stable keeper in his village for a horse and buggy in which to drive to the county town, sixteen miles distance, where the convention was to be held.

"Give me the best and the fastest horse you have, Sam," said he, "so that I will have time to go around and see the boys before the convention comes in."

The liveryman, however, was supporting a rival candidate, and gave the lawyer a horse that outwardly appeared perefet, but which broke entirely down before half the journey was completed, so that when the candidate arrived the convention had adjourned and his rival had been nominated.

On his return to the stable, late the following afternoon, knowing that it was useless to resent the trick played upon him, he said to the owner:

"Look here, Smith, you must be training that horse for New York market, and expect to sell him to an undertaker for a hearse, don't you? Well, it's time wasted. I know from his gait that you have spent days training him to pull a hearse, but he'll prove a dead failure. Why, he's so slow he couldn't get a corpse to the cemetery in time for the resurrection."

ON THE SAME WIRE.

Trouble Made Among Women By Telephone System.

Since telephones on party wires were introduced in Suburbanville there has been a very thorough readjustment of old tueds, says the New York Sun. The party wire system permits three or four telephones on the same wire. Every telephone bell on this wire rings at the same time. The special telephone that it waated is indicated by the number of times the bell rings. Each subscriber on a party wire quickly acquires a decided contempt, if not hatred, for every other subscriber on the same wire.

Suburbanville's social lines were formerly marked by membership in church congregations. In some one of the dozen or more whist clubs, and lastly by the butcher who supplied the family. When Mrs. Smith wanted to invite a dozen congenial women to form a whist or bowling club she sorted out on her list the women who patronized the same butcher and went to the same church.

Since the party telephones have been put in it has made the problem of collecting a dozen congenial women so complex that it would puzzle a graduate in double-entry bookkeeping. Not only must the hostess bear in mind the congregation to which the women belong and the butchers whom they patronize, but she must be sure not to bring together two women who use the same party wire. Such a disaster happened last week.

Mrs. Onering had never met Mrs. Tworing, though their telephones were on the same wire. When Mrs. Tworing's telephone was put in she thoroughly enjoyed the novelty of calling up all of her friends who had telephones a dozen times a day. Mrs. Onering had become accustomed to her telephone, and the continual jangling of Mrs. Twering's calls annoyed her. Several lively skirmishes followed over the wire.

One morning when Mrs. Onering was anxious to telephone for a cab to caten a certain train she waited for Mrs. Tworing to get through telephoning until her patience was exhausted. Then she broke in on the wire with the request:

"Won't you please give me a chance to call up the livery stable? I'm in a hurry."

"Are you, indeed?" said the voice. "Who are you?"

"I am Mrs. Onering. Who are you?"

"I am Mrs. Twering, and I shall complain to Central that you have been listening."

"Well, then, I will tell Central that I can't help listening because you are using the telephone all the time. I have as much right on this wire as you have."

"Comes from having ill-bred persons on the wire, and——"

"People who never had a telephone before, and——"

"I'll complain, and——"

"I won't stand it any——"

"Such impertinence!——"

Bur-r-r-r, and both telephones rang off at the same time. It so happened that Mrs. Onering and Mrs. Twering did not know each other by sight. They were both guests at a Helping Hand social last week, and happening to be seated together they opened conversation without the formality of an introduction.

They agreed beautifully about butchers, and each wondered why she had not happened to meet the other before. Then they came to the subject of telephones.

"I find my telephone a great convenience," said Mrs. Onering, "but I have the most disagreeable people on the wire. A woman has just had her telephone put in, and she works it to death. She has been telephoning all this last month. I think I will apply to have my wire changed. I can't stand it."

"That's just my experience," said Mrs. Twering delightedly. "There is the most impertinent woman on my wire. I know from her voice she is a perfect fright. She is so curious that she listens whenever I use the wire. If one could only chase the other subscribers on her party wire it would be a great advantage."

So many common experiences made Mrs. Onering and Mrs. Tworing very chummy and each was just about to invite the other to call when the hostess came up and said to them:

"Why, I did not know that you two people knew each other."

"We have just scraped an acquaintance," said Mrs. Onering, "and I wish that you would introduce us formally."

"Certainly," said the hostess. "Mrs. Onering I want to present a neighbor of yours, Mrs. Tworing."

"Tworing did you say?" asked Mrs. Onering. "Yes, I remember the name perfectly. So sorry, but I must be going now. I have had a lovely afternoon," and out she went.

"If she had not gone I would have left," said Mrs. Tworing.

"Why, I thought that you were getting along beautifully," said the hostess.

"Her telephoe is on my party wire and she bothers me very much."

Mrs. Tworing and Mrs. Onering pass each other on the street as strangers and when they connict in using the telephone each treats the other with frigid politeness.

So many hostesses in Suburbanville have had similar awkward experiences that they have now applied to the telephone company for a classified list of the party telephones in use so that two women who use the same wire may not be invited at the same time.

-Indianapolis News: An actor and his wife had a funny experience recently in Toronto. They were playing a piece in which the wife enacted the part of a woman dentist, and one evening the husband received a note asking him to call at a certain house. He did so the next day and was greeted by an old man and his wife, the latter of whom said to him: "Me and my mate fell in love with your missus last night. She was so gentle with you when you was a-sittin' of the dentist chair. I'm gettin' on now, and all my teeth is gettin' loose, and my mate wants me to go up to the dentists shop and 'ave 'em pulled, but I knows as 'ow they hurts, and I want to know if you and your missus will come around 'ere and 'ave tea with us, 'ave a little singin' and enjoy ourselves and your missus before she leaves kindly pull out a few of these old stumps, as I know she'll be as kind and gentel as she was to you?"

FIVE ARE INDICTED

Young Men Belonging to Wealthy Families In Kentucky.

Enticed Girls From College and Fired on President.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 5.—Five young men belonging to some of the wealthiest families of Bowling Green were indicted by the grand jury today for alleged participation in the escapade at Potter's college Saturday night, in which several young women attending the college, also were involved. It is charged that the young men placed a ladder under a window and enticed the girls from the college and then when President Cabell fired upon them they returned the fire, but without wounding him. The young men declare they intended to take the girls to a duck supper.

REFUSED.

Governor Van Sant Denies Request Concerning Control Bill.

St. Paul, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senators Johnson and Young called on Governor Van Sant this morning and asked him to authorize the introduction of a bill to correct the title to the board of control bill, so that it would conform to the matter in the body of the measure. Governor Van Sant positively refused to take any action or attempt to remedy the defect in any way. He denied that he had received a formal opinion from Attorney General Douglass in regard to the bill, and said that it was satisfactory to him.

IS A BACHELOR.

New York Woman Victim of a Rascal.

New York, April 5.—At the French consulate today it was denied that Comte de Pomereau, a member of the French chamber of deputies, would under the law of that country, be considered legally married simply because a woman whom he had never seen or met on behalf of before said she had been wedded to him in New York, in 1892, and showed a certificate bearing his name.

"It is absurd to think of such a thing," said an officer connected with the consulate. "The fact is this woman is the victim of a rascal who assumed the count's name and title."

The count is a bachelor. Recently he received a letter from Pomereau, who reproached him bitterly for having deserted her after having married her in New York. The count was in Rouen, France, April 19, 1892, the date of the marriage. He will have the claim set aside by the tribunal of the Seine.

DECISIONS.

Handed Down By the Supreme Court of Minnesota.

St. Paul, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five decisions were handed down by Justice Lovely of the supreme court today, clearing the October term calendar. There is but one reversal, that in the case of Hiler H. Horton as receiver for O. Walker et al, appellant, vs. Frank A. Seymour and W. H. Lightner, receivers of the bank of Minnesota, respondents. A new trial is granted in this case.

Lucy A. Blew, respondent, vs. Fred Ritz, appellant. Order affirmed.

Two appeals were dismissed, that of Cook county from an allowance to Trewin, Tway & Co., of St. Paul, for supplies, and Bertha Sunvold, appellant, vs. M. N. O. & B. M. Alby.

HEARD PROTESTS.

Concerning Alleged Discrimination In Freight Rates.

Knapp, of New York, members of the interstate commerce commission, today heard the protests of New York lumber dealers who obtain their lumber from West Virginia and Ohio against what they deem the discriminating freight rates of the Norfolk & Western railroad.

BIG STONE

Rolled Down From Bluff and Killed Fountain City Woman.

St. Paul, April 5.—A special to the Dispatch from Alma, Wis., says: A large rock rolled down the high bluff at Fountain City, eighteen miles from here, early today. It struck the dwelling of Mr. Tobler, a blind man, completely demolishing it and instantly killing Mrs. Elizabeth Tobler. Mr. Tobler was injured, but not fatally.

NO VOTING MACHINES.

Wisconsin Resolution Legalizing Them Was Lost.

Madison, Wis., April 5.—The Hall resolution for constitutional amendment legalizing the use of voting machines, was lost. The vote was 16 to 15 in its favor, but a majority of all the members is required. The assembly sent the bill conveying the Green Bay ship canal grant to Ephraim Mariner and Charles F. Pfister to a special committee.

NEEDED MORE MONEY.

The rule regarding the presence of any save members of Julia Marlowe's acting and working staff on the stage during her performances are very strict, relates the New York Sun. It was with considerable surprise, therefore, that Miss Marlowe, entering her dressing room after the first act of "When Knighthood Was in Flower" several nights ago, looked around and discovered a weeping man standing beside her.

Her first thought was that he had ridden in on the train of her court dress after the ingenious manner of her pet spaniel, "Taffy," who often performs this stunt to the great admiration of all beholders. The man gave no explanation as to how he had gained an entrance but promptly began a story of suffering and disappointment which fairly brought tears to Miss Marlowe's eyes. He wound up with a request for $6, saying that with the sum he could buy a cap, conductor's badge and gloves and so obtain a place on the Metropolitan Street railway. Miss Marlowe promptly handed over the six, but plucked up courage to say:

"I hope you will please try to return this money, because if you don't the next poor man who comes to me may not fare so well, however worthy he is."

With more tears the man assured her that he would return the money from his first wages and departed. The next week she received the following letter:

"I can't pay back the six, but will you please send me some more, as the company wants me to pay for the car now."

HIS LAST PENSION CHECK.

"Two hours before the late James Wade passed to his final reward," said a friend to the Scottsville, Ky., Times, "his pension check for $30 was placed in his hands. He wrote his name across the back of the document and had it cashed by a friend who was then at the house. The money came at a most opportune time, as the old gentleman was penniless and had been unable to earn support for quite a time before his death, hence had nothing, and the last payment made him by the government, to which he had given his services and health, served to furnish a winding sheet in which to sleep his long last sleep."

IMPROVED MIND.

The Food Grape-Nuts.

A famous woman says: "I am so much in love with Grape-Nuts that I presume I often bore people telling them about the new food. You certainly will make an everlasting fortune from the sale of it. The article has become the best known cereal on the market."

It can hardly be called a cereal, for it is not like the common rolled wheat or rolled oats, but it is in the form of granules, ranging from the size of a pin head up to twice or three times that size.

It is thoroughly cooked at the factory, and requires no preparation whatever, but can be served instantly with hot milk or hot cream to make a hot mush, or cold cream can be poured in the side of the saucer and a very delicious crisp food is the result. Not only is the taste fascinating, but the nutritive value of the food is very great, as shown by the improved condition physically and mentally of those who use it ten days or two weeks.

INDIAN GIRLS

The Belles of Indian Territory Are Heiresses Also.

Their Beauty Is the Result of Marriage With Whites.

From the intermingling of the white and the red blood in the Indian territory there has grown up a race notable for the beauty and grace of women, says the New York Sun. The girls of the Indian territory are no more the wild untamable dusky beauties of early Indian fiction than they are the wretched creatures found among some of the tribes today. They are to all intents and purposes on the same plane with white women of education and refinement, except that the strain of wild, strong Indian blood in their veins gives them a tinge of richer color, a brighter eye, a more lissome grace than their white sisters possess.

Reckoned in fractions of blood, these Indian beauties are more Caucassian than aboriginal American. All of them, however, are Indians, politically and socially; they hold firmly to their membership in the tribes. Many of them are one-quarter or one-eighth or even one-sixteenth or one-thirty-second Indian; but the red strain is stronger and shows, if not in some lingering richness of color or in the moulding of the face, at least in an all but indefinable fascination and grace, the heritage of a forest people.

Among them one may find perfect blondes, with the Indian strain still salient and palpable. And although they have succumbed to the corset of civilization, in almost all cases they have their less trammelled ancestresses to thank for the blessings of well-nigh perfect figures. And one other of woman's best gifts they possess: Clear and low voices, with not a trace of the guttural intonation which is common to original Indian tongues. Raised among scenes of the bloodless conquest of their race by the whites, they look without concern upon the destruction of tribal customs and the thinning and dying out of the old blood. To this last they even contribute, for so seldom does one of them marry an Indian that such an event is commented upon in the territory as remarkable.

Before the middle of the last century a Cherokee woman one day met a hunter in the forest. She was frightened at his white skin and fled, thinking him an evil spirit. But he was fascinated by her beauty and pursued her into camp, where he learned that she was the daughter of a friendly chief. The hunter laid siege to the heart of the dusky belle and finally gained her consent to marry him according to tribal customs then in vogue. This hunter and his squaw raised a half-breed child who was a great curiosity to the red skins. As years sped by other hunters invaded the domain of the Five Tribes of the Indian territory and married other dark-skinned beauties. Intermarriage in the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw and Seminole tribes has flourished to such an extent within the last quarter century that the full-blood element is now on the verge of extinction. The old men of the tribe are becoming alarmed and have passed laws against intermarriage. Some of these laws are very severe, almost prohibitive, in fact. The young Indian women object to these laws, because they do not want, as a rule, to marry the men of their own tribes.

The Chickasaws are the strictest regarding intermarriage. A law recently placed on their statute books requires any white man applying for a license to marry a Chickasaw girl, first, to produce evidence that he has resided in the Chickasaw nation two years, next to furnish credentials as to his good character, and third, to pay $1000 for the marriage license. Of course, the girl has and sometimes takes the privilege of eloping, at the cost of losing her rights in the tribal lands and money, and of disgracing herself in the eyes of her relatives. Her head-right is something worth considering, for right in the Chickasaw nation is valued at from five to ten thousand dollars, and in the Cherokee, Creek and Choctaw nation at from five to eight thousand dollars. The intermarriage laws of all the four nations named are about the same, except that the Chickasaw nation charges $1000 for a license while the others only ask $30.

There is good reason for these laws. Many fortune hunters, attracted by the wealth of the Indian maidens, have in the past married into the tribes and gained control of large tracts of land, fostered outlaws and raised bad families. There were few happy marriages, and not until the wise men of the tribes met and passed an act making every white man show his credentials before the license was issued, was there a betterment of these conditions. The character of each applicant was carefully examined before he was admitted. For several years after respectable and industrious white men married into the tribes and their children married whites. Miss Marlowe, so on down the line until today the eighth, sixteenth and thirty-second part Indian predominates. Of pure bloods there will be none in a few years.

Still this open-door marriage policy, while it admitted no bad characters, was fraught with many evils. Any well-appearing man, with a gift of love making, could go there and win a bride and a handsome fortune at the same time, provided his record was reasonably good. The women there were not so highly educated as they are now. But they possessed a desire to marry white men, hence it was easy sailing for fortune hunters. This class of men fenced in large tracts of the public domain, or land belonging to the red skins in common, used the land for cattle ranches, and converted the minerals into cash. Many men became millionaires at the expense of the tribes. They were known as galvanized Indians or squaw men.

Five years ago the evil was partly remedied by the action of the tribal councils in disfranchising all squaw men who thereafter married into the tribes. This checked the influx of money-seekers for a time, and then it became as bad as ever. Early this year the Chickasaws raised the marriage licenses to $1000 each. They now expect only true love marriages to occur.

The average Indian girl of today possesses an excellent education. All the shrewdness of the Indian, combined with the thirst for knowledge belonging to the whites, has filled these girls with a desire to advance. The federal government spends nearly $400,000 annually in educating the youth of the five tribes. The Cherokees and Creeks have the best schools, while the Chickasaws spend the most money with least results.

It is difficult at this time to make a correct estimate of the wealth of these girls, but the opinion of the government officials on the subject is that $500 is an underestimate for the tribal right alone, while many of the girls have property besides. The Indian girl has generally selected her vocation before she is 20. She marries early and settles down easily to the duties of domestic life. Or if she is going on the stage, and many of them do, she has completed arrangements for it while still in her teens. Others enter special fields where they believe that their talent will win them fame. All are ambitious. None is sluggish.

The wedding of an Indian girl is the crowning glory of her life. She makes of it and her friends for hundreds of miles around are certain to attend. The ceremony is made as striking as possible.

The Indian maiden who has the reputation of being the belle of the territory is Miss Tookah Turner, whose Indian name is Pretty Whirling Water. She has not only beauty, but also accomplishments. In another sense she is the greatest catch in the Indian matrimonial market, for she will come in for a large slice of the fortune of her father, W. C. Turner, of Muskogee, a millionaire cattle man. Miss Turner is a Cherokee.

Another Cherokee belle is Mrs. Rachel Davis-Brady, of the Georgia Cherokee branch. She came to the territory only ten years ago, but she belongs there by ancestry, as she is of the famous Ross family, the head of which, Joshua Ross, was for forty years chief of the tribe. The Ross family is said to be the richest Indian family in the country, and the aggregate of its wealth mounts up into the millions. Another of the Ross family who is notable for beauty is Mrs. Dr. Thompson.

One of the Creek beauties, the young grand-daughter of Pleasant Porter, the present chief, is an excellent example. She is also heiress to considerable wealth this record implies. The scene of this disaster was Barcelona, a town dreaded by most singers. There Mme. Sembrich sang at the beginning of her career in "Lucia."

She had just met with triumphant success in Madrid, and naturally expected to meet with the same experience in Barcelona. Singing with her at that time was Signor Pandolfini, who had previously been a popular singer in Spain and Italy. He was singing "Ashton." Mme. Sembrich made her customary success with her first aria. Then came the duet with Signor Pandolfini. He was in bad voice and sang off the key in a way that even greater patience than Barcelona's would never have tolerated. The hissing and catcalls were so strong that nothing could be heard but the uproar. The mad scene was again a triumph for Mme. Sembrich, but it was too late then. Any public which had behaved itself as that of Barcelona was not to be tolerated. So Mme. Sembrich broke her contract left Barcelona the next morning and then wrote the word "Flasco" in large letters in her little book.

TRIALS OF A SINGER.

Strange Appeals Received By Mme. Sembrich.

Sometimes the letters received by famous singers are more remarkable than persons unaccustomed to see them would ever believe, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

Next to the autograph seekers, the beggars are the most numerous. They want money in the majority of cases, although their ways of begging for it are varied. One day Mme. Sembrich received a note from a Pole, who lives somewhere in the far eastern side of New York city. In the writer said that he possessed a voice which would make him a reputation in the world if he could only afford to cultivate it. The writer said that Edouard de Reszke had promised to pay for half of this course if Mme. Sembrich would pay for the rest.

It happened, unfortunately for the writer, that Edouard de Reszke was at Mme. Sembrich's house when the note arrived. She read it through, and handed it to him. Immediately he recognized the handwriting. The letter was identical with one that had come to him, the only difference being in the maiter of the names.

Mme. Sembrich receives the customary letters from her compatriots, begging for money, but the most remarkable of her correspondents was an American girl, who wrote signing herself after her name, "dram sop." The letter came from a town so small that it is to be found only on a very large map. The letter was written on paper that bore the advertisement of a small village hotel. These words, "dram sop," were puzzling for a while. But the letter cleared up the mystery. The writer said that she was a dramatic soprano.

The Poles find as good a friend in Mme. Sembrich as in the De Reszkes. Scarcely a day passes that some beggar does not come for help. They are always Poles. One came the other day and signed himself "Count," with his name. He wrote that he had not tasted food for several days. As he happened to arrive at dinner time, his reward was larger than the others usually obtain.

Marcella Sembrich has a book in which every performance she ever sung is recorded. From her debut at Athens down to her last appearance at the Metropolitan not a day has been missed. Usually the name of the character she sang, the place and the date are all that is entered. But in one instance there is an emphatic and striking comment—the only one in the entire book. It is the baleful, cosmopolitan word "Flasco," printed in letters an inch long across the page. There is no mention of her triumphs in many cities—only the single comment that this word implies. The scene of this disaster was Barcelona, a town dreaded by most singers. There Mme. Sembrich sang at the beginning of her career in "Lucia."

She had just met with triumphant success in Madrid, and naturally expected to meet with the same experience in Barcelona. Singing with her at that time was Signor Pandolfini, who had previously been a popular singer in Spain and Italy. He was singing "Ashton." Mme. Sembrich made her customary success with her first aria. Then came the duet with Signor Pandolfini. He was in bad voice and sang off the key in a way that even greater patience than Barcelona's would never have tolerated. The hissing and catcalls were so strong that nothing could be heard but the uproar. The mad scene was again a triumph for Mme. Sembrich, but it was too late then. Any public which had behaved itself as that of Barcelona was not to be tolerated. So Mme. Sembrich broke her contract left Barcelona the next morning and then wrote the word "Flasco" in large letters in her little book.

NEGRO SUPERSTITIONS.

That negroes are exceptionally superstitious is well known, but it was brought to mind most forcibly last week by a remark, says the Burgin Record. Last week a lad was killed on the old Kinkead farm, lying just outside of Harrodsburg, on the Danville pike, by a saw-log rolling off the wagon on which it was being loaded. A man remarked that the log would probably rot where it lay, as it would be hard to find anybody willing to move it.

It is a belief among negroes that whoever removes a log or a tree that has been the means of death will meet a similar fate, and there are many who share the superstition. It is said a number of years ago a man in Harrodsburg, it is supposed, attempted to steal a log from some woodpile, and while crossing the icy street, slipped and was killed by it. He was found the next morning and his body removed, but for six months or more that log remained untouched on the side of the street, although the weather was very severe and fuel was scarce among the darkies.

There is another superstition among them in regard to transplanting cedar trees. They believe as soon as the lower limbs of the tree grow to be the length of a coffin the person who transplanted it will die.

A RARE AUTHORITY.

When the son of a well-known judge argued his first cease before the full bench of a state court, some of the members of which were noted for badgering youthful counsel, the chief justice was particularly active, and began his questions before the counsel had finished stating the facts, says the Green Bag.

When the young advocate came to the law thereof, he was constantly interrupted by comment and inquiry. "If it please your honor," was the invariable reply, "I will come to that point later."

Finally, the chief justice burst forth: "This is a most extraordinary proceeding, Mr. Blank. "You say that it is a suit on a judgment recovered in New York for alimony. I never heard of such a proceeding. What is your authority for bringing such a suit?" "If it please your honor," was the quiet reply, "my authority is, I admit, rather questionable and one that has often been impunged, being only the constitution of the United States, article 4, section 1." The chief justice did not see fit to ask any more questions during the argument of that case.

A RAILROAD PUZZLE.

Railroad men in Atchison, Kas., are puzzled over a question of duty or orders, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. On one of its sections near Achison a railroad has just two men, the foreman and one hand. The printed rules of the company require that, in case a rail should be found broken, one section hand must go in one direction and another in the other, for the purpose of flagging trains. Now, the question troubling Atchison is, how could the rail be mended with the entire force away flagging trains?

RUSSIA EXPLAINS

Tells of Policy In Relation to Occupation of Manchuria.

While Remaining Faithful to Its Original Political Program

Will Quietly Await the Further Cause of Events.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—The Official Messenger today publishes a detailed review of the negotiations conducted by the allied powers with the Chinese plenipotentiaries at Tien Tsin and Pekin, and of the negotiations that led to the presentation of the French draft of peace conditions, which consisted of twelve points, but which are not yet concluded.

"While anticipating an early settlement of the questions affecting the mutual relations between all the powers and China, the Russian government on its part considered it necessary to concern itself with the establishment of a permanent order of things in the Chinese territories along the borders of which the Russian Asiatic possessions extend for a distance of 8000 versts (5200 miles). To this end provisional written conditions for a modus vivendi were agreed upon first between the Russian military authorities and the Chinese governors of three Manchurian provinces.

"With reference to the institution of a local civil administration subsequently, and after a careful consideration of all the circumstances, the Russian government drew up the draft of a special agreement with China, providing for the gradual evacuation of Manchuria, as well as for the adoption of provisional measures to assure peace in that territory and to prevent the recurrence of events similar to those of last year. Unfortunately, with the object of stirring up public opinion against Russia, alarmist rumors were circulated in the foreign press regarding the purpose and intentions of the Russian government. Falsified texts of a treaty, establishing a protectorate over Manchuria were quoted and erroneous reports were designedly spread of an alleged agreement between Russia and China. As a matter of fact, this agreement was to serve as a basis for the restoration to China, as contemplated by the Russian government, of the province of Manchuria which, in consequence of the alarming events of last year was occupied by Russian troops. In order that the requisite military measures might be taken, it was imperative that the question should be settled one way or the other. It was impossible to lay down forthwith by means of a mutual agreement, the conditions of the evacuation of Manchuria. According to the news received, serious hindrances were placed in the way of the conclusion of such an agreement and in consequence its acceptance by China, which was indispensable for the gradual evacuation of the province, proved to be impossible.

"As regards the eventual restoration of the province to China, it is manifest that such intention can only be carried out when the normal situation is completely restored to the empire, and the central government established at the capital independent and strong enough to guarantee Russia against a recurrence of the events of last year."

The Russian government concludes the statement in these words: "While the Russian government maintains its present organization in Manchuria, to preserve order in the vicinity of the broad frontiers of Russia, and remains faithful to its original and oft-repeated political program, it will quietly await the further course of events."

IN FAVOR OF WILSON

As Successor to Governor Allen of Porto Rico.

The Present Postmaster at Brooklyn Is Recommended.

By Merchants, Planters and Bankers of Porto Rico.

Washington, April 5.—That the report that Governor Allen, of Porto Rico, is to resign upon his arrival in Washington is credited in the island, is manifest from the fact that the people of the island are already making representations to the president regarding his successor. Wenceslao Borda, who is chairman of the Porto Rican commission, which recently came to Wasnington to protest against the Hollenden tax law, has written to the president on behalf of the commission, suggesting Francis H. Wilson, the present postmaster at Brooklyn, N. Y., as a successor to Governor Allen. In offering Mr. Wilson's name to the president, Mr. Borda, who is in New York, says he is obeying instructions cabled to him by the executive of the Merchants, Planters and Bankers' association of Porto Rico.

ORE PRICES.

Shaping Up of the Ore Situation Not Settled.

Cleveland, April 5.—The Iron Trade Review says: Another week has passed without the shaping up of the ore situation. Several of the leaders in ore councils have been for some time at the real center of power in the iron trade, and a meeting is not expected until their return. The United States Steel corporation, while yet a considerable seller of Mesaba ores, is also still a buyer of old range ores. It will naturally be a very considerable factor in establishing the price for 1901. Another question that is not fully determined relates to the ownership of Lake Superior mines by the Morgan consolidation. It may be a larger owenr of old range mines when the season opens than it is today. In the past week it has acquired the Oliver one-sixth interest in the Oliver Iron Mining company and the Pittsburg Steamship company. The Aragon mine, under option some time ago to the Oliver Iran Mining company, is as good as transferred, though the sale was not consummated when the press announcement of the past week was made. The price is understood to have been $2,500,000, not $2,000,000, as reported.

The proposal for the acquisition of the ore, vessel and furnace interests of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, which has been under consideration for some time, is said to be on a basis that would mean $9,500,000 for all the properties. This would represent 190 for the stock, which has been quoted lately at 135. There is no official confirmation of the rumors concerning this company, but it is known that the question of sale has had some consideration. The Corrigan, McKinney & Co. mines, an important group of non-Bessemer old range properties, with an especially good representative of the Mesaba range, are reported to be under option, together with the allied vessel and furnace interests, to the Pittsburg capitalists who are promoting the consolidation of valley furnaces. Several furnaces are mentioned whose owners are given by persons in interest, as to the probability of such a project being put through.

There has been some speculation and figuring on the ore and vessel handling arrangements such a valley furnace combine would make. Of larger interest is the problem of concentrated management of the vessels of the United States Steel corporation, there being now five managing and clerical forces for these vessels. Various Cleveland interests are competing for this prodigious contract. The freight situation is still under cover. The engineers' strike does not necessarily put an embargo upon ore traffic, some of the engineers not being members of the union. Some of the latter, it is understood, are averse to a clash and some shippers speak with hope of their ability to man their vessels fully when they are ready to start out. The probability of a late opening is already being discussed, some of the vessel men advocating concerted action to that end.

MUCH PLEASURE.

Expressed Over the Surrender to Colonel Goodnell.

Washington, April 5.—The territory surrendered by the insurgents to Lieut. Col. Goodrell, on Thursday, is a stretch of land fifty miles along from Morong, just below Subig bay, to Iba, a point nearly forty miles up the coastin Zambeles province, a portion of country which has caused no end of trouble to the American forces. Gen. Greely said today that the signal corps had at least a dozen sharp fights in this vicinity while endeavoring to maintain open telegraphic communication with Manilla. The rebels finally became so aggressive that Gen. Greely decided to have a cable laid from Olongapo, in Subig bay, which is the site selected for the new naval station in the Philippines; to connect with Manilla, on account of the difficulty in maintaining telegraphic communication overland. The laying of the cable is now in progress, Lieut. Col. Goodrell, United States Marine corps, has been in charge of the marines at Olangapo. The news that this troublesome portion of Luzon has been pacified is hailed with satisfaction by war department officials.

EXPRESSES THANKS.

Pauncefote Acknowledges Receipt of Photograph.

Washington, April 5.—The navy department recently supplied to Lord Pauncefote a photograph of the beautiful bronze tablet which it was about to place upon the house in Santiago occupied by the late Frederick W. Ramsden, the British consul, who exerted himself so benevolently in ald of the residents and prisoners during the siege. The state department has just received a letter of acknowledgement from the British embassy in which Lord Pauncefote says says:

"I am forwarding the photograph to his majesty's government, who will, I feel sure, be highly gratified at this generous recognition of Mr. Ramsden's services to American naval prisoners during the Spanish-American war, and at the expression of appreciation with which you and Mr. Long were kind enought to accompany it. I am, Dear Mr. Secretary, Yours Very Truly, PAUNCEFOTE."

"The Hon. John Hay."

TELLS OF TROUBLES.

Mail Advices Received From Minister Conger.

Washington, April 5.—Mail advices have been received at the state department, indited by Minister Conger before he left Pekin on his homeward trip. These deal at some length with the negotiations between the ministers of the powers, but it is not deemed well to publish the details at this time. However, the salient feature of the correspondence is the disclosure of the difficulties that have been encountered by the ministers in the effort to find common ground for the arrangement of a scheme of indemnification, it appearing that there were as many projects submitted as there were ministers in attendance at the meeting. There is still no word from Mr. Rockhill, United States special commissioner at Pekin, and the impression prevails that the negotiations there are in such conditions that it is not possible to make a definite report of progress.

ANTI-TRUST.

An Independent Butcher Shop One of the Possibilities.

The combination among Duluth meat markets may have some lively competition in the very near future. One of the largest grocery concerns on Superior street is now in negotiation with an out-of-town meat man which may result in the establishing of a large independent meat market to be run in connection with the grocery store, and in direct opposition to the combine of local retail meat dealers

When asked today regarding this new venture, the grocerman confirmed the report of the intended branch to his grocery business, but declined to say much of his plans until the present negotiations are closed. He said:

"Grocerymen along Superior street that have gone into the meat business find that they can undersell the combine and still make a good margin of profit. I believe that in establishing an independent retail meat business in connection with my grocery store that I can make a good business move and at the same time sell my meats to consumers considerably less than the combine merchants are now doing. Recently a meat market proprietor came out in an interview, saying that the meats and poultry sold by grocery stores were not fit for sale. I was glad to see The Herald deny that statement at the time, and wish to further emphasize the denial by saying that grocerymen can get just as good meat as meat markets, if they are so disposed. Frequently we can make arrangements with small packing houses and country farmers and get much fresher meats than are purchased through the large packing concerns."

Anglo-American Copper Mining Company of Parry Sound, Limited.

No mistake was made in offering a limited amount of the treasury stock of the Anglo-American Copper Mining company at 15 cents a share. We are selling stock for no other purpose than to secure an adequate working capital, to enable the company to continue mining and smelting copper ore from our Blanch B. mine, Wilcox island, Parry Sound, and we know our stock is equal in value to that of any other mining corporation in the Parry Sound district. We make no exceptions, and we have every reason to believe we will be shipping refined copper from our smelter in June.

We are not a development corporation, we have no old debts to absorb our capital, have no high salaried officials; we own our properties, fully paid for and unincumbered, and expect to begin payment of dividends during the present season at a rate that we can maintain.

Our smelter will be in operation (barring accidents) in June, having a daily capacity of twenty tons, and we are prepared to supply it with ore from the start, and to maintain the supply.

When our smelter is in operation the treasury stock will be advanced to par, $1 a share.

Our treasury stock is a valuable asset belonging to our stockholders, and will be carefully husbanded for future profit.

The demand for our stock is very active, and sales entirely satisfactory. We shall continue for a few days more to sell the treasury stock at 15 cents a share, but we reserve the right to advance at any time without notice.

ONLY A JOKE.

Mr. Lowery's Was Not a Bit of Pleasantry.

Frank A. Lowery, the well-known Lake avenue restaurant man, whose relatives and friends reported his disappearance to the police yesterday morning, called at the Herald office this afternoon and said that the note he had written his wife saying that he was going away to parts unknown, was simply a joke. He further says that he was not out of the city during the time they were looking for him.

Mr. Lowery denies very emphatically the statement published in this morning's News Tribune, to the effect that he has been gambling a great deal in the last few months and lost money heavily.

TO THE ASYLUM.

Balthazar Thut Committed For Insanity.

Balthazar Thut—pronounced "toot"—sat in probate court yesterday afternoon and talked to a jury examining him for insanity. His manner was the most matter of fact possible, and anyone seeing him and not hearing his words would have thought him the sanest man in the crowd. But his story was a rambling narrative of how he was being persecuted by unions and employers, how he had had some difficulty with gas somewhere or sometime and it was always following him and making trouble for him, and how he had been praying to the moon in vain for assistance. He was ordered sent to the asylum for the insane at Fergus Falls.

So was Tilly Carlson, who sat weeping through the examination yesterday and talking incoherently about religious matters. She was found to be afflicted with religious mania, and was ordered sent to the asylum.

Giantess Stood Off a Hundred Men In New Jersey.

Millville, N. J., April 5.—Louisa Feyhl has defied the majesty of Cumberland county, N. J. She has spurned the township of Landis and its commissioners and declared war on the Millville traction company and its construction gang of 100 men. Single-handed she has once held them in dismay, and single-handed she proposed to fight any man in the construction outfit or any man they could produce. She weighs 300 pounds and has a reputation. She backed her defi with a shotgun, and when Superintendent Souder spoke to Mrs. Feyhl and requested her to retire from guard and not give them any more trouble, she said:

"I tell you that if any of your men dare touch them trees I'll send him three miles in h—l."

After this Superintendent Souder went back to his men and told them they could go back to their homes, as no more work would be done that day. The workmen are afraid to venture near this giant woman, as they clim she is too much for them.

Mrs. Feyhl said:

"I will not have my trees destroyed, for they bring me a revenue of about $300 a year. I paid for this place, and they are not going to take my farm products from me if I am able to protect them."

Mr. Feyhl takes the affair philosophically and does not approve his wife's action. He talked the matter over with her in the interest of Superintendent Souder, but Mrs. Feyhl would not yield. The township committee will attempt to compel her to retire. She says:

"I know my rights and I am ready and able to defend them."

ALL WRONG.

Shuppell came to the hospital Saturday and today was exhibited by Dr. William Snively to the senior class in clinics of the medical college. Dr. Snively said that the case was the first one of the kind he had ever seen. When the hand was placed on the spot where the heart ought to be, there was no heart there. The same way with the liver. The later is on the left side. The spleen is on the right and the stomach is just opposite where it is found in most people. Shuppell was born that way, and did not know that he was unlike his fellow man until he was one day taken sick. The doctors, in treating him, made the discovery. This was in Heodelberg, Germany. Until that time and ever since he has been in the best of health. He eats well, just the same as any one; in fact, has an unusually good appetite.

Blood Poison

THE MOST DESTRUCTIVE OF ALL HUMAN DISEASES.

The poison ejected from the fangs of the rattlesnake is not more surely fatal than the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, which pollutes and vitiates the blood, destroys the tissues and bones and eats like a canker sore into the flesh.

This horrible disease appears first in the form of a little sore or blister; soon the glands begin to swell, pimples break out on the body, the mouth and throat become sore, making it painful to eat or swallow; dreadful ulcers appear on the tongue, copper colored splotches and other characteristic signs of Blood Poison come as the disease progresses, and the destructive virus takes deeper hold upon the system. The medical men are as sorely perplexed over the character of this blood poison as ever; they tell you to take mercury and potash alternately for three years, but the stomach of no human being can stand this treatment long; besides, they do not cure the disease permanently, as thousands who have tried it know.

WELLINGTON, KAS., Sept., 1900.

I contracted Blood Poison two years ago this fall, and was persuaded to try a medicine widely advertised by a remedy company in Chicago. I was required to pay a large amount in advance, and can truthfully say that I was worse when the treatment was left off than when I began. Reddish pimples would break out and fill with yellowish matter; copper-colored splotches of all sizes would appear on my body; my throat was so sore I could scarcely swallow, and my mouth and tongue were seldom free from ulcers; tonsils were swollen, and my hair was coming out rapidly. This was my condition when I began your S. S. S. I have used twenty-two bottles, and am feeling splendid. Every sore on my body has healed, and my appetite good. JAKE MARTIN.

S. S. S. is not a new medicine; for nearly 50 years it has been known and used for this dreadful disease. It has brought new life and hope to thousands all over this land; it will cure you as it has others. Send for our free book on home treatment and write our physicians about your case. We will help you if you will let us; we make no charge for advice, and all correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence.

S. S. S. is the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier, and the only antidote for this particular virus; it purifies the blood and builds up the constitution. The appetite improves almost from the first dose, the sores soon show signs of healing, and the unsightly, dirty splotches and eruptions grow paler and paler, and finally disappear.

ATTACKS ON LOOMIS

Were Made In the Official Publication of Venezuela.

Loomis May Not Return to That Country at All.

North Atlantic Squadron Not to Go There at Present.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has developed that in obedience to instructions from Washington, Minister Loomis some time ago made a vigorous protest to the Venezuelan government against the publications which have appeared attacking him and the attitude of the United States on questions pending between the two governments. This protest has been disregarded, and the attacks, he reported to the state department, have continued. The department perfectly understands, as Senor Pulido, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires, has said, that Venezuela has a free press. It also has an official publication known as El Tiempo. The criticisms made by the former this government does not concern itself with, but it does object to the official publication of the state making charges against an American agent and abusing him in unstinted terms.

Venezuela will, it is hoped, be brought to her senses, but in view of the antagonistic attitude adopted by President Castro, it is apparent that he does not propose to abandon his policy. It would not surprise officials there should Mr. Loomis, before his departure, formally call upon the minister of foreign affairs and the president and inform them of the reason why his government has directed him to return to the United States.

Mr. Loomis is not to return to his post at Caracas immediately after he has consulted with the state department. The consultation may extend over some little time, the purpose being to treat Venezuela as Turkey was treated last year, when Minister Strauss was kept in the United States and the legation placed in charge of Secretary Griscon. Indeed, Mr. Loomis may not return to Venezuela at all, in which case Charge William M. Russell will represent this country. Mr. Loomis has left that country, in all probability, for San Juan, where he will take the steamer for New York.

It is probable that serious developments will follow the arrival of Mr. Loomis at Washington. He is to discuss with the state department his treatment while at Caracas, and should it be shown that the attacks on him were inspired in any way by the Venezuelan government, steps may be taken to secure an apology or redress. The attacks upon Mr. Loomis were not due solely because of the asphalt controversy, but also because he was charged with making false reports to his government touching the insurrectionary movement in Venezuela. The minister did inform the department of the conditions as he saw them, and of the prospects of the revolutionary movement. The Venezuelan government could not have direct knowledge of the minister's reports, but because these were followed by the appearance of three United States warships in Venezuelan waters, the newspapers came to the conclusion that the minister had reported as very menacing and serious a revolutionary movement which the government organs were trying their best to minimize. Therefore these papers lost no opportunity of attacking Mr. Loomis, and have succeeded in making his lot unpleasant.

There is no present intention of sending the North Atlantic squadron to Venezuela, for the government cannot decide how this matter should be treated until Mr. Loomis has been personally consulted.

Senor Pulido, the Venezuelan charge, has informed the state department that he does not intendt o leave Washington. It is a decided change in his plans, as he intended a week ago to sail at once for Caracas. Should he take that step, and should Minister Loomis' post remain unfilled, the rupture of diplomatic relations between the two governments would be complete.

Thomas C. Noyes, city editor and one of the proprietors of the Washington Star, has just returned from a lengthy trip to Cuba. Mr. Noyes, having made a thorough investigation of the condition of the natives of that island, comes back to Washington with the opinion that they will never be able to manage their own affairs. Mr. Noyes says: "My tour through Cuba convinces me that the natives of the island are not yet in a condition to govern themselves. It seems to me," continued Mr. Noyes, "that the United States, at the earliest possible moment, should annex Cuba as a territory, therefore gaining the commercial advantage that will come to the United States, and further, to prevent the unnecessary expense of the so-called protectorate."

Mr. Noyes is one of the brightest newspaper editors in Washington. He gave almost his entire time, while in Cuba, to the investigation of the conditions that prevail there at this time, and, as above stated, thinks that President McKinley, if he will advocate the annexation of the island, will make a good political stroke.

The contract has been awarded for the initial work on a government building, more magnificent in proportions and ornate in equipment and decoration, than any outside of the department structures in this city, and it will be the first of a great series of buildings destined to replace the antiquated and wretched affairs which have served as the naval academy since the foundation of that institution.

A Philadelphia firm will lay the base of this structure for the sum of $150,000. Subsequently the main work will begin, which is to develop a building to cost more than $3,000,000, and capable of accommodating 500 or more naval cadets. The first of the buildings in the rehabilitating process is now well advanced toward completion, and is to form one of the finest armories in the country. The structure for the cadets' quarters is to be on the site of many old rookeries, which have served as officers' quarters for years, and will command a fine view of the Severn river, Chesapeake bay in the distance, and the hills of Maryland. Congress some time ago authorized the rebuilding of the naval academy at a cost of about $9,000,000, and the one just contracted for is the second of a number comprehended by the grand scheme, which, with a rearrangement of the grounds, will make the school one of the most attractive institutions of, learning in this or any other country. The scheme includes the restoration of old Fort Severn, a relic of the revolutionary period, that has since served as a gymnasium and ballroom for cadets. Those who have read Richard Carvel will remember many references to this old building. With the exception of the residence at the academy, formerly occupied by the governors of Maryland, and the old fort, there are no buildings of any interest or beauty on the grounds, and for years the naval academy has been a reproach to the country and an eyesore to thousands of visitors, who expected to see at the school buildings and surroundings such as are provided for the army cadets at West Point. It seems to have been the early policy of the government to build at Annapolis in the poorest way, and to place buildings wherever there was a vacant place, with absolutely no regard for the convenience and economical working of the institution. In the scheme of rebuilding it has been the endeavor to locate each building in the position best adapted to the routine work of the school, and most harmoniously from the artistic point of view.

The whole plan is expected to be carried out within three years. The flimsy character of the old buildings was illustrated by Rear Admiral Matthews, president of the board which recommended the proposed plan for rebuilding, and who related what happened when he was a cadet. One night when he and his comrades were studying in one of the old buildings they suddenly heard a rumbling sound, the lights were extinguished, there was a rush of cold air, and then came a terrible crash. One side of the building had fallen out, leaving the rooms open on the side toward the water. The floor beams fortunately did not rest on the wall, or the rear admiral might not have lived to tell the story.

MME. YALE'S HAIR TONIC

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to Mme. Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to the original color without dye. It has gone on record that Mme. M. Yale—wonderful woman chemist—has made this most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally indorses its action and gives the public her solemn guaranty that it has been tested in every conceivable way and has proved itself to be the ONLY Hair Specific. It STOPS HAIR FALLING immediately and creates a luxurious growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful fluffy and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies, entirely gray and with bald heads, it is especially recommended.

A SCIENTIFIC MEDICINE.

Dear Madame Yale:—I wish to say a few words in regard to your Excelsior Hair Tonic and Hair Cleanser. I have used both with the best possible results. My hair had been falling out for some time. I had used various remedies with little or no avail. Finally my attention was called to your Excelsior Hair Tonic. I purchased a bottle and began using it. The result was beyond my expectations; after the second application my hair had ceased to fall out, and as I continued my hair seemed to have more life and vigor and new hairs began to come in. After using the second bottle I was surprised to see that my hair was no longer tinged with gray but had returned to its natural color.

Your Excelsior Hair Tonic is certainly a scientific medicine and I believe the only one that treats the hair as a sick member and feeds and nourishes it until it is restored to its natural and normal state of health. I cheerfully recommend it to any one who is in need of a Hair Tonic or Restorer, as I have the utmost confidence in the efficacy of all your remedies.

Respectfully,
MRS. C. L. BROWN,

WAS MUCH MARRIED

Story of the Matrimonial Doings of Maine Woman.

To His Face She Boldly Denied Her Husband.

When Man to Whom She Was Engaged Appeared.

Bangor, Me., April 5.—Daniel W. Ackerly, of Beekmantown, N. Y., was arrested on the afternoon express for Boston here, just as the train was about to leave, on a civil writ charging him with alienation of the affections of Mrs. Bertha Rice, wife of Edwin Rice, of Bradley, Me., and thereupon was unfolded a remarkable story of the matrimonial doings of Mrs. Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice were married at Bar Harbor in 1899, and have lived in Bradley ever since.

Recently Mrs. Rice has been conducting correspondence through matrimonial bureaus with men in various parts of the country, among them Ackerly, to whom she sent her pictures and many love letters.

A few days ago Ackerly came to Bradley and was astonished to find the woman married. She was equal to the occasion, however, and in the presence of both men told Rice that he was not her husband, but her deceased husband's brother, and accused him of having stolen the marriage certificate, which she exhibited to Ackerly, from her husband.

Rice went to Oldtown to consult a lawyer, and while he was absent the pair started for Bangor. The couple arrived here at 9:30 o'clock. They intended to reach here so as to leave on the 7:15 train for the West, but they got mixed on the time and were obliged to wait for the 9:20 train, which they boarded at Great Works, after crossing the river there from Bardley in a boat.

The woman did all of the talking and made all arrangements for leaving town. On their arrival at the Western depot they had their trunks checked for Windsor, Vt.

After the baggage had been checked the woman put the checks in Ackerly's pocket, saying: "There, I'll take you to a hotel, and there you can stay while I go and get some trunk straps."

The couple remained at the hotel until time for the noon train to depart for the West. They were seated in the passenger car when Deputy Sheriff Gould and Rice entered the car.

They were driven again to the hotel, and there the woman again secured a room, making Askerly pay for it, and also the hack fares.

The difficulty was then settled, Mrs. Rice attending to all of the business, by the payment by Ackerly to Rice, of the sum of $50. When asked what kind of a settlement had been made Mrs. Rice said that they had fixed it all up for $50.

"No man ought to kick," said she, "who can get rid of his wife and receive $50 for her. It's worth $50 to get rid of that plaster, anyway."

In reply to a question why she was leaving her husband, Mrs. Rice said:

"Oh, this one has money. The old one wasn't any good. He knew that Ackerly had money, and that's why he chased us. If I hadn't made the mistake in the time of the departure of the train, they would not have caught us. But then I had to do everything. This man hasnt got much of a head."

The party left at 4:35 p. m. for Waterville, intending to take the 3 o'clock train from Bangor for Boston, when it reached that city.

Since their departure W. H. Powell, Rice's attorney, has discovered that when the woman was married to Rice she had three other husbands living, from none of whom she had obtained a divorce, so far as can be learned, and it is also said that her marriage to Rice was performed by a bogus clergyman.

The husbands, in order of marriage are George Myshrall, of Bardley; a man named Savage, of Bangor; a man named Littlefield, of Greenfield, and Rice.

Letters found in the house indicate that the woman also contemplated marriage with a man in Wyoming.

DYING POOR.

The Man Who Smoked Up Five Million Dollars.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 5.—The man who smoked up $1,000,000 is lying on his death bed in a frugal home at Columbus.

He is Col. W. G. Baron, who became somewhat famous as an officer in the Confederate army and later distinguished himself by leaving behind him a pathway of burned bank notes, certified checks and securities of great value. He is suffering from a slow but fatal malady, and his physicians say he will never leave his bed alive.

Col. Baron became widely known a few years ago as one of the most reckless speculators in the United States.

He identified himself with wild and visionary schemes, and where other conservative speculators refused to risk a penny he tossed in his entire fortune and won. Fortune smiled upon every risk he took and he made enormous profits because of the desperate chances he took. His madness made him worth $5,000,000.

Col. Baron had a son whom he loved with all the force of his passionate Southern nature. It was for this son, he said, that he proposed to build up a fortune larger than any other individual in America.

With the death of his son, who was killed by a train, Col. Baron lost his ambition to attain wealth, and seemed possessed only by a frantic desire to get rid of his fortune. He burned it up as rapidly as he had accumulated it.

It was his custom to enter a cigar store and purchase a single cigar. He never bought two at a time, and invariably paid for the cigar with a bill ranging from a $1 to a $20 note. He would accept no change.

Then he would step to the cigar lighter and, rolling up another note of large denomination, he would light it from the cigar lighter. From the burning money he would light his cigar and toss the fragment of the bill into a cuspidor. He smoked from fifteen to twenty cigars a day, and they cost him for the cigar and light on an average of $100 each.

His friends did all in their power to prevent Baron from continuing in his madness, but to no avail. They even applied to the courts to have him declred insane and to have a guardian appointed. On such occasions he had no difficulty in proving that he was perfectly sane. In fact, his only mania was for getting rid of his own money.

A few years ago he found himself without a dollar bill and without credit. He could no longer continue his mad career, which cost him $1,000,000 a year, and he settled at Columbus, where he now lives frugally.

HOTEL IS NOT WANTED.

Vanderbilts Make a Large Offer For Property.

New York, April 5.—One million dollars has been offered by several members of the Vanderbilt family for five lots at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street. This is more than $250,000 above the price paid for the property by John W. Gates and his friends a few weeks ago.

Mr. Gates proposed erecting an eighteen-story hotel, with its four sides of marble. The Vanderbilts do not want the hotel on this particular corner, which is opposite the mansions of three of its members. Hence the offer of a big profit. If this offer is accepted the land will be restricted to improvement with a high-class dwelling or dwellings.

DEMAND IS HEAVY.

All Tin Plants Will Be Working Soon.

Pittsburg, April 5.—The demand for tin and terne plates is unusually heavy and next week will find every plant of the American Tin Plate company in full operation. The Star works at Twelfth and Etna streets will start in full on Monday. This plant has been idle since June 20 of last year. It is an eight-mill plant and employs about 500 men, the daily capacity being from 1000 to 1200 boxes. All the independent tin plate plants have been in continuous operation since the new scale went into effect o July 1. One concern has its entire product for the year sold. Contrary to expectations the combination has decided to continue present prices for the third quarter of the year. Orders for early delivery, however, command a premium of 20 cents a box.

GATES SORE

Because He Is Not Director of the Steel Trust.

New York, April 5.—The impression is strong in Wall street that the tremendous selling of the shares of United States Steel during the past few days has been for account of Col. John W. Gates and his immediate following. Col. Gates wanted a place upon the board of directors of the billion and a half trust, and even hoped for appointment on the still more select executive committee. Instead of which he was disappointed.

Then he realized how Col. Ellwood felt under identically similar conditions a few weeks previously. That was when Col. Gates discovered he could get along without Col. Ellwood in the Steel and Wire directory. On that occasion Col. Ellwood resented the indignity by selling the bulk of his stock in Steel and Wire, something like 70,000 shares. The corporation named did not fade away, but instead the stock advanced strongly. The selling commonly credited to Col. Gates of new steel is put at 125,000 to 150,000 shares.

Col. Gates is not accustomed to the treatment given him in connection with the new trust. The people with whom he has been associated for several years have done about what he wanted, and liked it. One of the reasons he was put in command of the big wire company is alleged to have been because his fellow shareholders thought he could do less damage ther than he would if at large. No such sentiment moved the organizers of the larger proposition. They didn't seem to care about Gates or what he might do or not do. They were framing a harmonious directorate, and had no mind to include in the company any person who had to be placated under duress every time a difference of opinion arose. If Col. Gates prefers to sulk, the management will try to survive the affliction.

FIGHT IS A CORKER

Battle In Chicago Grain Market a Memorable One.

Wednesday's Contest Will Be Remembered For Years.

Young Phillips the Coolest Man Amid the Turmoil.

The fight between George . Phillips, and his following who constitute the bulls in the Chicago grain market, and the great bear following which is arrayed against them, has already become one of the greatest spectacular events the Chicago board of trade has ever seen. The Chicago Record-Herald says the battle of Wednesday was a fight that "brokers will speak about for years to come." Phillips saw 3 cents clipped off the price of wheat, 2 cents off corn and more than a cent off oats. He put up $200,000 in margins in addition to $600,000 he had put up before in the week, sacrificed all his wheat holdings in order to make himself stronger in corn and oats, and came out at the end of the day as confident as ever he will win in the end. Now he predicts 60-cent corn by the end of the month, instead of 50-cent corn, of which he has talked before.

Says the Record-Herald of Thursday:

"Mr. Phillips made a reputation for a brilliant, skillful campaigner when he brought his November corn deal to a successful close, but he put his reputation much higher yesterday by his masterly defensive tactics.

"In the wild excitement of the board of trade, both at its opening and at its closing, he was the one quiet, calm man. The bears were out to drive him and his following into a panic, and they were rewarded by seeing him stumble and stand around with his hands in his pockets while they were doing their worst.

"He certainly lost much ground, and as the result of three days' bear operations was put in a dangerous defensive position instead of a well-protected aggressive one, but he kept his following together, organized and strong enough for plenty more fighting. That was his victory.

"The campaign against him opened Monday, when the best figures of the market were 4 cents higher a bushel for corn, 5 cents for wheat and 2⅝ cents for oats than they were last night, and it was intensified Tuesday when the board of trade closed, by active efforts on the part of Chicago men to knock points off the prices in other Western markets.

"Everybody knew trouble was due for yesterday. It was realized beyond expectations. Almost as soon as the board opened for business the selling orders came pelting in on top of one another.

"Prices went down in all the pits. Excessive margins were demanded on the ground that a panic was coming. Ugly rumors were circulated, such as that Phillips had quit putting up margins, and that he himself was frightened and was behind the selling movement.

"The big bears, on whose preserves he had been poaching, were out to teach the "little young fellow" a lesson, and they didn't care what means they used so long as they could do it.

"Every eye was on the Phillips party. Could Phillips be weakened? Could his followers be stampeded? If he joined in the liquidation that would add to the trade trouble, and make the bear victory almost certain.

"It took almost half an hour to convince the bears that the country bulls were not going to let go their corn and oats. That was a victory for the Phillips' personality, and could be explained only by that almost magnetic control which the leader has over this usually incoherent following.

"The second point that helped Phillips to hold his own was his strategy. Instead of rushing in to support prices, allowing himself to buy more and more of the bears' offerings in order to support prices, the leader simply "stood pat."

"This attitude of inactivity meant to the corn and oats trade that there was more fighting force left in the Western crowd than has been supposed; that there was evidently money to meet margin calls, and that further declines and still further calls could be met in the same way."

Phillips, when interviewed, was asked if the campaign of the day was directed immediately at him, or was just a feature of the market, said:

"Why, everbody takes it that it was against me. I cannot see why the bear crque should deliberely go out against the country. I would rather be a bull and forever poor than a bear and grow rich. They can't scare me. Once a bull, always a bull. That's why I won't sell or give up.

"The bears have attacked me and forced down prices at the expense of the outsider. That's all right for them today. But they will suffer for it. I believe now corn will go to 60 cents this month, instead of 50. If the sellers attempted to buy back as much as they sold today in the same length of time the price would go to 75 cents at once. All produce will be higher because of the reckless and short-sighted actions of the bears.

"The country people are with me. I have an immense number of clients. They believe corn will be worth 50 cents, because of feeding conditions in the West. So do I. It is the logic of the situation. It has got to come. I am not advising my clients to sell now. I will not advise them to buy particularly, but I will tell them for tomorrow that corn is now low, that it is bound to go up, and that there is more money in it than ever.

"The bears are against this proposition, and they are against me. Are they on the square? Well, they advised their customers to sell when the market was going up, and they advise them now to buy when it is going down."

James A. Patten, one of the leading bears on the board, is just as confident that prices are going down as Mr. Phillips is that prices will rise "Do you think that experts like Cudahy and Linn and myself, who have been twenty years on the board, will let that little young fellow run away with us?" he asked. "He is like a skyrocket, and will last about six months. There have been plenty like him before—all dead ones now. He is like the man who gets converted in the revival meeeting. He makes things lively for a few days, and then he slides back to the point he started from.

"As a matter of fact I sold no corn today, and none of the bears on the market sold any. I had made sales in other pits, but not in the corn pit. The drop in prices means that liquidation has begun. The selling was done by bulls who have got tired and want to quit.

"The price of corn has got to drop. It is way above the export basis now. Argentine is selling corn for Europe 5 cents below any figure we can make. When the farmers out West say there is a shortage of corn they are lying. They always lie. They can fool Phillips by it, but they can't fool me. I know there more corn out there than can be used, and that prices are bound to go down. Why, Illinois alone produced 40,000,000 bushels more last year than usual, and the state is full of corn now. If the bulls keep on there will be the sickest market in May and June you ever saw.

"As for wheat, the crop that is to be harvested is so big that it will put wheat on a 55-cent basis. From 800,000,000 to 900,000,000 bushels will be raised. The Pacific coast crop to be harvested in sixty days is enormous, and the only place the crop has been damaged is south of here in Kentucky and Tennessee."

Says the Record-Herld:

"There never was any such grain campaign as the one Phillips has had under way for two months past, which had extraordinary success for weeks, but which has been going through a threatening crisis for three days. Bull leaders usually have had rich syndicates behind them or have been working with their own money for their own ends. Phillips in some way interested the West in his bull views on corn and oats. His brilliant success in a corn deal last November commended him to the countryman as a champion. The youth and entusiasm made him magnetic. When he advised early in the winter the purchase of May corn the countryman responded as if he had been invited to a crusade.

"That country following behind Phillips has grown to proportions beyond the appreciation of the trade. It has poured orders in on him until it has meant purchases in a single day of millions, and the accumulation in the Phillips commission office of holdings of oats and corn of 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels. This country following, under the lead of Phillips, advanced the corn price from under 39 cents in February to 44⅝ cents last Saturday. It moved the oats up almost 2 cents in a single day. It seemed for weeks irresistible, but there kept gathering against it a party of professional bears, and this opposition grew and became more and more active as the market advanced.

"The Western coarse grain bulls met their first check Monday. In two days they have apparanetly been changed from a conquering to a demoralized host. It remains to be seen whether Phillips can reorganize such a following. There may be no lack of courage or loyalty. But every speculator knows the dangers of campaigning with a great number of country customers against a score or more of keen, rich, experienced professionals.

"Phillips' opponents sought out his weak places. They waited until he had spread from corn over into oats, with some interests even in wheat. Then there appeared the attacks first at one point and then at another. Defence at all points had become impossible.

"Phillips showed his own skill at the critical moment yesterday when he stopped all buying and advised his followers to do nothing more than to hold what they had. It remains to be seen whether he can enforce that discipline."

Since the above was written there has been another day's market and in that the Phillips' forces showed up in better form for corn advanced 1¾ cents and oats form for corn advanced 1¾ cents and oats also showed a good advance. There is no market today and tomorrow's market will be watched with unusual interest.

FINISHED.

Company In Turn Offers to Sell For $15,000.

Agreement to Do Certain Things Accompany Both Proposals.

A proposition was made yesterday to the Woodland company for the purchase of the Woodland street railway line for the sum of $5000, and it was refused. The Woodland company made a counter proposition, offering to sell for $15,000. That is still under consideration, or at all events no reply has as yet been received by the Woodland company. Both propositions were accompanied by agreements to do certain things in the event of their acceptance. There is hope that the negotiations will bring a settlement of the situation.

The offer of $5000 was made by persons who chose J. L. Washburn as the medium through which to make the proposition. Mr. Washburn did not say, when making it, whom he represented, but did intimate that it was likely that the Duluth-Superior Traction company would eventually come into the ownership of the line if it was accepted. The proposition was to pay $5000 for the line and to make a number of improvements and changes. Among these would be the building of a cut-off from Fourth street, at the point where the line now turns off in front of James C. Hunter's residence through to Woodland avenue, coming out near Craggencroft. The poles would also be removed from the center of the street and put on the sides; the roadbed would be put in shape and an adequate service would be maintained on the line. The agreement provided that a double track would be used to Hunter Park, and beyond that, to the end of the line, a single track.

The Woodland company's offer is to sell for $15,000, and, if the line is extended to the Catholic cemetery, to pay $2500 of the cost. The property of the Woodland company is a considerable distance beyond the end of the line, and the company does not feel like giving the line away without getting some benefit. The line is represented as not paying beyond the point where Forest Hill cemetery is, but the opinion has been expressed that an extension to the Catholic cemetery might make it pay better The offer of the Woodland company is in line with this idea. This would carry the line past the company's property, and would be a good thing for it.

One of the officers of the Woodland company said this morning that the company had bid the line in for $50,000 two or three years ago, and thought that $15,000 was a pretty cheap price and loss enough for the company to stand.

It is understood that the offer of $5000 was intended to include the charter of the Metropolitan Street Railway company also. This is the company which is owned by men interested in the Woodland company. Mr. Washburn is one of the directors of the company.

IS UP AGAIN.

Lizzie Buckley, Just Out of Jail, Is In Again.

Lizzie Buckley, one of the old school of peroxide blonds, stepped blithely into police court this morning humming an aria from the pathetic music of "Boys Make Room for Your Auntie." As usual she displayed much frivolous raiment in taking her seat in the box of sorrows.

Ten days ago she was in court and was only released from the county jail yesterday morning. She went down Lake avenue to let her friends know that she had just returned from "abroad." She kept away from the policeman till late in the afternoon, when she hove in sight near the Bethel, accompanied by a young man wearing a new spring hat and an air of ennui.

It was evident to the policeman that she was out of sorts. She informed her escort of her displeasure in a language that made the officer wish he wore ear mufflers.

The pair reached the viaduct when the woman delivered a severe rebuke to the new spring hat, which first caved in and then fell to the sidewalk. The hatless man endeavored to persuade her that the time and place were most inappropriate for a hand to hand argument, but she refused to reason. She said that her companion had turned an affectionate glance in the direction of a certain brunette person, while purporting to be the escort of herself. This, she informed him, was the height of bad form according to the code of Lake avenue south. With which remark she again saluted the young man on his dome of thought. He looked pain when she called him a name not intended for household use.

A charge of drunkenness was preferred against her and to this she entered a plea of guilty. She was sentenced to ten days in jail.

Steve Maloney was also given ten days to the county jail. In a Bowery lodging late last night, after bestowing several glasses of thirst quenching fluid within, he imagined himself a parade and insisted on marching through the corridors and up and down the stairways.

Not altogether unnaturally, several soubrette guests objected. Even late at night the sound of Mr. Maloney, trying to imitate the band as he marched past their apartments was annoying and the patter of his bare feet gave them a chill.

Joseph Black was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs or go to the county jail because he robbed his crippled room mate of $3.50.

ARTILLERY.

Secretary Root Is Considering Subject of New Regulations.

Washington, April 5.—Secretary Root has been considering the subject of artillery regulations for the corps. The reorganization act provided that the secretary should prescribe regulations, and under this clause he has sought information from the army officers qualified to make suggestions. He has requested the views of colonels of artillery and most of these have been received and are now being considered. When the regulations are formulated and adopted a chief of artillery will be named, and two additional officers selected for members of the ordnance and fortifications board. Several colonels of artillery have indicated their disinclination to serve as chief of artillery, as the selection carries with it no additional rank or pay and every colonel is now in cammond of some post, a more pleasant duty than can be found as chief of artillery stationed in Washington and directly subordinate to the officers in the department with the whole responsibility of the corps on his hands.

DUTY OFF.

Enormous Shipment of Cigars and Tobacco From Havana.

New York, April 5.—The Ward liner Mexico has arrived from Havana where she was detained for more than two days beyond her usual sailing day in order to take the earliest advantage of the new law abolishing the export duty on tobacco and cigars. Very little tobacco or cigars were shipped from Cuba during the month of March, shippers holding back for April 1, when the export duty was taken off. The Mexico, the first ship to sail from Havana on April 1, was loaded to her fullest capacity and brought 13,984 bales of tobacco and 1190 cases of cigars and cigarettes, said to be the largest cargo brought by any one steamer from Havana to this port.

AT NEW ORLEAN.

Great Preparations to Entertain the President.

Washington, April 5.—President McKinley took a long walk after breakfast this morning. He was accompanied by Representative Meyer of Louisiana, who had called to talk with the president about his stay at New Orleans upon the occasion of his Western trip. The president is looking forward to the icng tour through the West with great pleasure. Gen. Meyer told the president that the plans for his stay in New Orleans had been practically completed. An elaborate demonstration has been arranged. According to the present schedule the presidential party will reach New Orleans at 4:30 p. m. May 1 and depart at 6 p. m. May 2.

Do not leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be procured while you are on board the cars or steamship. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. For sale by Boyce's drug store.

R & G CORSETS
NEVER STRETCH

The moderately straight R & G No. 397 was and is the corset of comfort with the essence of style. It is straight enough for the prevailing vogue and curved enough to conform to healthful anatomical lines. In 1900 we were unable to fully meet the demand for straight-front goods and unwilling to resort to any makeshift to meet the conditions. At present, however, considerable additions to our factory facilities enable us to keep the trade supplied with real straight-front corsets at retail prices from $1.00 to $2.50, and also our 397, 197, Empire and other popular numbers. There are over seventy styles and sizes of R & G Corsets—a corset to fit every figure. R & G Corsets are the corsets that do not stretch. Every hairbreadth of stretch is taken out of the goods by means of steam-heated iron forms. This gives a permanency to the right shape and form that will stay in it until the last day you wear it. Every R & G Corset is sold with the understanding that it must give satisfaction to the wearer, or the dealer will supply a new one free of cost. If your dealer hasn't it, send us his name and we will see that you are supplied with what you want.

DRESSMAKING AT HOME

Latest Points Concerning the Much Favored New Bolero Costume, Which Is Considered the Most Useful of Novelties.

The bolero style of bodice is very effective in black, as variation may be obtained by touches of different material; or if the bolero is a separate garment, various blouses, shirts or vests can be worn, so as to make a change in the toilette. For an all-black gown it is, however, preferable to make the bodice in one, as shown by our illustration.

The cut is the same in either case, but if the bolero is separate it should be warmly interlined with domette to serve as an outdoor garment on mild days, and a warm shirt or blouse can be worn beneath it. If separate, the fit must be a trifle easy, especially at the armhole, and the points on the upper sleeve must not be too pronounced or they are apt to turn up.

Narrow bias bands of straps or satin stitched on each side might be used for this model, or narrow Russian braid, as shown, or even grouped lines of silk stitching. Small buttons in cut steel and jet are used, and this is the only touch of relief to the costume. The skirt is made up with the silk lining, and opens in front, where the seam is slightly lapped. The back is set in inverted pleats, and the hips are closely fitted by mitred darts.

The details of the bodice will be seen in the diagram, which shows the vest or lining, but the fronts with bosom darts sewn. If made in one, the top of the lining is simply faced with satin, and black silk or a black faced lining should be used. Only the extension of the bolero, which fastens over to the left, is faced with silk, and a bias strip for the bottom edge, which is loose.

The bolero is then carefully tacked out to the lining, as shown, but the little darts must be first seamed up and thoroughly pressed, and in vigogne the seams will be scarcely discernible when so treated. The top of the bolero is fixed on to the lining, and the left side is only loose at the center front. The underpart can fasten down the center, and the folded belt be put on before the bolero is fastened.

If made as a separate item the cut is the same, but it should be lined with glace silk, and must fit very closely at the top. A special vest of black satin, fitted quite tightly, could be made and this would be cut as the underpart of the diagram and the folded belt still put on separately.

Full instructions for making a folded belt appeared in a recent number.

A second bolero costume is shown in our illustration, but here the effect is quite different, as this bolera is a separate garment, and warmly lined to wear over shirts and blouses. The gored skirt has two small flat pleats at the back, and a deep band of glace, cut to shape, and mounted on muslin, is covered with rows of stitching, and outlines the skirt. The belt is of satin, cut on the bias, or for wear with morning shirts a bias belt of the material is useful. To make it acquire a droop, as shown in the sketch, there should be two whalebones or steels at the back and front, and these set about one and a half inches apart, and quite an inch longer than those at the sides.

A shirt of cream-white flannel is shown in the sketch, and a velvet scarf with fancy ends. A well-shaped blouse of tucked man's veiling is useful, but glace silk lined with some soft warm woolen stuff is admirable to wear under a bolero. The little figures in our diagram show the cut of the bolero, and the small dotted lines indicate the shape and position of the stitched collar, which is entirely of satin, kept flat and firm by a canvas lining. The stitching is sewn through the canvas, and a thin silk lining is sewn over it after the stitching is well pressed. All these are important items and give the proper style to the bolero.

The satin band which outlines the bolero is cut to fit, lined with muslin and stitched. It is then pressed, and fixed at the edge, and the small strap is put between the satin band and the material. The sleeves are perfectly tight, and reach to the wrist, and there is a bell-shaped cuff of satin joins on. This cuff is stiffened and stitched to match the other trimmings. Five and a half yards of material, forty-eight inches wide, is ample for either bolero costume.

SINGULAR.

Won Divorce From First Husband and Sued By Second.

New York, April 5.—By a singular coincidence, Mrs. Jennette Maxwell Hodge, who has figured in two divorce suits, has been sued by her second husband on the very same day on which she obtained a legal separation from the first.

In Philadelphia Mrs. Hodge obtained a divorce from Richard L. Maxwell. At or about the same time the decree war being signed in this suit the woman was being sued in this city by C. E. M. Hodge in the supreme court.

Hodge, who is assistant traffic manager of the Standard Oil company, asks that his marriage to the woman be annulled on the grounds that she was not divorced from Maxwell when she married him a year ago.

Mr. Hodge and Mrs. Maxwell were married Feb. 24, 1900. They went to live with Mr. Hodge's father on Staten Island. The bride said she had secured a divorce from Mr. Maxwell in Philadelphia.

Last May Mrs. Hodge began suit for divorce in the Quaker City against Maxwell. When Hodge found out about this action he left her and immediately applied to the supreme court for an annulment of the marriage.

The woman gave as a reason for her marriage to Hodge that she thought she had been legally divorced from her first husband, but afterward discovered her error.

Mrs. Hodge recently created a sensation by declaring that her little daughter Guida had been kidnapped from the Turkish room of the Waldorf-Astoria by her first husband. It was subsequently learned that Maxwell took the child to Philadelphia and placed her in the care of his mother, who lives in that city.

RESURRECTION OF JESUS

International Sunday School Lesson For April 7, 1901.

Luke 24: 1-12. "But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they came unto the tomb, bringing the spices which they had prepared. And they found the stone rolled away from the door of the tomb. And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus. And it came to pass, while they were perplexed thereabut, behold, two men stood by them in dazzling apparel, and as they were affrighted, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them: 'Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen; remember how he spake unto you while He was yet in Galilee, saying, that the Son of Man must be delivered up into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again. And they remembered his words, and returned from the tomb, and told all these things to the eleven, and to all the rest. Now they were Mary Magdalene and Joanna, and Mary, the mother of James, and the other women with them told these things to the apostles. And these words appeared in their sight as idle talk, and they disbelieved them. But Peter arose and ran unto the tomb, and stooping and looking in, he seeth the linen cloths by themselves, and he departed to his home, wondering at that which is come to pass."

WHO WILL ROLL US AWAY THE STONE?

When the scene upon Calvary had been ended and the body of Jesus had been laid away in Joseph's new tomb, the disciples, both men and women, scattered to their homes or temporary stopping places in or near the city. The women, especially those who had come from Galilee, set at once to the work of preparing spices so that when the Sabbath was ended they might go to the tomb and perform the last deeds of affection permitted to the dead.

When Sunday dawned they were ready, yes, they even anticipated the dawn and while the soldier guard was still yawning from the effects of that divinely strange stupor, and before the birds had sounded the first note of their matutinal greeting to the day, those devoted women were approaching the well-known tomb of Joseph, the Arimathean. Suddenly an unthought of difficulty occurred to them. The great stone had been rolled before the door of the tomb and it was man's work to push it back, but they had brought with them none of the men from their homes. "Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the tomb?" This seemed a real difficulty. But the tomb was in plain sight and with the thought of the difficulty they looked up to scan the actual proportions of the obstacle. When, lo! the stone was already rolled back and an angel was sitting upon it. There had been a quaking of the earth as the angel of God came in visible form ile lightning, with the whiteness of snow and rolled back the stone. Matthew says that "For fear of him the watchers did quake and became as dead men."

These women were loyal to Jesus even after some of those who had been faithful to him for years had given up hope and turned back to their former manner of life as if Jesus could thereafter be no more to them than a wonderful reminiscence. Their loyalty was rewarded. The person who is loyal to the mastership of Jesus is the one who finds his greatest moral and spiritual difficulties disappearing from the path of duty as the duty is courageously faced. The shirker and temporizer is the one who finds that his difficulties and hindrances multiply. Shirking and temporizing are forms of infidelity. Faith means loyalty, and loyalty will lead to successful and prosperous Christian character.

HE IS RISEN.

The great reward of the loyalty of the women to Jesus was the privilege of being the first to discover the evidence that led to establishing the fact of His resurrection. They entered the tomb, so unexpectedly found open, and were greatly perplexed to understand the meaning of the appearance of things. While in that frame of mind, two men, arrayed in dazzling apparel, appeared to them. The women were filled with an overwhelming fear so that they fell down with their faces to the ground. The angels, for such the men really were, asked them the strange question: "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" Had they not seen Jesus taken down from the cross after he had been pronounced dead by good authority? Had they not seen Joseph and Nicodemus wrap Him in grave clothes with aromatic spices? And had not the tomb been sealed with a Roman seal stamped upon wax? The living among the dead! But, fortunately for those women, the angel spokesman did not stop there. He at once told them the real meaning of His strange words. "He is not here, but is risen." Remember how he spoke on several occasions, telling you that he must die, but that he would rise again. That resurrection is now a fact as certainly as the death was a fact.

The evangelists have refrained from any attempt to describe the resurrection. They were not present to witness it. They only testify to what they know, that Jesus died and that they knew him to be alive again, and that the watchers at the tomb told of the appearance of an angel and of an earthquake. The rest was matter of first hand testimony from the disciples and will afford the material for the present quarter's lesson studies.

The women remembered that Jesus had formerly spoken words of strange import, saying, "The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and the third day be raised up." On one occasion He spoke words like these, and added, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow Me." In the light of the new fact just made known to them, those words began to have their proper meaning. The cross from that hour had a new significance to the world. It was destined no longer to be associated with the vilest punishment. It soon became an emblem of a follower of Jesus in the pathway of service to God and man; and when men had once assumed it they felt compelled to be faithful to its demands, no diffegence what suffering might fall upon them in consequence. Today we look upon that emblematic cross and think for a moment of the suffering Savior, and then, with a flood of light, the cross irradiates the hopes of humanity for life present and immortal. The cross was a shadow, but now it is a beacon which gathers its radiance from the fact that its most illustrious victim triumphed over the death it brought and is risen to give new life to man.

DOUBTFUL DISCIPLES.

Blessed be the memory of Mary Magdalene, of Joanna, of Mary, the mother of James and the other women who on that resurrection morning tarried not in ecstatic delight to revel in the society of angels, but hastened quickly away to carry the good tidings they had heard to the other disciples. They set a beautiful example for all believers. The angel said, "Go tell His disciples and Peter." Peter's name was probably mentioned because his faith had been so shaken. Each one to whom personally Jesus is the risen Savior ought to go quickly to tell friends or loved ones of him. Especially, when a believer in Christ finds some new evidence that may strengthen or establish the shaken or shattered faith of some other heart ought he to hasten with it as an invitation from Christ Himself to "Come and see" that the power of Christ is real and abiding.

When the women had told their story to the rest of the disciples, the men called it "Nonsense," or, as Luke says, "These words appeared in their sight as idle talk, and they disbelieved them." Peter arose at once and ran to the tomb to verify for himself the strange report. He found that the report the women had given was correct. John records the incident with greater fulness than the other gospel writers, and its discussion must be left until another week. Let this suffice for the present. Peter went away from the empty tomb wondering with himself at the strange things he had seen. His head must have been in a whirl and his heart in a ferment. He had often wondered at the things Jesus had done, and now, after all seemed to be over, the greteast wonder of all was made known to him. He could not understand, and went away toward his lodgings in great perplexity. It was a long time after that eventful morning before Peter could write his immortal epistles. The seed of the gospel of life had been planted in him, but it required a long season of storm and sunshine in which to develop that seed into a plant that would bring forth ripened fruit mellow with its garnered richness.

HE GOETH BEFORE YOU.

Mark tells us that a part of the message which the angel sent to the disciples instructed them to meet Jesus in Galilee, the scene of the greater part of their work and preaching. "He goeth before you into Galilee."

His disciples had known Him as one with power and disposition to bless them. The believer now knows that, in offering His life He did not cease to exist nor lose His power to bless the world. He is living and is perpetually renewing His work in the human heart, so that we can use with truth such expressions as "We live in Christ" and "Christ lives in us."

Jesus is divine. The divinity nowhere appears so clearly as it does here in His resurrection, which gives value to His sacrifice and lends hope of its perpetual efficiency. In the Old Testament there is a doctrine of resurrection in embryo. Isaiah had a foregleam of it. In the 26th chapter of his prophecies he says of the Lord, "Thy dew is as the dew of herbs;" thus declaring in that connection that his thought of the people's future hope sprang from his "Conviction of the sufficiency of God Himself." Jesus voices the same thought with greater force when He says, "God is not God of the dead but of the living," and the taeching becomes thoroughly Christian when Jesus further declares, "Because I shall live, ye shall live also." The expression of this eternal hope becomes exuberant in St. Paul's great masterpiece on the subject. Jesus himself make assurance doubly sure by declaring to John that, as "The Living One," he holds the keys of death and of Hades. Many are the stories which the poetry of the past brings to us about a world of shades. Dante tells about a celebrated guide who ciceroned him in his walks about that land. But, better than any Dantean reports are the few reassuring words that Jesus speaks to us in telling us that he holds the keys of man's future destiny. In holding these keys he removes the fear of deatn and reassures us of our life in that land beyond. The sting of death is sin. Jesus resists sin and removes it's venom. Death then becomes the entrance upon a part of our life in which we may have larger spiritual development than we have had here. Our hope tells us that it will be a better life than this has been in every respect. In his resurrection Jesus gives us the promise that this future part of our existence will be in personality as individual as that we now know, yet so pure as to be past the ravages of temporal mutations.

With such thoughts as these, and having followed the spiritual leadership of such a Savior, we can go to Jordan's brink and seem to touch our feet in it's cold wave, yet we falter not. We can see the casket of a loved one lowered into the earth; the sun like the taper of life may be sinking to rest, but, ere it goes, it sends a gleam of light across the hills to fall as a heavenly promise of hope on the poor emblems of our human invention.

"And when my task on earth is done,
When, by thy grace, the victory's won,
E'en death's cold wave I will not flee,
Since God through Jerdan leadeth me."

Christianity could never have been but for the resurrection. The memory of Jesus would have tarried with his disciples as a delicious and lasting fragrance, and the impress of his character would have told on future generations of his kinsmen. But there would have been the end of it. The apostolic love of Christ blossomed into Christianity when that group of disciples perceived that their teacher and friend was victorious over death. Christ's first great message to them had been of God as their Father. His last great message was on the meaning and secret of the life more abundant, that life which transcends all temples and priesthoods and which is of the spirit spiritual.

Stephen seems to have been the first one in the early church to catch the fulness of the Lord's meaning and to herald the message of a spiritual church. Then Paul caught it up. How often he must have longed for Stephen at whose stoning he had been a witness and a helper! But Stephen was gone and Paul had to fight the battle without him. After a while Peter wrote about the "Inheritance incorruptible." One by one the apostles all fell in line, convinced of the truth of the great fact "He is risen." On the basis of that conviction the Christian church became a reality. It has progressed in it's conquest of the world by following the leadership of the risen Savior who goes before as the great "captain of our salvation."

Best Remedy For Rheumatism

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies, but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. George F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place., to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale at Boyce's drug store.

Don't pay 25c. for a toilet soap when the best costs but 10c.

You might as well pay a quarter for a dime.

The costliest soap is no better than

Jap Rose [TRADE MARK] Soap

This is Kirk's best soap.

Made of pure vegetable oil and glycerin. Delightfully perfumed.

So pure that it is transparent.

Yet it costs but a dime a cake.

Omega Oil

RHEUMATISM—The only thing that goes in where the roots of Rheumatism are located is Omega Oil. The little Swiss green herb that they put into this liniment is the thing that does the work. The doctors can't explain how or why Omega Oil cures Rheumatism, but it does do it as sure as you're born. Begin by taking a nice warm bath. Wipe yourself thoroughly dry with a towel. Then pour a little Omega Oil in your hand and rub the place that hurts like a good fellow. Keep up the rubbing until all the oil goes into the pores of the skin. If the pain is stubborn, put some Omega Oil on a piece of cotton and bind it on the sore spot over night. In some cases a cure will come in one treatment, but in real bad cases you have to keep on doing this way quite a little while. Omega Oil is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

Omega Oil is for sale in most drug stores. Any druggist can get a supply of his wholesaler. If your dealer does not keep it, the Omega Chemical Co., 257 Broadway, New York, will mail you a bottle, prepaid, if you will send 50c. in cash, money order or stamps. 765

AGAIN A MINSTREL

Billy Emerson Leaves Hospital to Go In West's Company.

Will Stay as Long as He Does Not Drink.

New York, April 5.—William Emerson, at one time the best known minstrel in the country, who has been in sore straits for some time, is once more on the road to the recovery of his lost voice and fortunes. He is now with West's minstrels, and as long as he abstains from wasting his charms in cafes and saloons he will have a place with that organization.

It was only a few months ago that the newspapers of the country devoted columns to a pathetic recital of the misfortunes that had visited this ballad singer. He was pictured as wandering from town to town, without home and without friends, suffering with cold and hunger. The stories were not exaggerated.

Those who knew Emerson best shook their heads, made some mention of the evils of dissipation and suggested a benefit. These suggestions never bore fruit, and of late Emerson has drifted entirely from the public gaze.

Emerson had an overwhelming fondness for liquor, and it led to the partial loss of his voice and an unreliability that prevented him from securing contracts. About a year ago, only a few days after he had drifted into New Orleans, Emerson slipped on the street and his ankle was sprained.

He paid little attention to the injury, for he was without funds to secure medical aid. Thus it came about that the singer almost lost the use of his leg.

It was in this condition that William H. West found the minstrel in Cincinnati about a month ago. He saw Emerson limping along Walnut street and stopped him. Emerson recited his woes, and assured West he hadn't the slightest idea where he would secure his next meal. West made an appointment with him for that evening, and then conferred with Sanford B. Rickaby, his general manager, as to the best means of rendering assistance.

As the result of this conference, Emerson was sent to a hospital in Cincinnatti, and was promised a position of some sort in West's company if he would abstain from liquor. Every attention was padi to him in the hospital, and it was not long before he began to resemble the tenor who had charmed so many audiences in the old days.

He joined the West show last Saturday at Milwaukee. He was well dressed, had almost entirely recovered the use of his leg, and announced his voice had come back to him. He was put on the bill that evening, and gave his familiar rendition of "If I could Only Pick a Winner." Judging from the comments of the Milwaukee press his success was immense, and he will continue with the company for the balance of the season.

This marks his first appearance in two years. Fifteen years ago Emerson went to London with Haverly's Mastadon ministreis and scored a big success. After the company had closed its engagement he remained for two years in the London music halls. For eight years he romained at the head of his own company, playing principally throughout the West. When this organization went out of existence he appeared with several minstrel companies. His last engagement before the present one was with William C. Cleveland's minstrels.

AT WEST DULUTH

Andrew Porter, of West Superior, who will be the manager of the Superior ball team the coming season, was in West Duluth this morning to get some of the Superior uniforms that were left here last fall after the Superior and Duluth ball teams consolidated. He wants the uniforms to put some of the men that he has in mind out for practice during the next few days, as the ground is drying out nicely since the present spell of warm weather. Manager Porter, who captained the Superior ball team for the past two or three seasons, is a veteran ball player, and will probably be found at his old place on second base as well as managing the team this summer. He said this morning that the prospects for baseball the coming season are very good, and that over in Superior the fans are taking hold of the matter with a great deal of enthusiasm. Marty Lee, who caught for Superior last year, is the only man yet signed by Manager Porter, but he is in correspondence with a number of good men, and says that the Superior team will surely be stronger this year than ever before. He has not yet considered a schedule for the number of games to be played this season, but believes that the scheme of joining the principal towns of Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan into a Northwestern league, under National league protection, will prove a winning card, and baseball will receive a boost that it has not experienced in these parts in years.

WORK ON HOTEL BEGINS.

Workmen began this morning to break the ground for the new brick hotel to be erected for Charles Korth, on Fifty-first avenue west, near the Duluth Match factory. It will be a fine two-story affair, with basement, and will be equipped with all the conveniences of a modern hotel. The building cotract has been let to Emil Zauft, the West Duluth contractor, while Louis Ramstadt has the contract for the brick work. It is expected that the new hotel will be completed and ready for business about the time that the match factory begins operations. In view of the proximity of the factory, it is believed that Mr. Korth has selected a fine location for his hotel, and that it will be an institution very much needed in that neighborhood.

MRS. MORTON APPEARS.

Mrs. Ida Morton, of Proctorknott, who was summoned to appear before Justice Stone, on the complaint of assault on another Proctorknott woman, appeared this morning, but did not enter a plea. Justice Stone postponed the matter until next Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, as it is Good Friday today, and the judge says that if the offices uptown are not going to do business today he does not intend to do so either. Mrs. Morton was released on her own recognizance.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

There will be a meeting of the Senate club this evening at the club rooms for the usual debating contest. The subject for discussion this evening is: "Resolved, that capital punishment should be abolished."

George Robinson and Robert Gerrish, who have been employed all winter in Wisconsin, have returned to West Duluth to take up their season's work at the Mitchell & McClure mill when it starts up.

The West Duluth grocers seem bound to make good their threat that they will throw their business to the St. Paul commission houses so long as the local commission houses hold to their plan of charging drayage to West Duluth. Today two carloads of green stuff arrived from St. Paul for the grocers here, and they claim that more is on the way.

Miss Lillie Cassley, of Grafton, N. D., is in West Duluth to spend the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bentson.

Mrs. Robert Woods, of Forty-fifth avenue west, is quite seriously ill.

George Craig, of West Duluth, has returned after a three months' visit with Mrs. J. P. Hannan, of Proctorknott.

A message has been received announcing the death in a railroad accident in Mexico of Charles M. Daly, formerly of Proctorknott.

Log hauling over the Missabe road is at an end for the season, owing to completion of contracts and warm weather.

J. P. Murray has been appointed marshal at Proctorknott.

Mrs. Albert Kurz has returned to her home in Proctorknott, after a visit with relatives in West Duluth.

Mrs. A. Jacobs and daughter were guests of Mrs. A. Kurtz, of Proctorknott, for a part of last week.

The West Duluth Republican club will meet tomorrow night at headquarters. It is the idea of the club to meet hereafter once a month to keep up interest and the wavering from backsliding. No regular program has been outlined, but it has been hinted that some way of disposing of the surplus campaign funds will be talked over.

Mrs. J. O. Johnson is entertaining her sister, Miss Alpha Evanson, of Virginia.

Miss Lillian Scott is in Two Harbors for a two weeks' visit.

On Sunday morning there will be an Easter Service held at the Plymouth Congregational church, corner of Fifty-fourth and Bristol, and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Esther Smith.

Light on Methods of President Castro.

Caused Strained Relations With Venezuela.

New York, April 6.—The Tribune this morning contains a long article purporting to give a clear account of the circumstances responsible for the strained relations between the United States and Venezuela. It comes from a writer in New York not connected with the paper and in order that it might be fairly criticized or corrected, printed proofs of it were submitted to the Venezuelan legation in Washington and to the Venezuelan consulate in the city. The article begins by saying that the recall of United States Minister Loomis from Venezuela has released much information concerning the methods of the Venezuelan government headed by President Castro. New York business men who own large commercial interests in Venezuela and who are kept informed by their representatives in Caracas of the state of affairs, have within the last few days given to the writer facts long withheld.

From those merchants it is learned that Castro is revising the constitution to suit his revolutionary policy. He called a congress together Feb. 20, whose members are all of his choosing.

The first act was to pass, according to his orders, an amendment to the constitution extending the term of office of the president from four years to six. This was done without any pretension of consulting the choice of the people. During the first week in March he appointed as members of his cabinet seven men who have learned to subjugate their will to his.

Castro has been dictator ever since he drove President Andrade by force of arms from Venezuela's executive mansion, eighteen months ago. He has yet to serve the remaining year of Andrade's term, which does not expire until Feb. 20, 1902. Then, according to his revision of the constitution, he will enjoy six years more in office, making eight and one-half years altogether.

Meanwhile the real president of Venezuela is Andrade, who is today in the island of Curacoa, which he has chosen as the starting point of a proposed expedition.

In Venezuela there is no such thing as capital punishment. Crime's penalties stop at imprisonment for ten years. But Gen. Acosta, friend of Andrade and enemy of Castro, who had dared to take up arms against Castro, and was the head of the revolutionary party in the field, was put to death.

A correspondent for a weekly who recently returned from Venezuela tells how Acosta was captured, and in spite of the law against the form of punishment, was shot, by Castro's order, on Feb. 19. In Venezuela now, it is asserted, government dignitaries, the ustices of the courts, local officials in the various cities and states, retain their places as long only as they obey without question the orders of Castro.

In the first month of his presidency, Castro called to his presence a number of wealthy representative merchants and bankers, and informed them that they must contribute to the support of the government. Acoording to his own estimate of the amount of their fortunes, he fixed the sum which each should pay into the treasury at once. The amounts ranged from $20,000 to $60,000. A few objected and straightaway found themselves conveyed to the rounda, the worst prison in Caracas. In this way Castro raised the funds for conducting the government until the revenues of the war taxes began to come in.

In December Castro annulled all the concessions of the various Orinnoco concerns—the Trading company, the Colonization company and the Shipping and Transportation company, all American concerns, with headquarters in New York. The reason he gave for this procedure was that the companies had not carried out the conditions named in their contracts.

Previous to this he had annulled the concession of the asphalt company in the state of Bermudese, a concession which for ten years or more had been yielding the country a large annual revenue. He then sold the asphalt property, which had been purchased years before in fee simple from the government of Venezuela. The asphalt company protested, and carried its case into the Venezuelan courts, where it was rewarded with an adverse decision. Then the company brought its case to Washington and placed it before the United States government. The state department immediately sent instructions regarding it to Minister Loomis, in Caracas. These instructions Loomis carried out to the letter.

This precipitated the present trouble in Venezuela. Senor Augusto Pulido, charge d'affaires of the Venezuelan government legation at Washington, examined the article with considerable attention, and he said: "I believe this article to be greatly exaggerated. Cipriano Castro is not a dictator in any sense of the word. He won his office by force of arms, but he has obeyed the constitution since his rise to power."

"Andrade is not the real president of Venezuela. Neither is Castro. The latter is only a provisional president. I do not know even if he will be elected to that office.

"During the troubled months when the whole country was in a state of siege, extraordinary measures were necessary to preserve any semblance of order. If these things did occur, it was long ago and much less harrowing than portrayed by your correspondent."

Gonzales Esteves, the consul general of Venezuela at this post, refused to discuss the contents of the article, saying there was no truth in it.

Havana Newspaper Closed on Account of Illustration Called "The Cuban Calvary" Which Offended Governor General Wood.

Havana, April 6.—The Discussion has been suppressed, by order of Governor General Wood, and its offices have been closed and sealed. This action was due to the publication in the Discussion yesterday of an illustration having the title of "The Cuban Calvary," representing the Cuban public personified in a Cuban soldier being crucified between two thieves, Gen. Wood being represented as one thief and President McKinley as the other, both being labeled with their names. Senator Platt was represented as a Roman soldier giving vinegar and gall in the form of the Platt amendment, while public opinion, as Mary Magdalene, was weeping at the foot of the cross.

Below was the following inscription: "Will destiny reserve for us a glorious resurrection?"

The picture caused much unfavorable comment yesterday from the standpoint of decency. The editor of the paper, Senor Coranado, was arrested but was released on bail. It is probable that no other action will be taken against the Discussion than suppressing its publication for several days.

Senor Capole, president of the Cuban constitutional convention, has visited Gen. Wood and told the latter that the convention, individually and as a body, regretted the publication of the caricature. He said the picture misrepresented the feelings of the Cubans, who held Gen. Wood and President McKinley in the greatest respect and were deeply grateful to them.

On his solicitation Gen. Wood allowed the Discussion to continue publication, but the judge of the correctional court will prefer charges, the character of which is to be determined later, against Editor Coranado.

IMMIGRANTS.

All Records In Transportation Broken By the Rhein.

New York, April 6.—All records in immigrant transportation were broken by the North German Lloyd liner Rhein. The Rhein brought 2449 steerage passengers, which established a new record by several hundred in the number of immigrants that have been landed at this port by one vessel.

At the immigration station, on Ellis island, it was said that the day had been one of the busiest experienced in the service in years. Besides the Rhein's passengers there were 586 from the White Star liner Germanic, 840 from the steamship Karamania, and 36 from the Allan State liner, State of Nevada.

Officials of the bureau said the immigrants were, as a whole, a good lot, being fine specimens physically, and in other requirements being above the usual average of persons that are landed on the island.

LEE RECOVERS.

Denver, April 6.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, having recovered from the illness caused by a cold contracted on a journey in the mountains on Wednesday last, resumed his journey to the Pacific coast today.

DENIED IN LONDON.

Report of Recovery of Gainsborough Portrait.

London, April 6.—Inquiry by a representative of the Associated Press at the art establishment of Thomas Agnew & Sons, from which the Gainsborough portrait of the duchess of Devonshire was stolen in 1876, elicited the response that nothing was known by the firm of the reported recovery of the picture in Chicago. Stories of the discovery of the missing portrait have recurred at frequent intervals ever since the picture was stolen.

New York, April 6.—Robert Pinkerton, one of the chiefs of the detective agency connected with the recovery of the stolen masterpiece, reached here today from Chicago and discussing the London dispatch said:

"There cannot be the slighest doubt about the recovery of the picture, and when C. Moreland Agnew reaches London and confers with the members of his house, he will no doubt fully confirm the story. He probably fears that there is some danger of losing the picture again. I do not think that the denial given out in London was authorized by the head of the house. I aided in the recovery of the picture, saw it myself, know all the facts in connection with the incident and you can take my personal assurance of the entire truth of the story."

STARTS FOR THE RIVIERA.

London, April 6.—Lord Salisbury started for the Riviera this morning.

REAR-END COLLISION

Two Trains Come Together on the Michigan Central.

Pullman Car Is Badly Crushed By Freight Locomotive.

Three Persons Were Injured But All Will Recover.

Detroit, April 6.—While lying at Wayne Junction early today, Michigan Central passenger train, No. 36, which left Chicago at 11:30 last night, was run into by a freight train which was following it.

The rear end of the last Pullman car of the passenger train was badly crushed by the freight locomotive. Three people were injured, as follows:

Louis Mendelssohn, of Detroit, passenger; head cut.

J. N. Mackin, of Detroit, passenger; badly bruised.

The property damage is not large.

SILL IS DEAD.

The Former Minister to Korea Has Died at Detroit.

Detroit, April 6.—John M. B. Sill, minister, resident and consul general for the United States to Korea, from 1893 to '97, died at Grace hospital today. For a year or more—in fact since his return from the Orient, when his health was shattered—Mr. Sill has been failing and since Christmas has wasted rapidly away.

Mr. Sill, who was born in Black Rock, N. Y., in 1831, was minister to Korea during the Chinese-Japanese war, and his legation was the refuge of many of the Korean court dignitaries after the sensational assassination of the queen of that kingdom. He occupied a prominent position as an educator, having been superintendent of the Detroit schools and principal of the state school at Ypsilanti. He was the author of several works on grammar.

BROWN SURPRISED.

By His Appointment as Pittsburg Recorder.

Pittsburg, April 6.—Maj. A. M. Brown, who is one of Pittsburg's foremost attorneys, was somewhat surprised when told that the governor had appointed him recorder. He admitted that he had been solicited to take the position, but had not given it any consideration. He would give no definite idea as to when he will announce his decision to accept or reject the appointment, but it is thought he will wait, if possible, until the supreme court renders its decision as to the legality of the new charter.

RECORDERS

Appointed In Pennsylvania Cities According to "Ripper" Bill.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 6.—A. M. Brown and John R. Murphy were today appointed recorders of Pittsburg and Allegheny City, respectively, by Governor Stone. This is in accordance with a recent act of the legislature known as the "Ripper" bill, abolishing the office of mayor in second class cities and giving the governor power to appoint recorders in their stead. The newly-appointed officers will serve until 1902.

HAVE AGREED

On the Punishment of Provincial Officials.

Berlin, April 6.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Pekin, dated Thursday, April 4, says the Chinese plenipotentiaries have agreed on the punishment of the guilty provincial officials to be demanded by the foreign ministers on account of the murder of 242 persons, missionaries and their wives and children.

PRICE ORE.

Rate For Non-Bessemer Already Fixed.

Cleveland, April 6.—The Plaindealer says: The price of non-Bessemer ore has been fixed without any action being taken by the Bessemer Ore association on that grade of ore. Sales of non-Bessemer ore are being made at $3 a ton, which is a cut of $1 a ton compared with last year. No large deals have been closed, but many small orders have been placed and the amount of business closed up to date is pretty close to 1,000,000 tons.

WILLIAM MOONEY DEAD.

Joliet, Ill., April 6.—William Mooney, aged 60, a well known lawyer and former member of the Illinois legislature, died today from paresis.

STARVING

Sad Condition of the Porto Ricans.

Worse Than When Under Spanish Rule.

Cincinnati, April 6.—A dispatch to the Enquirer from a correspondent at San Juan, Porto Rico, says:

"I was here before the war with Spain and most of the time since, and must admit that, while sanitary and other reforms have been worked out and other beneficient reforms projected, unavoidable disaster and inexperienced administration have caused the material condition of the people to be worse now than under Spanish rule. In a number of districts the people are actually starving. There is no work, the planters have no money to undertake cultivation. The banks will not lend them a small amount.

"The municipalities have no funds and have failed in attempts to borrow the necessary money to conduct affairs or undertake improvements.

"The markets are paralyzed. The warehouses are full of tobacco. There is no sales for coffee. The people are denied citizenship, and are left like prisoners on the island to starve. These things appeal to the people more than implanting schools and other reforms.

"Utterly heartsick, the people gather at the wharves, gaze out on the water and beg of shipowners to take them anywhere. Thousands are going to Hawaii, Cuba, San Domingo, Ecuador and other points.

"The local press urges the government to take action at once to stop the exodus. Emigration to Ecuador has been practically stopped, however, because of the alleged ill-treatment received by those who have sought refuge there.

"As a result of the trip of the Porto Rico commission to Washington, owners have been allowed to place their own valuation on property, and the trouble has been otherwise modified, and less opposition is made. The people still object, however, to continuing the payment of 15 per cent of the Dingley tariff."

YACHTS NEARLY ALIKE

Sir Thomas Lipton Learns That the Lawson Boat Has Every Important Novelty of the Shamrock II.

London, April 6.—When Sir Thomas Lipton recently said that he was chiefly concerned about the Herreshoff boat and saw no reason to count seriously on the chances of the Crowninshield defender he was merely echoing the opinion, then generally held, of British yachtsmen. It seems now, however, that it is dawning on the experts that the Lawson boat is worthy of more attention than was previously given to her. The reason for this change of opinion lies chiefly in the remarkable resemblance of Mr. Lawson's yacht with the Shamrock II. Details seem to show that every important novelty in the Watson boat has been duplicated in Mr. Lawson's. The lead of the keel is run inside on both yachts in order to secure strength and lightness with less surface friction. Both masts consist of a single spar, with the view of escaping weight and the weakness of a topmast. Imperishable aluminum is also used for the decks of both boats. As it is impossible for either designer to have plagiarized the other, the fact that they have arrived at identical conclusions in these important matters has suggested to British yachtsmen that the designers are more nearly on the same plane than supposed.

THOMAS W. LAWSON IN HIS STATE ST. OFFICE AT WORK.

Thomas W. Lawson may enter his yacht Independence in the Clyde regatta to take place in English waters next June. The Shamrock II will be one of the entries and Sir Thomas Lipton is anxious to have the Boston yachtsman run against him in English waters.

REVOLUTION

In Colombia Is Still Far From Ended at Present.

San Francisco, April 6.—The Chronicle says: Private advices received by the steamer City of Sydney from Panama allege that the revolution which began Oct. 18, 1899, in Columbia is far from ended, and that the rebels are steadily gaining strength.

Gen. Ulloa, at the head of the revolutionists, had a fierce battle about March 1, in Caparrapi, state of Cundinamarca, in which the capital city of Bogota is situated. The government troops were defeated and 250 prisoners, 500 rifles and 25 cases of ammunition were captured by the revolutionists. Gens. Neiro and Delgodillo have captured Moniquira, with 250 government soldiers. Gens. LOOMIS' MOVEMENTS.

Consul Has Not Arrived at San Juan.

Cincinnati, April 6.—A dispatch to the Enquirer from San Juan De Porto Rico, says:

Minister Loomis has not arrived. The cabled dispatches state that he left La Guayra for San Juan on the auxiliary cruiser Scorpion, due yesterday morning. It is suspected that the Scorpion will join the squadron at Culebra, from whence daily dispatch boats arrive at San Juan. There has evidently been some delay in the departure from La Guayra of Minister Loomis. Naval officials here profess ignorance of the whereabouts of Loomis.

Avila Blanco, the Venezuelan consul here, says that President Castro of Venezuela is unlikely to yield to the demands of the United States, and Blanco expects that a naval demonstration will follow. He fears the result because of the heavy foreign interests at the seaports, and hints at possible complications of an international character.

Uprisings have taken place in several [illegible] but President Castro is considered to be able to quell them.

Copper Boom In Northern Wisconsin Lands.

Indications all point to there being one of the greatest booms in copper properties in Northern Wisconsin that the state has ever seen. This activity will be centered principally in Douglas county. Operators who were through the booms on the Gogebic and Penokie iron ranges in the '80s say that the developments now being pushed, and those decided upon but kept quiet, will be sufficient to send every acre of land upon the copper range in Douglas county to $50 or $100 per acre. People are much interested.

All the available homestead land has been taken, and although the snow has not yet disappeared, prospecting has already begun. It is understood that plans for the 20-head stamp mill at the Chippewa mine have been accepted, and that this company will begin the erection of this mill at once.

It is now an assured fact that the Calumet & Hecla people will expend between $200,000 and $300,000 at the Weyerhauser mine between now and the first of next November.

The St. Croix Consolidated Copper mines, of West Superior, Wis., has just announced that it will expend between $50,000 and $100,000 in developing its properties, and that before the season closes at least two strong companies will be developing two of their twelve surface showings. The St. Croix Consolidated is probably the strongest and by all odds the largest company upon the range. It owns in fee 21,000 acres of carefully selected lands upon the mineral range, and on these lands have twelve elegant surface showings of native copper.

MAY YET BE PAVED

Chance For Improvement of Superior Street Without Amendment.

Petition May Go to Council Within Three Weeks.

It Is For Sheet Asphalt With Sandstone Intersections.

With every evidence of emanating from an authentic source, a rumor was thrown on the winds today to the effect that Superior street may yet be paved with out resorting to a charter amendment.

As indicated by The Herald several days ago, the council's action in starting a petition for a charter amendment giving the aldermen power to order street improvements without petitions from the property owners, caused a feeling of apprehension and anxiety on the part of certain property interests and the various paving material promoters. This stirred up considerable energy on the part of those endeavoring to secure petitions, and as a result there may be a petition submitted to the council within two or three weeks.

It is claimed by one of the members of the council that this petition will be for sheet asphalt, with sandstone at avenue intersections.

Should this petition be submitted, the council will probably call of the proposed charter amendment owing to the cost of holding the proposed special election. The main object of the resolution calling for the special charter amendment giving the council plenary power in ordering street improvements, was to get Superior street paving down before the street becomes a total wreck. By paving immediately may thousand dollars can be saved in saving the present cement foundation. If the present foundation should collapse under the strain of heavy teaming, an entirely new foundation will have to be put in.

It is said that if the council does call off the proposed charter election, it will insist on a charter amendment at the next regular election for the purpose of giving the aldermen power to make street improvements, where such improvements are absolutely necessary, but on which the property owners are unable to agree as to the kind of material to be used, or where the property owners refuse to petition.

The paving of Michigan street with sandstone will begin in a very few weeks. Most of the stone is ready for shipment at the Kettle River quarries and the work will be pushed through very rapidly.

THE SALOONS.

Council to Consider Limit Ordinance Monday Afternoon.

The council committee on ordinances will hold a meeting on Monday afternoon to consider the ordinance for preventing the spread of the saloon epidemic in the legitimate business and residence districts. It has been learned that the brewing company representatives favored the plan of having the council pass a resolution regulating the number of saloons, but are actively opposed to having an ordinance restricting the number of thirst-quenching boozoriums.

The resolution was not very binding. It was simply the sense of the present council that there should be no more saloon licenses granted until such a time as the ratio of thirst-quenchers should be one for every 500 population instead of one for every 325. At any time the council should see fit it was easily within their power to adopt another resolution saying that it was the sense of the body that more saloon licenses should be granted. It would not bind any subsequent council, either.

But with an ordinance, it is a different thing. In amending or revoking an ordinance regulating the number of saloons, it would be more difficult for the brewing companies to muster sufficient strength in the council to have the restrictions removed.

It is reported today that saloons backed by brewing companies are to replace the grocery stores of Sutton & McCabe, 5 West Superior street, and the Anderson Grocery company, 29 East Superior street, after May 1.

Sheehy After Holmes.

Joseph Sheehy claims that his arrest on the charge of using indecent language to a woodsman was caused by City Attorney Holmes, who has it in for him and has for a number of years been pursuing him whenever he can get a chance. He says he was not at the city hall yesterday, and also that an attempt was made to force him into paying a check for $10.60, and he refused, and in his indignation used some language that was taken advantage of. He told Holmes to put the check where he could not find it for two years, and says that he defies Mr. Holmes to interfere with his business, and will be still at the old stand doing business when Mr. Holmes is eating snowballs. He says there will be a warm one coming if he hears any more from Holmes.

Former Duluth Players.

Revoir, the promising young pitcher, who played last season with Washburn and pitched a few games in this city, twirled a remarkable game yesterday at Excelsior Springs, Mo. He is playing with the Chicago American league team and shut out a scrub team of league players by a score of 9 to 0. They only made three hits off him. Roy Patterson, the former Duluth pitcher, played second base for the scrub team.

Glendon, the pitcher that deserted the Duluth team last season, pitched a game for the Chicago National league team, against the university of Illinois and the college men defeated the professionals by a score of 10 to 8.

Health In March.

During the month of Mrach there were fifty-six deaths and something like seventy-three births.

Of the deaths there were four from accident, two from bronchitis, two from cancer, one from alcoholism, four from old age, four from pneumonia, one from grip, and two from diphtheria.

Five of the fifty-seven deaths reported were brought to Duluth hospitals from out of town, so that in figuring the death rate for the city only fifty-two deaths are taken into consideration.

Can Cubans Govern Themselves.

One of the best known diplomatists recently declared that the Cubans are incapable of governing themselves, and that the United States must maintain its present control indefinitely, or else annex the island. There will be those who will dispute this, but there are none who dispute the well-established fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is capable of controlling the common diseases of the stomach. It is a remedy that is backed by fifty years of success. It is an ideal medicine for constipation, a strength builder for those who are predisposed to lung troubles, and for nervousness it is of wonderful benefit. As an appetizer it is incomparable. Those whose stomachs are out of order should not fail to try a bottle.

ALARMING.

The Depopulation of India Through Famine and Cholera.

London, April 6.—The depopulation of India through famine and cholera is assuming alarming proportions. The latest advices from Simla say the census returns of the central provinces show a decrease of over a million since 1891, when under normal conditions an increase of a million and a half might have been expected. It is estimated that 5,000,000 have died in India since 1896 from causes directly due to the famine.

In Western India things are even worse. The Oodeypoor state returns show a decrease of 84,000 or 45 per cent of the population, the state of Bhopaul shows a decrease of 808,000, the district of Banda shows a decrease of 124,000 an so on. In Bombay City the population has diminished by 50,000. The localities which escaped the plague show a satisfactory though uncompensating increase. For instance, at Madras, which has gained 8 per cent over 1891.

Allan Liner Decks Swept By Big Seas.

Greenock, April 6.—The Allan liner Buenos Ayrian, from Philadelphia, March 11, for Glasgow, about whose safety some apprehension was felt, has arrived here. She reports that she was fog-bound outside of Philadelphia, and remained anchored two days. Subsequently the weather was very rough, and the ship was swept from stem to stern by heavy seas, which smashed her deckhouse and carried away a lifeboat. Her coal became exhausted and her furnaces were fed with maize, cattle fittings, etc. There was never any fear felt by those on board regarding the safety of the ship.

Washington, April 6.—Within a day or two the government will announce that it will receive bids for its claim against the Sioux City & Pacific railroad, which amounts to something over $4,000,000 in principal and interest. The act of June 6, 1900, designated the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general and the secretary of the interior as a commission to dispose of the government's claim against this road, and an agreement has been reached to receive bids on June 9, 1901, at noon in the office of the solicitor of the treasury, the upset price being $1,872,000. The government's claim is subject to a first mortgage of $1,628,000. The terms of this sale are a deposit of $100,000 with each bid, to be forfeited if it is not made good, the balance in cash to be paid within twenty days.

AT WEST DULUTH

Filled with a hilarity and joyousness that was induced by a free mix-up with the flowing bowl, John Booler, a West Duluth citizen, living on Main street, started out yesterday to celebrate the Eastertide. Not only did he make his presence well known about this part of the city, but he even went home and tried to hammer some of his joy into his wife. She resented the action of the head of the house and went before Justice Stone with a complaint. Booler was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with being drunk and disorderly and beating his wife. He sobered up in the West Duluth police headquarters last night, and this morning was found guilty of doing all that he was charged up with. Justice Stone imposed a penalty of $10 and costs and required peace bonds of the defendant, or gave him the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. At last accounts this morning Booler was drawing cuts with himself to see whether he should pay the fine or accept county board for a season.

THE SENATE CLUB.

The Senate club met last evening, but did not have the debate expected, as matters of importance came up to be considered, and the debate was postponed for a week. The building in which the club has been meeting has been sold, and the owner expects to fit it up for another purpose. The club is figuring on new quarters in a hall on Grand avenue, where the next meeting will be held. The club will also have a banquet and social session at this next meeting in connection with the debate.

Rev. Adolph Salvorsen will conduct services at 5514 Grand avenue, Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock.

The skating season in West Duluth closed last evening with a large crowd at the West Duluth rink. Although the weather has been warm for several days, the ice was in pretty good condition. The covered rink closed the season after a splendid run of business all winter; in fact, better than has been experienced in the rink business here in many seasons. One of the chief attractions this winter to keep up the crowds was the plan of having band music at every skating night. Music has its charms, and the skaters appreciate it. It is rumored that Charles Brown, the proprietor of the rink here, will build a rink in Duluth another winter.

The ladies of the Asbury M. E. church are planning on a social at the home of Mrs. Pake, Fifty-third avenue west and Nicollet street, next Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

DEATH AND DESPAIR

Can Be Averted — Healing Without Medicine or Surgery.

Crowds Continue to Throng the Office of This Wonderful Physician and Gifted Magnetic Healer.

Every week day from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. the strangest scenes imaginable are witnessed at the office of Dr. Mitchell, where he heals the sick. We have seen men treat the sick by the laying on of hands, before, but never have we seen the dumb made to speak until we went to Mitchell, and there before many people saw the doctor, with nothing but his hands, restore the voice of a woman who had been dumb for years. We also saw him take an old gentleman 78 years old, who was as deaf as a post, and in three minutes under Dr. Mitchell's treatment he could hear the softest whisper. The next was a lady with her hand swollen to four times its natural size, and in five minutes, under the application of Dr. Mitchell's hands the swelling disappeared, and the lady could use it as well as ever. An old lady who had two stiff shoulders and was very deaf came next, and it took the doctor but a few minutes to loosen her shoulders and restore her hearing, and when she found she could both hear and use her arm she burst into tears, and asked God to bless Dr. Mitchell. She stated she had no home but she would hereafter be able to earn a living. Her earnest appeal for the Divine blessing to rest upon Dr. Mitchell touched the hearts of those in the office and quite a number of dollars right then and there found their way into the old lady's pocket.

If you are suffering from disease and deformity, you should consult this great healer, whose wonderful power is a foe to disease.

Mrs. Burel from the range had suffered for years with female complaints and could not walk or stand without a Babcock uthering supporter. Dr. Mitchell cured her with a few treatments.

Mrs. Rice had suffered for years with a cancer, it was five and one-half inches across, and Dr. Mitchell cured it in ten weeks.

Mr. Belcher cured of lame and enlarged knee joints and numbness of left side.

To know of Dr. Mitchell's wonderful healing power is to be convinced that he has been blessed by nature with a force that but one in a million have. Many cases require repeated treatments while many severe cases get well quickly. If there is any cure for you Dr. Mitchell can cure you.

HIS FAITH UNALTERED.

A. R. Macfarlane On Parry Sound Stock.

A. R. Macfarlane & Co., announced in their advertisements during the week that they had placed the stock of the Parry Sound company on the market at 75 cents a share instead of 35 cents, owing to a misunderstanding with the wishes of the company. All purchasers of stock at 75 cents were notified that they would be refunded the money in excess of 35 cents. Mr. Macfarlane has been very much gratified to find that nearly every party from whom he has heard has not asked for his money back, but for additional stock to the amount of the excess.

Said Mr. Macfarlane today: "I was grievously disappointed that this unfortunate mistake should have occurred, but I don t alter my statement that I believe the stock to be cheap at 75 cents a share. I still think it is well worth that price. Before taking up the stock I examined the properties carefully and had experts examine them, and before I took the sale of the stock upon my hands I was satisfied that it was a very rich thing. The decision of the company to sell at 35 cents a share has not altered my faith in the slightest. On the contrary, I think the stock cannot now fail to show a very handsome profit."

St. Paul, April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the house today Chairman Mallory moved that the report of the bribery investigating committee be taken from the table and adopted. The motion was carried without debate or contest of any sort.

Mr. Laybourn introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, charges of bribery have been made by certain members of this house in connection with the discussion and disposition of house file No. 291, known as the Jacobson gross earnings tax bill, that such charges have been published in the press of the state and nation to the discredit and dishonor of this house and the state of Minnesota, and,

Whereas, a committee of this house, composed of honorable and prominent members, after having carefully and painstakingly investigated such charges and all the evidence presented by the members making such charges, and has found nothing reliable upon which to establish the belief that any such bribery was ever practiced or attempted, therefore

Resolved, that this house votes its disapproval of the charges and insinuations made in connection with house file No. 291 and censures in plain terms the conduct of the representatives from Lac Qui Parle county, Mr. Jacobson and the member from Hennepin county, Mr. Washburn in making such false and scandalous charges against honorable members of this body.

Mr. Allen gave notice of debate and the resolution went over.

The senate bill to reimburse owners of cattle killed because of tuberculosis was reported for indefinite postponement, but Mr. Plowman opposed such action, appealing for protection to the farmers of the whole state. J. A. Peterson, who is the author of a similar measure not covering the subject for the whole state, argued in support of the execution of the bill, but the house supported the friends of the bill which was placed on file for second reading.

The Russell Sage relief bill to make possible the collection on bonds issued by the now defunct town of Reed's Landing in Wabasha county, was taken from the table and placed on the calendar.

Mr. Deming called up his Younger parole bill and read the opinion of the attorney general on the bill. Mr. Smith offered an amendment substituting the state auditor for the chief justice from the provisions of the bill. A call of the house was ordered. Mr. Dobbin spoke at length against the proposed amendment, which he denounced as clearly an attempt to "pack the jury." In view of the well known fact, that the state auditor is an earnest advocate of pardon for the Youngers.

Mr. Whitford presented a further amendment requiring also the approval of the judge of the district from which such convicts were committed.

The Whitford amendment was lost and on roll call the Smith amendment was lost by a vote of 49 to 53.

Mr. Kelly then moved the indefinite postponement of the bill. Mr. Roberts appealed to Christian sympathy against any such action but Mr. Riley thought there should be some sympathy for the victims of the Youngers.

Mr. Laybourn demanded the previous question and roll call resulted 53 to 50, finally killing the bill.

IN THE SENATE.

St. Paul, April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate today passed the Johnson concurrent amendment resolution instructing the attorney general to take into the courts the matter of the ownership of 271,565.94 acres of swmap lands granted the Minneapolis & St. Cloud railroad in 1865. The lands are within the Biermann selection, that official having designated certain lands as part of this land grant the Great Northern having been slow in making selections. This grant was afterwards cancelled by Governor Clough. This resolution directs the attorney general to bring proceedings in court to test the validity of the cancellation.

Two house bills appropriating $500 for W. R. Mahood and $790 for H. E. Blair, to pay their expenses in the contest over the seat in the house held by Mahood, were passed.

In committee of the whole, the senate played horse with Senator Knatvold's bill appropriating $650 to purchase the medals won by Minnesota buttermakers at the Paris exposition. Some of the members thought it unfair for the Frenchmen to require contestants to win the medals and then buy them. Senator Stockwell thought the state had medals enough. The bill was recommended for passage after Senator Knatvold had made a plea for it on account of good advertising would do the state. The substitute for the Wilson bill providing for appeals from municipal to district courts, was indefinitely postponed. Senator Schellbach's bill to expedite the trial of disbarment cases was recommended for passage.

The Shell bill exempting village treasurers from personal liability for the safety of public funds deposited in banks was recommended to pass.

The house bill to create public parks on lands forfeited to the state was laid on the tables.

Senator Halvorson today refused to be laughed out of the senate, with his anti-cigarette bill. He had it passed by the senate at one time. The house amended it, and when it came back the senate refused to repass it.

Then the senator had another bill introduced, less drastic in form. It was this second bill which came up on general orders today. Senator Halvorson spoke briefly for the bill and urged its passage as a protection to the young boys of the state.

Senator Ives introduced an amendment making the bill apply to chewing gum, which the senate adopted. When a division was called for, however, it had but one vote to spare. The ballot stood 21 to 20.

A motion to indefinitely postpone the bill was voted down after Senator Thompson had appealed to the senate to treat the measure seriously. Finally Senator Halvorson, in order to make another effort to save the bill form defeat, asked that it be sent back to general orders. A call of the senate was ordered and an aye and nay vote demanded. With this pending the senate took a recess.

MICHIGAN STREET SALE.

Today W. M. Prindle & Co. closed the sale of fifty feet on West Michigan street, adjoining the Swift Packing company's property to Boston parties. The former owner was Paul Tuckerman, of New York city. The consideration was $12,000. Negotiations are under way for the lease of the property improved. If the deal is closed, as it was expected this afternoon that it would be, there will be a brick building erected on the property at once. The building would be of the usual Michigan street size, two stories on the street and three on the tracks.

Spring term will begin at the Business University on Monday, April 8.

DO MUCH TALKING

County Board and Citizens Talk County Redistricting.

The entire morning was spent by the board of county commissioners, assisted by outside parties, in discusing somewhat heatedly the matter of redistricting the county to make room for two more commissioners. At the conclusion of the argument at 12:30 o'clock it was decided to put the matter over until April 16, by which time everybody concerned will have had ample opportunity to become informed on the matter, and will therefore be in a position to appear before the board and make arguments according to the frame of mind their information leaves them in.

The unpleasantness of yesterday afternoon, when Commissioner Kauppi and others were accused of trying to railroad the matter through and get snap judgment on it, was reflected in this morning's discussion. J. B. Cotton made the principal address in favor of immediate action, which he urged because he thought that the plan of delay was founded on bushwhacking methods, as he expressed it, designed to give hostile parties time to tie the matter up with litigation.

The other side of it was taken by Commissioners Kugler and Patterson. O. H. Simonds, W. B. Phelps, Frank Crassweller, H. S. Mahon and others, and some of them expressed suspicion because of the evident haste to get the matter settled before people had had time to think it over or become informed upon it.

Commissioner Kugler opened the ball, after the meeting had been thrown open for discussion, by stating that he wanted to vote as the people wished, so he wanted to hear the voice of the aforesaid people. He did not want the matter railroaded through. He explained that the proposition presented by the petitions on file was for two more range districts, giving the Mesaba range two comissioners and the Vermilion range one, and leaving all the other districts unchanged.

The bill was read, and then J. B. Cotton was called on. He said that he was there as a citizen and not in the interests of any iron corporation that he must plead guilty of being connected with. He gave a number of reasons why the new commissioners were needed. He said the ranges had never had their dues in the matter of reprsentation on county matters, and the bill is designed to give them that justice. In opening, Commissioner Kugler had said that a dauger in giving the ranges too much representation would be that they would represent the iron interests and defeat attempts to properly tax the iron interests. In relation to this Mr. Cotton said that the county board of equalization would have a majority of two, counting the county auditor, and even if it did not do the right thing, the state board of equalization has the power to right any injustice. At the same time, it is to the interests of the iron companies to "tote fair" in the matter, because they exist only by sufferance of the people, and they are anxious to pay their just proportion of the publicexpense.

Mr. Cotton said that he was not in favor of county division, and he admitted that in his complaint against it on the range he promised some dissatisfied people that he would do what he could to see that more representation was secured on the county board for the Mesaba range. He said that it was untrue that more commissioners would mean more expense, because two more good men could help economize. He desired to make no threats, but county division will be demanded if this relief is throttled by the people of Duluth.

In reference to the proposed farmers' district, he said that would only have 2500 population, and that would not be a fair apportionment. He said that if the matter was held up it would be only because an attempt was being made to block it long enough to permit injunction suits to tie it up. He thought that no interests would be harmed if the legal test is made after the board acts and gives the Mesaba range the justice it asks.

Frank Crassweller asked if the law required that the matter be acted upon the day the petitions were filed. Mr. Cotton said that it did not, and that it allowed sixty days for consideration.

H. S. Mahon asked if it required seven districts. Mr. Cotton replied that with the petitions in asking for seven it does require that number. Mr. Mahon asked what if another petition asking for six should be in. Mr. Cotton thought the one asking seven would be ahead and would have to be acted upon first.

Mr. Mahon said he did not see why Mr. Cotton should construe it as unfriendly because some of them wanted the matter held over long enough to inform themselves on it. Mr. Cotton said the only thing was the fear the litigation would tie the matter up for a long time, and if they had an assurance that that would not be done, he did not care if the whole sixty days was taken.

Judge Carey suggested that there were others that would like to be heard. It was a new question to most of the people of Duluth, and they did not want to have the matter acted upon until they had had a chance to look into it a little and know something about it. If the request is reasonable there will be no opposition to it of any kind.

O. H. Simonds said he never heard a disinterested citizen play the part of a paid attorney better than Mr. Cotton had. He thought Mr. Cotton having been at the bottom of the matter, knew all there was to know about it, while the people know little or nothing, and he believed that the people should be given a show. He said that the bill on file in the auditor's office since yesterday was the only one in Duluth, and nobody had read it or knew what was in it. He thought the ranges were entitled to relief, and probably to this relief, but people wanted to know what it was before they endorsed it.

As to Mr. Cotton's statement that the Mesaba range will grow, he was surprised to hear this, because a little while ago certain interests were trying hard to show that the ore supply there was about to peter out, and the reason the roads were making high freight charges was that they had to do it to come out even in view of the short life of their business.

Incidentally referring to the matter of taxes, he said he understood that the Mountain Iron mine was originally stocked at $1,000,000. Under the present value of its stock, as expressed by its convertibility into Consolidated stock, that mine is worth $7,000,000 or $8,000,000. It is being assessed at about $600,000 at the outside. He wished someone would assess his property at that basis.

Commissioner Kugler wanted to know if Mr. Cotton objected to putting the matter over for two weeks. Mr. Cotton said he asked for no snap judgment. If the matter was given fair, decent treatment he was not opposed to their taking all the time they wanted.

Commissioner Patterson said he was in favor of the matter, but he would not sign the report of the committee that had it in hand until he had satisfied himself it was all right. He thought it queer that some of the commissioners thought the world would turn upside down unless the matter was hustled through in fifteen minutes.

Commissioner Kauppi hotly answered that his measure yesterday was only to have the committee report on the petitions, as to whether they conformed to the law. Nothing was said about action on them.

Commissioner Kugler said that sounded very nicely on its face, but there was a current there yesterday that would have put the matter through immediately if the committee had reported favorably.

The argument continued for some time longer. Mr Cotton said he thought the proper time to test the law was after it had gone into effect, and W. B. Phelps said that was hanging a prisoner and trying him afterwards.

Finally an agreement was reached, and the matter will come up again April 16. The board then adjourned to meet this afternoon to take up other pending matters.

No Advance.

The rumor that coal prices are about to advance is denied at the local coal offices. Usually about the first of May, at the opening or shortly after the opening of navigation, the prices of hard coal drop and it is expected that the same thing will take place this year. On the other hand no reduction in soft coal prices is looked for, for the reason that bituminous coal prices are just about the same as they were last summer when the boats were bringing up large quantities of the commodity. There have been some slight changes in price on some of the different grades of soft coal, however. There is said to be only one factor that might have a tendency to force hard coal prices to hold at the high figure now asked, and that is the possibility that the engineers' strike will not be settled by May 1 and coal will not commence to come up the lake at that date.

15 CENTS PER SHARE

REMEMBER we own 21,000 acres in fee and have 4,000 acres under contract, and in this tract we have 12 propositions of 1,000 acres each and 9,000 acres on which to find as many more. The surface showings of any one of these locations are as good as the surface showings of eighty per cent of the paying mines opened up on Keweenaw Point.

WHY figure it up for yourself—the surface conditions are such that eighty per cent of these lands are valuable for farming purposes, and if this tract of 15,000 acres were sold today—for farm lands—not taking into consideration any mineral possibilities whatever, they would net 20 cents per share on the entire capital stock; at $60.00 per acre or one-quarter of what such lands sell for on Keweenaw Point, the stock of this Company would be worth 100 cents on the dollar. Isn't this a conservative business proposition?

Did you ever have stock in such a Company offered you at such a figure?

Remember on next Tuesday morning, April 9, this stock will be 20 cents per share, and you can't buy a share for less than that price.

AT LAST REMOVED

Vaccination Restriction Is Finally Taken From School Children.

Can Attend If They Have Not Been Exposed.

Teachers and Principals Selected For Next Year.

Unvaccinated children may become pupils in the public schools from now on, the embargo having been removed after having been in effect for some time. Beginning Monday morning, when the schools open after the spring vacation, children from every part of the city may attend, regardless of vaccination, providing they have not been exposed to smallpox. This announcement was made at last night's meeting of the board of education, and was confirmed by Dr. Robinson, the health commissioner, who said that the smallpox situation has improved to such an extent that he believes it to be safe to remove the embargo.

The result will be that several hundreds of children who have been kept out of the school because of anti-vaccination prejudices will return to school. Many of them have been out since early last fall, when the vaccination embargo went into effect.

The committee on buildings reported that it had made a careful investigation of the Endion school in regard to certain rumors that the condition of the building is responsible in some measure for the epidemic of diphtheria that has been prevalent in the East End during the winter. The building was found to be in excellent condition, both plumbing and ventilation being all that could be asked. The building has been thoroughly fumigated, and the committee reported that there is no foundation for any fears regarding it.

The committee on schools and teachers reported the list of principals and teachers for the coming school year, and recommended an increase in the salaries of practically all of the principals of $5 per month over that paid last year, and about $2.50 per month for most of the teachers.

This proposition aroused some discussion. Dr. C. L. Codding protested against it on the ground that the district could not afford it at this time. He also said that the action was too important to be acted upon at a meeting when all of the directors were not present. The committee's recommendations were adopted, however, only Directors Codding and LeTourneau voting in the negative. The raise will increase the salary budget about $6000 a year.

The board authorized the employment of a teacher for the commercial department at a salary of $70 per month. Miss Lucy E. Kellar was appointed supervisor of penmanship, and an assistant will be employed in the manual training department at a salary of $45.

The resignations of Eva Fulton and Anna Johnson were accepted, and the following new teachers were selected:

TAKEN AWAY.

Joseph Goldstein Goes to the Stillwater Prison.

Shackled hand and foot, Joseph Goldstein, moral degenerate, departed for Stillwater this morning under the guard of two deputy sheriffs, to serve a 32-year sentence in the penitentiary. He goes in at the age of 26; he will be 58 when he gets out. George Rhodes, who pleaded guilty to larceny in the second degree, sat opposite the would-be murderer, smoking a cigar. Goldstein smokes cigarettes incessantly and has done so for years. He has grown a mustache since his confinement, is a good deal thinner than when he shot Deputy Sheriff Magie and made his wild break for liberty, but shows no remorse in his countenance, and sat in the smoking car raising his manacled hands to his lips and drawing deep breaths of the cigarette. He was thinking of something far from the present, however, and thinking deeply, for when asked by a Herald reporter if he had anything to say, he started, looked bewildered for a moment, smiled and shook his head and went on inhaling his cigarette and looking into the distance.

Deputy Sheriff Hare said that they did not expect any trouble from Goldstein, but they were going to take no chances with him. Goldstein seemed absolutely indifferent to the many curious glances that were bestowed upon him, but Rhodes rose to the occasion and took in his full share of them. The party left on the Northern Pacific at 9 o'clock this morning, but there were comparatively few bystanders, many arriving after the train had departed.

THE ALUMNI.

University of Michigan Men Planning a Fine Event.

An important event of the coming week will be the first annual banquet of the University of Michigan Alumni association of Duluth and Superior, to be held at the Spalding Thursday evening. The members are extremely gratified at the prospect of having, as the guest of honor, Professor Angell of the university. President Angell has been at the head of this institution for upwards of thirty years, and has, during the same time, as an authority upon international law and a trained and skillful diplomat, served the government in numerous delicate and important matters, especially as minister to China and later to Turkey. He has an ardent admirer in every one of the thousands who have received their degrees from his hand, and the members of the association appreciate very highly the honor conferred upon them and upon the city by his presence at this banquet

The sale of tickets indicates a very full attendance of the hundred or more head of the lakes alumni. Besides President Angell's address, toasts will be responded to by Judge Cant, Mrs. Scott, C. A. Towne and other local alumni from Duluth and Superior. An invitation has also been extended to President Northrup of Minnesota university, but it is not certain as yet that he will be able to attend.

AMUSEMENTS.

"MILK WHITE FLAG."

The production of "The Milk White Flag" at the Lyceum last evening was not up to what had been promised by the management of the company. Without Little Chip it would have been a flat failure. That diminutive and very nimble little chap is a wonder. He has a dancing specialty that ought to make his fortune, and would seem to be almost impossible to limit, and it is excrutiatingly funny. Throughout the piece his appearance was signal for laughter to begin, and it continued so long as he was in evidence. The Fanchonetti Sisters did some very clever French dancing. Miss Mary Marble, who is featured on the bill, is a very ordinary soubrette, and does nothing that should entitle her to have her name appear in any more prominent type than any other person in the cast. The male members of the cast were fairly good. The production generally is very ordinary, although the farce contains opportunities for some work in the hands of clever people.

SOMETIMES FATAL.

IN THEIR FIRST STAGES PILES SEEM INSIGNIFICANT—NEGLECT THEM AND RESULTS ARE OFTEN FATAL.

Pyramid Pile Cure Cures Them So They Stay Cured.

At least one-fourth of all mankind are afflicted to a greater or less degree with piles.

Very often the disease is of irregular recurrence. Maybe the trouble comes only once or twice a year. Even so, it unfits a man for business while it lasts. Seems like a little thing, but it produces more bad feelings than even serious sickness would. In severe cases there is no comfort attainable. Various salves and ointments afford temporary relief, but in a few minutes the pain returns. Each attack is a little bit worse than the last one. Itching is followed by bleeding and protrusion. Fistula follows—surgical treatment—death possibly. And all this can be avoided.

The discovery of Pyramid Pile Cure has made suffering unnecessary, even foolish. By its use relief is instantaneous. It soothes the inflamed parts, heals the broken membranes, reducing the swelling and brings comfort at once.

The cure is permanent and the trouble will not return unless new conditions arise which produce an entirely new case. This, of course, cannot be helped, but if you will use Pyramid Cure immediately on the appearance of the first symptom, the trouble will vanish.

Druggists sell and recommend Pyramid Pile Cure. There may be some who do not have it, in which case you can get it yourself from the makers, the Pyramid Drug company, Marshall, Mich. The price is 50 cents per package.

North Dakota Boy Shoots His Sister and Brother.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks—Charles Boecher, aged 16, son of a farmer living in Traill county, shot his sister aged 10 and his brother, aged 6, Friday night. The girl is dead and the boy is not expected to recover. It is supposed the shooting was accidental, but this is not certain, and the boy has disappeared. A number of children were present at the time.

Grafton—The county commissioners closed a 3-days' session Friday. Bids for county printing were opened. Several outside bids were received, one from Fargo and another from Grand Forks, but all bids were rejected. W. F. Cushing, assistant state manager for the Pan-American exposition, appeared before the board in behalf of the state exhibit and asked for a grant of $200. Upon the advice of the state's attorney, the commissioners declined to make the grant.

Jamestown—Papers are being prepared in disbarment proceedings against two attorneys in this state. State's Attorney P. M. Mattson is one, but the name of the other cannot be learned. He is a resident of a city in the eastern portion of the state. Mattson is a resident of New Rockford. The proceedings against him were ordered by Judge Claspell, of this city. It is expected that a hearing will take place in both cases shortly.

Fargo—City Treasurer Mitchell, who is also custodian of the funds of the school board, blocked a deal by which it was intended to take up bonds drawing 6 per cent and replace them with 4 per cents. He also refused to transfer funds from one department to another. The board is seeking to retaliate by cutting off the extra compensation paid the treasurer in addition to the salary he secures from the city. There is no provision for the payment of this sum.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre—Governor Herried today appointed Dr. H. H. Dickinson, of Lead City, a member of the state board of dental examiners.

Vermillion—The debate between the state univirsities of Iowa and South Dakota next Monday evening in this city has aroused an interest among the students such as has not been experienced before. The fact that the contest is with a celebrated university of another state, has much bearing with students.

Aberdeen—A committee of the county auditors of the northern part of the state has issued a call for a meeting in Aberdeen on Tuesday, April 16. The purpose is to discuss the coming assessment and to devise some acceptable plan that will insure a more equitable and just assessment of both real and personal property.

Sunday school workers and superintendents have issued a call for a convention in Aberdeen on Friday, April 26, to organize a Sunday School association and to elect delegates to attend the state convention.

Deadwood—Elmer Day, Patsy Ryan and a little Chinese boy named Quong Lang, were severely burned yesterday by an explosion of powder. Day and Ryan had obtained a large quantity of cartridges which they supposed to be worthless, and were removing the balls to get the powder, when one of the cartridges went off in Ryan's hand, and, setting fire to a quantity of powder which was in a pail. Ryan was seriously burned and is in a critical condition. Little Quong Lang was also badly disfigured, and lies in an unconscious condition. Day was not severely hurt.

Nathan E. Franklin and Frank R. Greene, of this city, principal promoters of the proposed electric railway in this county, have asked the county commissioners to grant them the right to construct and operate an electric railway connecting the cities of Deadwood, Lead, Central City, Spearfish, Terry and Terraville. The franchise is asked for a period of ninety-nine years.

Lead—Wednesday was smelting day for the Homestake company. Four bricks of gold were melted, having a total of 6864 ounces of gold, valued at about $103,000. The Homestake gold runs about $15 per ounce. The last brick was numbered 1366, which means that that many gold bricks have been turned out since the Homestake company commenced producing gold. It was then packed and sent by express to the First National bank of New York. The Homestake company has recently acquired all of the properties of the Caledonia Mining company, for which $500,000 was paid. This is the largest mining transfer ever made in the Black Hills.

IN MICHIGAN.

One of Four Miners Injured By Explosion May Die.

Iron Mountain—Of the four miners who were injured on the sixth level of No. 1 shaft of Pewabic mine today by an explosion of dynamite, one may die. The miners drilled into an unexploded charge of dynamite which exploded with terrific force. The injured are: George Villa, married, not expected to live; Antonio Gaudieri, Philip Nicoline and Joseph Zana. The latter is seriously injured and may lose both legs.

Portage Lake—Mike Kergush, a pack peddler, was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital to be treated for a broken leg. Kergush claims that he was compelled by the brakeman to jump from a moving train two miles from Redridge and en route for that place. The injured man also states that he asked if he could ride before getting on the train and that he was able and willing to pay when put off.

Hancock—At the meeting of the village council of Hancock when the paving question came up for discussion, it was estimated that the cost of paving per front foot would be $3 for any material if a property owner of Quincy street has fifty feet of space facing the thoroughfare, his share of the expense would amount to $150. The street railway company will also be counted in on the cost of the pavement, as it will have to pay for the paving along its tracks.

Marquette—The copper country boys of the Thirtieth regiment, which recently reached San Francisco after service in the Philippines, are expected here about Tuesday of next week. REVENUE RECEIPTS.

New Record Established For Business.

New York, April 6.—A new record for a day's receipts for internal revenue collection districts has been established at the office of Collector Charles H. Treat, of the second district of New York, where $515,385.18 was the total amount received, almost the entire sum being paid for documentary stamps. Nearly five hundred $1000 stamps were disposed of to the great corporations with offices in this city.

"Whatever we may say about corporations," said Collector Treat, "they certainly pay a generous part of the taxes of the people. We shall probably receive more than $800,000 from the tax on the stocks and bonds of the new United States Steel corporation."

Mr. Treat did not anticipate a noticeable change in the receipts of his office on account of the revised internal revenue tax schedule. About $2,000,000 a year, he thought, would cover the loss which would result from the war tax reduction. He thought that about $750,000 of that sum would be lost to the government through exemption of taxation of medicines and proprietary goods.

STEAMER FLOATED.

THE OUTLOOK

For a woman's happiness in the married state depends less, as a rule, upon the man she is to marry than upon her own health. The woman who enters upon marriage, suffering from womanly weakness, is "heaping up trouble against the day of trouble."

Weak woman are made strong and sick women are made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the one reliable regulator. It dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It nourishes the nerves and invigorates the entire womanly organism. It makes the baby's advent practically painless, and gives strength to nursing mothers.

"I suffered for twelve years with female trouble," writes Mrs. Milton Grimes, of Adair, Adair Co., Iowa, "which brought on other diseases—heart trouble, Bright's Disease, nervousness, and at times would be nearly paralyzed. Had neuralgia of stomach. I can freely say your medicines (nine bottles in all, five of 'Favorite Prescription,' four of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets), have cured me. I can work with comfort now, but before I would be tired all the time and have a dizzy headache, and my nerves would be all unstrung so I could not sleep. Now I can sleep and do a big day's work, something I had not done for over eleven years before."

Spring Ailments

Such as Pimples, Boils, Eczema, and other eruptions; Loss of Appetite, Bilious Turns, Fits of Indigestion and Headache, That Tired Feeling and General Lassitude, proceed from a vitiated condition of the blood, which is common in the Spring, and effects all the organs and tissues. It is a condition in which the blood circulates an accumulation of waste matters which litter the system and clog its processes.

You have one or more of these Spring Ailments yourself, or you are one of the rare exceptions ro the rule.

It is at least a fair assumption that you, like most people, need to purify your blood this Spring.

Now, what will you take?—what may do the work, or what will do it?

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills will do it.

This statement is verified by the experience of thousands annually.

These preparations combine the most potent alterative or blood purifying, diuretic or kidney stimulating, cathartic or liver, stomach and bowel cleansing, and tonic or strength-giving, substances, carefully selected and prepared by fully educated and skillful pharmacists. The combination of

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Fulfills, as physicians say, all the indications of Spring Ailments—that is, meets all their requirements—purifying the blood and so acting on the organs of digestion and secretion as to make the effects on the blood permanent, and restore healthy functional activity to the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills make the Spring Medicine par excellence.

WORTHY PLACES

The Deserving Charitable Institutions of the City.

Charity Given Them Will Not Be Misplaced.

Work Open to Public Inspection at Any Time.

The recent agitation over the so-called "Sacred Refuge" as conducted by the Bakers, has called attention to the deserving charitable institutions of this city, those which are not averse to having their work examined minutely and at any time, and which are carrying on a great work for the poor and needy of Duluth. It is these to whom such chairty as the people can give should go.

The hospitals are too well known to require much comment. St. Mary's, at the corner of Fifth avenue east and Third street is one of the best equipped in the West and does an immense amount of work each year. It is a very energetic institution and is practically self supporting, the years when there is not much sickness offsetting those of epidemics. Any one can purchase a six months ticket for $5, or a year's ticket for $8, entitling him to treatment, medicines and board for that period, providing he is rendered unable to work by sickness or accident during that period. Of the large number of tickets sold a comparatively small number of patients result and these seldom stay for the full time of their ticket.

The hospital is to some extent assisted by private donations, and thus the sisters are enabled to treat all deserving cases free if necessary.

St. Luke's hospital, at the corner of Second avenue east and Fourth street, originated during an epidemic, and for eighteen years has ministered to the needs of the city, during which time it has been improved and enlarged. It charges those who are able to pay, but the charges cover only the cost of maintenance, paying nothing on the original cost of the building, and it can really be called a charitable institution. Over 500 days of charity work at a dollar per day is about the average amount that it does. St. Luke's hospital is a public benefactor in another way, as it trains young women for professional nursing, thus furnishing skilled attendance to the sick. The foundation for a new hospital has been laid at the corner of Ninth avenue east and First street and St. Luke's hospital will soon be the equal of any west of Chicago. The building will be fire proof and thoroughly up-to-date in every respect. The hospital is not run to make money and no manager has received any pecuniary remuneration from it whatever. It is governed by a board of nine members and is under the espionage of the Episcopal church of this city.

The Woman's hospital, located at 919 East First street is, as it's name indicates, a hospital for women of all classes. It is self-supporting and governed by a board of managers, charging those who are able to pay and treating the indigent free. The future of this institution is very unsettled at the present time, as the building is much too small for the needs of the hospital, and there is not enough room for the needed number of nurses. A location for a new institution has not yet been decided upon and nothing is definitely known as to its future home.

The two Bethels, one located in the midst of the saloon infested part of Lake avenue, and the other on the "Bowery," have done an amount of good that cannot be readily told. They have, by the low price at which they serve meals, kept many a man from begging or stealing and as they never turn a deserving case away—perhaps starvation. Commodious fre reading rooms are furnished at both places and baths at the Lake avenue Bethel can be secured at a reasonable cost. Gospel services are held each evening, and many men are kept from losing their money in the dives. At present the two institutions are serving about 1100 meals daily, to all sorts and classes of men at the average price of 12 cents per meal.

The Children's Home is located at 1722 East Superior street. Until recently it went under the name "Women's and Children's Home," but it has been changed and is now exclusively for children. About fifty-five little ones are there at the present time under the charge of Mrs. Green, the matron, and in most cases they are charged $6 a month, for their support, but almost $500 worth of charity work is done each year. The property is free from incumberance, but on account of the crowded condition of the home the managers expect to build another in the near future, and sell the one which the home now occupies. The board owns four lots at the corner of Fifth avenue east and Fifth street, but may select a site at Lakeside or Woodland. But few orphans are in the home, most of the children having at least one parent living, who in most cases provides for the child's support. The home is managed by a society of Duluth women.

The St. Anne's home and the St. John's orphange in West Duluth have been recently consolidated, and both the institutions now occupy the old quarters of the St. Mary's hospital. They are under the charge of the Benedictine Sisters and are for old people and for children above the age of 3 years, there being almost seventy little ones cared for last year. Their work is to a great extent on the same order as the Children's Home. The institution is supported to a great extent by contributions.

Your Liver and Kidneys are the Sieves that drain the Blood

No other organs in the body have such direct effect on the general health. See that you keep them in good repair. Every drop of blood is strained by them. If they fail in their work, it will result in the accumulation of poisons that cause rheumatism, urinary troubles and many worse disorders often ending in dreaded Bright's disease.

WATCH YOUR LIVER AND KIDNEYS and at the first sign of inactivity and inability to perform their natural functions, take a remedy which will gently force them to renewed vigor.

McLEAN'S LIVER AND KIDNEY BALM

stimulates these organs to immediate healthy action, reduces acute pain, purifies the blood, and so removes the cause of disease. Better buy a bottle to-day and be prepared. It may save you years of suffering.

EASTER VESPER SERVICE.

Beethoven's First Symphony at Unitarian Church.

A fine musical program will be given at the Easter vesper service at the Unitarian church. Mr. Flaaten's orchestra will give three movements from Beethoven's symphony in C Major. The following synopsis is printed for the benefit of those of our readers who may wish to attend the service:

The symphony opens with a very short introduction, adagio molto. This introductory movement was something of an experiment at the time it was made. The composition professes to be in the key of C, and yet it begins with a discord in F, and in the third bar is in the key of G.

The adagio of the introduction is followed by the allegro con brio. The leading theme is three four-bar phrases, in the strings, protracted by two bars of wind. The second subject in the dominant is very melodious and agreeable. A very effective and original passage arises out of this theme; where the bass has a portion of the subject in the minor, with a separate melody above it in octaves. The first part of the allegro ends with a short coda, containing a new phase and a passage for the wind alone. The first part is then repeated and "worked out."

The second movement, andante, cantabile moto, is probably the best known part of the symphony. This movement is written in the key of F Major.

The fourth movement, the finale, begins with an adagio in six bars in length which leads up to the first theme. The second subject is introduced by a pretty figure in the first violins, and accompanied by a moving bass. The coda is of considerable length.

This symphony was first given in 1800, when Beethoven was 30 years old. The Allgemeine Musikalische Zeitung, describing a performance at Vienna in 1805, calls it a "glorious production, showing extraordinary wealth of lovely ideas, used with perfect connection order and lucidity."

LAWS IN MICHIGAN.

Lansing, Mich., April 6.—In the house, the controversy over a bill providing that all county officers shall be paid stated salaries, instead of fees, ended in it being amended so as to be worthless. A bill amending the garnishment law passed the committee of the whole in such shape as to exempt from garnishment all wages of heads of families up to $5 per week, and 70 per cent of wages between $5 and $30 per week.

Friends of the bills provided an advalorem tax for the property of railroads, telegraph and telephone and express companies tried to secure the adoption of a resolution ordering the railroad committee to report forthwith all taxation bills in its possession, so that action can be had on them at once, the theory being that the committee is trying to kill them by delay. The committee won by a narrow margin. The temper of the minority, however, insures an early report. There is little doubt that an advalorem law will be enacted.

Under the bill passed by the senate mining companies may increase their capital from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000.

WAS MUCH EMACIATED.

Farmer Twenty-Two Days In Straw Stack.

Graceville, Minn., April 6.—Twenty-two days ago John R. Lindquist, a farmer who imagines someone is trying to kill him, left his home during a violent blizzard. Although a search was kept up for several days no trace of him could be found. He was thinly clad, and it was supposed he was frozen to death.

Yesterday when Edmund Colwell, of Barry went into his field to burn a straw stack, he found Lindquist in a burrow of the straw very much emaciated and with his feet and lower limbs frozen. Lindquist claims he had been in the stack for twenty-two days, during which time he has not had a morsel to eat. He obtained drink by crawling to a nearby slough. He has lost over 50 pounds in weight during his fast. At present he is in the hospital here. His feet, or portions of them, will have to be amputated.

QUITS IN DISGUST

Hot Time at the Meeting of County Board.

Commissioner Kugler After a Hot Protest Walks Out.

Trouble Was Over Redistricting of the County.

The matter of redistricting the county came up at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the county board, and it led to rather a warm dispute in which Commissioner Kauppi tried to get the matter up again this morning and settled quickly, while Commissioner Kugler strongly objected because it seemed an attempt to railroad the project through without due consideration.

The matter was precipitated by Commissioner Kauppi's resolution directing the committee to which the petitions had been submitted to report at 10 o'clock this morning. The petitions, signed by over 4000 voters, had been filed during the afternoon, and referred to a committee consisting of Commissioners Kauppi, Kugler and Patterson for a report as to the genuineness of the signatures and the regularity of the affidavits of those who collected them.

Commissioner Kauppi's resolution brought Commissioner Kugler to his feet with a strenuous objection against railroading the resolution through without giving the people a chance to be heard. He said he had talked with a number of business men, and they had all said to go slow and see that neither the city's interests nor those of the ranges suffered. He would like to have the opinion of such bodies as the Civic Federation. He said if the board had the county's interests at heart it would take time to get some ideas on the subject.

Commissioner Morcom said the other members had the county's interests at heart as well as Commissioner Kugler, and Mr. Kugler said not to railroad the thing through, then.

Commissioner Kugler moved to adjourn, and when that was lost he moved to lay the resolution on the table, which motion was also lost. Then Mr. Kugler left the room in disgust, saying that the commissioners could railroad it through without him as well as with him.

Then Commissioner Patterson moved to adjourn, and the motion was carried. J. B. Richards' bill was referred to the committee on claims and accounts for a report.

Chairman Morcom introduced a resolution on the system of purchasing supplies for the poor, providing that the poor committee shall approve requisitions of the overseer of the poor, that the committee make monthly reports of supplies and orders issued, that a semi-annual report of the average number of inmates of the poor house and the cost of maintenance per capita and a yearly report as to supplies, etc., on hand be made, and that a $1000 bond be required of the overseer.

Mr. Kugler objected to the resolution because it was too long, and wanted its provisions voted on separately. He said that a resolution requiring a bond from the overseer was unnecessary, as the law required it anyway. He said he had tried to control the expenses of the poor farm but had not received help from the other commissioners.

Commissioner Kauppi said that there were no protests on record from Mr. Kugler, and that he had signed all the bills with the others. In the war of words between the two that followed the grand jury's reflections on county matters came up, and Mr. Kauppi took occasion to say it was unjust to bring him into the matter when he was not a member of the poor farm committee.

Commissioner Patterson filled the breach by making a point of order, and the commissioners, breathing hard, adjourned to this morning.

FUNSTON A BOSS SCOUT.

Gen. Corbin Tried to Belittle Funston's Exploit.

Wichita, Kan., April 6.—The Eagle publishes an extended interview with Congressman Chester I. Long of Kansas relative to the appointment of Frederic Funston to a brigadier generalship in the regular army. Mr. Long has verified the interview for the Associated Press.

"When I read of Funston's heroic deed," said Mr. Long, "I went straight to Gen. Corbin's office and said:

"'Well, general, you see what Funston has done?'

"'Yes, I have seen it,' replied Gen. Corbin, not too pleasantly.

"'Well,' I said, 'don't you think that you ought to make Funston a brigadier general in the regular army?'

"'No,' said Gen. Corbin, 'he has done nothing to warrant that.'

"'But,' I insisted, 'it seems to me that he has done a very daring thing; that he has almost concluded the war.'

"'Mr. Long,' said Corbin, 'I am making lieutenants of better stuff than Funston every day. Funston is a boss scout—that's all.'

"'We want him made a brigadier general,' I insisted.

"'Mr. Long,' said Gen. Corbin, 'the army has become a great school; we want teachers for brigadier generals; we want men who can teach and not those who should be taught.'

"'But the president may want to appoint him,' I said.

"'The president can do so, of course,' said Gen. Corbin.

"But it was plain to be seen," added Mr. Long, "that the president would never do it on the recommendation of Gen. Corbin."

CABLE FLASHES.

The survey on the British steamer Costa Rican, Capt. Kelly, which left Kingston March 28, for Liverpool via New Orleans and which returned to Kingston April 4, after being ashore three days on Grand Cayman shows that the Costa Rican is not leaking and sustained no serious dagame.

The squadron of United States warships under the command of Rear Admiral Farquhar is at Culebra island, about twenty miles south of Porto Rico, and apparently prepared to stay there for some time. The admiral recently received cable dispatches, the contents of which are not known. The United States auxiliary cruiser Scorpion is expected here from LaGuaira about April 10 with United States Minister Loomis on board.

The managers of a number of iron manufactories of the Manchester district have decided to send out a picked party of British workmen to the United States for the purpose of studying American methods of workmanship in the automatic tool trade.

"It seems that the question of the sale of the Danish West Indies has reached a serious point," says the Copenhagen correspondent of the London Daily Mail. "Washington is said to be inclined to take umbrage at Denmark's hesitation to accept the American offer. The attitude of the United States has become almost menacing, but Denmark has the moral support of the European powers."

Lord Kitchener reports as follows to the war office: "Col. Plumer has advanced twenty miles beyond Nylstrom, unopposed, on the way toward Pietersburg." According to the Pretoria correspondent of the Daily Telegraph the Boers have shifted their seat of government from Pietersburg to a point thirty-five miles northeast.

Senor DeCastro, special envoy of the Venezuelan government left Paris Friday after having drawn up with M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs, a protocol which had been approved by the French government and which will serve as a basis for the resumption of diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela.

The coming of Mrs. S. T. Rorer, of Philadelphia, the famous cook, to give a series of lectures, illustrated, at the First Methodist church, is being anticipated with great interest by the women of Duluth. When Mrs. Rorer was here last year the character of her work was not very well known, and the attendance was not as large as the lectures deserved. Since then a great many of the women have come to a realization of what they missed, and the attendance this year promises to be very much larger. Mrs. Rorer demonstrates the work of which she talks before the audience; in other words, she practices what she preaches or lectures by the object lesson plan. Her lectures, too, aside from their value, are very entertaining, for she is a very bright and witty woman, with a fund of sarcasm that she uses to good advantage and an easy flow of language that is always ready for every emergency. Besides being conceded to be the finest of cooks, Mrs. Rorer was agreed to be a very charming woman by those who heard her when here last.

The program of lectures for next week has been very carefully arranged, and will be especially interesting to mothers, for two afternoons will be entirely given over to children and infants and will deal with the proper method of feeding them.

There will be two evening lectures, one on the chafing dish and another on "Breakfasts."

The opera "Grand Duchess," which is to be given by home talent on Monday evening, at the Lyceum, for the benefit of St. James' Orphan home in the West End, promises to be a success even greater than anything ever given in Duluth before. The participants are well and favorably known, and are sparing no amount of work to acquit themselves well on the evening of the performance. The cause for which the opera is given is certainly a most worthy one. St. James' Orphan home has been established only a little over a year now and is already caring for and educating about sixty homeless children. It is conducted by the Sisters of St. Benedict, so well known for their work of charity in this city. The entertainment will be of a very high order and the music of "Grand Duchess" is sure to please universally. In the opera there will be interpolations of some of the best songs, as for instance Miss Rena Smith will introduce "The Swallows," by Cowen, while Miss Hector will sing Tosti's "Good Bye." The regular Lyceum orchestra, which is already recognized as one of the best theater orchestras in the country, will be augmented to twelve men, and the costumes will come from one of the most extensive costumers in the country—Wolff, Fording & Co., Boston. The principals and chorus, which latter numbers about fifty, comprise many of the best voices in the city. Box parties are already forming and the prospects are that the evening will be one of social importance as well as musical enjoyment.

"SO DROWSY."

When True Natural Sleep Comes.

Actual changes take place in the little corpuscles of the blood, and these changes are brought about by changes in our habits. For instance, the coffee habit is said to produce a thickened condition of the blood, that is, under the microscope the little round corpuscles show apparent fibres, an unnatural condition, which makes trouble with the heart in case of coffee poisoning. It also affects the complexion, frequently bringing on heart disease in some cases, and stomach and bowel troubles are common with coffee drinkers.

"Coffee treated me very badly indeed. I got so I could not have a good night's rest, and had not for five years. My eyes and complexion were duller than my mother's, who was also a great coffee drinker.

"Physicians told me I had acute kidney and bladder trouble. I was nervous almost to the verge of hysteria, and my memory failed me. I had grown so thin I was little more than a shadow, and people were continually asking me how much younger my husband was than myself. (So comforting to a woman, you know.) In truth he is five years my senior.

"Well, as a forlorn hope I left off coffee and took up Postum Food Coffee about a year ago. I soon became so sleepy that I could scarcely stay awake long enough to take care of my baby. I did not realize that I was sleeping naturally and making up for lost time. Finally I got pretty well 'slept up,' the drowsiness disappeared and I felt a decided improvement in health. In three or four weeks I was quite well and only needed to regain my flesh and complexion. I waited very patiently for an improvement in these conditions, but it was about five months before I was rewarded, then an almost instantaneous change took place, and my complexion became clear and rosy. I gained in weight quickly, and friends and neighbors commented on the remarkable change.

"I have been constantly growing better and now am feeling in better condition than ever before in my life, and I can surely say that I owe it all to leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

"My 16-year-old sister, like myself, drank coffee from a child. For the last four years she was able to go to school only a part of the time, and the doctor said she should not study at all. I induced her to quit coffee, and now her bright eyes and fresh, fair complexion show the result."

It will be noticed that it took some months before this woman secured the result she wanted in the matter of complexion and flesh. The change from coffee produces a change in this particular within a month usually, but it is evident, in her case, that it required time to change the corpuscles of the blood, and that when that change was made the recovery was very rapid.

The Message of Easter.

I.

(Enter Joseph and Arimathea and Nicodemus, bearing the body of Jesus, followed by Mary and the other women weeping.)

Slow, slow, slow,
Lay Him low!
It is finished,—all, at last,—
Human suffering is past,—
Human woe!
Now the Spirit hath release;
His inheritance is peace.
Let us go
To our legacy of pain,
To our wailing,—but in vain!
Roll the stone!
Hearken unto Mary's moan,
Can we leave Him here alone—
All alone?

II.

(Mary and the other women come early to the sepulcher, bringing spices.)

Who runneth here in sorrow within the twilight gray,
The myrrh and the odorous spices in Joseph's tomb to lay?
Why falls she back in wonder, and all in like accord?
'Tis Mary weeping, longing for her beloved Lord.

(Angels sing.)

Why weepest thou, O woman, in dolor and in dread?
Why seek ye for the living—the living with the dead?
He is not here,—for He is risen,—
Broken the prison!
He goeth forth before you into Galilee.
There shall ye see!
Joyously tell the story!
All may behold His glory!

III.

We sorrow not as hopeless,
Tho' stumbling in our Night,
Our loved ones sleep in Jesus,—
Nay,—wake with Him in Light!

And while we linger watching,
Like Mary would we pay
The perfume of our service
To Him, this Easter Day.

So may the Heavenly Rainbow
Gleam thro' the mist afar,
The Star of Bethlehem become
To all the Easter Star!

THE ONLY CURE FOR NERVOUS DISEASES

There is only one specific known to medicine for diseases arising from impure blood and a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's celery compound.

It is the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced.

It is not a patent medicine. It is not foisted upon public attention by smart advertisement writers. Its proprietors claim nothing for it that it will not accomplish. It appeals to no prejudices, but relies absolutely upon its unparalleled record for preventing and curing the diseases for which the greatest physician of modern times intended it.

No remedy ever accomplished so much good; none ever achieved such universal attention. There is no substitute for it, and there can be none. Paine's celery compound makes the sick well.

CAUGHT THE ST. PAUL MAN.

Cleveland Leader: A few days ago in Chicago, F. W. Buskirk of that city; F. A. Garfield, of Jamestown, N. Y., and R. H. Wallace, of Cleveland, all employes of the Erie railroad, got together. Ordinarily they are not together three minutes before some one feels that he is painfully under obligations to the crowd by reason of having been the object of a joke. On this occasion the three were especially amiable in common, and the brunt of the fun toward some outsider. Two or three others were in the crowd, among them a man from St. Paul. Things were pretty quiet when Mr. Garfield looked up and said:

"How is the Chicago ice crop this year, Buskirk?" Then the wink went round.

"Oh, we cut an ordinary amount. How are the highlands of Chautauqua?"

"Same old story. Ice worms again spoiled everything."

"Ice worms?" put in the man from St. Paul. "I live in the ice belt and I never heard of anything like that."

"Probably not. You folks are too fond of sliding on it to make an investigation as to what is on the inside."

General surprise was thereupon expressed that a St. Paul man had never heard of an ice worm, and upon his making inquiry Mr. Garfield made the following explanation:

"The ice worm looks very much like a grub. It travels as fast as a mole, but instead of raising a ridge in the ice, as the mole does in the ground, it eats the ice as it proceeds. It lives on the small insects that are frozen in the water. The damage is caused by leaving the ice porous or honeycombed so that it melts very quickly and it is impossible to store it."

The St. Paul man believed the story.

Pay Roll of the Steel Trust.

Louisville Courier-Journal: The United States Steel corporation has 160,000 employes and a pay roll of half a million dollars a day. Allowing 300 work days, this one manufacturing corporation will pay out $150,000,000 a year. These two items are about the most striking statistics of the trust's magnitude that have yet been put out. In the light of such facts as these what is to be said about the Standard Oil with $100,000,000 of capitalization and the Sugar trust with its $75,000,000?

Work of the Legislature Being Pushed.

Younger Parole Bill Is Declared Invalid.

St. Paul, April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The closing days of a legislative session are on the rag tag and bobtail order, so far as keeping track of them is concerned. The house or senate will begin the day with the best of intentions, so far as observing the strict order of business is concerned, and in a few minutes members will be on their feet seeking for suspension of the rules to advance some pet measure, or the reception of the privileged reports of conference committees will break in on the regular transaction of business. The endless roll calls and the monotonous reading of bills for final passage makes the sessions uninteresting to the casual observer and at times confusing to those who understand the ins and outs of the matter. But with all the apparent confusion there is definite and distinct progress, and as the close of the session approaches the desks are being gradually cleared of the business and the last day will find all matters somehow disposed of.

As two years ago the larger body has set the example for good work. The senate is capable of good work and can do it rapidly. The house is slower moving and has more untried members. But it is the case of the tortoise and the hare all over again, and the apparently sluggish half of the legislature has come to the closing of the race in advance. It became necessary on Wednesday for the senate to begin its session at 9 o'clock and even with that hour there is a great accumulation of work to be taken care of in some manner. It will be out of the way by next Thursday night's adjournment, but naturally these last measures cannot receive as careful attention as those which may have gone before.

The primary elections bill has gone through both houses at last and the signature of the governor will make it a law. The first bill along this line to be introduced came from Representative Hillmond, a Democrat, and it provided simply for the extension of the law applying to Minneapolis to all the rest of the state. But the Republican majority wanted the law for it own and Representative Dunn presented another measure which amended the Minneapolis law in some particulars and was in itself a general law taking the place of the existing law applying only to the one city. This Dunn bill, with a few amendments, is the measure which has gone to the governor.

Then this last week has seen the completion of the victory of Jacobson in the final passage of his gross earnings bill through the senate and the sending of it to the governor for his approval. The substance of it has still been referred to the tax commission, although there is a bill pending to repeal the law creating that body.

The Laybourn insurance codification bill will be the coming labor for the house, coming in for action Monday. A substitute is to be acted on, but it has not changed the original in many particulars, the form of policy being the same as at present in this state.

The parole of the Youngers is still uncertain, although Representative Deming is certainly doing all in his power to carry the measure through in such shape that it will free them. Some days ago it was stated on good authority that Chief Justice Start was strongly opposed to the whole proposition, and as the proposed law required the approval of all three members of the pardon board before the prison board could issue such a parole, it was evident that his position and the length of his term made it practically certain that no parole would be granted. A few days later the story got into circulation that the bill was unconstitutional in that it gave to the chief justice unconstitutional powers, and might therefore be returned by the governor without his approval. This was followed yesterday with a motion by Mr. Deming for the recall of his bill from the governor to look into the possibly unconstitutional provision, and if possible to amend it in accordance with the fundamental law of the state. The motion was adopted and the bill was accordingly returned by the governor for further consideration by the house.

It remains to be seen whether the objectionable feature can be eliminated from the bill. Opinions differ as to what this is. Some actually believe the story of an unconstitutional provision, but the larger number seem to suspect that the attitude of the chief justice against any parole or pardon of the Youngers is the actual feature against which the bill has run. However, Attorney General Douglas is authority for the statement that the bill is unconstitutional. The attorney general holds that the legislature has no authority to delegate to the chief justice the power of paroling prisoners, and that by so doing the bill is invalidated. The opinion is based on the ground that the labors of the chief justice under the constitution must be purely judicial, and that the power to pardon and the power to parole are distinct and different.

There has been good-natured rivalry between the clerks of the two houses during the present session over their work—that is the desk clerks. Secretary of the Senate Sam Langum has two assistants who have, like himself, been at their desks before and should know the ropes thoroughly. In the house the full force was "green," but that has not meant that they were incapable of learning. The past week has given the house force a good chance to get ahead, and they have not ceased rejoicing. Senator Sweningson had a bill in the senate to regulate the practice of optometry, but the senate clerks had not yet been examined for their spectacles, and sent the bill into the house with a report of its passage before it had come up for final passage in the senate. The house boys enjoyed it immensely when the senate had to "recall" the bill in order to act on it.

It so happened that on the same day Mr. Umland made a handsome apology to Chief Clerk Schmahl, whose work he had criticized on the floor. Umland is a good Democrat, who likes to find flaws in the majority party, but he is always quick to give credit where it is due. So when he found that he had attacked the clerk without proper occasion, he got the floor and expressed his regret at his mistake.

The Sixth district is well represented in the clerical force of the house, so far as ability goes, and various improvements in the make-up of the house journal are due to George H. Spear, the Brainerd lawyer, who has been giving his time to the work of the first assistant clerk of the house. Mr. Spear is an old newspaper man, having reported several sessions of the house for the Minneapolis Journal, and has been putting in some of his spare time doing a little work for his old employers on that paper during the present session. The result has been that some of the newspaper boys have been a trifle jealous of their own rights and have suspected him of maneuvering things to their disadvantage, when there has been no real evidence to support the suspicion. Chief Clerk Schmahl and Assistant Clerk Spear have instituted one decided improvement, in having a typewriter prepare clear copy of the reports and proceedings for the printer, the reby making less frequent the errors in the house journal, of which there are always a great many, because the daily journal presented to members must of necessity be an uncorrected proof. This daily journal is further corrected by Mr. Spear, and the final completed journal of the house will, when published, be found to be of more than usual accuracy. Schmahl is a Redwood Falls editor, and well known. Spear should be appreciated by his fellowtownsmen, for he does the town credit.

The senate yesterday did another excellent thing by passing Senator Snyder's bill, providing for the introduction of the Torrens system of registering land titles in this state. The bill met with strong opposition and was defeated at first, but was at once reconsidered and, after being amended as to apply to only St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties, was passed and sent to the house, where there is fair prospect that it will also be approved.

PARDON FOR McKENZIE.

A Concerted Move to Secure His Release.

Washington, April 6.—A concerted movement for the pardon of Alex McKenzie, of North Dakota, who is now serving a year's imprisonment in San Francisco for contempt of the federal court of appeals of that city, is under way, and the president, to whom it is being directed, is expected to take the application for pardon up in a short time and decide it in McKenzie's favor.

Soon after the decision was announced a petition was presented to the president for pardon on the grounds that sentence was unjust and excessive according to all usage of courts. The petition was referred to Attorney General Griggs, who unhesitatingly approved it and returned it to the president last Friday when he attended his last cabinet meeting. The president has had it on his desk since that time, having been unable to spare time for its consideration. It is stated that the president will review the case carefully before he takes any action, and it is likely to be some time before he takes any action on the petition. It will certainly be disposed of, however, before he goes on his trip to the Pacific coast.

CHILD ROASTED.

The Fiendish Deed of an Insane Mother.

Parkersburg, W. Va., April 6.—Held in a fire ball by its mother until its head was literally burned away and its body a charred mass of flesh, the 2-year-old son of a man named Morris was found dead yesterday. No other cause than insanity can be assigned for the deed. Mr. Morris lived with his family in the southern part of the city. Seemingly, Mrs. Morris had been content until a few days ago, when she began to evince a dislike for her youngest child. The woman upon the discovery of her crime was sullen and would give no reason for what she had done other than she was weary of the care of her child and thought it would be better dead.

MAY BE ABSORBED.

Great Lakes Towing Company After Maytham.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 6.—The Maytham Towing and Wrecking company, the only opponents to the Great Lakes Towing company, a combination of practically all the other interests on the great lakes, will probably be absorbed by the latter concern. It is understood that an offer made by the Maytham company is being considered by the Great Lakes Towing company, and that the proposition will be acted upon at a meeting of directors to be held in Cleveland next Thursday.

IN CONFERENCE.

Strike of Marine Engineers Fully Discussed.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 6.—A conference at which the strike of marine engineers was discussed fully, was held here yesterday afternoon between members of the lake lines, and about twenty marine engineers, headed by President Uhler, of the Marine Engineers' Benefit association. As a result of the meeting a committee representing the association was appointed to go to Cleveland and appear before the committee of the Lake Carriers' association to learn whether that committee will treat with President Uhler and the strikers. If the Lake Carriers' committee desires to take up the matter after hearing from the Buffalo committee, President Uhler and the committee will be received, otherwise the strike situation will be the same as before yesterday's conference.

Honest Beer

The first brewery of Jos. Schlitz was a hut, but the beer that was brewed there was honest. That was fifty years ago. Today the magnificent Schlitz brewery forms a monument to that honesty.

From the very beginning the main object has been to attain absolute purity. In Schlitz beer pure yeast was first introduced in America. In the Schlitz brewery are all the inventions men have made for protecting beer from impurities.

Schlitz beer is even cooled in filtered air; then it is filtered, then sterilized. It is well aged to avoid the cause of biliousness.

Wilmington, Del., April 6.—Josephine Prickett, daughter of W. S. Prickett, has submitted to an operation whereby twenty grafts of her skin may be used on Joseph, the little son of Rev. Springfield, Mass., April 6.—William H. Crane denies that he is afflicted with cancer of the tongue. He said:

"The story is absurd. It originated out of a little experience I had in Pittsburg. I had a very bad canker sore on my tongue. It hurt me to speak and I was at times in considerable pain. The sore yielded to the alum treatment. "77" CHIN IN

To keep the chin in, means to keep it well drawn back horizontally. That causes, what physical culturists call, "a lifted chest." A lifted chest insures deep and full breathing, and, hence, pure blood and perfect circulation. PROVED A FIZZLE

Charges of Bribery Made By Jacobson Not Sustained.

The Committee Makes a Lengthy Report to the House.

No Evidences of Corruption Were Submitted to Them.

St. Paul, April 6.—The house after struggling through a dry grist of stuff all day, just before adjournment Friday evening, heard the report of the committee appointed to investigate the charges made by Messrs. Jacobson and Washburn that bribery had been practiced in connection with the gross earnings tax bill. The report is, in part, as follows:

Mr. Speaker: We, your committee appointed to investigate the charges of bribery made on the floor of this house of representatives, in connection with house file 291, commonly known as the gross earnings bill on March 20, beg leave to submit the following report:

Your committee requested Mr. Washburn to appear before it and he accordingly appeared and laid before us all the testimony and answered all questions put to him concerning the matter under consideration. The committee herewith submits only such portion of his testimony as is in its judgment revelant and material. Your committee also herewith submits such testimony of other witnesses who testified as is in its judgment relevant and material. Your committee further reports that in its opinion the evidence submitted to it does not sustain the charges.

Your committee further reports that it believes the evidence produced was sufficient to put persons on inquiry and to request investigation although not sufficient to sustain charges.

GEORGE J. MALLORY,
E. A. WHITFORD,
ROBERT J. WELLS,
L. H. JOHNSON,
HENRY LEE,
Committee.

April 5, 1901.

The committee met at the Morchants hotel April 1, 1901, at 4:30 p. m. W. D. Washburn, Jr., appeared before the committee with his attorney, J. A. Peterson. Mr. Washburn was sworn.

Mr. Washburn makes the following statement: "On March 15, 1901, I met Representative E. C. Hogan, of Stearns county, on Wabasha street. I had never met Mr. Hogan before and only knew him by name. Mr. Hogan then asked me how I stood on the gorss earnings tax. I answered, 'I am in favor of it on general principles, but have not yet decided whether the law would be constitutional.' I wanted to hear further argument on the subject. Mr. Hogan then said: 'Well, aren't you on?' I answered: 'Onto what?'' Mr. Hogan then said: 'The tax committee is going to send the gross earnings bill back to the house with the recommendation that it he referred to the tax committee.' I answered: 'I don't believe they are going to do this as I have heard nothing about it and I am on the committee myself. At any rate we have a meeting tonight and I will probably know more about it.' 'No,' said Mr. Hogan, 'you will not have a meeting tonight. It is going to be postponed till Monday night. You wait and see. Mr. Washburn, there is $200 in this.' I answered: "$200 in what?" He said: 'There is $200 for any member who will vote to recommend the gross earnings bill to the tax commission. We have eighteen members already. Your father is interested in the Soo line and he certainly should be opposed to this measure.' I answered: 'I do not know whether he is opposed to it or not. He is not in the habit of bribing legislators nor is any member of his family. I do not suppose that any man living in the state of Minnesota would dare to present any such proposition to me.'

"Mr. Hogan answered: 'I am sorry I spoke to you. I think I have probably made a mistake in my man.' I said, 'You certainly have, if I understand what you are trying to convey.' Mr. Hogan then said, 'Mr. Washburn, I hope you will tell no one of this conversation.' I answered, 'I shall make no promises whatever. I do not know what I shall do about it.' We then entered the capitol, and this ended the conversation.

"On Wednesday, March 20, during Mr. Jacobson's speech, I asked Mr. Hogan to step into the postoffice lobby. I then said, 'Mr. Hogan, you will remember the conversation we had on Friday about the gross earnings bill?' Mr. Hogan said, 'Yes.' I said, 'You remember what you said to me?' He answered, 'What was it?' I said, 'You told me there was $200 in it for anyone who voted to refer the gross earnings bill to the tax commission. You said you had eighteen members. Mr. Hogan, this is getting to be a serious matter. If this minority report is beaten, it will certainly be my duty to give this information to the house before a final vote is taken.'

"I then said: 'Mr. Hogan, I hardly know you at all. I never met you before you spoke to me last week. I do not want to injure you in any way. For your own sake and the sake of the party and state, I hope this minority report will not be beaten. You must do whatever you think right in the matter, but I hope you and your friends will be able to vote for the minority report.'

"Mr. Hogan answered: 'If they have an investigation I cannot tell them anything, as I know nothing about it whatever.' I answered, 'If you know nothing about this, why on earth did you tell me the story you told me last week?' Mr. Hogan answered, 'I thought likely you would know something about it. I have had little experience, and this is my first term in the legislature.' I answered, 'I am sorry for you. Matters will have to take their course.'"

Questioned by chairman—Have you heard any intimation or accusation of money being used in the interest of the gross earnings bill other than that stated by you already.

Answer by Mr. Washburn—I have not.

Representative J. F. Jacobson appeared before the committee at this time and was sworn.

Statement by Mr. Jacobson:

"I had a talk with different members of the tax committee, and I asked the chairman if there was any opposition to the gross earnings bill. He said there was not that he knew of. I asked him then to call the committee together as early as possible, so that I could get a report as early as possible. He said he would do that within a few days, but the committee was not called together, and I went to him again after the lapse of four or five days and he said he would try to get the committee together the next day; but he failed to call the committee together that day. He was present in the house of representatives. I asked him then again if there was any opposition to the bill, or if the opposition had asked for any hearing or delay on the bill. He said they had not, and that he did not believe they were going to make any fight on the bill in the house this year. I again urged a call of the committee that day. He said that on account of other things that he had to do, he could not call a meeting of the committee that day, but would tomorrow, and the next morning I saw him as we convened and asked him what time in the day he would have the meeting. He told me then that he had granted a public hearing to the railroad companies' attorneys for the next week, about five or six days ahead of the time we were speaking of—about one week later. I asked him then if both sides could be represented, so we could take final action that same day. He told me he did not think he could do that, but that he would call a meeting to take final action on the bill on Tuesday of the next week. I complained of the long delays and said I did not think I was getting fair treatment. When that day came, the chairman was unable, on account of sickness, to be present in the house, and it went along two or three days, or until about the end of the week—I believe Friday. Then I sent word to him to have someone else call the committee together, and he sent me a note consenting to this, and asked me to have Representative Torson call the meeting. Mr. Torson did this, and the meeting was called for 4 o'clock on adjournment Friday.

"During the noon recess, Representative Torson went down to get the bill from the chairman of the committee on taxes, and he (Mr. Torson) informed me that Mr. Wallace would not let him have the bill, so the meeting was declared off. I was then informed the next Monday or Tuesday of the following week that the chairman of the committee on taxes had called a meeting at the Windsor hotel to take final action on the bill that afternoon. During the preceding two weeks, before this final meeting was held, I had talked with several members of the committee, and all those I talked with said they were in favor of the bill. When we met at the Windsor hotel all the members were present, I believe, except Representative Washburn. I made a motion that the bill be taken up and recommended to pass. The motion was seconded by Representative Peterson of Hennepin county but was not put. Representative Berg, a member of the committee, pulled out of his pocket a typewritten resolution, which was in substance, if not entirely, the majority report as finally adopted by the committee. There was no discussion had and no criticisms of the bill made. The motion was put to adopt the resolution offered by Mr. Berg without discussing its details, showing plainly to me that there was a preconcerted and well-defined understanding amongst all the members who signed the majority report. I had been informed previously to this—the day before—that such action would be taken. I asked a member of the committee just before we went into the meeting whether such report was true. He said he had not heard anything about it, but he seconded the motion to adopt the resolution of Mr. Berg before there had been one word of discussion on the resolution or the bill. This, together with the information I had received through Representative Washburn, convinced me that there was unfair means used to defeat the bill. Other things that occurred the next morning in the public press of this city, and a portion of the Minneapolis papers, showed plainly that there was concert of action from some central source, as at least four editorials that appeared in four of those papers, if not entirely identical in language, were so in substance. I had several consultations with several of the house members and a number of the senators as to what action should be pursued under the circumstances. After I had gone over the case thoroughly with them, it was deemed that the public interests could be better subserved by bringing the matter to the knowledge of the house.

"I therefore stated on the floor of the house that I was in possession of affidavits that convinced me that there was a corrupt lobby against the bill, and that it was not only on the outside, but had extended to a portion of the members of the house."

Question by chairman—You have those affidavits?

Answer by Representative Jacobson—I had an affidavit from Mr. Washburn at one time.

Question by chairman—Had you more than one affidavit on that subject at the time?

Answer by Representative Jacobson—No.

Question by chairman—Will you furnish that affidavit to the committee?

Answer by Representative Jacobson—I have returned it to Mr. Washburn. I will furnish it if I can. In addition to the matter of the affidavit, I want to say that Mr. Washburn called me and Senator Snyder into a committee room, just as he came from the interview with Mr. Hogan, as stated by Mr. Washburn, and he told me in detail all that occurred between Hogan and him. Afterward he made an affidavit substantially covering the same ground that he related to myself and Senator Snyder.

Question by chairman—Do you know, Mr. Jacobson, of your own personal knowledge, of any unlawful means having been used for or against the gross earnings bill?

Answer by Representative Jacobson—Not other than those stated above.

The committee met in adjourned session April 2, at 4 p. m. Representative Hogan appeared before the committee and was sworn.

Question by the chairman: Mr. Hogan, do you wish an attorney with you while testifying?

Answer by Mr. Hogan: No, I do not.

Mrs. Hogan's statement:

"While I was walking up Wabasha street on or about March 15, I happened to look around. I saw Mr. Washburn coming up the street and I thought to myself, now I am going to find out if there is anything in the gross earnings bill because his father is a stockholder in the Soo line. I slowed up and Mr. Washburn caught up to me. I bid him the time of day and said: 'Mr. Washburn, how do you stand on the gross earnings bill?' Mr. Washburn said: 'I am in favor of sending the bill to the tax commission. Don't you think that is the place for it to go?' I said: 'Yes, I have thought that way ever since Mr. Jacobson's bill has been introduced, and there are sixteen or eighteen of us who are going to vote that way that I know of.' Then he said again: 'Yes, he thought that was the proper place for it.' Then I said, while walking along: 'I hear there is a couple of hundred in it for the boys.' Then he said: 'I don't understand you.' I said: 'For referring it to the tax commission.'

"Then we got inside of the capitol. Going up the steps in the capitol I said to him: 'I know your father is interested in the Soo line and thought you would know something about this.' He answered something in the line of denying that his father was very much interested in the Soo line. We got up stairs near the show case and he bought something and then we came together again, and Mr. Washburn said: 'If you knew my father, you would not approach me in that way.' I did not think more about it until the next day, I think, that he came to me, or within a day or two, and he said to me: 'You better call your people off.' I said: "What do you mean?' He said: 'Well, you remember the conversation we had down street?' and I said: 'Yes, what is it?' 'Why,' he said, 'you told me there were sixteen or eighteen of them.' I said: 'I never mentioned anybody's name at all, and I was only trying to find out if there was any money in it.' Then he said: 'Well, it is all according to how the committee will take it.' That is all the conversation I had with Mr. Washburn."

Questioned by Mr. Wells: How did you come to say that you knew that there were sixteen or eighteen going to vote that way?

Answer by Mr. Hogan: I just formed an opinion by hearing different members express themselves at dierent times. I have always been in favor of referring the bill and so expressed myself to Judge Alby and others long prior to my conversation with Representative Washburn.

Questioned by Mr. Wells: Do you know of your own knowledge of any person or persons offering money to influence the vote of any member of this legislature for or against the gross earnings bill, or any other bill?

Answer by Mr. Hogan: No, I do not.

Question by Mr. Whitford: How did you come to make the remark to Mr. Washburn that you understood that there was a couple of hundred in it for the boys?

Answer by Mr. Hogan: I had always been for referring the bill to the tax commission and knew that no one would approach me, but had heard rumors and felt curious to find out if there was anything in it, thinking this was as good a chance as I could get, thinking that Mr. Washburn being the son of a railroad owner would probably be posted on what was going on.

Question by Mr. Johnson: Have you at any time been approached unlawfully by anyone outside of the legislature (anyone not a member) to use your influence for or against the gross earnings bill, or has anyone offered you any money or other consideration for your vote on the gross earnings bill, or any other measure?

Answer by Representative Hogan: No, I have not.

Question by Representative Lee: Do you know of your own knowledge of any member having been approached unlawfully by any person or persons regarding this measure or any other measure?

Answer by Representative Hogan: No, I do not.

LABOR WORLD

Only Strike Here Now That of Marine Engineers.

Labor meetings next week are:

Typographical union, Sunday afternoon, Kalamazoo, block.

Stone Masons' union, Monday evening, Burrow's block.

Licensed Tugmen's association, Monday, Kalamazoo block.

Carpenters' union, Tuesday evening, Kalamazoo block.

Sheet Metal Workers'. Tuesday evening, Kalamazoo block.

Federated Trades' assembly, Friday, Kalamazoo block.

The only labor strike in Duluth this spring is that of the marine engineers. Those on the inside say that the trouble is between the Licensed Tugmen's association and the marine engineers rather than between the engineers and the Lake Carriers' association. If that is true it places Mike Ryan, of this city, in an odd position, for he is president of the executive officers of the licensed tugmen and also president of the local association of engineers.

The Barbers' union is seriously contemplating a movement for the reduction of working hours. At present the union is very busy and the Duluth shops could give employment to a number of barbers if there were any available.

The United Brewery Workers' union in San Francisco unanimously adopted a resolution to levy a fine of $5 on any member who is discovered patronizing a non-union shop or repairing establishment.

The Brotherhood of Tailors and the United Garment Workers assisted by prominent men of influence, have begun an energetic campaign for the abolition of the sweating system in the city of New York. It is estimated that 200,000 men and women will be affected by the movement.

The unions of Mecca, Ind., have notified the merchants of that town that after April 1, 1901, they must handle gods bearing the union label, and that union men will absolutely refuse to purchase goods from those who fail to comply with this request. Mecca has three unions—two miners' unions, the other a federal labor union.

At 'Frisco the question of wages and a desire to get rid of an objectionable overseer seem to be the grievances of the men who are now out on strike at the Union Iron works. The men are determined, also, that the present plan of employing apprentices shall be changed; that Todd must go and other minor differences be arranged before they will resume work. Over 1000 employes are affected.

The tide of organization seems to be turning the other way in England as well as in America, and the movement is toward freer and larger unions and against the subdivision of industries along the line of trades and parts of trades. Government reports just issued show, as far as accurate figures are obtainable, that in the past year the number of unions in England decreased from 1310 to 1295, owing to amalgamation and consolidation, although the membership increased from 1,549,231 to 1,862,518.

At Rockvale, Col., according to the new terms, the miners will receive 75 cents per ton of 2000 pounds run of mine. The terms were accepted without hesitancy. Under the old scale miners received $1 per ton of 2400 pounds for lump coal. The strike was declared ten weeks ago tomorrow. The company also agreed to give the miners a check weighman, the wages for whom would be held from the miners' pay by the company. Other minor concessions were made, all of which were at once accepted. According to the new scale the loaders will receive 25 cents per ton for loading, the men not to either shoot the coal nor set in a prop.

ROMANCE AND A FIGHT.

Illinois Elopers Are Dragged From a Train.

La Salle, Ill., April 6.—An attempted elopement furnished a sensation and no end of amusement at the C., R. I. & P. depot in this city. Among the large crowd in waiting for an east-bound passenger train was John Hiser and Miss Mary Cox, two of the city's prominent young people. They attracted much attention owing to their apparent nervousness.

Several minutes before the train pulled in, there arrived at the depot a woman weighing not less than 200 pounds. She was evidently in a state of great excitement. She was clad in a light house wrapper and was bareheaded. In stentorian tones she asked if any one had seen her daughter, Miss Cox, who at the time was crouched with Hiser behind a pile of trunks. No one gave her any information.

When the train arrived the crowd formed a circle around the elopers to shield them from view. Mrs. Cox, however, caught sight of her daughter as she entered the car and she bounded after her.

She ordered the romantic girl to return home immediately. The girl refused, and, mother-like, Mrs. Cox proceeded to chastise her. The first blow knocked the girl's Easter hat on the floor. The angry mother leaped on the hat and ruined it. The prospective husband interfered as the mother was dragging her daughter from the car. He was struck across the nose with an umbrella.

Mrs. Cox, her daughter and Hiser were led from the train, by two policemen. The train left twenty minutes late and the passengers cheered Mrs. Cox, who, with her daughter, was driven home in a cab, while Hiser was taken in the patrol wagon to the police station.

GOOD LOOKING WOMEN

A TALK WITH ONE OF THEM

She Explains How She Keeps Her Complexion Clear With Cascarine.

New York, April 6.—"There is no use denying the fact, said Mademoiselle Carel, one of the noted Skin Specialists, "but many women ruin their complexions by using face powders, cosmetics and skin foods. Why, it is simply nonsensical to use things that only stop up the pores of the skin, aggravate the skin and make your complexion worse than if you had never used them. My rules for keeping the complexion clear and free from pimples and blackheads are as follows: Eat good, wholesome food, eat regularly, drink plenty of cold pure water, take at least eight hours sleep, take a cold sponge bathe every morning, but above all, keep your bowels regular by using Cascarine.

This gentle laxative is the best tonic for the bowels and liver; it removes all impurities from the system and makes a clear complexion. Every woman should have a bottle in the house. It is the best laxative tonic and the best blood purifier.

Cascarine removes from the breath unpleasant odors arising from fermentative decomposition of food. It prevents the constipation which usually follows the use of other drugs of its class.

Go to your druggist's today and buy a bottle of Cascarine. It comes in blue and white wrappers and is not a tablet or a pill. Doctors recommend it because it will not gripe and because no other laxative is as good.

Price, per bottle, 50 cents. If your druggist hasn't it, ask him to get it for you of his jobber.

The Torrens Land Title System.

The Minnesota senate has been redeeming its reputation during the closing days of the session, and the majority of its members who may seek re-election next year will be able to point to their records as evidence that they were faithful to the trust reposed in them. The passage of the Jacobson bill to increase the gross earnings tax on the railroads from 3 to 4 per cent was rather unexpected, but highly gratifying to the people throughout the state. It will be fully three years before the higher tax can be collected, because the bill must be submitted to popular vote at the next state election and then, if the measure be approved, of which there is little doubt, it will be nearly a year before the railroads will be called upon to pay the tax. Next, after great pressure had been employed by the newspapers that reflect public opinion, the senate pased the primary election bill with a few amendments that improved the measure as it came from the house. The latter body would not agree to all the amendments, but a compromise was reached and the bill has been passed by both branches and sent to the governor. Yesterday afternoon the senate added another good feature to its record by passing the Snyder bill to establish the Torrens system of land title transfers in this state. While it does not apply to the whole state, being limited in its operations to St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties, it is a good step forward in the right direction and the future will probably see the system extended to all the counties. Of course, the bill has not yet passed the house, but there should be no hesitation on the part of the members of the lower branch in adopting this excellent system. The popular sentiment in Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul strongly favors the bill.

Homes For Ten Thousand People.

Dispatches from Washington state that preparations are progressing for the opening to settlement of the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache and the Wichita reservations in Oklahoma, and it is expected that both reservations will be ready for opening on Aug. 6, the date fixed for the former. A contract for re-survey of the latter has just been let and it is expected that arrangements will be consummated so as to open the two together. Commissioner Hermann, of the general land office, will submit a report in about a week to Secretary Hitchcock on the several plans proposed for making the opening. It is estimated that these lands to be thrown open for settlement will furnish homes for 10,000 people and the question of the method of making the allotments is one which is receiving considerable attention from those in charge. If such a thing is possible there should be a plan arranged that will not only give everybody a fair and equal show, but will keep out the element of speculation. This land should be taken by people who honestly intend to settle upon it, to work it, and to keep it. The provision against "sooners" should be of the most stringent character. There have been too many of them heretofore who have fattened off the public bounty while honest and deserving people were left in the rear. The system which has the authority of precedence, of starting the homeseekers at the crack of the rifle has never worked satisfactorily. The race has never been to the swift or the battle to the strong. Many a man has had a hard gallop for a certain section and when he arrived there he found that it had been pre-empted by someone who had sneaked in beforehand, instead of making an honest race. The proposition of Congressman Clark of Texas seems to be the fairest one presented. His idea is that the lands should be drawn by lot, and that every man drawing a quarter section should be compelled to live on it and cultivate it for a certain time in order to retail his title. The lottery feature of his scheme would secure fairness and would be a blow to the speculators and the "sooners." It is understood that the government has such a plan under consideration and it may be brought into use on the occasion of the opening of these lands.

EASTERTIDE.

Not one of the great truths set forth in the New Testament is clad with so much importance or fraught with so much meaning to the Christian world as the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Strauss has said: "The resurrection of Jesus forms the central point of the very center, the very heart of Christianity, and, therefore, it has been above all things else the mark for the sharpest arrows of her adversaries.' Christianity stands by the empty tomb and challenges any attack on the historic credibility of the resurrection of Jesus. Upon it is reared the structure of Christian civilization. It is the foundation, and it has stood as firm as a rock throughout the centuries since that far-off Eastertide when the grave was opened and Christ appeared again to his mourning disciples.

The triumphs of the Gospel through the long years of eighteen centuries are witnesses to the soundness of the historical basis of fact on which mankind's hopes of the future rest. It is nonsensical to suppose for an instant that for eighteen centuries the civilized world has been deceived and men have treasured a myth for fact and been inspired by a dream.

The bright hope of immortality is centered in the risen Christ. Death has been robbed of its sting. The grave is not the end, but, as Milton so beautifully pictured it, a "golden gate on golden hinges turning." The white radiance of eternity streams through the open sepulchre in Joseph's garden, and bids man to rejoice in the blessed assurance that he will pass from this life into everlasting glory. This is why Easter is the most joyous festival in the church calendar, when the altars are decked with lilies and the songs of praise ascend to heaven.

GREAT RUSSIAN IDEALISTS.

The excommunication of Count Leo Tolstoi is likely to mark an epoch, not only in Russian politics, but in the history of the Greek church. Tolstoi is the manifestation in one intellect of the universal Russian mind. The almost hopeless struggle of mediaeval Russia toward material progress has its counterpart in the despairing but insistent cry of Tolstoi for moral and intellectual light. His is the cry of the strong soul fettered by environment and which sees in the distance the sunshine and blue sky of absolute freedom. Tolstoi is by common consent one of the greatest minds of modern times, but he is wholly Russian. Although his conceptions are universal he is an idealist circumscribed by the boundaries of Russia and Russian life. Had he known more of the world he would have, perhaps, been broader but less intense. That to him the Russian soul from the highest official to the poorest peasant is as an open book one cannot doubt. He has sounded the gamut of national feeling, aspiration and despair. Forced in upon himself he has developed ideals which to him are perfect, because he has not taken the trouble to compare them with the outside world. In the midst of an organized society based upon force, he teaches the principle of nonresistance to force. Condemning the existing order of things, both political and social, he would lead his people to an ideal state through the byways of peace rather than seize by force their undisputed inheritance. The man born to power and influence and the soldier of the Crimea has evolved through his own mystical idealism into the leather-girdled peasant, who in his strict following of the spirit of Christ would, when smitten on the right cheek, turn to his assailant the other also.

This living example of Christian ethics has become the idol of the Russian masses. Their regard for him is akin to worship. So firm has been his hold upon the imagination of the people that the government has to this day feared to subject him to the fate meted out to other but less powerful disturbers of the public serenity. His books might be seized and burned, but yet the czar and his minions have not dared to lay hands upon the Lord's anointed.

The excommunication of this exponent of the national mind was a blunder. It was a political blunder when viewed from the point of government. It was worse than a blunder when viewed from the point of church supremacy. For no man has sought with more diligence to tread in the footsteps of the Christ than Leo Tolstoi. He was put under the ban of the church for "pride of intellect," for having dared to think thoughts not laid down in the creed. But the people see in his teachings and in his daily life not the "pride of intellect," but the very spirit of the meek and lowly Nazarene.

A reformation more sweeping than that of Luther is at hand. It will be more sweeping because the theater of its action will be more extended. Tolstoism will not only divide the Russian church, but it will extend to other countries and to other churches. Although the great idealist is confined in his knowledge largely to Russia and Russian life, he has touched the universal springs of action wherever the circle of the life that he knows coincides with the universal life-circle of the world. His analysis of motives is consummate. Wherever the French and English languages are spoken the name of Tolstoi is as familiar as Balzac or George Eliot or Emerson. What Peter the Great was to the awakening empire; what De Witte is to the material empire of today, Leo Tolstoi is to the intellectual and moral Russia of the present time.

WATERWAY TO THE SEA.

A Washington correspondent states that public men there who are interested in watching the progress of American shipping are noting with special interest two points with reference to the commerce of the great lakes. One is the jump in the aggregate tonnage under construction on the lakes from 42,000 to 83,000 for the nine months of the current fiscal year, compared with the corresponding period of last year. This is especially noticeable in respect to the steel ships under construction on the lakes. For the three-quarters of last year there were ten steel ships under construction, and this year there are twenty-five. The average tonnage of the majority of these ships is more than 3000 gross tons each, and several of them will register above 5000 gross tons each.

Another point of interest is the construction of four steel ships which will ply between the lakes and Europe. These ships are of about 3000 gross tons each, and will have a carying capacity of upwards of 1500 tons each. These vessels are constructed of such length and draft as to permit them to pass the Canadian canal. Interest in this enterprise is manifested on account of the belief that the success of these ships will prove a practical demonstration of the utility of a canal in all-American territory connecting the great lakes with the seaboard. One of the last remarks made by Senator Spooner of Wisconsin before leaving Washington this spring was that he expected to devote considerable time in the next congress to advancing the construction of such a canal. Mr. Spooner and a number of other Northwestern senators regard this project of vastly more importance to the American people than an isthmian canal would be. If it shall be demonstrated that the four new ships can be successfully operated by the saving of freights, reshipments at lake ports and increased cost of railway carriage, it will prove the utility of a canal to the sea.

But while it may prove the utility of a short waterway to the sea like the St. Lawrence route, it will not necessarily prove the utility of a long and circuitous deep waterway through all-American territory to tidewater at New York. The latter route, in addition to being longer, will be more expensive on account of the numerous locks required. Vessel owners will be inclined to send their boats via the Canadian canals and the St. Lawrence river in preference to such a waterway. The best plan would be to unite with Canada in deepening the Welland and St. Lawrence canals so that vessels drawing twenty-one feet could pass through. This would enable grain and other products of the Northwest and the iron and steel from Lake Erie plants to be carried direct to Europe without breaking bulk. Reshipments are expensive, and by the creation of this deep waterway they would be made unnecessary. The waterway could be placed in the control of a joint commission and its neutrality in time of war guaranteed. Such a waterway is of vastly more importance to a large and populous section of the United States than is an isthmian canal.

And now there is talk of a gigantic trust that will throw the steel combine into the shade, as far as capital is concerned. It is a great American railroad combine to include all of the roads in the United States. It is said a company will be formed under New Jersey laws for the purpose of conducting a general freight and transportation business, its main object, according to these from whom the story comes, being to prevent rate-cutting. The Morgan, Vanderbilt, Hill, Harriman, Rockefeller Gould interests are said to be at the bottom of the move. The plan employed by the United States Steel company will be followed—the stock of the controlling company will be exchanged for the stocks of the constituent companies.

Nothing in our time approaches the sweep in human life which the latest Indian census figures reveal. Had the same rate of increase prevailed between 1891 and 1901 that did between 1881 and 1891, the population of India this year should have shown an increase of some 32,000,000. As it is the increase is but 4,283,069, and that, it is said, is probably more apparent than real. The falling off that must be accounted for is at least 28,000,000. An analysis of the census returns shows that the famine districts are responsible for the bulk of the deficit. The ultimate effects of famines, of course, are years in being felt.

The United States is now ahead of Germany in naval strength by about 3000 tons, and thus is entitled to fourth place among naval powers. The naval intelligence offices has just worked out this fact by careful comparisons. The race has been very close between Germany and this country for some time, but their future rank depends entirely upon the amount of money each is willing to expend in building new ships of war. But what good will be accomplished by building a huge navy—larger than the country needs?

The new London city council has plunged at once into the building business in order to remedy over-crowding. The decision is to buy 225 acres of land in a suburb and build 5779 workingmen's cottages, at a cost of about $6,000,000, to accommodate 42,000 people. The rents charged will range from $6 to $12 a month, according to the number of rooms. This municipal venture will be only a beginning.

The men who went with Funston should also be rewarded. They were as brave and daring as their leader. Of course they cannot expect to be made brigadier generals, but they should be suitably recognized. For instance, the president might make Capt. Newton, of Superior, who was one of the party, a captain in the regular army.

Sixto Lopez says Aguinaldo's influence will be dead if he has taken the oath of allegiance. Maybe Aggie thought it would be better to have his influence dead than to run any risk of being dead himself.

Mr. Bryan was evidently not in agreement with Mr. Altgeld in opposing Carter Harrison. The telegram of congratulation from Lieoln shows that while Bryan and Altgeld agreed as to St. Louis, they differed as to Chicago. But neither had any business to interfere with politics in a city in which they do not reside.

Judge John B. Gilfillan, of Minneapolis, has given $50,000 to the State university as a fund to aid struggling students. No doubt it will result in much good by enabling worthy young men and women without means to obtain a college education.

A Boston minister in extolling conjugal fidelity, dwelt upon the fact that Adam had but one Eve. True, says the Nashville American, but Eve had but one Adam. The market was limited in those days.

In 110 years, the United States government has lost through dishonest agents and officials only about $16,000,000 in the handling of gross receipts of $32,663,313,548.13.

Gen. Funston's mother was making a pumpkin pie when she heard of her son's daring achievement. How Funston would like to have a piece of it!

Why not send Funston after the North Pole? He has captured everything he has gone after up to date.

And now no one has a right to say that Aguinaldo is not just as good a citizen as any of us.

HOE AND RAKE.

The Man with the Hoe on that summer's day
When Maud Muller raked the hay,

Was at work in the corn, just over the fence—
And Maud was a girl of good horse sense.

When the Man with the Hoe said, "Marry me!"
"Go get a reputation!" said she.

He worked it right, and in course of time
He, too, was written up in rhyme.

And so they were wed, 'mid feasting and laughter,
And lived very happily ever after.

THE ORGANIST.

I wonder how the organist
Can do so many things;
He's getting ready long before
The choir stands up and sings;
He's pressing buttons, pushing stops;
He's pulling here and there,
And testing all the working parts
While listening to the prayer.

He runs a mighty big machine,
It's full of funny things;
A mass of boxes, pipes and tubes,
And sticks and slats and strings;
There's little whistles for a cent,
In rows and rows and rows;
I'll bet there's twenty miles of tubes
As large as garden hose.

There's scores as round as stovepipes and
There's lots so big and wide,
That several little boys I know
Could play around inside;
From little bits of piccolos
That hardly make a toot,
There's every size up to the great
Big elevator chute.

The organist knows every one,
And how they ought to go;
He makes them rumble like a storm,
Or plays them sweet or low;
At times you think them very near;
At times they're soaring high,
Like angel voices singing far
Off somewhere in the sky.

For he can take this structure that's
As big as any house,
And make it squeak as softly as
A tiny little mouse;
And then, he'll jerk out something with
A movement of the hand,
And make you think you're listening to
A military band.

He plays it with his fingers and
He plays it with his toes;
And if he really wanted to
He'd play it with his nose;
He's sliding up and down the bench,
He's working with his knees,
He's dancing round with both his feet
As likely as you please.

I always like to take a seat
Where I can see him go;
He's better than a sermon, and
He does me good, I know;
I like the life and movement and
I like to hear him play;
He is the most exciting thing
In town on Sabbath day.
—G. W. STEVENS, in Toledo Times.

The Sepulchre In the Garden.

What thought the flowers in Joseph's Garden grew
Of rarest perfume and of fairest hue,
That morn when Magdalene hastened through
Its fragrant, silent paths?

She caught no scent of budding almond tree;
Her eyes, tear-blinded still from Calvary,
Saw neither lily nor anemone—
Naught save the Sepulchre.

But when the Master whispered "Mary," lo!
The tomb was hid; the Garden all ablow;
And burst in bloom the Rose of Jerico—
From that day "Mary's Flower."
—JOHN FINLEY in Harper's Magazine for April.

DAILY STORY.

OTHER THAN GOLD

BY GEORGE K. STILES,

Author of "The Scarlet Cross," Etc.

(Copyrighted, 1901, William R. Miller.)

When Eugene Winter took his place as an American guard in that country's exhibit of machinery at the Paris exhibition, he felt completely lost in the crushing mob which constantly advanced, lingered momentarily and then rushed on to other sights with a movement almost as machine-like as the intricate mechanisms on every side.

Presently he found a growing interest in studying the faces thronging by; for his duties were few, since no one was anxious to handle the noiseless yet powerful forces at work in Machinery hall. It happened that there was one machine which attracted more than any, for it was claimed by its inventor to solve the problem of perpetual motion through a nice balancing of power, so that the forces once started were kept moving unless violently stopped by outside interference.

Now, the girl herself was plainly gowned, but Winter understood at once that she was of the highest class, and this not only from her beauty as much as from the modulations of her voice and an openness combined with a subtle reticence on certain subjects. She took a strong fancy to the perpetual motion machine and spent part of each day studying its different parts; and finally she approached Winter, who was specially in charge of the thing.

"Is it forbidden to sketch the machinery?" she asked him, as she produced pad and pencil.

Now, there was no provision forbidding this, and he told her as much.

"Then I may do so, I presume," she insisted; and, yielding to her charm of manner, he nodded, adding: "It will be difficult because of the great crowd." And so it proved.

Every moment some bystander jostled the arm that guided the pencil, and after an hour's endeavor she stood, tired and disappointed, while the drawings themselves were valueless. She showed them to him with a kind of playful angriness. "Just see," she said, "what horrid affairs these are." And indeed it appeared to Winter that even the crowd could hardly result in such failures if the girl had been skilled in such things.

"If I could only try it when there was none about," she declared. "I am sure I could do it beautifully. You see, I was always fond of mechanical drawing."

"There is always a crowd," Winter answered, "right up until 10 o'clock, when we close for the night."

"It is such a shame!" cried the girl, and although he could see no great reason in her extreme desire, none the less he felt an increasing inclination to assist this charming creature in even more unreasonable affairs than the present.

"I can see but one way," he suggested; "but no doubt you will disapprove of it," and he looked questioningly at the girl, who was pressed close to him in the crush.

"Yes," she answered, "and what can this rather doubtful proposition be?"

"If you really care so much about the matter," he went on, "you could come to the hall after hours; there will be no one here but ourselves and the night man, and I can easily arrange it with him, for we are both Princeton men."

"Princeton men," she said, but with no surprise in her voice. "I was wondering which university it was," and more subtle flattery could not have been than this acknowledgment of an apparent difference between himself and the other guards.

"Well," he asked, "what will you do?"

"I will be here at 10:30, although perhaps it will not be entirely proper; still, I am wild to draw this machine; it has positively fascinated me," and, in fact, Winter noticed a strange determination creep into the girl's face as she looked at the engine, which throbbed calmly on, although apparently supplied with no outside power.

That night, and numerous others, the guard and the girl were alone in the great hall, while silent but tremendous engines worked ceaselessly about them. The perpetual motion machine was placed on a heavy wooden table with a clear view underneath, in order to emphasize the fact that no external power was used.

They chatted constantly in the resting times between her drawing, and Winter perceived that he was growing to care dangerously much for this girl of whom he knew nothing. One evening she had been unusually charming, and he was only restrained from telling her his love because he feared she would think that he was abusing her trust in him.

"What is this great iron hood?" she demanded suddenly, pointing to a huge cylinder; "the power seems to come from that. Do, please, take it off so I may draw this inside part; it is the most interesting of all."

He refused, telling her that he dared not meddle with the thing; but finally she had her way, and since he was familiar with machinery, it was not long before the cylinder was lying on the floor and the internal mechanism fully exposed. As for the girl, she seemed possessed with an absolutely fierce desire to discover the secret of the machine. She probed the think skillfully, and indeed appeared astoundingly well informed in such matters.

Presently she turned pale and leaned against him for a moment; then straightened up with a tense movement, and thrust her slender fingers boldly into the swiftly twirling wheels.

"See!" she said, pulling up a loop of thin wire, "the thing is a fraud; it is supplied with electric power. Ah!" she exclaimed, evidently oblivious of the astounded Winter, "I knew it must be so, but father persisted in believing in it, and it would have meant ruin for us, absolute penury." Then, awakening to the fact that she was not alone, she turned to Winter. "I owe you an explanation, perhaps even more than that; but at least my object was not unworthy. My father is a millionaire, but he had been persuaded by the scoundrel who is running this machine that the invention was an honest one, and he intended to put our entire fortune into promoting a company. I doubted the man, and this is the result of the matter—the fraud is, indeed, unhooded," and she triumphantly pushed the iron hood with her foot.

"And now," she said, while a tinge of embarrassment crept into her manner, "I shall join our party, which has gone to Florence. In the beginning I had intended to bribe the guard over this machine, but when I saw you I realized that gold would be helpless."

"There are other bribes besides gold," he answered; "for the best gold of a woman is the look of her face," he quoted from an old English comedy; and the crimsoned countenance of the girl showed her comprehension of his meaning.

BLASTS FROM RAM'S HORN.

April.

Where the pussy willows swing
And the brooklets dance and sing
Comes a maid with gentle mien,
Seeking now the early flowers,
Hidden 'mid the woodland bowers,
Where the sunbeams cast their sheen.

Bluer than the April skies
Are my sweetheart's troubled eyes,
Looking for the prize in vain,
Till before her, lo! I stand,
Fragrant blooms in either hand,
Hoping thus her smiles to gain.

And her blushes I adore,
As I offer all my store,
While the robins sing above;
Then we wander side by side,
And I win a plighted bride.
April is the month of love.

A Song of Life.

O earth that blooms and birds that sing,
O stars that shine when all is dark!
In type and symbol thou dost bring
The Life Divine, and bid us hark,

So shall we win the goal divine,
Our immortality.

FOR EASTER

Special Services In All Duluth Churches.

Excellent Music to Be the Feature.

Tomorrow is Easter Sunday, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of all feasts of the ecclesiastical year. Every Christian church observes it with more or less ceremony and upon this day the resurrection of the Savior, without which there would have been no Christian church, for that it was which established the divinity of the Master, furnishes the theme for nearly all the sermons. Especially is this a day of music and song service and in nearly all of the churches special music is rendered. Duluth churches are always in the foremost rank in the feature of music and tomorrow promises to be equal to any Easter in this respect.

SECULAR SHOTS AT PULPIT.

Minneapolis Times: A Kentucky preacher is denouncing progressive euchre. He is taking a long start, but he may work up to poker and craps in time.

New York Herald: The pastor of a Jersey City church has organized a baseball team from among the young men in his congregation and will act as pitcher. His lot will be happy while he holds the opposing teams down to a few scattered hits, but if they ever get to banging his "shoots" and "curves" and "drops" all over the field—well, the church may be tempted to extend a call to some other clergyman.

Minneapolis Journal: Rev. and Professor George D. Herron, the "Christian Socialist" of Grinnell, Iowa, who has been "binding burdens grevious to be borne and laying them on other men's shoulders," has evidently not bothered himself much about his own responsibilities. His poor, neglected wife has just secured a divorce on the ground of desertion and non-support with custody of her children. We have always regarded Herron as a pious fraud, and see no reason in this incident to change that opinion.

New York Sun: Dr. Lyman Beecher Sperry has been lecturing in Kansas City on "Seven Devils Who Help to Shorten Human Life." Among the seven are war and narcotics. Dr. Sperry says that it would be "possible for man to live from 125 to 175 years if these devils were exorcised from human affairs." Well, he can exorcise them from his affairs. He doesn't have to use narcotics or go to war or have anything to do with any of the devils. It might be worth while to live to be 175, especially if you bought a good fat annuity at 40 or so.

Boston Globe: Who can conceive of a lazier and more contradictory occupation than that of an army chaplain located at some distant frontier post on fat pay, with a pension in old age and nothing to do but preach once a week, appear on dress parade, attend now and then the sick or dying, assist the officers occasionally in a friendly game of cards and make himself generally useful. Some of the people find it hard to reconcile the vocations of fighting and praying, but in our regular army, in times of peace at least, there is very little fighting and probably no alarming amount of praying. It means, generally speaking, a fat job for life with little to do.

Trimmings.

I told my wife to get a hat
And have it trimmed for Eastertide;
She gave me such a thankful look,
My pleasure, too, can't be denied.

But Oh! the trimming of that hat
Is something that surpasseth me;
The trimming could no way compare
With the way the bill trimmed me.

He Knew.

Parson Arthur Dox—I wonder why we received so many coppies in our Easter collection?

Deacon Hickory Crick—Wall, I s'pose it's 'cause they don't make no smaller coins at the mint.

A CASE OF IT

Many More Like It in Duluth

The following case is but one of many similar occuring daily in Duluth. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

Mr. C. Coons, conducting a meat market at 104 East Fourth street, says: "For three or four years there was a severe, heavy aching pain across the small of my back, I did not rest well at night and rose in the morning feeling tired and worn out. The secretions from the kidneys were irregular and highly colored and on standing deposited a heavy sediment. I felt generally run down and had no energy or ambition left. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and having heard them highly spoken of, I procured them at W. A. Abbett's Drug store, and commenced to use them. In a few days I noticed an improvement and the aches and pains soon left me. My appetite became good and I slept well and felt refreshed in the mornings. I began to gain weight, and, in fact, never felt better in my life."

IN DENVER

Quite a Colony of Duluthians There.

Much Life In the Colorado Capital.

Denver, Col., April 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—To reach this, the "Queen City of the Plains," from the "Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas," I have traveled 1100 miles—nearly 1000 of them over the great "Burlington Route." To see Colorado's capital and metropolis is worth going many more miles than I have come. "Reading maketh a full man," but when it comes to a study of this great land of ours, observing eyes, sharp ears, an inquiring tongue and a discriminating mind, beat reading all hollow. Many readers of The Herald probably know tenfold as much as I about Denver and Colorado, and where I have traveled furlongs through the state, they may have covered miles. I shall attempt only to present a few impressions formed during my short stay, and to repeat certain facts, more or less known, but that will bear repeating to Duluth readers.

It is claimed that gold was discovered within the present limits of Denver as early as 1855. It was not until 1858, however, that discoveries were made that became known throughout the settled East. That caused the "Pike's Peak Rush," although Pike's Peak was nearly 100 miles distant. The discovery was made in the sounds of Cherry Creek, not many blocks from the busiest center of the city of today. Near the junction of Cherry Creek and the Platte river sprang up the mining camp of Aurania. From that little seed has grown Denver of today.

The watchword of the thousands of adventurous men who rushed for the golden sands of the unknown West, across the then barren and dangerous plains of Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado was "Pike's Peak or Bust." With many it was burst, but others, branching out, made rich discoveries, started other camps, opened other mines, gained wealth and made possible Uncle Sam's great "Centennial State"

• • •

This city was named after Gen. Denver, who surveyed it in 1859. In that day it was 700 miles west of the nearest railroad, and reached only by stage. In 1870 the place had less than 5000 people.

Today Denver has 135,000 people. Eight trunk lines of railway, with connections, aggregating over 26,000 miles of track, radiate from the place. Over 100 trains are sent out of the Union depot daily. It is estimated that an average of 700 tourists visit Denver every day in the year.

The city is beautifully situated. It is just rolling enough to give good drainage. To the eastward are the great plains, with their almost countless herds of cattle and rapidly growing agricultural interests. To the westward the foothills of the Rocky mountains are about fourteen miles away. On fit days can be seen such grand and ancient sentinels over plain and valley as Pike's Peak, Longs' Peak, Gray's Peak and James' Peak, connected by the gleaming, serrated line of the Snowy Range. The elevation above the sea level is 5200 feet.

The soil of Denver is loose and sandy, which, under the influence of the bright Colorado sun, quickly drinks up any fall of rain or snow. The streets in the business center are paved with asphalt. Wooden buildings are not allowed in any part of the city, all being of brick or stone. A maximum of sunny days, character of the soil, modern pavements, kept scrupulously clean, and absence of dingy wooden buildings, give the city a remarkably and unusually bright, clean appearance.

There are two splendid street railway systems, aggregating 160 miles of track, including suburban lines. Last year they carried 30,000,000 passengers. There are numerous drives of great beauty and many elegant turnouts. The topography of the place and the asphalt streets make wheeling an especially popular pastime.

The postoffice building is similar in size and architecture to those in St. Paul and Minneapolis and the old building in Omaha. The state house, located on Capital hill, is a handsome granite structure. It occupies three blocks and cost $2,500,000. The mineral exhibit in the basement is worth traveling around the world to see, and capable of occupying one's attention for months, even.

There are 80 schools of all kinds in Denver. There are 58 grade schools, with 22,000 pupils and 543 teachers. Twenty kindergartens have 1000 pupils. Three high schools are attended by 2100 students. The normal training department of the central high school, with 365 pupils and over 50 teachers, has a wide reputation. The entire value of school buildings is $3,000,000. The city is divided into three districts, each with its own superintendent. This is a costly and unsatisfactory system, and a change will be attempted. The school tax alone is 25 mills, which brings the entire tax up to about 50 mills. Denver would be the death of certain tax kickers and dodgers in Duluth. There are also a large number of private and denominational schools.

The City Park, comprising 320 acres, arouses almost as much local pride as the boulevard drive in Duluth. There are two zoological gardens, two of the finest theaters in the West, elegant churches, a large athletic club and costly club house and handsome public buildings. The water supply comes from the mountains. There is a hydrastatic pressure of 700 feet and the water is exceptionally pure.

Rents, I think, are nearly as high as in Duluth. Living can be had somewhat lower, if desired, and also much higher and better in price and quality. There is an abundance of "life" and much of the true American spirit. While the population is very cosmopolitan, English-speaking citizens predominate overwhelmingly, and very few foreign tongues are heard on the street or in the market place.

There is much wealth here, and as a result, much social life and display. Money moves easily, and the tourists help any tightening or scarcity in the circulating medium. Denver is quite a "sporty" town. There are numerous clubs, dazzling and palatial saloons, high-priced drinks, big diamonds, gun clubs, fast horses and all the accessories of high and fast life.

• • •

Of course, mining has done much for Denver. This is the real center of the industry in the state. There are brokers, "experts," assayers, capitalists, mine owners and operators galore. Mining is considered a manufacturing business and three huge smelters are located here. They are the Argo, Globe and Grant smelters. The Grant smelter has a chimney 325 feet high and 16 feet in diameter. It required 2,000,000 bricks, 8480 bushels of lime, 1500 barrels of cement, 2231 yards of sand, 131,000 pounds of iron, and cost $50,000. It is the highest chimney in the United States and the third highest in the world.

Large plants are here for the manufacture of mining machinery. Cotton mills, paper mills and packing plants send their products over a wide territory. Other manufacturing enterprises represented are brewing, tanning, chemicals, clay goods, flouring, leather, paints, soap, stone, textile, wood, etc. The following advantages as a manufacturing center are claimed for Denver:

First—Abundant and suitable raw materials readily accessible.

Second—Cheap fuel.

Third—Abundant, intelligent and skilled labor.

Fourth—Rapidly growing market in its tributary territory.

Colorado has a gold-producing belt 100 miles wide and 300 miles long and that means much to Denver. A new United States mint is being erected in Denver at a cost of $500,000. Since 1859 Colorado has produced $230,000,000 worth of gold. In 1899 Colorado mines paid $11,000,000 in dividends, or about 23 per cent on the total output of the mines.

Naturally, Denver is a great banking center. Dec. 2, 1899, four national banks in Denver had $35,000,000 deposits, in a great degree representing profits in mining and live stock. This city is the headquarters for insurance, mortgage, emigration and investment companies for this part of the West, as well as most of the mining companies. To accommodate all these, immense business blocks have been erected. The Equitable building, nine stories, white tile brick and granite, cost $2,000,000. It is just as fine a structure as you will see anywhere. The Boston building cost $400,000, and the Ernest & Cranner building, eight stories, granite and pressed brick, the same.

It is claimed that Denver's climate has drawn more residents and wealth than any other single thing. It surely is a great health resort and, it must be confessed, that the many who come here with weak lungs are somewhat a detriment. They seek life and health, are not able to live without work in many cases, hence are forced to work for such wages as they can get. At the same time, men in good health are in demand.

It is said that from July 20, 1872, to Feb. 22, 1885, there were but thirty-two days on which the sun failed to show its face. The average tempearture of Denver is 49.1 degrees. (The average maximum is 79.2 degrees and the average minimum 19.7 degrees. The average number of sunny days, according to United States signal service bureau, 340. The altitude and dryness of the atmosphere minimize the heat to the extent of 22 degrees. To find the real, sensible summer heat, subtract 22 degrees from the recorded heat.

There is quite a Duluth colony in Denver. Edward Silberstein is practicing law here. I called at his office and had a good visit. He had an appearance of prosperity and ready money and gave me much information concerning other ex-Duluthians.

I saw Harry Totman a couple of times. He has a drug store at the corner of Sixteenth and Stout streets. If things come all the time as they did when I was in, he must be piling up much treasure on earth. He was married last summer. Harry Chandler, formerly a well-known drug clerk in Duluth, was with Mr. Totman for a time, but now is with the Morenci Copper company in Arizona.

Clinton Markell had his headquarters in Denver all last summer. He and family are said now to be in Los Angeles, Cal.

S. L. Selden is in the law business and C. H. Cochran also is in the profession. He has an office in the Simms block.

W. B. Redmond is in the insurance business here and Joe Freimuth is selling cloth. Ed Glow, mother and sister are out here, the latter being in poor health. One person thought Ed was in Denver, but another informant thought he was in Leadville in the mining business.

• • •

Harry Semon, who ran the Sixth Avenue theater in Duluth some moons ago, is now running the Lyceum theater in Denver. He does not expect to visit Duluth this summer, although he knows his face would be a welcome one there.

The Lambert boys, brothers of Madame Lambert, are in Colorado. One is in Denver and the other has a steam laundry at Cripple Creek.

A. E. Humphreys, Frank Cox and S. W. Eckman made three of a kind here hard to beat. I have not seen them yet, but heard of them.

Mrs. Gates, formerly Ida Boyce, has left Salt Lake City and now resides here. Ida Bowen, formerly a Duluth teacher, is married and lives here. Lucy Cullyford, now married, lives in Colorado Springs, I am informed.

In my next I shall try to tell a little about Colorado Springs, Manitou and Pikes Peak.

JOHN L. MORRISON.

DRINKING LESS.

Before the beginning of the civil war and for several years after the distinction of the Southern states as those which produced and consumed a larger amount of spirituous liquors than any other group of states in the country was unchallenged, says the New York Sun. But since the close of the war a complete, palpable and very marked change has come almost imperceptibly over the face of things in the South, and while Kentucky and Maryland continue to produce whisky in very large quantities, as warehouse returns of the United States treasury indicate, the larger part of the product of both states is shipped North. Comparatively little is sent South for consumption. In fact, the South is becoming the temperance section of the United States, and of 200,000 retail liquor dealers in the United States having licenses of various sorts, there are only 1000 in Alabama, 750 in Arkansas, 400 in Florida, 1200 in Georgia, 350 in Mississippi, 1200 in North Carolina, and 325 in South Carolina, and 325 in South Carolina, where the dispensary system prevails, and in which there has been a very marked reduction in the sales of liquor during recent years.

Mississippi has had since 1892 a high license law calling for a tax on each saloon of $600 a year, and there are now fewer saloons in that state than in some wards of New York or Brooklyn. Georgia has been since 1891 a high license state, with absolute prohibition in a majority of counties. In Atlanta there is now one liquor saloon only for each 1000 of population, and there is very much less drinking in Georgia than in any New England state, although climatic conditions account, of course, for some part of this. North Carolina has a local license law which permits a majority of the electors in any locality to establish absolute prohibition, and the license rate in West Virginia is $250 for even the smallest tavern.

It is not, however, so much in consequence of laws as of local taste to which these laws are responsive, that extensive drinking has fallen off in so many of the states of the South. There is no longer in that section the large "leisure class" from which, in great measure, the most frequent drinkers were recruited. The problems consequent upon the close of the civil war made necessary many personal sacrifices by Southern men, and the era following reconstruction was not one favorable either to conviviality or dissipation. There are, relatively, few large cities in the Southern states, and the enormous improvement in railroad connection has had the effect of doing away with the necessity of long journeys by wagon or horseback such as marked the business life of the South during previous generations. Comparatively little liquor is drunk in the South at present, not much more beer and practically no wine. A state in which wine and whisk drinking has increased considerably is California.

If you have a good business, advertise and keep it. If you have not, advertise in The Herald and get it.

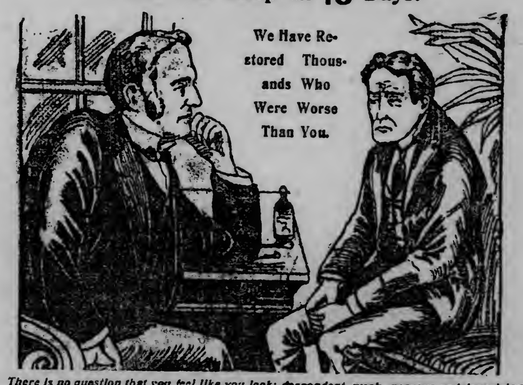
WEAK, WASTING STRICTURED MEN CURED

While You Sleep in 15 Days.



There is no question that you feel like you look; despondent, weak, nervous and despairing. Your sleep is disturbed by unpleasant dreams and you awake tired and with your mind filled with evil forebodings. You know that you are seminally weak, and you also know from sad experience that all of the drugs that you have poured into your stomach have left you worse than they found you.

NOW LISTEN TO ME!

Not one drop of internal medicine that you ever did or will put in your stomach will cure you. Why? Because your ailment is not in your stomach, or liver, or kidneys, but in the urethral canal. It is a local disease, and as such requires local treatment; it can not be reached effectually by internal treatment.

The medication is compressed into the form of crayons (as above), narrow, smooth and flexible, which slip into the urethral canal without effort, where they dissolve in three hours, which is sufficient time to penetrate, dissolve and dislodge STRICTURE like snow beneath the sun, allay inflammation and reduce enlargement of the PROSTATE GLAND, contracting the SEMINAL DUCTS, FOREVER STOPPING DRAINS and EMISSIONS, curing while you sleep—a direct, positive, common-sense and curative method of LOCAL TREATMENT which reaches the spot and ACTS INSTANTLY.

"Home Treatment" Can Be Used As Successfully By the Patient As By Ourselves.

Space will not permit a complete description of the incomparable St. James Treatment in urethral diseases. Every sufferer from Stricture, and its offspring, Prostatitis and Seminal Weakness, should write to the St. James Association, 71 St. James Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, for their wonderful illustrated work, showing the parts of the human system involved in urethral ailments, which they will send securely wrapped in plain package, prepaid..... FREE.

MOST POPULAR COLORS

Green and Black Are Now Very Popular In Paris, the Dull One In Black Being the Correct Thing.

Paris, March 28.—Soft colors and designs in stripes will prevail in new spring toilets. The pastel colors are the rage, and no bright hues will be seen. Designs copied after old silks will be favorite ones with the smartest women, and the manufacturers of the new spring goods are copying the materials of the restoration epoch with modern improvements in texture. Silke are particularly popular, and come in all kinds of bewildering but soft shades.

Green and black seem to be the most popular colors, the dull tone in black being the correct thing. Much of the success of the new gowns now depends upon the color combinations. A really well dressed woman must now be an artist, at least in a small way. She must know the shades which best suit her, the combination of color in which there is the most harmony, and the prevailing note must be chosen with an idea of enhancing the coloring of the wearer.

The modern woman who knows how to dress has made discoveries in regard to colors and those best adapted to herself which would have astonished her grandmother. Many of the accepted theories in the matter fo color have been absolutely thrust aside by the up-to-date woman. She has learned that the old theory of blue for a blonde and pink for a brunette is a false one. To a large majority of blonde types pink and even red is distinctly becoming. The same may be said of blue and the brunette type. When the hair is chestnut in color there is no color so becoming to brunette as every shade of pale or dark blue. It have seen brunette women absolutely transformed in a light blue gown, while what is known as "robin-egg blue" has been adopted by Parisian women as the "couleur par excellence" for dark women.

Clever women who delight in wearing colors which were never intended for them arrange the whole toilet to make it becoming by changing the color in the collar to suit the face. As an example of this, I noticed Miss Addison, one of the smartest young women in London, who is now in Paris, recently wore a lavender silk taffeta gown to a reception which would have been exceedingly trying to her face, as she has Titian red hair, had not the collar, an ingenious combination of blue and silver, been extremely becoming to her, thus saving the gown. Gray is trying to many women, yet gray with a blue and silver or a rose and gold collar can be worn with advantage, and is a color which is always charming. What comes next to the face should be carefully studied and when well taken into consideration a great many other almost bold innovations in the matter of color may be undertaken.

The effect on the eyes of the pastel colors now adopted by women is singularly restful. Nothing glares in color, and a group of fashionable women in an afternoon tea room, a salon, or a theater form a harmonious ensemble. There is the same difference between the bright hued gowns of a few seasons ago and those of today as between the bright hues of a chromo and the soft tones of a tapestry. Women are growing more artistic, the desire for shining, glittering effects is passing, and in every detail of the toilet. Modern jewelry is enhanced by gems which throw into relief the dead gold settings, and a new era of subdued colors has begun.

The Parisian woman of all women takes into consideration where she is going to wear a gown before choosing it. She will never think of wearing a ball gown made for a large public ball room, such as those of the fashionable galleries and ministeres to a soiree in a small house or apartment. What looks admirable in one place is quite the wrong thing in another because of the surroundings. I know clevel women who ever take into consideration the lighting of the ball room where they are to appear in choosing colors. For electricity selecting daring designs in form and color, while for candle light, which still prevails in the "Faubourg," they choose softer effects.

The question of surroundings is an important one in clothes and explains why the American woman often fails to successfully imitate the Frenchwoman, and also why so many dresses opied faithfully from successful stage costumes fail to make the same showing away from the footlights. It is in all these details that the Parisian woman is an expert, and in her attention to them lies the secret of her great success.

The newest novelty in the prettiest spring toilets is velvet sleeves in cloth dresses. The color of the cloth and that of the sleeves match perfectly. Only the finest quality of velvet can be used in this way and there cannot be evan the divergence of a shade in the color of the sleeve and that of the gown.

One of the most charming costumes of this description which I have seen was worn during the week by Mrs. Frank Gardener, a Russian type of beauty who sings divinely and who is exceedingly popular in the American colony. The gown in question was of soft fawn color pastel cloth. The skirt was made with plaits and plain with a flare at the bottom. The waist had a series of tiny plaits separated by incrustations of handsome lace. The sleeves were of velvet exactly matching in color the cloth of the gown. With this Mrs. Gardener wore a hat which was of tulle in the same shade as the dress. A graceful soray of roses and some lace were its only trimming.

The trellis work in chenille is growing more in favor. hTe entire bottom of skirts are trimmed with trellis designs in chenille with the goods cut out from underneath, which makes it resemble openwork or lace. One gown particularly noticeable, which was worn by Mrs. Gillett, of Illinois, was of gray pastel cloth. It had an entire row of chenille "incrustation," as the French say, around the bottom of the skirt. The cuffs of the sleeves and the bolero jacket were similarly trimmed. Here and there was a dash of blue, and the gown was remarkably striking.

For women who possess handsome Irish or Alencon point lace collars and cuffs, such as were seen upon little Lord Fauntleroy when he was invogue, and his counterpart existed in every fashionable home where there was a boy who could be thus attired, a new fashion has been introduced which will enable them to utilize such treasures in lace to advantage. Smart bolero jackets have just appeared with these kind of lace collars and cuffs. They give a singularly youthful appearance to the wearer.

A fur wrap, which will be worn clear up into the summer, is the new white baby lamb bolero, trommed with bands of black panne velvet, with a great black velvet bow at the neck from which "aiguillettes" or "sequins" dangle.

Three-quarter coats in taffeta silk profusely trimmed with chiffon will be the spring novelty for dress occasions, such as afternoon receptions and the theater. A remarkably pretty one which I saw in a fashionable shop was of black taffeta, lined with a pale tint of old rose. Around the bottom was a sebles of chiffon ruffles and at the neck there was a graceful chiffon bow, which fell down in long flowing ends.

A great deal of white will be worn for the spring in light cloths and silks, and upon fine days entire white walking suits are seen in the Bois. White is of course practical for Paris, but is delicate for American cities, not much more so, however, than the pale shades in gray, mauve and tan.

The poke bonnet tied under the chin is much affected by the ultra type of French women, particularly in the artistic set. There is, on the other hand, a tendency to wear all other styles of hats well tipped up on the side or tilted back from the face, necessitating a carefully undulated coiffure and more or less brought down over the forehead. Red hats are quite in vogue worn with black costumes. The size of hats has diminished. There is no longer any exaggeration; even the picture hat has left off a few inches for the present season.

Leather is again much in favor as a trimming for cloth gowns. Leather collars, cuffs and belts being added to some of the smartest.

Quite a new fashion has been introduced in underskirts which is too clever not to be popular. These skirts are made of muslin and lace, but have a wide silk flounce around the bottom, so that when the dress is lifted the effect is that of an exquisite silk and lace petticoat. This flounce unbuttons and can be taken off for washing. One can have any number of ruffles, which permits a variation in underskirts, which can be made to harmonize with the linings of gowns. Nothing more simple than this kind of a skirt can well be imagined, yet it is most effective. Ruffles for skirts, when deep, are tucked up and down instead of running around as formerly.

Panne velvet in gay colors, with lace yokes, continues in favor for blouses to be worn under jackets. A great deal of the yellow lace is used on these jackets, which is put on in anplique style.

The fashionable colors in gloves are changing. Pastel colors have found their way to gloves; white is now much less worn with evening gowns. Instead, the soft ash gray, tan and other similar shades are worn with everything but white gowns. Fashionable glove dealers saw that the natural shades, particularly in suede gloves, are the only correct gloves to wear with colored evening gowns and for visiting gowns the same may be also said.

The newest handkerchief is nace a tiny square in open work in the corner, the openings being held together by the initials, which are used for the marking. Extremes in size prevail; my lady's mouchoir is either exceedingly large or extremely small. The tiny glove handkerchief is more and more in favor, and is beginning to prove a serious rival for the old style mouchoir.

THE COMING MILLINERY.

Styles as Different as the Forest's Leaves.

Paris, March 28.—To judge from the models shown in the best shops infinite variety is likely to characterize the coming millinery. There are high crowns, low crowns, and crowns so flat as to scarcely deserve the name; toques, picture hats, capellines, large hats, small hats, everything in short. The favorite shape with the artistic milliners is the flat capeline, the pancake, as the English call it. This they take and mold to suit their customers, each one turning the brim up or bending it down, punching it in or pinching it out, until the proper frame for the face is achieved; the result being that French hats, with all their general similarity, are as different as the leaves of the forest.

The newest material for hats is a revival; the Neapolitan braid, which was so dear to our grandmothers and to their mothers before them. It is woven of horsehair, and is a most dainty foundation for a hat, light as a feather and as airy in appearance as tulle itself, while in reality it is wiry, tough and serviceable. It can be crumpled into any shape desired, and it comes in all shades. When swathed with tulle and set with flowers, in true Parisian style, it is simply captivating.

Large hats are being made by a well known milliner on the Rue de la Paix, the crowns composed of small, soft feathers sewed on with one overlapping another in every shade to match the costume. Soft twists of tulle and a bird to match form the original trimming.

Hats all of flowers are much liked. At a recent musicale two pretty American sisters wore large flat toques, wide in front and slightly curved on the sides, entirely composed of white Parma violets. The effect was charming, for the black velvet bandeaux under the toque rested upon beautiful golden hair, fautlessly dressed, low on the neck, and waved over the small ears of the wearers. Near them was Mme. Raoul Duval, Mrs. Cora Urquhart Potter's sister, in an equally novel headgear, a flat hat, of coarse rice straw, worn low down on the head, and trimmed with black velvet, soft tulle and large white chrysanthemums.

There is a great fancy for Brobdinag blossoms, a fancy which is the natural outcome of the furore for the heou. On many of the new hats there is only one flower, as large as a good-sized saucer,

CORSAGE MADE OF RIBBON WOVEN TOGETHER.

Corsage made of white gauze ribbon, woven. Yoke and collar of embroidered white batiste. White chiffon draped over revere and allowed to fall jabot fashion. Narrow black velvet trimming.

and this is sometimes enlarged by encircling folds of tulle or gauze. Block roses of velvet or satin, with golden centers, appear on many of the new hats, while hydrangea blossoms and huge white snowballs peep out of the folds of tulle which velope others. Toques take many shapes, envelope others. Toques take many shapes, the newest being more in the nature of a turban. In one thing the Parisian woman is superior to all others, she never wears an unbecoming bonnet. She will try on shape after shape half the day, or all day, if necessary, until she finds or creates one to suit, and she is to the full as difficult to suit with regard to the trimming.

There are three skirts which are rivals for favor, the corselet, the skirt with shaped flounce, and the fully gored skirt, trimmed more or less, or not at all. The fashionable women of the American colony show a marked fancy for each skirts, with stitched bands covering the shaped flounce on the foot. It must be supposed, however, that these are the only styles. For indoors empire gowns retain all their prestige, and the vogue of the directory is on the increase rather than the wane.

Moreover there is a marked effort to introduce the polonaise. At present this effort is moderate in its entering wedge, the polonaise chiefly taking the form of an upper skirt, slightly raised at the left side to show an underskirt. A recent model was of a pinkish-brown vicuna, nearly approaching the tint which appears in early spring upon the bark of young trees. The upper skirt, cut in one with the bodice at the back, was draped on the side over a petticoat of stitched ivory cloth. The narrow pointed bolero fronts showed a closed vest of ivory cloth, with a high waistband of old-rose velvet. There were awo collars of the vicuna, one attached to the bolero and standing out well over the bend of the shoulders, while the other was that of the waistcoat. The sleeves were the ordinary bishop shape, with the fullness at the wrists set into straight band cuffs.

RED BLANKET'S PLAINT.

It Is Ridiculed By Officials at Washington.

Washington, April 6.—The officials of the interior department are not alarmed over the situation on the Chippewa reservation in Minnesota, and they treat lightly the press reports to the effect that Red Blanket and other prominent Indians of the Bear Island band have presented grievances to Governor Van Sant in connection with the dead and down operations.

Indian Commissioner Jones said he was cognizant of the fact that green timber had been cut during the winter, but he said it was in such small quantities as not to justify the widespread criticism in Minnesota of Agent Mercer's administration.

He explained further that in every case where operators had been detected in cutting green timber, the camps had been closed and green timber prices demanded and received.

The commissioner also shows figures he has received from Agent Mercer and Mr. Farr, the logging superintendent, showing that the prices received for dead and down timber this winter are fully 100 per cent in excess of those paid two years ago.

As to the complaint of the Indians with reference to allotments, the conditions on the reservation are in large part, the commissioner explains, due to the indifference of the Indians. Most of the Indians refuse to accept the allotments, and Red Blanket and others who are now loudest in their complaints are not living on them.

The commissioner takes a shy at former Commissioner Baldwin, saying the present condition of the allotments is a legacy of his administration.

DUN'S REVIEW

Trade Has Maintained an Even Course the Past Week.

New York, April 6.—Dun's weekly review of trade says:

While the general business world has looked with amazement at the performance of the stock market, trade has maintained its even course, and there are many more points of gain than of loss, with even a slightly steadier tone in the dry goods market. There some sellers have withdrawn offers at recent low prices, though buying is small as yet. Collections in all lines are unusually prompt, and in the building trades contracts have been entered into sufficiently to furnish a decided impetus in allied lines during the spring season.

No sign of lessening demand is perceptible in any branch of the iron and steel industry. Mills are accepting contracts for the closing months of the year, and there is every indication that 1901 will surpass all records in the the quantity of pig iron consumed by manufacturers Though capacity has been wonderfully enlarged during the past five months, there are still many extensions and new plants contemplated.

It is also probable that the customary summer repairs of furnaces and mills will be accomplished within a shorter period than usual, as contracts call for heavy deliveries right through the season. Permanence of prosperity in this industry is becoming more certain as there is less evidence of inflated prices.

Regular quotations have not altered, except for bars and foundry pig iron, although all sorts of premiums are paid where prompt shipment is required. Although fewer ovens are active in the Connellsville region than a year ago, the output is much larger, and about 3,000,000 tons were made during the quarter.

Shipments of boots and shoes from Boston are steadily increasing the last week's movement reaching 94,453 cases, against 92,975 in the previous week and 89,034 a year ago. Quotations are steady but it is feared that the recent declines in leather and hides will make it possible for the small shoe manufacturers to cut prices when they are compelled to seek new business. An unexpected demand has appeared for russet shoes, equalling last year's business, despite the fact that these lines were considered less popular.

The circular of Coates Bros. on April 1 made the average of 100 grades of wool 17.99 cents, a decline of nearly a cent since March 1, and 5¼ cents, compared with April, 1900. During the past two weeks, however, the market has steadied, and there is much more trading. Moderate buying is done by worsted mills.

After declining within a sixteenth of 4 cents, it was not surprising to see cotton recover half a cent. The oversold condition of the speculative market was chiefly responsible and Southern dispatches gave support by statements of unfavorable planting conditions. Supplies were against any pronounced rise in price, however, and conditions continue extremely depressing. Aggressive manipulation has forced prices to an unreasonable point, from which the fall was severe; and wheat also weakened, although exports from the Atlantic coast continued too big.

Commercial failures in the first quarter of 1901 were 3335 in number and $31,703,486 in amount, of defaulted liabilities, of which 710 were in manufacturing for $12,504,222 and 2468 in trading for $14,552,906 with 157 others not properly included in either class, that owed $4,646,358. Banking defaults numbered twenty-one with liabilities of $2,445,389. While exceeding the same three months of last year in number, failures were much smaller in amount, commercial and financial insolvencies together showing a decrease of $21,532,180.

Only two years of the last twenty made a better showing either in aggregate or average indebtedness to each failure, while the proportion of $26.74 to each firm in business and $1.09 to each $1000 of insolvent payments through clearing houses are records that were surpassed but once in two decades. For the month of March total liabilities were much smaller than in the corresponding month of any year since monthly statements were first published. These figures indicate most undeniably that the new century has opened with business of no uncertain foundation.

OUR WORKING GIRLS.

HOW TO HELP THEM.

Life to the most favored is not always full of sunshine, but to the average American girl or woman who is obliged to work for her living, and, perhaps to help others at home, life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness.

Women who work, especially those who are constantly on their feet, are peculiarly liable to the development of organic troubles, and should particularly heed the first manifestations, such as backache, pains in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach, irregular and painful monthly periods, faintness, weakness, loss of appetite and sleep.

The young lady whose portrait we

First, she wrote a letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., describing her trouble, received in reply accurate instructions what to do to get well, and now wishes Mrs. Pinkham to use her name to convince others that they may be cured as she was.

Mrs. Pinkham extends the same helping hand, free of charge or obligation, to every ailing woman in America. If you are sick you are foolish not to write to her, it costs you nothing, and she is sure to help you. Don't wait until it is too late—write to-day.

EASTER BREADS AND CAKES

Many of the delightful old observances attached to Eastertide have become almost obsolete. The practice of serving special kinds of bread and cakes on certain days is still kept up by those who love the oldtime customs.

The list of these breads and cakes considered appropriate, or having any significance inconnection with the days, is not very varied, being confined to pancakes, fritters and buns. But ignoring the meaning attached to all observances of this season, we may take the same liberty in this line, as we do in choosing other dishes to serve during the Lenten season, if we still observe the "eternal fitness of things" in the selection of the materials composing them.

PANCAKES AND FRITTERS.

These, to be strictly orthodox, should be served only on Shrove Tuesday and on Good Friday; but are in keeping for luncheons all through Lent, especially on Wednesdays and Fridays.

PLAIN PANCAKES.

Break six eggs into a bowl and beat until very light. Allow to each egg a gill of milk, an eight of a teaspoonful of salt and about an ounce (quarter of a cup) of flour. Sift flour into a bowl. Make a well in the center and add the eggs and milk gradually, mixing to a smooth batter. If eggs are large a little more flour may be necessary. The batter must be the consistency of thick cream.

Place a smooth iron frying pan on the fire; see that it is perfectly clean and smooth or the pancake will stick. When pan is hot put in a small piece of sweet butter. When it is melted pour in just enough batter to coverb the bottom of the pan; about half a cup for a pan five inches in diameter. If made thin enough they need not be turned. When done sprinkle over with powdered sugar, roll it up in the pan and take out with large cake turner. Place on a hot dish before the fire until you have sufficient quantity fried to serve. They are better served as soon as cooked. A little grated lemon or orange rind may be added to the batter or sifted with the sugar.

If the whites of the eggs are beaten separately and added to batter the last thing the pancakes will be lighter. Allow four or five minutes for the very thin pancake and six or eight for the thicker one. Very rich pancakes are made with eggs, cream, sugar, sherry, grated nutmeg and flour.

ORANGE FRITTERS.

Measure a cupful of sifted flour and sift into a mixing bowl with a level teaspoonful of salt. Beat the yolk of one egg with a tablespoonful of good salad oil; mix these gradually into the flour by making a well in the center of the flour and adding egg and oil. When the batter is smooth add gradually enough water to make a batter thick enough to hold a drop let fall from the mixing spoon. Beat whites of the eggs to a smooth froth and fold lightly into the batter. Put two or three slices of orange into this batter; cover them well and then slide into hot fat and fry a golden brown. Remove with a skimmer or wire egg whip; dust with powdered sugar and serve hot.

POP-OVERS.

Mix to a smooth batter two cups of flour and two cups if milk and the yolks of two eggs; add a level teaspoonful of salt. If you do not possess iron popover pans butter six little earthen custard cups and place in a pan in a hot oven. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and fold lightly and quic. into the batter. Fill the hot, buttered cups about half full of batter and bake until they are brown and perfectly light when handled. These can be served for breakfast, eaten with butter, or for luncheon or dinner as a dessert, using a good sweet sauce or maple syrup.

BREAKFAST ROLLS.

Heat to scalding point one pint of milk with a large tablespoonful of butter, a tablespoonful of sugar, a level teaspoonful of salt. Turn into a bowl and when lukewarm add half a yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water. Mix in flour enough to have rather a thick bitter; beat for five minutes until full of bubbles, than add flour to make a dough. Knead for at least ten minutes, until the dough is smooth and elastic to the touch. Set in a moderately warm place and let rise for four hours; watch that it does not get too light. Knead down well; take pieces of dough about size of an egg, roll out on board, having the roll about an inch thick in the middle and pointed at each end. Place some distances apart in well-buttered tins; cover and let rise for an hour; then bake in a quick oven.

HOT CROSS BUNS.

Two pounds of sifted flour, two cups of sugar, two cups of currants, half a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of mixed spices. Mix these all together in a bowl. Make a hole in the center and add half a pint of warm milk and half a cake of yeast dissolved in half a cup of lukewarm water. Mix slowly into the flour until you have a smooth, thin batter; cover and set in a warm place until light, then add half a pound melted butter and milk enough to make a soft dough of all the flour; cover this with a thin coating of flour and let rise once more for half an hour. Shape into buns and lay them far apart in buttered tins. Cover and set to rise for half an hour. Just before going in the oven make a cross on each one by pressing the back of a knife almost entirely through the dough. Bake in a quick oven for ten or fifteen minutes.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE.

Take one and one-half cups of granulated sugar and sift twice, one cup of flour sifted four times, the whites of eleven eggs, a teaspoonful of vanilla and half a teaspoonful of cream tartar.

Add a pinch of salt to the whites and beat them about half stiff, then add the cream tartar and continue whipping until eggs are very stiff; sprinkle the sugar in lightly, then add the flavoring, beat in; then fold in the flour as lightly as possible; sprinkling it in, a spoonful at a time. Do not stop beating or folding until ready for the pan. Pour into an ungreased pan and bake in a moderate oven for forty minutes.

ANGEL CHARLOTTE.

Make a loaf of angel cake by above recipe. When perfectly cold carefully cut out the center, leaving a wall at least an inch thick. Ice the sides and top with boiled icing, then fill the center with sweetened and flavored whipped cream or charlotte russe, heaping is up roughly. Scattered over the whole candied violets.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

(No attention paid to inquiries not giving name and address of writer, plainly written).

Mrs. J. D. writes: I have been a reader of the household department for some time and like it very much. I wish some reader would be kind enough to send me a nice molasses cookie recipe, one something like the bakers use.

Two recipes for molasses cookies have been given very recently and will no doubt soon appear in your paper, if they have not already been published. The following recipe is a very good one.

MOLASSES COOKIES.

Cream one cup of butter with a cup of brown sugar; dissolve a teaspoonful of baking soda in two tablespoonfuls of boiling water and stir into a cup of molasses. Add this to the butter and sugar and mix well; add a tablespoonful of ginger, a little grated nutmeg and a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Add flour enough to make a dough to roll out easily. A cup of strong coffee may be added to this recipe and will give you a richer cake; sprinkle with coarse granulated sugar before baking.

A STAR EMIGRANT.

Michael Pupin Had Neither Money or English to Start.

Professor Pupin of Columbia university, who has recently gained international reputation as the inventor of the ocean telephone, is the hero of a remarkable career, says the New York World.

Few men even in America have risen so quickly and in the face of so many obstacles as he. The man who has announced the greatest invention since the telephone came to New York in 1874, almost penniless and without a word of English. In twenty-six years he has become an authority on electricity, a professor in Columbia university and disposes of a single one of his inventions for $500,000.

By birth, Professor Pupin is a Slav, coming from the military frontier of Austria. He was raised in the same district from which Tesla came. According to Professor Pupin, his ancestors have been so busy fighting Turks for generations that they had no time for self-cuture.

Michael Idvorsky Pupin, like all young men of his country, was sent to a military school. He studied for a time in Prague and ran away to America in 1874. The appearanuce of New York struck the young Slav with terror. He was unable to ask for a direction, and even business seemed barred against him. He was without a single friend.

Like most immigrants in his position, he went to the country and began work on a farm as a day laborer. Within a month he had learned to speak enough English to warrant him returning to New York. His teacher was the daughter of the farmer who employed him. The lessons followed the long day's work and usually lasted till far past midnight.

The next five years saw a severe struggle. Pupin worked at anything and everything which would yield an honest living. It is said that at one time he even worked as masseur in a Turkish bath establishment.

During this period of struggle, however, he managed to attend night school at Cooper Union.

Success came more quickly to him than to most. His fortune dates from his invention of a holder of newspapers. Everyone is familiar now with the wooden forms used for binding newspapers together. Professor Pupin's holder was the first to be introduced. He peddled them about town at first himself. The first frame he sold was at the Vienna cafe, on Broadway. The demand for them so increased that he could afford to employ agents to sell them. The little venture yielded several thousand dollars' profit. Pupin immediately prepared himself for Columbia, entering the college in 1879. He graduated in 1883.

While still supporting himself Pupin went to the university of Cambridge, Eng., and afterward to Berlin, where he specialzied under the famous Professor Helmholtz. He took his degree of Ph. D. with honor in Berlin, returned to New York and was appointed an instructor at Columbia in 1889. When the electrical engineering department was started at Columbia he was placed in charge.

Professor Pupin has been known for years as a practical electrician.

The importance of Professor Pupin's latest discovery can scarcely be overestimated. It is of immense value apart from the fact that it lengthens the lines of telephone communication. The invention enables telephone circuits to be connected over ordinary telegraph wires. Telephone wires heretofore have been of copper. In New York alone the difference in the cost of copper and iron wire used amounts to a fortune. By combining this discovery with Professor Pupin's method of using one wire for several messages a single wire will do the work of ten wires under the present system, and do it better. It will now be possible to telephone and telegraph over the same wire at the same time.

THE DRAMA

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Lyceum.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" Monday Night.

This afternoon the James-Kidder company presented "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Lyceum, and tonight it will again be seen. Wagenhals and Kemper have given the play one of the most sumptuous settings of any Shakespearean revival in recent years. A special feature is the panorama, 315 feet long, which is used to illustrate the dream of a grand ballet, under the direction of Professor Dare, and the special Mendenssohn music makes it the most prolific revival yet attempted. The production is embellished with magnificent costumes, costly and elaborate draperies, properties and furniture, all carried by the management. A company of exceptional ability surrounds the stars. Miss Kidder is seen as Helena, a character in which she has more than equaled all her preceding triumphs. Mr. James plays Bottom in a manner that leaves little to be desired, and the highest praise is given him everywhere. Miss Jane Oaker assays the role of Hermina, Norman Hackett, Lysander, Robert Ryan Demeterous, Ethel Browning, the Puck, Ashley Miller, the Oberon, Ira Brooks as Titania and Thomas Coffin Cooke as Quince. Other members of the company include artists of reputation and ability.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

Of the few plays that are considered worthy of securing a place in modern literature, the people's and critics' favorite, "The Prisoner of Zenda" takes precedence over all other works of recent years, for its many commendable attributes tend to permit it to percolate into the archives of permanency, not only as a literary gem, but as the beacon light of that new school of writers of which Anthony Hope is certainly the high priest. In formulating this romantic and fascinating story he has swept away the dead leaves from the pathway of literary progress and given to the world one of the most novel and unconventional tales ever conceived in the brain of man. The dramatization by Edward E. Rose, that eminent Englishman, has been equally as successful, and is today considered in the theatrical world one of the most valuable pieces of property before the public. This season's production is noteworthy in many respects, for it not only comes here with a cast of exceptional strength, but with the complete scenic investment and elaborate stage effects which characterized its phenomenal run at the Lyceum theater, New York city. The company is composed of several of the players of its former successful tour, and others who are well known in stageland, prominent among whom are Vaughan Glaser, Ruth Aldridge, Robert Connes, Helen Strickland, George W. Lynch, Cecil Owen, Marion Daniels, Willis Page, etc. The scenery, costumes and effects are promised to eclipse in magnificence any former presentation of this popular and fascinating romance.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" will be at the Lyceum Monday.

"MARION LESCAUT" STAGED

Mr. Sayre's Adaptation of Abbe Prevost's Novel.

New York, April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most interesting events of the present dramatic situation is the presentation at Wallack's theater of "Marion Lescaut," the latest dramatized version of the Abbe Prevost's classic novel, which has been made by Theodore Burt Sayre.

Max Freeman is responsible for the staging of the play, and it is very nicely put on.

Miss Effie Shannon has the title role, with Herbert Kelcey as the Chevalier Grieux. Miss Shannon, whose work with the Lyceum company entitles her to favorable consideration, fills the role to the best of her adaptiveness. The play was not written expressly for Miss Shannon, and presumably the difficulty which Mr. Sayre encountered in writing his play was to avoid a repetition of the same objections which were raised over the stage version of Daudet's "Sapho." The play will probably hold the attention of the public for some time.

The story as used by Mr. Sayre deals with the love of Manon Lescaut for the Chevalier des Grieux and the rivalry between the Count de Varney and the dissolute Marquis de Synnelet for her favor. The plot opens at the point where the chevalier is about to become a priest, when he sees Manon and leaves the church to live with her.

The marquis is still infatuated with Manon and decides to win her by hook or crook. He uses all his power to bring influence to bear upon Manon, so that she will be compelled to leave the chevalier. Finding her position, as she believes, untenable, Manon determines to commit suicide. A brawl suddenly occurs in the gambling house, where the scene is centered, and the chevalier kills a brother of Madame Pompadour, the reigning court favorite. The action then becomes rapid. The chevalier escapes, but is, of course, a fugitive from justice.

In the last act the ill-starred couple are seen living happily in the penal settlement at New Orleans. They are about to be married and settle down to a life of undisturbed conjugal tenderness when the Marquis de Synnelet arrives in America from France and shatters their dream. Manon and the chevalier escape and make a desperate attempt to reach the English settlement of Jamestown.

They have travelled many miles upon their way when de Synnelet is found to be in pursuit. Manon's strength gives out and she dies in her lover's arms as day dawns.

Herbert Kelcey's acting is all that could be desired of that finished actor and Miss Shannon will undoubtedly enhance her reputation when she has studied the part a little more closely. In her comedy scene she was particularly good, but a little too modern for the age in which the scene of the play is laid.

George Lederer's idea of creating a mammoth temple of popular priced amusement may or may not be consummated but, forms one of the leading topics of conversation in theatrical circles. The program will include the presentation of circus features, variety ministrelsy, ballet, burlesque, and opera.

The newly-incorporated Lederer company will also direct Miss Elsie de Wolfe's next tour season. Another play by Clyde Fitch, entitled "The Way of the World," is to be the piece in which Miss de Wolfe will star. She will be supported by the best company that Mr. Lederer can secure. A prominent English actor has already been engaged as her leading man.

Mr. Lederer considers "The Way of the World" one of the strongest things that Mr. Fitch has ever written. He says in reference to the management of Miss de Wolfe and the handling of the play: "I believe in the star system, and certainly think that Miss de Wolfe should be starred. Mr. Fitch's new play is a very strong one and lends itself to elaborate scenic production. Miss de Wolfe will spend the summer in Europe, returning early in September for rehearsals, to be conducted under the personal direction of Mr. Fitch. The first production probably will be made in Washington about the middle of October. Miss de Wolfe is now appearing in a cleverly constructed burlesque entitled "The Shades of Night," which takes the precedence of "The Lash of the Whip" at the Lyceum. It is a 1-act play or phantasy, written by Capt. R. Marshall, around the somewhat gruesome character of ghosts. There is a marked streak of originality in the piece. It is thoroughly whimsical, and Miss de Wolfe and E. M. Holland as Grace Elliston and Arnold Daly thoroughly carry out all the dainty little points of the situation.

They are supposed to be old-time descendant sweethearts who annually for a century and a quarter had haunted a certain chamber in an old English castle. The loving pair enter the room to breathe their love outpourings to one another while a masked ball is in progress downstairs. They are reminded of a story that a forefather of the young man had there murdered a foremother of the young woman. On the wall is an old inscription stating that until a son of the one and a daughter of the other shall pledge their loves in that very room, the old curse on the crime must remain.

At this juncture the twin ghosts, white clad and spectrally lighted, arise through the floor and the plot becomes clear. The subsequent developments; the clever mixing of old-time drollery and modern persiflage are so well worked in together that the half hour which the piece occupies is a very pleasant time.

N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott will appear in the characters of Shylock and Portia in the coming revival of "The Merchant of Venice," to be made under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger and business guidance of Joseph Brooks, beginning Monday evening, May 6, at Syracuse, then completing the following extensive tour: Rochester, Buffalo, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, New Haven, Hartford, Providence and Boston. These cities will probably be played in the order named. All these engagements, excepting those in New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland, are for one performance only.

The production of "The Merchant of Venice" will be of even greater magnitude than the all-star revival of "The Rivals," made some years ago by Joseph Brooks, which attracted widespread attention. More than $30,000 will be expended in presenting it. Besides a remarkably talented supporting cast, there will be an auxiliary company of fifty people who will appear in the great ensemble scenes. The scenery and costumes are now being made from models and designs by F. Richard Anderson. The musical features will be under the direction of Frederick Eeke, the concert master of the Metropolitan Opera house.

This appearance of Mr. Goodwin and Miss Elliot in a great Shakespearian revival is not contemplated as a commercial project. It is intended solely as a contribution to the artistic side of the American stage. Under no circumstances will more than $2 be asked for the best seats in any city.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO.

An Australian Manager Visiting In Gotham.

New York, April 3.—The most prominent theatrical figure of the week was J. C. Williamson, the Augustin Daly of Australia. He spent much of his time on Broadway, chaperoned by Marcus Mayer. They saw everything, and Williamson says he has enjoyed New York to the limit. Of his home country he said:

"You Americans are clever, but sometimes you overlook some big things. There's Nance O'Neill. You had her in New York, and, while several critics said she was all right, your managers wouldn't line her, and she had to do one-night stands in the country. She came to Australia for three weeks, and when she finishes this season under my management her time on the Australian stage will amount to twenty months. We think she is one of America's leading actresses, and you will, too, when she gets back.

"Before I forget it I want it on record that I was born in Pennsylvania, and spent nearly 20 years on the stage in the United States before I went to Australia. My first New York appearance was with Lester Wallack's stock company. That was truly a wonderful aggregation; Lester Wallack, John Gilbert, Charles Fisher, Mark Smith, George Holland, Mary Gamion, Mrs. Hoey and Fanny Morant. It was in 1882 that I went to Australia and there drifted into managing."

Mr. Williamson at home is manager of Her Majesty's theater, Melbourne, and Her Majesty's and the Theater Royal in Sydney. He controls a circuit in other towns, and has a dramatic company, a musical comedy company, and is forming a grand opera company into the bargain. He has secured the rights to "Florodora," "The Messenger Boy" and "San Toy," and has almost completed negotiations with George Lederer for the Australian rights to all his new productions. He will take a number of American actors away when he sails for home.

New York has been captured by that song in "Florodora," "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," but very few who whistle it on the streets known that the composer once before kept them busy. That was when he gave them "Louisana Lou." Leslie Stuart is the only man in England who has written coon songs that have been imported here. Still, he is not an Englishman, but a son of Erin, whose real name is no means as attractive as his name of the pen. About a year or more since he set all England singing his "Soldiers of the Queen," and it spread to all the colonies, but, curiously enough, was seldom heard in the United States.

"I often find it the hardest work in the world," said Margaret Anglin the other day, "to go to the theater with the thought of going through all those same lines over and over again. I feel just like getting on a train and never coming back." Her role in "Mrs. Dane's Defense" is probably the most trying that has been given an actress in New York for some years, and it has been a wonder to her friends that she has not broken down ere this. Blanche Bates, the Cigarette of "Under Two Flags," is also weary of her role, and, although her acting is as excellent as ever, she imagines that the audience looks upon her as "wooden and monotonous."

Dan Daly is the delight of his manager's heart in that he is letter perfect at all times when the play is on. But once he takes a new part everything he has done before is wiped out from his memory. He was entertaining a party of friends one evening recently when somebody asked for a song Daly had sung in "The Belle of New York." He tried hard, but he couldn't remember more than the first line, and, although prompted by a composer who was present, he had to give it up. There was a rumpus one night when "The Cadet Girl" was at the Herald Square, and Ludwig Englander took all his songs from the play. There was a great hustle, and an old song of Daly's was given to the orchestra. He had to sing it standing against the scenery while the stage manager read the words to him. So well was it done, however, that no one in the audience guessed the truth.

Fritz Williams will have a fling at all his old successes this season before he leaves the management of Charles Frohman to join the Weber and Fields outfit. "On and Off" will be the first revival, with E. M. Holland and Katherine Florence to assist. Lee Harrison will keep Fritz Williams's Company in burlesque. They, with Sam Bernard, will be the new comers when Weber and Fields reopen. The company will close its New York season in three weeks, and then will start on a short tour, which will include Chicago.

"The Price of Peace" has had to be vigorously remodeled to suit American audiences. One of the principal hits in the London production was a hospital scene where a wronged man dies with startling realism. It was greeted with thunders of applause by the English gallery, and gave every 'Arriet who saw it the material for hours of delightful discussion on death. But it was too grewsome for New York, and had to be cut out entirely. There is a remarkable bit of stage setting in the second act, an ice-skating rink scene. It shows dozens of persons on real ice skates, and many of them actually skating. There is no ice, but a curved board walk has been designed, and on this the skaters wobble with a motion that, from the audience, is perfect. Another feature is practically a reproduction of the Episcopal wedding service. The actor who plays the archdeacon came very near being famous. He plays two parts, the other one being a member of parliament. With the dignity that attaches to that position firmly fixed in his mind he begged that his real name be placed opposite it on the program. Then he chose a high-sounding clerical name for the other part. Two critics mentioned the archdeacon with the stage name, and predicted a future for him, but, alas, all were silent on that member of parliament, who is very, very sad.

Dr. Joseph Muir's career as a managing angel has come to an abrupt halt, and he is on the ocean wave headed for Stockholm, where he is to be acting consul for Uncle Sam. He was a member of the Lambs and New York Athletic club, and was visiting physician at the German hospital. He was also noted as an adept in hypnotism, and several along Broadway bemoan this fact more than all the rest. It has been asserted that by hypnotic aid he won the hand of the daughter of ex-Senator McPherson, of New Jersey. He associated himself with F. C. Whitney, and for both of them ("Quo Vadis") made a fortune. Then the tide turned and the London production cost $28,000. Next he tried Lawrence Hanley in "Near the Throne" and dropped $10,000 with it. He then agreed to invest in "Robert of Sicily," but when the time came he declined to put up $2500 and the production in New York was called off. There are many claims for back salaries, which will have to wait for settlement certainly until the doctor returns, which is several years away.

Has David Belasco cornered the play market? He went abroad last summer and bought right and left everything that looked as if it might be a success on this side of the water. They've all been locked up in his trunk ever since, and no one gets even a peep at them. He has been making plenty of money out of "Zaza" and "Madam Butterfly," and he has been sinking it all in new plays. Already he has in his employment several playwrights of prominence, among them Lee Arthur, author of "We Two of Tennessee," and Charles Klein, who wrote "The District Attorney" and several comic opera books. But this is not all. Blanche Bates is under contract to him and so is Dave Warfield and a number of others now engaged by other managers.

The paths of grand opera leads but to the comic opera stage for certain members of the Grau troupe, who are prudent to take time by the forelock. Fanchon Thompson was the first, and she went to London to play "The Belle of Bohemia," scored a hit and is drawing a fat salary. Victor Maurel followed, has made his debut and, like Miss Thompson, has barrels of money in sight. Oscar Hammerstein is after Fritzi Scheff, who is waiting her turn at the Metropolitan to sing, while with far more patience than chance of being gratified. Hammerstein's offer is around $1000 a week and permanency, but the prima donna apparently prefers to hope on. The outlook for the opera folk is not encouraging. Grau will cut his force almost in half next season, and there will be no Covent Garden opera this summer. The Grau economy will not, of course, affect Melba, the de Reszkes and their ilk, but the smaller fry will suffer. Comic opera needs fresh voices, and the managers are quietly working at Grau's singers, arguing that a first-class comic opera salary for ten months double discounts grand opera for three. The taste of the public in comic opera has changed sufficiently of late to impress managers to the point of extreme shyness in touching a new production of that order. Manager Erlander, in discussing this subject, said: "The time was when the music was the main thing. With good composition any kind of a book would do. Now this is all changed. The book is what we have to look at most carefully, and they are very hard to get. There is plenty of good music being offered to managers these days, but it seems next to impossible to get a librettist who can fit words to it. Most of the writers are too polished and ambitious, and they do not seem to be able to put enough humor in. I wouldn't touch the best music in the market now unless the book was extraordinarily good."

J. H. Haverly is back in the ring again. The J. H. Haverly Exhibition and Amusement company has been incorporated at Albany this week, and Haverly and two Brooklyn backers are the directors. He says he will startle New York just as soon as he gets ready.

A. M. Palmer is busy, very busy with plans for his star, Richard Mansfield. In the first place Mansfield is to enjoy the sweet privilege of being the very first star to tread the boards of the new Garrick playhouse over in Quakertown. And then he is going to shake up Philadelphia with Stephen Phillips' "Herod." Just as soon as ever he can get around to it Mansfield will have a go at "Monsieur Beaucaire," the Booth Tarkington play from that author's story of the same name. "Henry V" will not be forgotten, although it will be given a rest after this season. "Cyrano" may be given again in the spring, but this is uncertain.

R. L. Giffin, the new manager of James K. Hackett, will direct affairs chiefly for the actor's benefit. Hackett has formed a company with a capital well up in the thousands. Of this Giffin has chipped in one-third, and he has a contract upon a salary and percentage basis to act as business manager. Hackett will keep the general management of affairs in his own hands, while Giffin will attend to all the business details.

Augustus Thomas and Eugene Presbrey are writing a play for young Harry Woodruff, whose blonde locks, so rumor said, once held captive the heart of Anna Gould. This was, of course, before the appearance of the doughty Count Boni. Thomas has written one Woodruff play already. It is "On the Quiet," which Willie Collier is playing at the Madison Square, and it has for its feature the broken Gould-Woodruff engagement. Woodruff told a number of his friends that he was to have "L'Aiglon" when Maude Adams gets through with it, but the heart of Charles Frohman was stony and Woodruff had to look elsewhere. Arnold Daly will play Woodruff's role of the imp with the Goodwins during the London production of "When We Were Twenty-One."

The latest reports from Florida, where Sol Smith Russell is a guest of Joseph Jefferson, are that he is recuperating rapidly. It is stated that he will be able to go back on the stage next fall, and that his relative and manager, Fred Berger, has a number of players under contract, and has accepted a play by Martha Morton.

Charles Frohman's latest purchase in the play line is W. J. Locke's dramatization of his own novel, "Idols," which has a very powerful plot. "The Lost Legion" and "Mr. Cynic" are Locke's previous dramatic efforts. They are one-act comedies.

SIXTH AVENUE THEATER.

North Bros., comedians, will open their engagement at the Sixth Avenue theater Monday night in the beautiful four-act society comedy "Princess Vergie." The piece tells a pretty story of life in New England. The plot is full of startling climaxes and holds much interest as it unfolds. This company is new to the show-going public of Duluth, but comes well recommended by both press and public in other cities where they have played. There are no tiresome waits during their performances. Every minute is filled with high class specialties and new features.

BOLD IN THIEVERY.

"The thing which struck me the most forcible in Mexico," said J. D. Proudfut, who has just returned from a visit to the far South, "is the boldness and cleverness of the sneak-thieves who infest the national capital. They call them rateros down there, and if that word comes from rat it is well taken, says the Kansas City Journal. The day before I left Mexico an old gentleman came in on a train and put his head out of the car window to see the sights. Just as the train pulled up at the depot a rateros on the platform snatched off the old gentleman's hat. The old gentleman ran out of the car and, seeing the thief, he set his valise down in order to give chase. In an instant another rateros had swiped the valise, and both of the thieves got away.

"The old gentleman went to a hotel and barely had unpacked his trunk when a young man appeared in his room and called for his dirty clothes for the laundry. The young man was another rateros, and he got nearly every stitch of wearing apparel the old gentleman had. I had a little experience with the rateros on my own account. They got a light overcoat from my carriage seat in broad daylight, when I was standing within five feet of it, talking to an acquaintance."

WHY RUSSIA MAKES WAR

Peaceful Czar Is Overruled --- Russian Strategic Plans Soon Will Place England In a Position of Helpfulness.

St. Petersburg, March 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—While there is no disposition here to regard the Russo-British matter at Tien Tsin as acute, there unquestionably is a strong feeling prevailing among all classes of Russians that a clash between the two empires will come.

The Russian national feeling is highly aggressive, and the situation in Manchuria is only a feeler of Russia's actual policy.

The mission of Russia enunciated by Peter the Great is the text of Russia's gospel. Even the peasantry, with their simple lines of life and belief, are impregnated with this instinct, and beyond that the stories that have reached them of the wealth of India and Britain have made them feel that they will naturally benefit by a conquest of Great Britain.

Above these stand two classes in Russia, the military and the professional. The military party in Russia is the power behind the throne; it dominates Russian policy to such an extent that it may carry out any aggressive scheme it and the nation may be in touch with. Its policy is the real policy of Russia.

A certain grand duke who holds a high military position and has rendered distinguished services to the empire has the supreme voice at the war office. He has been one of the dictators of Russian Asiatic policy. He is determined as far as his individual effort is concerned to have Russia either control or rule Asia. All prominent army positions in the provinces abutting on the frontier he sees are filled by men inspired with the feeling of his propaganda. Central Russia may be said to be actually under control of this man and his appointees. Their aim is to keep the frontiers of Chinese Turkestan, Afghanistan and Persia in a state of constant unrest. The military force is gradually being increased in all this belt, and the frontiers pushed forward as rapidly as circumstances will permit of. Even mysterious Thibet has been penetrated and forms a part of an unofficial map prepared in view of the eventual advance on India. Emissaries even from the grand llama are in their way here to present their credentials to the czar. Her plans for reaching the Persian gulf are so well laid that she could at any time seize Teheran. Her garrison there is being gradually increased, and she is slowly but surely effecting such a control of all Persia that her ownership is only a matter of time. The trade of North Persia is in Russian hands, and her church is also rapidly making its way among the Nestorians and Armenians.

Moreover, wherever Russia has established her influence in Persia or Turkestan, law and order have been established and the murderous Kurd has been suppressed.

Her first objective point in grasping the dominion of Asia will be the establishing of a seaport on the Persian gulf where she will have a vital strategic point, and place herself in a position in South Asian waters similar to that held by Britain.

Then she will be sure of India. Already every pass and possibility of entrance to India over the Himalayas has been mapped out by Russian engineers. Russian diplomacy and money have been freely used in creating friends among the independent rajahs in the northern part of India, and Russian emissaries are to be found in the leading cities of the country.

Anyone who doubts the policy of Russia in reference to China must be sadly demented. Whether Russian, French or British money has built such railroads as exist there, Russia will have control of them and extend them as far as her financial resources will permit of. The railroad from Pekin to Kiakka will be built as soon as things have resumed their natural condition in China. It will only form one branch of a network of railroads with which Asia will be girdled under Russian control.

When it is borne in mind that Russia has an organized army of 4,000,000 men, all filled with the national spirit, and consequently a cohesive force of the utmost power, her possibilities can be easily gauged.

The czar is pacific, undoubtedly. His religious training and his personal tastes alike prevent him from inclining to any aggressive movement, but, as I have said before, the trend of all Russian thought and growth is in the direction of assuming ultimate control of Asia.

VALERIE DELAMOUR.

A MYSTERY OF THE DEEP.

For more than 100 years it has been noticed that after every northeast gale that beats upon Small Point, at the mouth of the Kennebec, the beach is strewn with coal of a peculiar but excellent quality, relates a writer in the New York Times. It is even more resinous and free burning than the cannel coal of England, and the people living in the neighborhood of the point have long been in the habit of collecting it for use in forges and grates. Sometimes only a few pieces of the coal are washed up by the waves, and then a storm of more than unusual severity will make a contribution amounting to a ton or two. The origin of this coal has been the object of repeated controversy. One rather disagreeable faction has contended that it comes from a source no more important than a ship that was wrecked and sunk at the mouth of the river in days of old, and some have gone so far as to tell the name of the vessel and the date of its loss. Careful investigation of the water off the point has not led to the discovery of the wreck, however, and the amount of the coal that has been thrown up in the course of the past century would hardly be accounted for by the destruction of a whole fleet of the biggest modern colliers. On the other hand, borings have been made several times along that part of the beach, and, though they cost a lot of money, they never revealed anything that to a geologist or miner would indicate the presence of a coal deposit. The highly valuable fuel keeps making its appearance on the shore, despite that fact, and the Maine mind is not easily discouraged when there seems to be a chance to secure a considerable number of honest pennies. So a new company has just been organized to have another try for the Small Point coal bed. The contributions of the stockholders are to be spent on a diver this time, and it is hoped that, by a thorough examination of the ocean bed from the end of the point to Seguin island the mysterious outcropping may at last be found. The practicability of working the deposit, if one exists, is by no means certain, for the sea on the coast of Maine is not easily brought into subjection.

HE FELT UNEASY.

Kansas City Star: Congressman Jones, of Virginia, tells this story of his father: Directly after the war Jones, Sr., was sent to the state senate. An old slave who had belonged to him was also elected to the senate. The two drew adjoining seats. Senator Jones was very courteous, and in addressing his former slave always called him senator. The old negro stood it for some time, and finally said: "Mussa William, I don't like dis senator business. Kain't I come down to yo' house and visit that cook of yourn? I suhtinly would like permission to visit yo' kitchen." The request was granted, and while Senator Jones was in his library the other senator was down in the kitchen visiting his cook.

The duodenum is continuous with the small intestines. The small intestine empties into the large intestine or colon at the cæcum. The arrows indicate the direction which the contents of the bowels must take in passing through the alimentary canal.

are packed away in your insides and must be kept clean, in order and doing business.

It's a long way, with many turns and pitfalls to catch the refuse and clog the channel if not most carefully cleaned out every day.

When this long canal is blockaded, look out for trouble—furred tongue, bad breath, belching of gases, yellow spots, pimples and boils, headaches, spitting up of food after eating—an all-around disgusting nuisance.

Violent calomel purges or griping salts are dangerous to use for cleaning out the bowels. They force out the obstruction by causing violent spasms of the bowels, but they leave the intestines weak and even less able to keep up regular movements than before, and make a larger dose necessary next time.

Then you have the pill habit, which kills more people than the morphine and whiskey habits combined.

The only safe, gentle but certain bowel cleansers are sweet, fragrant CASCARETS, because they don't force out the foecal matter with violence, but act as a tonic on the whole 30 feet of bowel wall, strengthen the muscles and restore healthy, natural action. Buy and try them! (Look out for imitations and substitutes or you can't get results. Cascarets are never sold in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the long-tailed "C" on the box.) A Meeting Wednesday to Form Duluth Club.

The Talk of a League Still Continues.

Baseball fans interested in the success of a good team to represent Duluth during the coming season will hold a meeting next Wednesday evening at the St. Louis hotel at 8:30.

This meeting is called for the purpose of deciding whether the team shall be handled by a stock company or by individual management, and should be attended by every man in the city interested in promoting fast, clean ball during the coming season.

Owing to the lack of conservative action on the part of other towns, the developments in the proposed Northwestern league are practically at a standstill. Duluth and Superior are getting strong teams together, but nothing is heard from other towns, except Virginia. This town wishes to come into the league, and guarantees a fast team. If the baseball promoters of Eveleth, Ashland, Bayfield, Washburn or Brainerd care to get in the league they should lose as little time as possible in indicating their intention. Any town desiring to enter the league is requested to notify the sporting department of this paper by letter or telegraph before next Saturday. With good, fast and clean baseball in a league of from four to six towns the promoters would not lose money.

Manager Hansell of the Duluth team is in correspondence with a number of good players. According to present plans there will only be two of last year's team wearing the maroon hosiery when the season opens about May 25.

The Western league season opens on May 6. The circuit consists of: St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha, Des Moines, Denver and Colorado Springs.

While boxing has gone to the dogs in this country, it certainly is getting a new lease on life in some of the distant places. Up in Dawson City there is a select bunch of sports willing to give up $10,000 in order to get Tom Sharkey and Frank Slavin, the Australian, together.

Sharkey is willing to make the match, but wants a nugget or two in his palm before he leaves his comfortable quarters in New York. The Dawson City sports are not particular about training and the other frills that accompany a fight in this country. All they want is a scrap.

A New York man who advises Sharkey to stay away from Dawson has figured it out that it would cost the sailor about $6000 for food during a short stay in Alaska; that seconds would want $1000 apiece for their ring-side services; that he would have to buy a drink if he won, at an estimated cost of $5000, and that incidentals would crimp his pocketbook to the extent of $2500 more. Altogether Sharkey's expenses in the land of ice are put down at about $15,000.

England once more rejoices in the possession of a heavyweight champion. His name is George Chrisp, and he won his title recently in a slashing bout with Ben. Taylor at Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The fight was set for twenty rounds, but Chrisp cut it short in the eighth with a right swing on the point of the jaw that put Taylor down and out.

The beaten man entered the ring a 3 to 1 favorite, but Chrisp developed so much cleverness and speed in the opening rounds that the odds were speedily reversed.

Chrisp is a 170-pound man, but strong and rugged. He will bear watching.

Taylor tipped the beam at 185 pounds.

Up to the time of Chrisp's victory England had not possessed a native-born heavyweight champion since 1885, when Jem Smith beat Jack Davis, a very poor fighter, for the title. In 1889 Peter Jackson beat Smith in two rounds. Slavin also beat Smith in the same year, but was cheated of his victory by thugs. In 1892 Peter Jackson beat Frank Slavin at the National Sporting club, London, in ten rounds. This was said to be for the championship of Australia, but in reality it was for the English championship.

Charlie Mitchell never claimed the heavyweight championship of England. He declined to meet Slavin or Jackson.

The National league clubs have determined upon reprisal methods. They are trying to make their former players, who have signed with the American league jump back at any cost. Who originated the plan nobody seems to know, but it is nevertheless a fact that a wholesale raid on the American league talent is contemplated. The National men say they are prepared to outbid their rivals no matter how high the figures may go; that if the National league contract will not stand inequity, the American league will not, either. Therefore it is maintained that the best way to raid the American league is to take away its players whether they have signed contracts or not. It is known that the National league men have been working secretly on this scheme for several days and that they hope to be able to spring a surprise soon with the announcement that a majority of their old stars have been won back. In short, the magnates do not believe that wholesale contract jumping will influence the public to stay away from the games, but possibly they forget that baseball depends upon its honesty and that players who have no regard for their signed pledge cannot be regarded as strictly honorable.

Still another scheme to knock the American league sky-high before the season opens has leaked out in the shape of the statement that Soden and Conant of the Boston National league club have made a cash offer of $150,000 to C. W. Somers, owner of the Boston American league club, to withdraw from the field and turn the Huntington avenue grounds over to them. It is also stated that Soden and Conant have promised, in addition to this cash bonus, a franchise in the National league next year, possibly Philadelphia. President Johnson of the American league says that the offer was made a week ago and that Somers politely turned it down. As Somers is the leading financier in the American league, it is plain why the Boston people are after him. It is thought by them that $150,000 cash now is a cheaper bargain than at the end of the coming season which, with the baseball war on, is bound to be disastrous.

Odds on the teams in the race for the National league pennant are Brooklyn, 2 to 1; Pittsburg, 2 to 1; Boston, 4 to 1; Philadelphia, 6 to 1; St. Louis, 10 to 1; Chicago, 15 to 1; Cincinnati, 50 to 1; New York, write your own ticket.

The most astonishing feature of the present disturbance is the complete somersault of John Montgomery Ward, who has been retained by the Brooklyn club to prosecute players who desert that team. In 1890 Ward was the chief of the Players' Brotherhood, which deserted the National league in a body and organized an association of their own. They placed teams in nearly every league city and waged a war that bankrupted nearly every club owner in America. The National league won the fight, but it was a dearly bought victory. Baseball did not get on its feet for several years, and Ward and his fellow deserters suffered correspondingly. In that memorable conflict Ward was the manager and captain of the Brooklyn team, most of the members of which were deserters from National league clubs. Now he stands ready to prosecute any of the players of the present Brooklyn team who may desert to the American league. Time certainly does make startling changes in the baseball business. Honlon, who was also one of the Brotherhood league of 1890, is now, as manager of the Brooklyn club, very much opposed to desertions from his team at present.

According to reports from the other side the Shamrock II is to have a pole mast and this span is to be 118 feet from deck to truck. It is said that this innovation will save a great deal of weight aloft and will be even better than the telescopic topmast used on the Columbia last year. Only once in a race for the America's Cup has it been necessary to houe topmasts, and Designer Watson is said to be willing to take a chance that the one steel spar on the Shamrock will stand this year. A short time ago the Royal Ulster Yacht Club in a request sent to the New York Yacht Club, asked that the Shamrock be measured in the dry dock of the navy yard. If there is any truth in the report that the Shamrock's mast is 118 feet above the deck it would be impossible to get her to the navy yard by going up Hudson river. The Brooklyn bridge at high water is 135 feet above water, so that allowing for a fall of tide of six feet it would be impossible for the Shamrock to go under the bridge. Then again by the time the Shamrock gets to this country the cables will be strung for the new bridge and this will prevent her from reaching the navy yard by way of the sound.

Eight American yachts anxious for the privilege of defending Canada's cup, now held by the Chicago Yacht Club, are in sight and two more are likely to be built. The Canadians up to date have uncovered only two challengers.

• • •

Sailors for the Herreshoff cup defender have raised a purse of $350 among themselves and are willing to put it up against any similar amount that their boat wins America's cup.

• • •

Sir Thomas Lipton first bought American blocks for the rigging of the Shamrock and has now ordered hollow spruce spars from a New York state firm. By launching day Shamrock II. will be a pretty good American yacht.

The American champion cyclist abroad, "Major" Taylor, is being lionized to an unusual extent. Copies of the first Parisian papers published after his arrival abound with spread-eagle pictures and descriptions of him and detailed accounts of his doings. In a letter that came in the same mail as the newspapers Taylor tells an Eastern friend that he feels like a prizefighter in America, because he is followed about the streets and made much of everywhere. He arrived at Paris on March 11 at 1 o'clock in the morning and was received at the station by Victor Breyer and party. He remained up with them until 3 o'clock and created a sensation by rising at 6 o'clock to take a walk. His early rising habit astounded his companions, who declared that he was not a good Parisian. On April 12 Taylor found himself a hero. The papers hailed his arrival as the greatest sporting event since the visit of Zimmerman. In the forenoon the champion started for the track at the Park des Princes and was followed by a crowd on wheels. At the park a football game was in progress, but it was stopped and the players joined with the spectators in cheering the African with American "Hip! hip! hurrahs!" and shouts of "Vive Taylor" and "Vive le neuf" (the black). Many of the papers refer to him as "The Black" and speak of the contrast between the unblemished whiteness of his shirt and the blackness of his face. The champion's habit of dressing handsomely has captured the French and there are frequent allusions to his "coquetry of costume." On his first day at Paris Taylor met the French champion, Jacquelin. It was the meeting of two men who are soon to battle for the cycling championship of the world. Taylor was standing in front of the Cafe L' Esperance, which is the rendezvous of the French cyclists, in company with Lamberjack, Bourillon and others, when Jacquelin came up in an automobile. He jumped out and without waiting for an introduction strode up to the negro, saying:

"This is Taylor, isn't it?

In a few minutes they were on most friendly terms. After awhile Jacquelin remarked:

"It's funny; I never thought you were so little."

Taylor told him his height and weight and complimented Jacquelin, who is of giant build, on his size, remarking particularly that he had big legs. Jacquelin returned that Taylor's were much better shaped.

"Ah, but yours are stronger," replied the American.

"That's not the point; I'm afraid yours may be quicker," answered the polite Frenchman.

The weight-lifting match in New York, Monday night, between G. W. Rolandow, who says he is the champion of America, and August Johnson, the so-called champion of Sweden, was rather easily won by the former. There were eight events to be decided, and when they were concluded Rolandow had lifted a total of 3256 pounds, while Johnson, with 2892 pounds to his credit, failed to handle a 225 bar bell in the last test. Rolandow is a powerful man above the waist, especially in the arms, shoulders and back, but his legs are not what a critical spectator would expect to see. Johnson is not so powerful in point of physique, though he comes to this country with a big reputation.

The special meeting of the L. A. W. National assembly that was called for March 29 at Detroit to amend the constitution so as to authorize life memberships at $10 apiece did not have a session, as there was not a quorum. Nearly all the delegates sent proxies to President Earle and not fifteen attended in person. The life membership blanks have been issued, however, and Secretary Bassett is in receipt of a number of applications accompanied by the money. The league officials say that the plan will be authorized by the assembly later and that the secretary will in the meantime file all the applications. The blank for a life membership is an oddly interesting document. It calls for a photograph of the applicant, the time and place of birth, and a short description of his life.

FOR OLD AGE.

To the old, as to babies, the even balance of health is more important than anything else in the world. The possible health, in age, is not high and strong; it is only even.

There is no end, but death, to the trouble that comes of its loss. It ought to be watched like a baby's.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil for very old and very young—in different ways—is the food to secure this even health.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

IN COPPER DISTRICT

Next to Calumet and Hecla the Wolverine Makes Cheapest Copper.

Work at the Washington Mine Has Been Stopped.

Diamond Drill More Extensively Used Than Ever Before.

Houghton, Mich., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the promises of earlier months, the spring season is not far advanced, as is evidenced by the report of the government weather bureau that there was an even two feet of snow, on the level, in Calumet, on April 1. The deep snow means further delays to the mines that have extensive surface improvements planned for this seasons construction and is a disappointment.

Next to the Calumet & Hecla, the Wolverine is making the cheapest copper of any Lake mine. The Quincy's costs have been greatly increased for the past few years by the vast amount of construction work, but leaving this new work aside, the Quincy is still pretty well at the head of the list as a maker of cheap copper.

Work at the Washington mine, in Keweenaw county, has been stopped. The company raised a little money two years ago and has expended it in explorations in the vicinity of Mosquito lake. A number of amygdaloids were cut, the exploring being done by trenches and cross-cuts along fissures, but nothing of sufficient promise to justify heavy expenditures has been encountered.

The diamond drill is being used more extensively than ever before in the copper district, and the borings are adding greatly to the fund of exact knowledge regarding the territory lying to the south of the Portage Lake district, which, previous to the revival of two and three years ago, had been unexplored or abandoned for many years. The diamond drill is being used so largely in all parts of the world that the supply of black diamonds and bortz is inadequate, and were it not for the enforced idleness of the great Witwatersrand gold field in South Africa, it is a question as to what price the black carbons would reach. As it is now, the cost of setting a single bit for a drill ranges from $800 to $1200, and the cost of drilling is consequently very high, per foot. In firm rock long cylindrical cores are obtained, but where the formation is greatly disturbed, as in the vicinity of the Elm River, Winona and Wyandot mines, the rock is so badly shattered that the cores come to the surface in the shape of fragments that require great care and considerable skill in reading.

The new Baltic mill is practically completed, and will soon be fitted with its machinery.

The new mill of the Mass is enclosed and will be finished in the next few weeks.

A gang of workmen has begun cleaning the site for the new mill of the Adventure. Work on the foundations for the new Trimountain mill, in the same vicinity, is well advanced.

A surveying party started work this week on the sites of the new mills of the Wolverine and Mohawk, on Traverse bay, Lake Superior. Work on the foundations will be started during the present month, and the mills will be erected and equipped as soon as possible. The Mohawk & Traverse Bay railroad, running between the mines and mill sites, is in good shape for early completeion, the grading having been finished, while ties and ralls can be laid in a short time, when the railroad is needed.

The machinery now on hand at the Belt mines will be sufficient, with very few additions, for the reopening and development of the mines to the point of production. Among the other machinery assets is a stamp mill, in fair running order, which can be used to turn some of the rich rock into cash, if such action seems desirable to the management.

Some of the Eastern papers have inferred that the statements sent from this district that copper was being shipped by rail as rapidly as smelted, were untrue, because they have just learned that the Calumet & Hecla has been accumulating a large reserve supply of mineral since the close of navigation. Some years ago the Calumet & Hecla, following its usual policy of duplicating all branches of its service, erected extensive smelters at Black Rock, Buffalo, to supplement those previously built at South Lake Linden. The mineral smelted at Buffalo is all shipped during the season of navigation by lake, and in consequence of this policy a certain proportion of the mineral, or rough copper, with its adhering gangue of conglomerate rock, is stored near the mills during the winter for summer shipment. The copper actually smelted has been shipped as rapidly as produced, by rail, during the winter. Lake navigation will open in the copper country ports about April 28, from present indications, and a cessation of rail shipments may be looked for at any time, to permit the smelters to accumulate cargoes for vessel shipment, the mixed lake-and-rail route being about $8 per ton cheaper, to tidewater, than all-rail shipments direct from the smelters to the seaboard.

Engine house No. 15, at the amygdaloid shaft of the same number of the Calumet & Hecla, is nearing completion. The amygdaloid shafts should be equipped and in steady commission by the close of the year, and the six-stamp addition to the Hecla mill, now building at Lake Linden to treat amygdaloid rock from these openings, is progressing very well, and will soon be ready to start production. It is probable that the Calumet & Hecla will be able to make about 20,000,000 pounds of copper annually from the amygdaloid shafts when in full commission, or approximately as much copper as was made last year by the Tamarack.

Among the freak bills introduced in the state legislature at Lansing is one providing for a graduated specific tax on copper, ranging from one-sixteenth cent per pound on annual products of 5,000,000 pounds or less, up to half a cent per pound on products exceeding 50,000,000 pounds. The bill, while aimed at all of the mines, is especially directed against the Calumet & Hecla, and, if it became law, which is improbable, would impose an annual state tax of about $500,000 on the mine. Previous to 1891 the Michigan mines paid a specific tax of 75 cents per ton on their production, but in that year the system of taxation was changed, and the mines are now assessed precisely as other real and personal estates are assessed, which is the only fair method of taxation.

The Adventure has contracted for double-cone hoists, similar in general plan to the great hoist at No. 3 Tamarack, which are to raise six-ton skips.

The Mass continues to produce large quantities of heavy copper, and a mass, weighing nearly twenty tons, has recently been cut. Faith in the future of this property is apparently well justified.

The unwatering of the old Minnesota mine through the pump shaft of the Michigan is proceeding steadily and effectively, and the water will soon be down to a point where the old mine can be reached by a crosscut from the bottom of the Michigan. The job of clearing out the old mine will be a very tedious one, but perseverance will accomplish all things. Diamond drill borings recently made show the trap rock adjoining the Minnesota bids fair to produce millions of dollars' worth of copper under the new name of Michigan, irrespective of what may be accomplished in the way of production from the Calico lode.

HOW HE DID IT.

At a dinner party several days ago, where a number of government officials and their wives were guests, the conversation, which had become informal and general, turned on the subject of tricks with cards, says the New York Sun. One of the men produced a pack and proposed to show the company a most remarkable performance. He asked the hostess to have a soup tureen brought, and it was done. Then he asked the lady at his right to draw a card from the pack and make a mental note of it. She did so and returned the card at random to the deck. The performer next asked three or four of the male guests to shuffle the cards in turn, and requested the last of them to place the pack in the soup tureen and put the cover on. Turning to the lady who had drawn the card, he asked her in what order she would have it appear from the top of the pack, and she said she would like to have it in the seventeenth place. One of the gentlemen then took the pack from the soup tureen and counted the cards from the top, face down.

"What was your card?" the performer asked the lady, and she replied that it was the ace of spades. The seventeenth card was turned over and proved to be the ace of spades.

A few days later a cabinet officer, who was one of the guests, met the performer and asked for an explanation of that interesting card trick.

"Oh, that was an easy one," he replied. "You see, that was a pack of my own, and there were 52 aces of spades in it."

IT TOOK.

It was just after a dinner and the man who had been sitting next to the young woman with the beautiful arms and neck thought that he was the most fortunate individual in the room, says the New York Sun. He said all the bright things he could bring to mind and was congratulating himself that he was keeping up his end of the conversation fairly well, when the young woman began to display signs of nervousness. She gazed around the room as if looking for an avenue of escape, moved uneasily in her seat and allowed two or three jokes to pass her by without making it evident that she recognized them. Astonished and half alarmed, the man looked at her inquiringly, and, meeting his look, she said:

"I am in misery."

"In misery?" echoed the man.

"Yes," she replied. "I was vaccinated the other day and it has taken beautifully. I could almost screma, it hurts so."

The man looked at the beautiful arms and, seeing no mark there, said:

"Why, where were you vaccinated?"

"In New York," she replied with a smile.

BEARS IN CONTROL

Clipped Another Sharp Notch Off Wheat Price.

Snow's Crop Report Proves the Demoralizing Feature.

The Finest Condition For Years At Opening of Spring.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 6.—The bears clipped another good sized notch off the price of wheat today. Everything went their way. All news was bearish and corn which opened very strong lost part of its advance and its sustaining influence was not there lent to wheat. Snow's crop report took all the spirit out of those who believed in higher prices. It was as follows:

"In the past twenty years the prospect at the beginning of the spring growth has never been better than it is today and in that period it is doubtful if it has been, all things considered, equaled more than twice. The highest April condition officially reported since 1882 was 96.9 in 1891, and its average for this whole period is only 84.5. Last year, at this date it was 82.1. Carefully considered local reports from nearly every wheat growing country show that present prospects is little, if any, lower than in 1891, while in the territory west of the Mississippi river it is better even than that year." Snow further said the winter wheat condition approaches perfection except Ohio and Michigan.

The Modern Miller was also bearish.

The market started out weak and barring one or two slight rallies, sagged all morning. There was liberal selling by the commission houses at Chicago, which aided in depressing prices. The Northwest receipts were liberal and the Argentine shipments of wheat amounted to 1,696,000 bus last week.

Chicago reported cash sales on Thursday of 250,000 bus. At the seaboard exporters took 252,700 bus of wheat. Bradstreet reported exports of wheat and flour this week at 4,698,693 bus, last year 3,837,000 bus. Australian shipments were reported at 451,000 bus, last week 1,384,000 bus.

Trading was fairly active on the Duluth board. May wheat open ¼c off a 75⅜c, sold at 72⅞c at 9:50, declined to 72⅜-⅝c at 10:22, and then reacted to 72¾c at 10:36, sold down to 72½c at 11:10, slumped to 72¼c at 11:45 and closed at 72¾c, a net decline of 1⅛c for the day. Chicago declined 1⅛c.

Cash sales amounted to 15,000 bus at ⅝c under May for wheat to arrive and 1½c under for wheat in store.

There was great interest in the corn market this morning. It opened with a rush at Chicago, selling at 44⅞c at the opening, an advance of 1⅝c over Thursday's close. That was the high point, however, and it steadily declined to the close although it still closed at an advance of ⅝c. Phillips was closely watched, but there was more or less mystery about his doings. He was on both sides of the market during the morning, but was thought to have sold more than he bought.

In Duluth corn showed an advance of 1c. May flax was off 2c, cash flax 1½c and to arrive flax 2¼c. Rye was also off ¼c and oats and barley were unchanged.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72⅝c; to arrive, 73⅝c. No. 1 northern, cash, 70⅝c; to arrive, 71⅝c; May, 72⅝c; July, 73½c. No. 2 northern, 65⅝@68⅝c. No. 3 spring, 66@68c. Oats, 27¼@27c. Rye, 50½c. Barley, 35@55c. Flax, cash, $1.57; to arrive, $1.57; May, $1.59; September, $1.15. Corn, 40½c; May, 41c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 160; corn, 4; oats, 7; rye, 5; flax, 4. Receipts—Wheat, 103,710; corn, 1012; oats, 16,267; rye, 1436; barley, 226; flax, 14. Shipments—None.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Great Excitement And Marked Strength Exhibited.

Chicago, April 6.—Great excitement and marked strength characterized the opening of the corn market today. May, at the beginning sold from 44c to 44⅞c, ¼@⅝c higher than Thursday's close. A flood of country buying orders, probably influenced by the wet weather were in the pit. For a few minutes offerings were scarce, but scattered lots of long stuff began to come out and May, during the first hour, reacted to 44¼c. There was no evidence of buying by Phillips. Receipts were 515 cars, 107 of contract grade, including yesterday's arrivals.

May later worked back to 44c but closed strong, ⅝c over Thursday's close at 44⅝c. Phillips bought moderately throughout the session.

Wheat was nervous and developed considerable weakness early. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 72¼@72c, and sold down to 71⅝c, with the corn reaction. Commission houses sold liberally. Local receipts were 155 cars, one of contract grade while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 498 cars against 369 last week, and 463 a year ago. Argentine shipments, according to the board of trade cable, were 1,696,000 bus last week.

Wheat under hammering by bears later broke ⅝@¾c and closed weak, 1½c lower at 70¾c.

May oats opened ¼@½c higher, at 25⅞c, touched ⅝c and sold to 26¼c, with corn. Receipts were 381 cars.

Provisions were unchanged and easier in sympathy with a rather weak hog market and on prediction of liberal receipts Monday. May pork opened unchanged to 5c higher at $15.20@15.25 and declined on liquidation to $14.97½; May lard opened 5c lower as $8.37½, and May ribs 5c down at $8.15.

Close: Wheat, April, 70¼c; May, 70¾c; July, 71⅝c. Corn, April, 43⅝c; May, 44⅛c; July, 43⅞c. Oats, April, 25½@25⅝c; May, 25⅝@25¾c; July, 25½c. Pork, April, $14.75; May, $14.85; July, $14.87½. Lard, April, $8.47½; May, $8.35; July, $8.25@8.27½. September, $8.35. Ribs, April, $8.12½; May, $8.12½; July, $8.00@8.02½; September, $8.00. WEARE'S REPORT.

Chicago, April 6.—Since May wheat began to be traded in, it has not shown as low a point as it touched today, selling at 69⅝c. Early prices were around 72¼c, but the market closed at the lowest and looked weak at the close. A favorable report of April conditions which showed an average of the highest in twenty years, produced a steady liquidation on the part of wheat holders and inspired more confidence among the short sellers. There were no cables, so no indication from abroad was felt. The world's shipments were 8,500,000 bus. There was some export business on the break, but only in a moderate way. Clearance for two days were 681,000 bus. We must confess that there appears to be absolutely nothing on the speculative horizon at this writing to create an sustaining influence in the wheat market. With a condition remarkably high, with an export demand only sufficient to take care of the ordinary movement of grain and making no inroads on the large visible supply and with continued liquidation of the May option, the tendency of wheat values must inevitably be downward. Helps may, of course, come from some unexpected source in the way of unprecedented weather conditions or any complications political, but at the present moment these are not visible.

In contrduction to the weakness in wheat, there has been a remarkable strength in corn with prices touching 44⅞c, the highest so far. This is 1⅝ over the close of Thursday and 4 cents over the low prices produced Wednesday. There was a good deal of local profit-taking and some selling by Phillips, but the trade being on a very large scale and the shorts have evidently been numerous enough to take care of the very handsome profits which some longs have been securing. Clearances for two days, 960,000 bus. There is no shipping demand. Looks to us that the short interest in corn is very appreciably less and there is a noticeable absence of a cash demand, these facts together with the fact that May liquidation must increase daily and owing to the very much oe-sided snentiment and overbought condition, leads us to think that profit-taking is more than advisable around these prices.

The May oats touched 26¼c early, helped by large commission houses buying, and also help from Phillips. Weather was a factor. There is no cash demand and consequently speculation is principally a factor in this advance. Weather conditions will be watched closely from now on as the effect upon oats will be pronounced.

The provision market has been easy. Armour is credited with being a seller of July and September ribs. The market has been a small one, hogs were 5c lower. Hogs West, 42,000, against 48,000 last year. Stocks of lard are expected to decrease again next week. This is a bullish factor, but May liquidation may prove the offset.

PLEASED WITH CZAR

His Decision on Manchuria Worthy of Enlightened Sovereign.

President McKinley Sees Proof of Sincere Regard For Harmony.

The Czar's Motive Is to Preserve Concert of Powers.

Washington, April 6.—The determination of the Russian government not to press to a conclusion the negotiations begun some time ago with the Chinese government in regard to Manchuria has naturally given great gratification to the government of the United States. The president is understood to recognize in this act of the czar another proof of his sincere regard for harmony with the powers now engaged in negotiations in China, and his determination to do nothing to impede the speedy and satisfactory conclusion of these negotiations. In his view it is an act worthy of the enlightened sovereign who initiated the conference at The Hague. The government of the United States is especially gratified by the termination of the late complications, as it has constantly been in harmony with that of Russia in all the main points of our policy in China. It is the belief, and generally entertained in government and diplomatic circles in Washington, that no motive can be assigned for this resolution except the desire to preserve the concert of powers, as it was clearly within the discretion of Russia to pursue whatever course that government thought best for its interest, and it may be said with absolute certainty that nothing in the way of pressure or of combination has been put upon the Russian government to induce this result. It is true, the government of the United States on March 1 made known its views of the matter, and communicated them with entire frankness to all the powers interested, but no joint representation, it may safely be asserted, has ever been made to Russia or to China.

Missabe Road May Pay Taxes Direct to the County.

County Board Arranges Conferences With Road Officials.

Believed To Come From Suggestion Made By Road.

If a deal that is pending goes through St. Louis county may be helped out to the extent of $100,000 a year or so on taxes in the near future. The deal is to get the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company to pay its taxes to the county instead of to the state.

It is understood that a tip come indirectly from the road that it would be willing to do this providing the county agreed to be a little easier on it than the state will be. In fact the proposition is said to have originated in the company itself.

This morning a resolution was prepared to be introduced at the meeting of the county board this afternoon appointing a committee of four, in conjunction with the county attorney, Wilson G. Crosby, to interview the officers of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company with a view to discussing this matter. There was little doubt, in fact none at all, that the resolution would have the vote of every member of the board, and the chances seem favorable that the deal will go through.

If it does it will be a great help to the county, to the city of Duluth, and to all the local taxing bodies that have anything to do with the sections tarough which the road runs. The railroad is entirely within the bounds of St. Louis county, and if it is willing to do so there is no reason why it should not pay its taxes to the county rather than to the state. At present the stategets every dollar of taxes that he road pays, and the county and city get nothing whatever. The proposed change would mean just so much clear gain in taxes, and would increase local tax burdens immensely without increasing that of the railroad in the least. The city of Duluth would come in for a considerable share, for besides the right-of-way that is in the city limits, the docks and terminals in the West End are very valuable.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad is now paying its taxes to the state of Minnesota by turning in 2 per cent of its gross earnings to the state treasury every year. During the coming summer the road, having been in existence ten years, will come into the class that pays 3 per cent under the present law. The matter of paying a gross earnings tax in lieu of all other taxes is optional with the railroad, and if it sees fit it can cease paying to the state and begin paying to the county.

It will get off easier on taxes on this basis than it does now, or at least easier than it will when it begins to pay 3 per cent. It is estimated that 3 per cent on its gross earnings will make about $125,000. On an average tax of 24 mills this would place the valuation for purposes of taxation at about $5,000,000. This is equivalent on the usual basis to about $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 actual valuation, and it is not likely that the assessed valuation of the road would be s much as $5,000,000. The reson for this is that while the road is short and not especially valuable in itself, its earnings are so great that it will pay a tax out of proportion to the size of the road if it pays under the gross earnings system.

SURRENDER.

Several More Insurgent Commands Lay Down Their Arms.

Manilla, April 6.—The following surrenders have occurred: The insurgent Gen. Arejola, with thirty officers and 800 men, at the town of Nueva Caceres, in the province of South Camarines, Southern Luzon; the remainder of the command of Maj. Pablo Tecson, consisting of nineteen officers, 173 men and 133 rifles, at the town of San Miguel de Mayumo, Pulacan province, Central Luzon, and sixteen officers and seventy men in Pulacan province and at other points.

The wholesale grocery dealers of Manilla report doubled sales of groceries since the investigation into the alleged commissary scandals was commenced.

MAINE TOWN BURNED.

Lisbon Falls Loses Twenty-Eight Buildings.

Lisbon Falls, Maine, April 6.—A fire, which started in the Everett block here, at 1:30 o'clock this morning, resulted in the destruction of twenty-eight buildings in the business portion of the town, and it is believed the loss will approximate $250,000. With the aid of engines from Lewiston and Bath, the flames were controlled at 4:30 o'clock.

Holborn Hostelry Made Famous By Dickens.

London, April 6.—The Black Bull Inn, the last of the ancient hostelries in Holborn, is to be pulled down. It was here that Dickens laid the scene of the nursing experiences of Mrs. Gamp and Betsy Prig and where the immortal Sairey perpetrated so many of her historic expressions. After standing for over 300 years it is now to make way for modern buildings, which will soon replace all the old haunts so dear to Dickens.

BIG SCHEME.

Vessel Men to Try to Eliminate Competition.

It is asserted that the vessel owners who are behind the proposed combination of interests, or a pool of vessel property, have evolved a very ingenious way of conducting the business that rates may be maintained to what they consider the proper standard. This pool is said to be a very close organization. The plan is to make an estimate of the material that is to be moved within a stated perior of time and then each vesselman will be allotted so much to carry, this amount to be in proportion to the number of vessels that he has entered in the pool. Thus if 200 boats are entered in a pool and a man owns 8 of them, he gets 4 per cent of the tonnage to move, provided, of course, that his boats are of the standard size. If the ore shipment should be 2,000,000 tons, he would be allowed 80,000 tons. After he had carried his allotment for a month he would be expected to lay his boats up until he had something else to do on his regular business.

The Cleveland Leader says that the vesselmen have decided to attempt the daring feat of almost eliminating competition among the vessel owners, and of giving the trade only such vessels as it demands. This is calculated to have the effect of making the rates as strong as the vessel owners desire and it will effectually do away with the idea of having at all times from three to a dozen boats rushing after a single cargo, while the shipper sits back and enjoys the scramble, and finally succeeds in naming the rate most acceptable to himself. The movement is said to be backed by some of the longest heads in the marine business and men that will not look for any failure of any plant that they attempt. The vesselmen are said to have nothing to lose by the venture, but everything to gain. The meeting to be held next Wednesday is believed to be for the purpose of completing arrangements.

The strife between the marine engineers and the vessel owners on the lakes is getting more and more interesting and complicated. The engineers are keeping in close touch with the members of their organization all over the country and are constantly assuring each other that there will be no wavering. On the other side the vessel owners have started what might be termed an employment agency. The country is said to be ransacked for available material and as fast as the men appear they are given jobs. Men from all possible coast points are said to be receiving offerus of good salaries and their expenses to the principal ports of the lakes where the boats will be offered them.

While this is going on the engineers are not asleep. Daily reports by wire show where the men are located and their disposition toward the association. The engineers claim to know where each man holding a government license is located along the lakes, and the confident that not a man in the organization can be prevailed upon to go to work before some understanding is arrived at between President Uhler and the executive committee of the Lake Carriers' association. There is scarcely a marine man to be found that does not predict a delay after the opening of navigation before the boats are put in commission.

After Sickness

Take Vinol—Our Great Strength Creator.

IT GIVES ONE A SPLENDID APPETITE.

AND QUICKLY REBUILDS THE SYSTEM.

We Will Refund the Price of Vinol if It Fails.

The patient's strength is depleted, his system is generally demoralized, relapses are continually feared, and naturally.

The one thing to aid recovery is to give the patient that which will enable him to get strong, and at the same time give strength direct to the different organs of the body.

Nothing will do this like Vinol.

It acts directly on the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements to increase the weight of the patient and to make new healthy flesh and muscle tissue and pure, rich, red blood.

The following is a letter showing where Vinol was taken and did good after a case of sickness. It reads as follows:

"I wish to certify to the very great benefit which has been derived from the use of Vinol in my family. My wife was very sick with the grippe and afterward was wholly run down. One bottle of Vinol places her on her feet in better condition than she had been before in six months. I heartily recommend and endorse it."—HENRY F. STURTEVANT, 81 Huntington St., Brockton, Mass.

Everything that is in Vinol is plainly printed on the label of each package.

We know Vinol is a splendid preparation, and in many cases we have been able to see for ourselves the wonderful results it brings about.

Remember that we guarantee Vinol and refund the purchase money if you are not satisfied.

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You Are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law, and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments and salves to powders, liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies, it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh, but because catarrh sufferers who used these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets being composed of Eucolyptol, Hydrastin, Guaicol and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste, and being dissolved in the mouth, they take immediate effect upon the mucous lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance, when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character renders them perfectly safe for the general public to use, and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full-sized packages.

Two New Houses to Go Up on Second Street.

The week has been a good one in real estate. All of the real estate agents have been busy, and a number of good sales have been made. Rental matters, too, are brisk with the approach of May 1.

George H. Crosby & Co. this week received orders from an Eastern party to build two 7-room houses with all modern conveniences as soon as possible. They are to be located on Second street between Tenth and Twelfth avenues east. The details are not yet arranged, so the details and the names of the parties cannot yet be given out. The firm also has a number of good deals under way, and during the week negotiated the sale of a farm in Douglas county.

BIG FLOODS

Water Rising Fast In New England Rivers.

Thousands of Employes Are Out of Work.

Boston, April 8.—Flood conditions in the various rivers of New England, resulting from the copious rains of the past week, did not improve today. The rivers continued to rise, and indications at nearly all points were that the record of the great floods of 1896 would be reached, if not surpassed. The absence of ice, which went out last week from many of the rivers, thus far has prevented serious damage to property, but today thousands of mill operatives were compelled to stop work, as factories could not be operated on account of the high water.

The chief property damage reported up to midday was to railroads and highways from washouts. Lowlands in all sections were inundated. At one or two points bridges had been washed away and in some places the structures had been weakened. This had caused considerable interruption to traffic upon various short railway lines in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, but trains in the main lines were running with nearly the usual regularity. Among the mills which were compelled to shut down today were many at Lawrence, Mass., where 20,000 hands were idle; at Lowell, where the majority of the corporations suspended; at Lewiston, Me., Manchester and Nashua, N. H.,

At Lowell the street railroad power house was in the midst of a lake; at Nashua the light, heat and power company was on the verge of suspension. Up to today the average rainfall in New England had been 2:68 inches since April 1. Light rains were falling over the whole of Northern New England today, but the weather forecasters said that the indications were that the weather would clear late this afternoon or tonight.

FAVORS FOR AGUINALDO

He Is to Be Removed Soon to a Large House In a Fashionable Locality, Beside the Pasig River.

Manilla, April 8.—Gen. MacArthur says it is impossible to make a statement concerning Aguinaldo now.

It is possible that Aguinaldo will soon be removed from the Malacanang palace to a large house, with pleasant grounds, No. 56 General Solano street, a fashionable quarter of the city, beside the Pasig river, which is being renovated and prepared for occupancy.

Aguinaldo is purchasing diamonds and other jewelry. He continues to receive certain visitors, but newspaper correspondents are excluded.

It is said that the manifesto which he has been preparing has not yet been signed, and it is added that Aguinaldo is reluctant to comply with the conditions. It appears that the majority of the Filipinos in Manilla distrust Aguinaldo and dislike to see him accorded special favors. They say he ought to be severely punished.

Gen. Sandico, a former member of Aguinaldo's cabinet, has surrendered to the American authorities at Cabanatuan, in the province of New Ecija. He has a bad record and may be tried.

The trial of M. Brix Hoelterman, the Belgian who was connected with the Philippine Trading company and whose arrest on the charge of furnishing supplies to the insurgents was announced Feb. 19, has been completed. The evidence of the Filipino, Col. Herrera, who recently surrendered, clinched the prosecution. The colonel testified that Hoelterman had furnished money and supplies to the insurgents.

OUTCOME IS IN DOUBT

Officials and Employes of Central Railroad Have Not Been Able as Yet to Adjust Their Wage Differences.

New York, April 8.—Neither employers nor employed have made decisive moves in the wage dispute that may terminate with a strike on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. It is expected that the men will confer within the next twenty-four hours and by vote agree upon a plan of action. It is difficult to take the measure of the sentiment of the moving army of men that a railway system employs, but as far as it can be sounded on the Central, the men seem moved by a spirit of conservatism and to be inclined to refrain from striking until every resource of conference and arbitration has been exhausted. The withdrawal from the city of the chiefs of the Brotherhood of Railroad Men after an unsuccessful attempt to secure a conference with the officials of the railroad, restores the dispute to one directly between the company and its men.

Charles H. Warren, vice president of the company, speaking for the railroad, made this statement today to the Associated Press:

"The brotherhood chiefs evidently do not know that it is a custom of railroads to close their general offices on Saturday afternoon. We were closed in usual custom on Saturday and in addition to that I was called away on business. I think under these circumstances it was somewhat unusual for them to expect me to meet them at the time named by them. We are prepared to be entirely reasonable about the matter. We want no dispute with employes, and are prepared to pay them the wages paid by other roads in the vicinity. When our men first came forward with a request for an increase in pay, we detailed some of our officials to make an investigation of the wage scales of the other roads. We conferred with committees and as a result of inquiry some of the wages on the road were increased. Some were not and the men drawing them further expressed their dissatisfaction. We have told them that we will take any seven railroads they designate, and with a joint committee or a committee to which we and they shall name, outside men, make an investigation of the pay of the men employed by them, and abide by the results of the showing made. We have also asked our men to point out any specific case of treatment that is unfair and agreed to right any injustice that may be shown. As I have said, we do not wish to be unfair, and we freely invite the men to make known their objections and wishes. I do not know of anything that will be done today, nor do I know of any plan for a conference. I cannot make any prediction as to what will be done on either side."

MIRACULOUS.

A Youth Received a Heavy Electric Shock And Lives.

Houghton, Mich., April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ray Eggleston, aged 20, while helping in the installation of a new dynamo at the Peninsula Electric Light and Power company's plant in Houghton, came in contact with overhead live wires at 9 o'clock this morning, receiving a great shock of several thousand volts He was not killed, but is in a very serious condition and had a miraculous escape.

WANTS TO BE MAYOR.

Albert Parker Brings Suit at Topeka.

Topeka, April 8.—Albert Parker filed suit in the district court today asking a writ of mandamus to compel Col. J. W. F. Hughes to turn the office of mayor over to Parker on the ground that he was legally elected mayor. On the face of the returns Col. Hughes, the law and order candidate, received a majority of seven. Mr. Parker's name appeared on the Democratic and citizens' ticket.

ON LOUBET.

Detectives Learn of a Plot to Assassinate President.

London, April 8.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Paris says that the French detectives were privately informed of a projected attempted to assassinate President Loubet during his coming trip. Extraordinary precautions have been taken everywhere and the usual police protection has been doubled. Outsiders have been excluded from the railroad stations. Ten thousand soldiers have been detailed to maintain order during the French president's stay at Nice, where stringent orders have been issued to rigorously suppress the slightest hostile demonstration. President Loubet is inclined to laugh at the detectives' fears that an attempt will be made upon his life.

EASTER MEET.

London, April 8.—At the first day of the Manchester Easter meet today, the Lancashire handicap steeple chase for 2000 sovereigns, distance 3½ miles and a half, was won by J. Lonsdale's bay gelding, Coragh Hill. E. J. Percy's gray mare Bonnie Dundee, won second place, and R. F. Hunt's brown gelding Grand Attack, was third. Fourteen horses ran.

MINISTER IS ANXIOUS

Wu Ting Fang Calls Early at the State Department.

Seeking Information of Reported Interruption of Relations.

Reports Received Were Contradictory and But Little Is Known.

Washington, April 8.—The Chinese minister was an early caller at the state department today to seek information as to the report, based on advices to the state department, that there had been an interruption of the diplomatic intercourse between Russia and China. Mr. Wu had not been advised of any such development, and the information before the state department was so contradictory that it did not permit any clear idea of the real state of affairs. The doubt arises from the fact that Mr. Rockhill's latest dispatch does not mention any such disarrangement, and the officials feel bound to accept this as pretty strong evidence that prior intimations of discord have not taken actual form. Yet the dispatch received from Mr. Squires, the American charge d'affaires in the absence of Minister Conger, appear to have been quite explicit that the difficulty already had made itself manifest. It is thought possible at the state department that the circumstances to which Mr. Squires refers occurred prior to the receipt in Pekin of the last Russian note, and that the trouble may have been adjusted subsequently.

The state department maintains an attitude of doubt and expectancy, and is not yet prepared to admit that there has been an interruption of intercourse between the two countries, either limited or complete.

Aside from the telegraphic advices, there are some attending circumstances which indicate that at least some strain or partial interruption of intercourse has occurred. The fact developed in Washington about a week ago that Russia had delivered to China what amounted to an ultimatum on the signing of the Manchurian agreement. This followed the usual course of ultimatums and fixed a definite limit of days within which China could act. It also conveyed the clear intimation that unfavorable action by China would lead to a severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The limit of time fixed is believed to have been one week, and to have expired last Wednesday. China did not sign within the limit, and the next day, Thursday, Russia addressed her note to the powers which has been accepted as removing the pressure over the Manchurian agreement. This at first seemed to be a waiver of her prior intimation of an interruption of diplomatic intercourse, and yet there was no such explicit waiver, and the latest advices from Pekin reporting that an interruption has now actually occurred seem to be directly in line with that threat previously conveyed.

In case there proves to be an interruption of the relations between Russia and China, it is not expected to disarrange the negotiations between the powers and China, or between Russia and the powers. It probably would be confined to a termination of the close entente long maintained between Russia and China.

PERRY FAILS.

New Torpedo Boat Does Not Meet Speed Requirements.

Washington, April 8.—Secretary Long was informed today that the torpedo boat Perry, built by the Union Iron works, of San Francisco, failed to meet contract speed requirements on her recent official trial. Under the contract the vessel was required to develop a speed of 29 knots an hour, but the best she could do on her trial run was 28:2 knots per hour. The action of the department has not yet been determined, but the vessel probably will be accepted subject to a slight deduction from the contract price.

SCORPION SAILS.

Will Bring Minister Loomis to San Juan.

Washington, April 8.—The navy department received a cablegram from Commander Sargent of the Scorpion today announcing the departure of that vessel from La Guayra for San Juan. Although no mention was made in the dispatch of Minister Loomis, it is understood that he is aboard the Scorpion and will be transferred at San Juan to a merchant steamer for conveyance to the United States. The minister will arrive at San Juan Wednesday evening or Thursday morning, and if he meets a steamer there promptly should be in New York the 18th inst.

THE BLAME PLACED.

Northern Star Was Responsible For Collision.

Buffalo, April 8.—In 1899, a collision occurred in St. Mary's river, between the steamer Northern Star and the Siemens and consort, Alex Homey, by which the latter boats, it is alleged, were damaged to the extent of $30,000. Suit was brought in the United States court and today Judge Hazel decided that the Northern Star was responsible for the collision. hTe Siemens and consort are the property of the Bessemer company while the Northern Star belongs to the Northern Steamship company.

SMALLPOX AT PANAMA.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 8.—Private advices received here from Panama, says, smallpox is prevalent there.

TIME TO ACT.

The Taxes of Iron Mines Should Be Raised.

Pay Less Than Their Fair Share of Taxation.

The iron mining industry of Minnesota is a magnificent industry, and a source of great pride to the state and to the city of Duluth, but a general impression is getting about that it is getting off altogether too easily in the matter of taxes, and that it is time that it should be made to pay its proper proportion of the public expense.

It may be thought that it is being taxed as other property is taxed, but it is not. The assessments on the iron mines of this county are ridiculously low, compared with the assessments on other property, and the worst of it is that while other property remains on the ground and can be taxed properly some other year if it gets off too lightly this year, the iron industry is rapidly melting away, and the chances are that if proper assessments are not made soon it will have disappeared from the state before it is compelled to pay its proper share of taxes.

The iron mines of this county are assessed at something less than $10,000,000.

They should be assessed at not less than $75,000,000, not only for this year and for future years, but for the years in the past when they have escaped at greatly less than the assessments they should have had.

A great trouble with getting at proper assessments of the iron properties of the county has always been the difficulty of getting at their actual value. A mine as a prospect has a very hazy value. The discovery of ore in a considerable value brings its worth up largely but the body may not be so large as reported, and on the other hand it may vastly exceed the original estimates. So the boards of equalization, county and state, have always had trouble in getting at a proper basis on which to make the assessments on the mines. Probably nobody but the actual owners of an iron property know its real value, and in some cases they may not be very sure about it.

So it has been a very easy matter for the representatives of the iron interests to pull the wool over the eyes of the equalizing bodies and get off with assessments that are now found to be ridiculously out of proportion with the assessments on other kinds of property.

Now, however, there is something to go upon. The recent acquisition of the property of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines, the Rockefeller corporation, gives an approximate basis upon which to get at the value of the iron properties of the county. It is not by any means exact, but exactness is probably impossible, so many things enter into the consideration of the values of iron mines. But it seems to be as near correct as can be made, and at any rate it is certainly fair to the iron companies.

The Consolidated has been taken into the United States Steel corporation on a basis of 135 in common stock and 135 in preferred stock of the combine for 100 in stock of the Consolidated. At the probable market price of the combine stock, about 100 for preferred and 50 for common, this would make a share of Consolidated stock worth $202.50. The Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines is capitalized at $30,000,000, which would make its real value, on this basis, about $60,750,000.

This includes the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, but that is bonded for practically all that it is worth, so it may be taken out of the consideration, leaving, in round numbers, $60,000,000 as the valuation of the iron properties in the Consolidated alone. Now the Consolidated does not by any means include all of the iron properties on the ranges. There are two iron ranges in this county, and the Consolidated's properties are all on the Mesaba range. There are many other properties of great value on the Mesaba range alone, not to mention those on the Vermilion range.

The total shipments of iron ore from Minnesota last season were nearly 10,000,000 tons. Of that amount something less than 4,000,000 tons were shipped from the properties owned by the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines. In other words, the Consolidated shipped two-fifths of the total.

The Consolidated mines are worth $60,000,000.

They represent properties from which two-fifths of last season's shipments of ore came.

On that basis the actual value of the iron properties of the two ranges would be at least $150,000,000.

No one will dare allege that that valuation is too high. Indeed, one prominent authority, who is well posted on mining values has said that the Consolidated properties alone are worth $200,000,000. So the total of $150,000,000 for the entire mining property of the county cannot be too high.

They are assessed for purposes of taxation at less than $10,000,000.

Real property in the city of Duluth is supposed to be assessed at about 50 per cent of its actual value. It pays taxes on that basis. The iron properties of St. Louis county are assessed at one-fifteenth of their value, placing that value as low as it can possibly be made.

On the same basis as other property, the assessment of the iron properties should reach $75,000,000 before they be-

TO ENLIST THE NATIVE

Navy Department to Secure Five Hundred Filipinos For Service on Gunboats In the Philippines.

New York, April 8.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Instructions have been cabled by Secretary of the Navy Long to Rear Admiral Remey, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, authorizing him to enlist 500 natives of the Philippines for service on board the former Spanish gunboats and other small vessels which are to be maintained exclusively in the Philippines. These men will form the nucleus of an important service composed solely of enlisted men. Rear Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the bureau of navigation, believes that, besides resulting in the government in obtaining efficient service, the employment of natives will spread respect for the flag and create a strong feeling of loyalty.

Reports received from Rear Admiral Remey have shown that Americans, especially those serving in the fire rooms, become quickly debilitated and it is necessary to send them to the United States or Japan to recuperate. It is believed that the health of Filipinos will not suffer, because they are acclimated, and if they do become ill it will be an easy matter for them to recover in the Philippines. No difficulty will be experienced in obtaining trained men. During the fall of 1898, Lieutenant Commander J. V. Coltman, now in charge of the enlisted men's branch of the bureau of navigation, opened the "escuela nautical," or nautical school to train Filipino youths to carry on their inter-island commerce. Good results have been obtained from this school.

There is no law specifically authorizing the enlistment of Filipinos, but it is pointed out that whether the supreme court adjudges the natives foreigners or citizens, it will make no difference in this case, as almost one-fifth of the enlisted men of the navy are of foreign nationality.

DIPLOMATIC

Is the Action of Russia With Respect to China.

New York, April 8.—Russia's announcement of her determination not to press to a conclusion the negotiations respecting China is regarded here as a piece of diplomacy, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. It has become clear during the last few days that if the Chinese emperor were to give his assent to the projected arrangement he would find himself confronted by a tide of opinion among his subjects that might overwhelm his authority. It is also surmised that Russia's philanthropic intentions may have been quickened by the bellicose attitude of Japan.

FEELING OF RELIEF

Over Russia's Decision Not to Press China.

Yokohama, April 8.—The news of Russia's decision not to press the Manchurian agreement was received here with a feeling of relief. In anticipation of complications that might ensue had Russia reached another conclusion, the government had resolved to postpone a number of important state undertakings, involving large expenditures.

BAD WRECK.

Central Pacific Train Met Disaster Near Wells, Nevada.

Ogden, Utah, April 8.—News was received here early today that the Central Pacific west-bound overland limited, due to arrive in San Francisco at 6:55 this evening, was wrecked two miles east of Wells, Nev. Of the meager details of the disaster which are had here, it is learned that two firemen were killed, that some of the cars of the train were badly smashed, and that the Pullmans caught fire. It is not thought there were any fatalities among the passengers, as none have been reported to division headquarters. The train was drawn by two engines, both of which were badly damaged. The cause of the accident is unknown.

MINE OWNER DEAD.

St. Paul, April 8.—William E. Johnson, a millionaire mine owner of Denver, is dead here after two weeks' illness.

Mr. Johnson built the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad and was heavily interested in the Denver & Southwestern railroad system, the new smelter at Florence and mines in Cripple Creek and other Colorado districts. He was about 56 years of age.

EGG ROLLING.

Annual Fete of Children on the White House Grounds.

Washington, April 8.—The picturesque egg rolling fete of the children of Washington occurred in the White House grounds today. The gathering of the multitude of youngsters of all ages and colors in the large terraced grounds back of the White House each year for their Easter frolic is the sight of Washington.

Last Easter 25,000 persons witnessed the festival and this morning the gathering indicated that fully as many would be present today. hTe Marine band, which usually furnishes music for the occasion, is away on a tour of the country and in order not to deprive the children of this enlivening feature of their day, the Fourth artillery band at Fort Monroe was ordered here and played throughout the day. Mrs. McKinley, whose love for children, is well known, enjoys these frolics intensely and today spent most of the time at her window or on the White House verandah watching the little folks' sport.

REVERSED.

Railroads Secure Important Decisions From Supreme Court.

Washington, April 8.—In the supreme court today an opinion was handed down by Justice White in various cases involving the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce law. The principal opinion was rendered in the case of the East Tennessee & Georgia railroad and the charge was to the effect that a lower rate was charged on freight carried to Nashville than was charged on freight to Chattanooga, the distance to the first point being greater than to the latter. The decisions of the interstate commerce commission, the circuit court and the circuit court of appeals, were antagonistic to the railroad, on different grounds. The opinion reversed all these decisions and was in favor of the railroad, though without prejudice.

Claim of Usury.

A mortgage foreclosure was set aside in district court this morning on the ground of usury. The case is that of John Johnson against Clara J. Gibbs and others, and the defendants claimed that though they had given a mortgage for $250, they had only secured $200, the $50 difference being retained as a sort of bonus in addition to the interest. On this ground the court gave judgment for the defendants, setting aside the mortgage. Judge Cant tried the case.

TWO ARE NABBED

A Couple of Bowery Nabobs Are Taken Into Custody.

Suspicions of the Detectives Result In Their Undoing.

Some Missing Plunder Is Found In Their Domicile.

The garish splendor of two of the Bowery's most shining lights is in a state of eclipse! For some time past the police have been carefully watching C. O. Swanson and Phillip Connor. They were suspected of many robberies, but were always too clever to be caught till last evening, when Capt. Resche and Detectives Troyer and Irvine trapped them in Swanson's home at 309 Sixth avenue west.

The saloon of Steve Harker, opposite the Union depot, was robbed between Saturday night and yesterday morning. In examining the job the detectives discovered that the entrance was gained without any great trouble and apparently by the use of a duplicate key.

Suspicion rested on Swanson. The officers knew that he had a pernicious habit of making duplicate keys in nearly every place where he had worked. They also knew that he had been discharged from Mr. Harker's employ a short time ago.

They worked on the case yesterday and early last evening decided to make a raid on Swanson's home at 309 Sixth avenue west. The two detectives went in the front way and knocked, while Capt. Resche, unobserved, went round to the rear door. Mrs. Swanson opened the door to the detectives and when they asked for her husband, she said that he left the house three hours before and she did not know where he was.

As she was telling this, Capt. Resche walked in the back way and saw Swanson and Connor making preparations to give the detectives a hot reception in case they tried to enter the house. The captain slipped in the back way and touched Swanson on the shoulder before he knew there was any person else in the room. Both fugitives were so completely surprised that they were dazed and the officers took them in custody without the slightest trouble.

They denied everything regarding the robbery of the Harker saloon. In searching the house the officers found several boxes of cigars which were stolen in this robbery concealed in Swanson's bed.

The two men were locked up and this morning, in making further investigations, Detective Troyer discovered that they had passed a check which did not belong to them last February. This check was for $54.40. It was lost by W. Murray, a railroad engineer. He was in Harker's saloon on Feb. 25, when Swanson was tending bar there. He dropped the check on the floor where it was found by Mr. Harker, who handed it to the bartender with instructions to turn it over to the owner in case he should show up. The bartender then told the proprietor that the check was worthless, and that he had burned it up.

He gave the check to Phillip Connor, however, and Connor cashed it at the clothing store of Charles Erickson, on the strength of a fraudulent identification he established by stealing letters from W. Murray. He exhibited these letters, which were in the same writing as the check, and the money was handed over.

In police court this afternoon Swanson was arraigned for stealing this check, and Connor for passing it and accepting the money, which he had no right to. Both were bound over, and the robbery case will not be brought against them till the meeting of the grand jury.

THE SERVICE.

Knights Templar Annual Easter Event at St. Paul's.

Duluth commandery, Knights Templar, about 100 strong, attended the services at the St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon. As usual, the services were very beautiful and impressive, the music being exceptionally fine. The sermon for the occasion was "The Idealism of the Crusader," delivered by Dr. Ryan and showing that the Crusader's chivalrousness and unquestioning reverence of holy things has exerted a potent influence in the progress of the world's civilization and the growth of Christianity. After the services at the church, the knights marched back to the Masonic Temple, where they went through the ceremony of relighting the tapers that were extinguished at the Maunday-Thursday banquet at the Spalding hotel. This ceremony was public and open to the families and friends of the fraternity, and was witnessed by a large crowd. The rite is a very solemn and impressive one, and was participated in by the officers of A. T. C. Pierson, Chapter of Rose St. Croix.

Dr. Ryan's text was taken from St. Matthew xiii:52, and was as follows: "A man * * * * * * which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old."

Dr. Ryan referred to the old tradition that the year 1000 was supposed to witness the end of the world, when the belief instead of making men religious started them into all kinds of rioting and practices of immorality. "But when that year came and went and the people found that the world would continue on just the same, they settled down to ordinary life and religion again, became desirable and spread broadcast over Europe. Two results followed, that were important among many others, the birth of chivalry and crusades. In those days the few were powerful and the many were oppressed. The whole country was in the grasp of the feudal lords, the countryside was wild and travelers were beset by robbers everywhere. It was the spirit of Christ that spurred up the nobler souls of the times to become knights errant for the weaker and the oppressed, and the knights cultivated courage, honor and mercy. This was a big advance over the customs of the times, it was an extension and application of the Christian principles which in the present day have merged in the courteous gentility that is refined, tactful and unselfish to a degree never before developed in mankind.

"The Christian compassion which eventuated chivalry also led noble knights to become guardians of the sick and poor pilgrims in Jerusalem and they were called Hospitalers. Other noblemen founded the Temple or Knights Templar, whose office it was to convey pilgrims in the Holy Land and clear the way of pagans. The knights had no nation, but the church; they were subject to the grand master of the order; they could hold no property individually; they merged themselves in the order so much that they seemed entirely ignorant of fear and were the valiant fighters of the time. They, of course, became the terror of the pagans, the bigoted and the fanatical. The order flourished and its numbers were increased from among the best families.

"The crusades were vain efforts of Western Christendom to reclaim the Holy land from the Moslem, and army after army was hurled against the pagan. The knights were ever the bulwark of the Christian cause. In our own times it would be easy to sneer at the crusader or the Knights Templar, for things are measured too much by the dollar standard. Yet down deep in the heart of every man is a profound admiration for such unselfishness and self-sacrifice, even when it is quixotic and impossible.

"While the Crusaders failed in part, they aided in the development of Europe. Literature and are were revived and commerce developed. Men were roused out of ruts and even the common people soon discovered a dignity of self-respect that won for them greater liberties and a more important office in the life of their time."

An Open Meeting.

The J. B. Culver post and the Woman's Relief corps will hold an open meeting tomorrow evening in the post hall, Masonic Temple building. Capt. Bragg and friends, from Superior, will attend. The Gorman post Department Commander Harries and others have been invited and are expected. There will be a very entertaining program, and refreshments will be served.

AT WEST DULUTH

With the returning signs of spring and the knowledge that the ice in the bay and river will soon be breaking up, those engaged in the steamer and boating business along the bay and river in West Duluth have begun to get their repairs made and their boats in trim for the excursion, picnic and fishing season, that will be in full swing in about two more months. The river front along in the vicinity of Sixty-first and Sixty-third avenues has been a popular place for boating, and already there is considerable activity about that location. Capt. Mann, proprietor of the steamer Mary Mann, which in past seasons has been so popular for excursions to Fond du Lac and Spirit island, has been away all winter, but will have his boat refitted and ready for business just as soon as the season opens. During the winter there has been more or less building of row and sail boats going on, and it is likely that a launch or two will be added to the flotilla at West Duluth. F. R. Hohnburg and Charles Johnson have purchased the 20-foot gasoline launch Babe of Duluth and will put it in at West Duluth to carry small picnic parties this summer. The Babe will carry ten people very comfortably, and is considered a very swift launch of its kind. A number of West Duluth young men have built, or are intending to build, summer cottages along the banks of the St. Louis river, on the Wisconsin side, and these are also building or purchasing boats to go back and forth from West Duluth during the season.

It is probable that the camping season will be observed more in Duluth this year than ever before. Frank Wade is having constructed a water bicycle, which is along lines entirely new from anything of the kind ever before attempted, and expects to have it ready for a trial trip as soon as the ice goes out and the water is warm enough for the person making the trial to swim ashore in case of accident. William Lambert is one of the inventors of many of the ingenious devices found on the machine which, if successful, will revolutionize water travel in West Duluth at least. The idea is one on which Mr. Lambert has been working for some time and until now has been unwilling to explain to the public.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Taylor entertained at their home, 212 Sixty-third avenue west, a number of friends at an Easter dinner and a supper yesterday. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Mundt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Kreuger, Mr. Gramzow and Mr. Goodanan.

MAKES A PROPOSAL

Commissioner Kugler Put a Proposition to J. B. Cotton.

Would Get Missabe Road Taxes Paid to the County.

An Old Promise of Alfred Merritt Is Recalled.

County Commissioner F. W. Kugler has a proposition to make on the matter of getting the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad to pay its taxes to the county instead of to the state. He has discovered that there is already extant a promise from the one-time head of that road to have its taxes go to the county instead of to the state. He proposes now, if the road will carry out that promise, to help get the county redistricted as the range people desire.

In January the board passed a resolution asking its counsel, Wilson G. Crosby, to look into the matters relating to the issuance of the bonus bonds of $250,000 to the Missabe road. At that time the idea was to see if something could not be done to get the stock that was offered to the county and refused, or to rescind the bonds.

Commissioner Kugler discovered, in looking these matters up, that when the matter was before the county board Alfred Merritt, as president of the railroad and chairman of its board of directors, made the promise referred to. He said that if the board in its wisdom decided to refuse to take the stock, he would see that the road paid its taxes to the county instead of to the state. It is a well-known matter of local history how Alfred Merritt was prevented from carrying out his promise, for not long after that the road passed out of the hands of the Merritt family.

"What I now propose," said Mr. Kugler this afternoon, "is that if Joseph B. Cotton, who represented the Mesaba range people in the hearing before the board Saturday on the petitions to redistrict the county, will aggree to endeavor to have this promise carried out, and to have the railroad contract to pay its taxes to the county for a certain period of years, say for fifteen or twenty, the board will proceed to redistrict the county as the Mesaba range people desire, giving them the two commissioners they ask for.

"The road will get off as lightly as it does now on taxes and the county will get the benefit. It will not hurt the road, and it will benefit the county and all of the taxpayers immensely. I see no difficulty about getting the matter through, and I hope Mr. Cotton will see fit to accept my proposition."

It is, therefore, up to Mr. Cotton.

Chances For Superior Street Improvement Grow Poorer.

The board of public works this morning decided to advertise for bids for a number of street and sewer improvements. These improvements together with the cost of improving Michigan street will make a draft of $35,000 on the permanent improvement revolving fund in which there is now a balance of $99,759.

In addition to this the board is expecting a petition for a big sanitary sewer improvement on Nineteenth avenue east. Numerous smaller improvements are about ready to be advertised, and it begins to look as if the permanent improvement revolving fund would be drained before the Superior street improvement is started.

Superior street can only be paved from the permanent improvement revolving fund. If smaller improvements drain that fund before the Superior street property owners get in a petition, there will be no repaving this summer, unless the property owners will put up the cash in advance of the assessment. That is very unlikely.

At its meeting this morning the board decided to advertise for bids for the paving of Fifth avenue west from the Omaha tracks to the city dock; to re-advertise for the grading of Fifth avenue east from Fourth street to Fifth street; to advertise for a sewer between First and Second streets from Fifteenth to Sixteenth avenues east.

All these proposed improvements have been properly petitioned for and in getting improvements out of the permanent improvement revolving fund it is a case of first come first served.

The board also decided to advertise for the yearly contracts for building sidewalks.

The members discussed the recent resolution of the council in which they were instructed to inspect the sidewalks once a month. The members sized up the twenty-six miles length of the city and then concluded that they would have to hire additional help if the council's resolution was carried out strictly.

Another matter that was taken up was the watering of diseased horses at public drinking fountains. The members favor some sort of provision by which all horses that are regularly watered at public fountains, shall be examined by a competent surgeon.

Samuel Thomas, former president of the Monon, in this city today. "I think the combination will be effected, for all the roads concerned are favorable to it," said Gen. Thomas. COURT IS ALARMED Rebellion of General Tung Fuh Sian Is Very Serious.

He Has 11,000 Troops In Mongolia and Shen Si.

Ministers of the Powers Will Probably Not Interfere.

Pekin, April 8.—The rumors which have been current during the past few days of the outbreak of a rebellion, headed by Gen. Tung Fuh Sian, the former commander of the northern army in the provinces of Mongolia and Shen Si, have been absolutely authenticated.

Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching have received information on the subject, though indefinite, still proves that the court is seriously alarmed.

Gen. Fu Sian was, according to the last accounts, about 15 miles from the court with 11,000 regular troops, all supposed to be devoted to himself. The court has about the same number of scidiers at Sian Fu, but it is probable that the troops of Tung Fu Sian are better drilled and better armed.

It is believed that the Mongolian rebellion was brought about through agents of Prince Tuan and Gen. Tung Fu Sian.

Lin Hung Chang thinks there are about 5000 regular troops in Mongolia and inclines to the belief that they have not joined in the rebellion. He does not think the court is in any danger and thinks the object of Prince Tuan and Gen. Ting Fu Sian is to create a diversion of interest in order to force unconditional protection of themselves. Unofficial Chinamen of intelligence regard the rising as most unfortunate at the present time, to the interests of China, and as meaning the use of foreign troops to protect even the court itself.

The ministers of the powers do not think that provided foreign interests do not suffer, any present interference is likely. If the dynasty should be overthrown, it would to a certain extent, delay the peace negotiations, but they consider that a regime not bound by tradition like those of the present court probabl ywill be much easier to deal with eventually, as the ceremonial could be much curtailed.

Prince Ching, who, as a relative, may be considered to take the court view of the situation, thinks the rebellion is a storm in a teacup. He says the present court is loved and respected by nine-tenths of the population of China and that the same proportion of able bodied men in China would rise to protect the existing dynasty. The empress dowager, as the adviser of the emperor, holds a place in the affections of the people not dreamed of and not understood by foreigners. Her slightest wish is the emperor's law, though he is by no means the figurehead the foreign powers frequently suppose.

ROMANTIC

Is the Story of Courtship of Miss Marie Satterfield.

New York, April 8.—The romantinc story of the courtship of Miss Marie Satterfield, the daughter of Mrs. John Satterfield, of Buffalo, and Franz Josef, (Count Von Larisch), of Austria, has become known at Allentown through friends of the coupie, according to a special to the Journal and Advertiser. The prospective bride, who has just reached her majority, met her future husband a year ago while touring the continent. The count who is 22, came to America several months ago, proposed marriage and was accepted.

The empress of Austria, is his aunt and when he was baptised the emperor stood as his sponsor, became his godfather and gave him his name.

Miss Satterfield and the count are visiting Allentown.

Prince Heinrich, one of the many Austrian princes and a close friend of the count, is expected in New York on Wednesday and the formal announcement of the engagement, it is then expected, will be made. Miss Satterfield's father, who was connected with the Standard Oil company, died suddenly in Europe, a few years ago and left the future countess, who is his only daughter, an independent fortune.

SHOWS HAND.

Steel Corporation States Position on Engineers' Strike.

Chicago, April 8.—The Post today says: For the first time the United States Steel corporation has indicated its position in the marine engineers' strike by a clear cut intimation to the Engineers' Benevolent association today that it would not consider any demands upon the part of the engineers' union, that its boats be taken out of the Lake Carriers' association. If the employes of the Steel corporation desire to take up any grievances they would be respectfully received and the grievances taken under consideration. The right of the Engineers' union to say whether the boats belonging to the steel trust should be enrolled in the Lake Carriers' association or not was flatly disclaimed.

Vessel owners generally have been waiting for an intimation on the part of the steel trust as to the position it would take regarding the strike. This, now, practically settles the issue between the vessel owners and the engineers. If the latter insist on not working for any member of the Lake Carriers, simply because they belong to that organization, the strike will continue indefinitely. It was reported today that President Uhler had decided to withdraw his boycott on the Lake Carriers and allow members of the union to treat directly with their employes without regard to membership in that organization. If such action is taken, the majority of the engineers will be at work by tomorrow, for between few employers and engineers is there any question of wages or number of men to be employed.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Chicago, April 8.—Despite efforts to rescue him, A. C. Berg, a barber, was burned to death at Western Springs, near here, last night in a fire which destroyed Berg's barber shop and Greenblad's general store. Charles Kustro, who also roomed in the building, attempted to rescue Berg, but was driven back and barely escaped alive. Loss nominal.

Native Christians In China.

While all the nations that had Christian missionaries in China have demanded and will insist upon indemnity for the lives of missionaries and for mission property destroyed by the Chinese, they have shown a remarkable indifference to the sufferings and losses of the native Christians. In Leslie's Weekly, Guy Morrison Walker, under the caption, "The Shame of Christendom," says: "It is the shame of Christian civilization that in the settlement of the Chinese difficulty there has been no recognition of the rights or losses of the native Christians, and that no indemnity for them has even been asked of the Chinese government." The Chinese converts have suffered astraciam and persecution from their countrymen and have benefited to a large extent the Christian nations and they certainly should receive recognition from the various governments. There seems to me but little gratitude manifested toward these long suffering people. The Chinese have murdered and plundered native Christians with impunity. Mr. Walker further says: "During the siege scores of these native Christians were killed, and now the survivors, the wives, children and dependent relatives of those who laid down their lives defending our people are asked to return to their burned and pillaged homes and begin life over again, with no other compensation for their losses than our prayers and our good wishes, while for our own people we demand the ransom of kings."

Extent of the Lobster Industry.

Those who are fond of that delicious and toothsome dish, a "broiled live," will be pleased to learn that the Maine lobster is receiving great attention and care from both the state and national governments. With the improved methods of transportation the market for fresh lobsters has extended over a wide territory and the fear that the fish might become extinct has awakened much solicitude for its welfare. Lobsters are now sent in refrigerator cars to nearly all the principal cities in the West, and the "broiled live" has made a sweeping conquest among epicures. The present condition of the lobster industry in Maine is highly satisfactory. Last year, with about the same number of persons engaged in the fishery as in 1899, the catch was about 11 per cent larger, the actual increase being 964,000 lobsters. The returns to the fishermen increased from $971,000 in 1899 to $1,037,000 in 1900. The catch last year was the largest since 1889, while values are now much greater than formerly. In 1900 the men averaged 2051 lobsters each, yielding $335 per man, the highest average in the history of the industry. The Maine law forbids the taking of lobsters under ten and a half inches in length, and this has been the means of preventing the extermination of the fish. Congress has appropriated $10,000 for the erection of a hatchery on the Maine coast, which will be located somewhere in Lincoln county. For some years the United States fish commission has, by permission of the marine department of fisheries, taken from Maine coast waters egg-bearing lobsters for the purpose of scientific observation and investigation, and in order to secure eggs for artificial propagation. In 1899 there were secured 3633 mature, egg-carrying lobsters, which were taken to Gloucester, Mass., where at the station of the United States fish commission the eggs were artificially hatched, producing 36,925,000 young lobsters for distribution. In 1900 there were secured in the same way 1944 egg-bearing lobsters, from the eggs of which were hatched 31,200,000 young lobsters, making a total for the two years of 68,625,000 young lobsters, which were freed in the waters of Maine, the old fish being also returned to the waters from whence they were taken. It is quite evident that in the past four years artificial propagation has considerably increased the number of the young fish reaching maturity under the artificial system than under natural conditions.

In 1900 there were collected by smacks and delivered at Portland 2,466,916 lobsters, and at Rockland 928,147 lobsters, a total of 3,395,063, as compared with 2,988,568 in 1899. In 1900 there were engaged in the collection and delivery of lobsters at the ports named fifteen steam smacks valued at $70,700 and thirty-nine sailing smacks valued at $46,335. The average price paid to fishermen for lobsters in 1900 was 12 2-3 cents.

IRON MINES' TAXATION.

Facts and figures presented in another column of The Herald today present a very strong argument in favor of compelling the iron mining industry in this state to bear its fair share of the taxation. It is undeniable that the iron properties are now assessed at but a small fraction of their actual value. The result is unequal taxation, other property being obliged to bear more than its proper proportion of the burden of taxation.

This is a most important subject to St. Louis county—one in which every property owner and every taxpayer should take a deep interest.

The iron mines of St. Louis county are now assessed at less than $10,000,000.

The recent consolidation of ownership of nearly all these properties in the United States Steel corporation has brought out some figures which furnish a fairly accurate basis for arriving at the actual value of the properties in question.

Upon this basis it has been computed that the iron properties in St. Louis county should be assessed at not less than $75,000,000.

It is estimated conservatively that the actual value of the iron properties of the two ranges is fully $150,000,000. Indeed, it has been claimed by a well posted authority that the Consolidated properties alone are worth $200,000,000.

Real property in the city of Duluth is assessed at about 50 per cent of its actual value. On this basis the assessment of the iron properties at $75,000,000 would be fair and reasonable.

This is a way to correct the present injustice without delay. The remedy is found by some taxpayer making complaint in writing and under oath to the governor that the iron properties have been grossly undervalued for assessment purposes. The governor is required by law to appoint a competent person to determine the proper valuations. Upon his report the county auditor must make the corrections indicated, and proceed to collect all arrearages.

There should be no delay in making such complaint and compelling the great steel trust to bear its proper share of the taxation.

MINNESOTA AT BUFFALO.

The Herald has already placed itself upon record in favor of the legislature increasing the appropriations for a state exhibit at the Buffalo exposition from $20,000 to $50,000. The sum now appropriated is altogether inadequate, as the state commissioners speedily discovered when they visited Buffalo recently and found out what other states are doing. So impressed were they with the insufficiency of the $20,000 for this purpose that they recommended nothing be done unless the sum of $50,000 were placed at their disposal. They felt that the best exhibit which could be made with $20,000 would disgrace the state. This opinion has been endorsed by every person who has given special attention to the subject, and the consensus of opinion is that the legislature should promptly pass an additional appropriation of $30,000, making the total $50,000.

In a lengthy aricle on this subject yesterday, the St. Paul Globe makes the assertion that there is not a mill owner or a mine owner, a buttermaker or a shipper, in fact any one who is either producer or an employer of men, who does not think that at least $50,000 ought to be appropriated for this exposition, which, according to opinions gathered from reliable sources, will be, in many respects, far more important to the growing Northwest than was the World's fair at Chicago in 1893. Such a statement at first reading seems to savor of exaggeration, but it is made and reiterated by men who know what they are talking about. At the Buffalo exposition, the West will be brought into the very heart of the East. Boston and New York and other cities in proximity to the lake town should be given a chance to see what the "Indian country" (as some people of the East continue to call the Northwest) is doing. If this is done, there is no doubt that the eyes of those who have been looking through smoked glasses, as it were, largely because of indifference, will be opened. There is no gainsaying the fact that, if Minnesota can be adequately represented at the coming exposition, it will do more toward awakening the denizens of the East to the potentialities of this young and growing commonwealth than would pay the necessary expense of the exhibition, and who would be the ones to gain the most, would have any words of censure for their representatives if the latter should give the commissioners the $50,000 for which they have asked. Conversely, it follows, that a meager display would be as harmful as an elaborate one would be beneficial.

Interviews were had by the Globe with prominent business men of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and all favored the larger appropriation, presenting strong reasons therefor. The interview with Governor J. S. Pillsbury, of Minneapolis, is particularly interesting to Duluth. He said:

"I am not in a position to state the exact amount needed by Minnesota for the Buffalo exposition, but I am heartily in favor of making a magnificent showing, and whatever is needed ought to be spent. Some of the industries in the state have reached an enormous growth of late, and people in the East do not know it. Take the shipping from and to Duluth, for instance. Millions of tons of iron ore and as many bushels of wheat are leaving that port annually, to say nothing of the immense quantities of lumber. Do you know that the tonnage which passes through the Sault Ste Marie canal yearly exceeds the tonnage in the Suez canal four times? The East never thinks of that, or of the wheat production, or anything else. The wheat production in Minnesota last year was something like 100,000,000 bushels, and it will be just as great this year. The state leads the world in the production of wheat and in the making of flour. The growth of the export business in flour is astonishing. Minnesota now sends flour daily to South Africa and Finland, and about 18,000,000 barrels are manufactured yearly in the state. In Minneapolis alone about 6,000,000 barrels are manufactured, and every day of the year 60,000 barrels are shipped all over the world.

"Now take iron. Minnesota furnishes more of the ore than any other part of the world. We know it here, and steel companies in the East know it, but what is necessary is to bring this to the attention of the whole people of the East, and this is the chance. It is not a generally known fact that the larger quantities of commodities are taken to the East from the West. It is a common thing to see the 'empties' en route to Duluth, but it is a rare thing to see them going from Duluth. In fact, it is an almost unheard-of thing. I am in favor of being magnificently represented at the exposition."

The Herald trusts that every member of the St. Louis county delegation will work and vote in favor of an appropriation of $50,000.

According to the story told by the valet, Charles F. Jones, the deliberately planned and executed murder of Millionaire Rice is one of the most atrocious crimes in modern criminal annals. Jones' confession is weakened by the two previous versions of the event which he has given in both of which he made Patrick as the principal and himself as accessory to the deed. The story told on the stand last week inverts the active relations, but still makes Patrick the instigator of the crime. Which ever story is correct it is evident that the aged and almost friendless man was most atrociously murdered for his wealth, and justice should never rest satisfied until the guilty man is found and punished.

JAMES-KIDDER COMPANY.

A Shakespearean production and a spectacle that rivalled any of the great extravaganzas that have been produced in this country was what the James-Kidder company gave at the Lyceum Saturday afternoon and evening when "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was presented. It is a gorgeous and beautiful thing, just what the comedy is—a dream. Of all the productions of that marvelous brain "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is the most poetical and fanciful. In it the great dramatist and poet has played with emotions, and taken delight in confusing loves and making sport with the feelings of lovers. Over and around the story of the earthly lovers he has woven a fairyland, and there not only brought them into play to make trouble between the human lovers, but sported with their emotions as well. Of all the Shakespearean plays this is the most difficult to present, for the setting must be brilliant and the coloring strong. In the James-Kidder production there is not a detail that is overlooked. A lavish hand has supplied the spectacular accessories and given a setting that deserves the word perfect. Fairies come forth from concealed bowers, elfinish sparks flit across the stage, lights appear and disappear, and every device that can accentuate the idea of fairyland and the pranks of sprites has been employed. In addition, music has been brought into play, and the famous Mendelssohn music, with added numbers by Max DeGrosz, accompanied the players throughout. A band of singing and dancing fairies were among the many accessories of this marvelous production.

It is needless to say that the cast was all that could be desired. Louis James as Bottom, the weaver, presented the rollicking, heavy-witted, hard-handed man of Athens in a very comical manner. He does not always stick closely to the text, but that can be forgiven, for his general impersonation of the part is very effective and comical.

Miss Kidder makes a pleasing Helena, reading the Shakespearean lines daintily and gracefully and acting with rare finish throughout. The quarrel scene was especially well done by Miss Kidder.

Miss Jane Oaker made a charming Hermia, and in her reading and acting was fine. Miss Ethel Browing was a delightful Puck, exhibiting a merry, rippling chatter and laughter and a dainty sprightliness and vivacity in thorough harmony with the part. Norman Hackett was a fine Lysander, and James J. Ryan as Demetrius was no less capable. Thomas Coffin Cooke as Quince, the carpenter, gave a very laughable and consistent impersonation. The entire cast was excellent.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA."

Tonight at the Lyceum "The Prisoner of Zenda" will be seen. This has been one of the most successful productions the stage in this country has ever seen. It has been running for several seasons and drawn crowded houses everywhere. It was one of the first of the romantic plays of recent years, and was the forerunner of the great number that have since been brought out and have filled the pockets of many managers with good American dollars. The company that will produce the play this evening is said to be a worthy one in every way.

NORTH BROS.' COMEDIANS.

North Bros.' comedians will open their engagements at the Sixth Avenue theater tonight in the beautiful four-act comedy "Princess Vergie." The piece tells a pretty story of life in New England. The plot is full of startling climaxes, holding much interest as it unfolds This company is new to the show-going public of Duluth, but comes well recommended by both press and public in other cities where they have played. There are no tiresome waits during their performances, every minute is filled with high class specialties and new features.

The Ashland Press says: "North Bros.' comedians gave a fine rendition of 'Princess Vergie' at the Grand Opera house last night. It was an exceptionally strong play, and the company must be credited with some good acting. This company seems to have strictly barred chestnuts, its repertoire for this week, for instance, being entirely new to this city."

AT CASS LAKE.

President Cardle Back From West Boden Springs.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Cardle, president of the village council, has returned from West Baden Springs, where he has spent the last three weeks recreating at that famous resort. Mr. Cardle resumed his duties Sunday as conductor on the run of the Eastern Minnesota from Cass Lake to Duluth. "Jim" appears to have been greatly benefited by his trip.

Olaff Jaastad, the druggist for J. T. Gardner, is improving rapidly from the operation which was recently performed on for appendicitis.

The Ferris block, a new 2-story brick structure, is completed and occupied. The Bank of Cass Lake, of which Mr. Ferris is the president, occupies one portion of the block, while Strawbridge Bros. occupy the remainder with their stock of general merchandise. This block is one of the most modern in the entire north half of the state. The interior of that portion occupied by the bank is finished in light quarter-sawed oak, the counters are surmounted by crystal glass and the railings are of oxidized copper, all making a neat as well as substantial appearance. The other portions of the block are finished in oak with hard maple floors.

SHOOTING FOR MEDALS.

Storey and Dr. Day Capture Them.

In a cold, drizzling rain, Saturday afternoon, Duluth men beat Superior out very easily in the Central Gun Club's shoot for the diamond badge and the Well-Ennis medal. Storey won the championship badge held by Warren Mendenhall, breaking 48 birds out of a possible 50.

Dr. Day won the Wells-Ennis event after an exciting contest in which six contestants broke 22 birds out of a possible 25 in all. Paul Sharvy, the holder of the medal, broke 21. Storey, the winner of the championship badge, shot somewhat out of form in this event, breaking only 19. The score for the championship medal was:

Storey	48	Fulton	43
Dr. Day	47	Shino	43
Berry	46	Fields	42
Loud	46	Mendenhall	41
Nelson	46	Olson	40
Farrington	43

In the shoot for the Wells-Ennis badge, the score was as follows: Dr. Day, Berry, Field, Farrington, Mendenhall and Nelson, each 22; Sharvy, 21; Storey, 19. In order to decide this contest, it was decided to shoot off hit and miss style, each contestant missing one to drop out. Dr. Day stayed in the longest.

Land Office Business.

The report of the receiver of the United States land office for the quarter ending March 31, shows receipts of $55,290.72, a very large record. This covered an acreage of 97,749.60, the business being classified as follows: Two hundred and nineteen cash entries for 22,713.79 acres; 501 homestead entries for 62,773.87 acres; 147 final proofs for 10,982.48 acres; 6 Chippewa homestead entries for 959.55 acres; 1 agricultural college scrip location, 160 acres; 1 railway location, 280 acres.

DAILY STORY.

THE MAJOR'S SISTER

BY ANNA HARTMAN.

(Copyrighted 1901, William R. Miller.)

There was a federal command lying entrenched at one of the passes of the Cumberland mountains to prevent the confederates from breaking through, and it had been there for long weeks without any attempt having been made. One day it was weakened by a third of the command being marched elsewhere. A week later 200 more men were ordered away, and the force left under the command of Maj. Whitcomb was now a small one and must be constantly on the alert. If he could keep the Confederate army behind the mountain from knowing of his depleted force they would not attack. If it was learned through spies that he had only 200 men to hold that pass a strong column would be sent against him at once. Orders were therefore issued to maintain a constant watch for suspicious persons, and details were constantly out to beat up the country.

The major appeared to have a personal bitterness for the enemy, and he sometimes went to such extremes in his conversation that his brother officers suspected that he had in some manner suffered personal wrongs. No explanations were ever made or asked for, but there was more or less gossip and wonderment over his fire-eating. He was an Ohioan, and so far as known had never lived South. A man suspected of being a spy soon fell into our hands. He claimed to be a Union refugee who had become lost from a party which was making its way over the mountains, and it was agreed that he told a pretty straight story. Nevertheless, as there was room for doubt, he was ordered to be shot and the sentence carried out. In time of war little mercy is found in men's hearts, and when peril menaces a camp and an alleged spy is brought before a drum-head court-martial there is no sending messengers here and there to learn if he has told a straight story.

Four days after the execution of the spy a scouting party came in and reported encountering a young woman on horseback who had tried to dodge them and acted suspiciously. Chase had been given, but being mounted on a better horse she had made her escape. Just then and there a woman spy was more to be feared than a man, and Maj. Whitcomb issued a special order concerning the one who had been pursued. Not only was a financial reward promised to the detachment who should capture her, but if first laid hands upon by a private soldier he was to be at once promoted to a sergeancy. He seemed to give the matter much more weight than it deserved, and thereby caused considerable comment, but no one suspected what lay behind it. It was four or five days later that the woman was brought into camp one evening. Two of the federal scouts, in returning from a tramp over the country, ran upon her as she was spying about the outskirts of the camp. She was armed with a revolver, and before she was overpowered she slightly wounded both the men.

On reaching camp the woman was taken to the guard house for an hour and then conducted to Maj. Whitcomb's tent. He had already assembled a drum-head court-martial to try her, and had declared that if she was convicted she should be shown no mercy. The woman had not heard his name, nor did she know before whom she was being conducted until she reached the tent. She was roughly but yet rather jauntily dressed, and as she stood before the officers and looked around with curious eye they saw that she was about 24, and had a handsome, defiant face. It was a few seconds before she caught sight of the major and then she started with surprise and gasped out:

"My God, Harry, but is it you!"

"Aye! Ellen, it's me," he answered in cold, stern tones as he folded his arms across his breast.

Tears came to her eyes as she held out her hands to him in entreaty, but he shook his head and then turned to his brother officers and said:

"Gentlemen, my sister that once was. Two years ago she ran away from home with an adventurer, and we afterwards heard of her as living in the South."

"So you haven't forgiven me?" she asked as she choked back the tears and stood erect. "Very well. Yes, I ran away from home to marry the man I loved. I did marry him. So far from being an adventurer, he is today a Confederate colonel and making a name for himself."

"You have been taken as a spy," said the brother after a painful silence.

"Well?" with a defiant toss of her head.

When I heard of a woman skulking about I somehow believed it was you, and I made up my mind that if you were caught red-handed our relationship should not save you from what you deserve. I am in command here."

"So your bitterness extends to the grave," she said with a mirthless laugh. "I presume you would order a soldier to search me, but I will save you the trouble. Yes, I am a spy. Here is a drawing I made of your troops and guns. Had I not been captured you would have been attacked tomorrow and driven off."

She flung a paper on the floor and walked over to a camp chair and sat down, and it was a long minute before the brother said.

"Gentlemen, here is the evidence before us, and she pleads guilty. Do you agree with me as to the verdict?"

"She is your sister!" exclaimed a captain in astonishment.

"That matters not in the slightest. She is a spy, and she shall meet the fate of a spy. Your verdict, gentlemen."

The other two members of the court were captains. They consulted together for a moment and then declared they would not announce a verdict.

"Then you shall be tried for insubordination, and I will pronounce the verdict myself," exclaimed the major. "The spy has been found guilty on her own confession and will be shot at sunrise tomorrow morning."

That order never would have been carried out, although the major meant it. The whole camp would have rebelled against it. But there was no need of mutiny. As brother and sister faced each other, he glowering and without mercy, in his heart, and she pale-faced but calling up all her courage and defiance, a musket was carelessly knocked down and discharged in a tent far away, and the big bullet came singing through the still night air and buried itself in the major's back and stretched him a corpse at his sister's feet.

gin to pay their proper proportion of state and county taxes. There is a valuation of $65,000,000 this year that is escaping taxation. At the state rate of 2.83 mills this would amount to $183,950. On the present tax rate of St. Louis county, 2.72 mills, it would amount to $176,800. Of course if that valuation was included in the total of the state and county it would permit a reduction in the state and county tax rates, and thus the owners of other classes of property would be relieved.

The difference between what the mines are taxed and what they should be taxed is so great that the figures seem preposterous, but they are preposterous only when it is remembered that the public has been losing this amount right along. It is very probable that if the matter is properly investigated it will be found that the valuations here suggested are too small. It can hardly be found that they are too large.

Though real estate valuations are not touched by the assessors until 1902, the law providing that real property can be assessed only in the even-numbered years, the laws of the state provide a remedy to be applied in the meantime. Section 1632 of the general laws of 1894 provides that when it shall be made to appear to the governor, by complaint in writing and under oath, that property in any county in the state has been grossly under-assessed, he shall forthwith appoint some competent person, not a resident of the county from which the complaint comes, to look into the matter and prepare a statement of the assessments that exist, and what they should be, and when this person submits his report to the county auditor it is his duty to place the property on the lists for the amount it should stand, not only for the current year, but for such years as it has been so under-assessed. All arrearages of this kind are to be levied on the property and collected in the usual manner.

It is very likely that such a complaint will be made from this county, in which case it will be up to the governor to appoint a suitable person to make the investigation.

This section referred to is as follows: "Whenever it shall be made to appear to the governor of this state, by a complaint in writing and under oath, that for any reason any considerable amount of property in any county in this state has been, or may hereafter be, improperly omitted from the tax lists and assessment roll of any such county for any year or years, or, if assessed, that the same has been grossly undervalued by the assessor or other county officers, whether such valuation and assessment has or has not been reviewed or acted upon by the county board of equalization of any such county, he shall forthwith appoint, in writing, some competent citizen of this state, not a resident of such county, to ascertain the character, location, value and ownership of the real and personal property in any such county so omitted, under-assessed or under-valued, who shall forthwith proceed to examine and report upon the subject and prepare a list or lists thereof, in duplicate, showing therein the character, location, ownership and valuation of all such property, within the year or years for which the same, or any part thereof, has been ommitted or under-valued or under-assessed for any year or years thereupon, in which the same was undervalued or under-assessed, with the amount of such assessment the actual and true value thereof at the time, and for which the same was subject to and should have been assessed, together with the difference between the assessed and actual value thereof as so found."

The law further provides that one of these duplicate reports shall be filed with the county auditor and the other with the state auditor. The county auditor must then make the corrections indicated by the report, and extend all arrearages on the tax books of his office for collection.

All that is necessary is for some interested taxpayer to make his complaint on oath and the law provides that the governor "must" do the rest.

BALDWIN SCORES THEM.

Denounces Dairy and Food Inspection Methods.

St. Paul, April 8.—Senator Baldwin, of Duluth, discharged a well-aimed shot Saturday afternoon at the dairy and food commission. The senator's remarks were inspired by a bill on general orders, directed against the adulteration of fruit jams and preserves

The senator began by offering an amendment striking out what he regarded as an obnoxious section. He explained it in this way:

"The dairy and food commission prosecutes an alleged offender against the pure food laws, and if the defendant is convicted, the fine is turned over to the credit of the dairy and food commission, while the costs of the prosecution are borne by the city or county in which they occur. This is unjust. Moreover, it proves to be a dangerous incentive to the dairy and food commission to persecute instead of prosecute.

"We had a convincing illustration of this less than a week ago, in Duluth. The oleomargarine bill was signed by the governor last Saturday, and few indeed knew it had become a law. Yet early last Monday morning the dairy and food commission had inspectors in Duluth, who proceeded to arrest dealers right and left, on the charge of selling oleomargarine. Why was this done? Simply because the commission knew that every $25 fine collected would be turned over to its credit by the state treasurer, while the city of Duluth would have to pay the cost of all the prosecutions. It so happened that in this instance, only one fine was imposed, which meant only $25 for the dairy and food commission, while the costs of the prosecution, borne by Duluth, amounted to $75.

"This is a powerful incentive for the dairy and food commission to go out hunting for violators of the pure food laws, because the commission has a cinch. It can't lose, because every person convicted means $25 to its credit, whereas the costs in the case of every person prosecuted must be paid by the city or county in which he does business. There may be ten convictions out of 100 arrests, and the commission has $250 to its credit."

Senator Thompson couldn't see why the fines shouldn't go to the credit of the food commission, though he admitted that a percentage of them ought to be devoted to defraying the cost of prosecutions. But Senator Baldwin's argument was so convincing that his amendment striking out the obnoxious section prevailed, and the bill was recommended to pass, in a form that will not make the city or county stand the expense of prosecution and get none of the fines.

LUMBER OUTLOOK

Sawing Season Will Open In a Very Short Time.

Some Sales Last Week With Prices Holding Stiff.

Vessel Question Not Likely to Bother Shippers Much.

Sales of lumber were made here last week at the prices that have held firm for the last ten days. None of the sales have been very large ones, but the aggregate will foot up several millions of feet. Swallow & Hopkins have sold several million feet of Norway to be cut this year, and are said to have received a good price for it. Alger, Smith & Co. have disposed of 2,000,000 feet of No. 3 and better of white pine. The Lesure Lumber company has cleaned up about all of its old stock above No. 4 boards, and expects to have the rest sold in a few days. Many others have made small sales. In spite of the shortage in stocks of unsold lumber at the docks, there is still a little lumber to be sold, and the local manufacturers say that all buyers will be accommodated.

The freight rate has been talked of a great deal lately, and there are now $2.50 charters in force to Ohio points and Buffalo. Some of the shippers hold that this will be the going rate when the lake shipping season opens. If this holds true, with the question of longshoremen's wages settled, there is little left to bother the shipper. It is expected that the shipment of lumber from this port will be quite heavy from the very opening of navigation, providing the lumber carriers do not have trouble getting engineers for their boats.

Millmen are figuring on the date of starting up their plants here. About all the overhauling and repairs necessary for the season have been made and they are all in readiness for the breakup of the ice in the harbor and bay, which it is believed will take place between the 15th and 20th of the month. With warm, sunny weather the ice is rapidly shrinking, and the manufacturers say that all that is needed now is a few days of warm rain. The ice is still quite thick in the lake at this point, and as yet shows few signs of breaking away.

Most of the mills have on hand for an early start quite a large stock of logs. Some were left over from last season, but the greater part was brought in during the winter by rail, and they will begin sawing these stocks as soon as conditions are right.

There is no material change in the situation for those mills that will do contract sawing. There is said to be not enough sawing in sight for these mills to go around. Some figure that the shortage of logs will be from 20 to 25 per cent, according to the estimates on the winter's logging cut. If there is this shortage it will be difficult for the summer loggers to make up for it, and it is considered doubtful if any will attempt it.

There has been a rumor current this week of a large stumpage sale to several big interests, including William O'Brien, Swallow & Hopkins and the Diamond Match company, but such sale has not yet occurred, though it may materialize in part later. The price put was $5.55 cents per thousand feet. At the present status of white pine timber prices, local timbermen do not seem to think this figure is at all surprising, though if the same figure had been quoted a few years ago it would have given a prospective purchaser the heart disease.

The Merrill & Ring interests, on whose holdings and plant the Diamond Match company is said to have an option, has been investing largely of late in Pacific coast timber, and there is a probability that the company will proceed to work it up in the near future. The Merrill & Ring Co. is said to be associated in the enterprise with some Michigan men.

The Alger-Smith company is proceeding rapidly with its timber and mill projects in Northern Florida, and will be operating there very soon. The big Flomaton mill, on the Escanabia river, will be up at the earliest possible date. The company is building a 30-mile road into its timber, and erecting the frame of a mill that will be 60 feet by 300 feet in size, with two double telescopic band mills that will give it a tremendous capacity. John Millen, who has been in Northern Florida in the interests of the Alger-Smith company, is expected back to Duluth in a few days.

All the camps about Biwabik, except the Lesure, have closed down and the men have returned to this city. Swallow & Hopkins have not completed their loggign operations at Fall lake, but expect to put in the remainder of their 25,000,000 feet out before long. Simpson & Brown, who cut for them, will run the mill night and day all summer. All log hauling on the ore roads will be shut off within the next three weeks by the ore traffic. There are still some logging operations on in the northern part of the county, where more snow fell than at Duluth. It is said that the snow in some localities was about four feet deep.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

A CURE FOR IT.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you it gives universal satisfaction.

FINE EVENT.

A May Musical Festival Planned By Local Musicians.

A May musical festival is the event which is planned by the musicians of the city and the idea has gone far enough to assure the fact that there will be one. It is not intended to be given on the scale that May festivals are given in a number of the leading cities of the country. The musicians who are interested in this festival hope, however, that they are starting a movement which may be taken up by the citizens generally, and made into an annual event that will attract musicians and large numbers of people from out of the city.

The idea originated with members of the Beethoven club, which has given a couple of very successful recitals the past season. There has always been an idea that musicians were a class of people who could not unite in any effort, because of a jealousy which seemed to be part of the natural equipment for the art. The members of the Beethoven club thought that a festival to close the musical season in Duluth would be a fine thing and would do much to disprove that dea. There have been a number of very successful musical entertainments in the city during the past winter and the idea suggested was to hold a grand closing event in which all the musicians should take part. Accordingly steps were taken to carry out this plan and resulted in the coming together yesterday afternoon of a number of the musicians of the city. The plan was talked over and it was agreed to hold two great concerts in the Armory, one on the evening of Decoration day and another on Sunday afternoon, June 2, at the same place. An executive committee consisting of Gerard Tonning, J. H. Flaaten, George Tyler, Frederick G. Bradbury and A. F. M. Custance was appointed.

There will be a miscellaneous program at each concert, consisting of both calssical and popular numbers. At the first concert there will be a large mixed chorus and at the second a large male chorus. At each concert also there will be a piano concerto with full orchestral acompaniment. The soloists for these will be Mrs. D. H. Day and Mrs. Margaret Hoelscher. The song cycle arranged by Gerard Tonning will be given at one of the concerts. There will be solo numbers by singers and instrumentalists. In general programs will be arranged that will eclipse anything that has been given.

Flaaten's orchestra will be reinforced and it is hoped to have about thirty-five pieces.

Best Remedy For Rheumatism

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies, but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. George F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale at Boyce's drug store.

IDEA IS FAVORED

Talk of Charter Amendment Restricting Number of Saloons.

Limit Talked of Is One For Six Hundred People.

Ordinance May Go Before the Council This Evening.

A special charter amendment restricting saloons is now talked of. Those back of the movement say that the city should be divided into districts, and that saloons should never exceed one for every 600 population. Should such an amendment be presented it will also provide against brewing companies putting up straw men to hold their licenses for them.

The idea of such an amendment was first proposed on Saturday, and seems to be received with much favor by all except the brewing companies. In fact there seem to be more citizens favorably disposed to an amendment restricting the spread of the saloon epidemic than there are property owners that are willing to give the council plenary power in ordering street improvements without petition.

The council this evening may have an ordinance which will provide against the granting of any more saloon licenses till the present ratio of saloons is changed from one for every 325 population to one for every 500. At a late hour this afternoon this ordinance had not been drafted but Alderman Neff, chairman of the committee, said that the ordinance would be taken up in the committee prior to the meeting tonight.

It is thought that an ordinance will be more binding than a mere resolution, but the charter amendment would be even more binding than the ordinance. Not only has the saloon business been expanding to such an extent that other business has been driven out of the down town business district, by reason of the high bids for desirable property made by the brewing companies, but the business of merchants has been injured to a great extent by having saloons in the business district.

On Saturday evening, with the big crowd of Easter shoppers on the street, the pavement in front of the Northern hotel was blocked by a gathering of flashily dressed young men, who seemed to be there for the purpose of making remarks about women as they passed, or rather attempted to pass. At one time during the evening a drunken man, with face covered with blood, was permitted to lay out in front of this saloon for several minutes. The scene was a disgrace to the city. That women and young children should have such sights forced on them in the down town business district is certainly an excellent argument in favor of the movement to have a charter amendment weed out the saloon business in the business district.

A number of merchants have complained about the crowd of loafers which occupy the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Northern on Saturday evening. They claim that it drives trade to the opposite side of the street. The merchants also say that the police department are largely responsible for this condition of affairs, but to the credit of the police, it must be said that they removed the drunken wreck on Saturday evening as soon as an officer discovered him.

PICKS J. H. BARNARD.

Congressman Morris Recommends Him For Lieutenant.

Capt. George Gibson has informed Congressman Morris that he does not care for an appointment as lieutenant in the regular army and will retire to private life. This left the latter free to endorse some other person, and he has selected as that one J. Howard Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Barnard, of this city. Mr. Barnard is assistant postmaster and a prominent member of the Grand Army, having served his country in the civil war. The young man is a non-commissioned officer in Troop M, Third United States cavalry, now stationed at Namaopacan, in the Philippine islands. He was in the Fourteenth Minnesota regiment in the Spanish-American war, but of course got no farther than Chickamaugua. After he was mustered out he enlisted in Troop H of the Third cavalry, but when he found that he would not get active service there, secured his transfer to Troop M and got to the Philippines. His career there has been marked by hard fighting, and he bears testimonials that demonstrate the wisdom of Congressman Morris' selection.

Each representative has two men to recommend, under the agreement made between the congressmen. The senators get four each. The other young man to be recommended by Congressman Morris is a Brainerd boy named French, who has good recommendations and a good record.

Consolidated Stock Helps Out a Poor Missionary.

Instances of fortune's favors being unexpectedly bestowed through the rise in the price of Consolidated stock has been many in Duluth lately. A. R. Macfarlane has just had one brought to his notice, however, which is a little out of the ordinary and has a touch of the pathetic in it. A West Superior banker sent him a letter which he had received from an old friend, a struggling missionary, in which he told of having five shares of Great Northern Mining company stock and wanting to know if it was of any value.

The missionary said that he lived in Superior a number of years ago and worked in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. there and had at once time taken a poor fellow in and helped him out with lodging, etc., and finally gave him a little money for five shares of stock in the Great Northern Mining company. He said he had lately read of a boom in Mesaba mining stocks, but took it as a joke. He would like to have the banker investigate for him he said. He hoped that he might get a little money out of it, just enough to buy him a big tent to use in his missionary work. He said that he worked in sections where the people are neglected and where there are no churches and he would like so much to have a big tent. "This may be the mean in God's hands to give me such a tent," he said.

Whatever may be the opinion about whose hands the means comes from, there is no doubt as to the value of the stock. It is worth today in the neighborhood of $275 and will probably buy the tent and leave a little nest egg beside, for this company was one of those merged into the Consolidated.

COAL PRICES.

Tidewater Price Announced---The Western Price Soon to Come.

Announcement was made in New York last week of anthracite coal prices at tidewater, the same taking immediate effect. These prices were $4 a ton for the spring opening, $4.25 for the summer and $4.50 for next winter. This is an immediate reduction of 25 cents. This fixing of the schedule for the year is considered unique, but it is believed that the coal companies are in a position to arrange for an advance policy better than they ever were before, because of the reduction of their number through the amalgamation of the proprietary coal-carrying roads. The general belief seems to be that a better control of the market will be exercised through the fact that production is now centered in a few strong hands. The coal mines have been running full blast without a restriction since the end of the coal strike, spurred on by the scarcity of coal after the September strike and the labor uncertainties this spring. The labor matter has been recently settled satisfactorily and the danger period is over. There is said to be in the East quite an accumulation of coal, particularly anthracite, a marked contrast to conditions in the West.

Although prices in the East appear to have been fixed to suit the operators, prices in the West are yet to be announced, which they probably will be within the next few days. Some reduction is expected, but it is hardly expected that prices will be as low the coming season as they were several months preceding the coal strike last fall. If the talk of some of the coal men is to be relied on to represent the views of the producers, sales this season will be girt about with close restrictions, and the early buyer must prepare to take his coal if he expects to reap the benefits of opening prices.

The lake situation is still involved in obscurity. The strike of the marine engineers is still on, and the vesselmen are said to be making no preparations to get their vessels ready, though it is customary to begin to get in readiness a little earlier in the season. Figure it as they may, the coal men say that there can hardly be an early opening of the coal movement to the head of the lakes. Soft coal stocks are still in pretty good shape at the coal docks of Duluth and Superior, and there is little chance of a shortage this spring. The coal companies are still crushing grate coal into the smaller varieties of hard coal to meet the demands, but as the cold weather is nearly over, the demand is growing less. With vessel rates remaining the same, it is figured that prices of coal in the Northwest will be slightly lower this season than in 1900.

RELIGIONS.

Rev. Harry White Discusses Other Churches and Unitariarism.

There was a special musical program at the Unitarian vesper service yesterday afternoon. Mr. Flaaten's orchestra, assisted by Miss Simonds, piano, played three movements from Beethoven's beautiful symphony in C Major. The music was so much appreciated that Mr. Flaaten will probably give Schubert's celebrated "Unfinished" symphony at the last of this series of vesper services in May.

Mr. White spoke of "The Appeal which Liberal Religion Makes to Modern Men and Women." He said in part:

"For the past five Sundays I have been speaking on different phases of modern religion. I have tried to show you that in modern religion you find a deeper and a surer faith than you do in the older religion, a faith that is unafraid of truth. I have tried to show you that the modern thought about God was purer and nobler, and the thought about man more elevated and dignified. Modern religion does not conceive of God as cruel and blood-thirsty; nor of man as a lost, miserable sinner.

"This afternoon I wish to make an appeal to those of you who accept the higher ideas for a more devoted allegiance to those ideas. One rather curious and unfortunate phenomenon in our religious life at present is the fact that men and women with liberal and advanced ideas still maintain their membership in orthodox churches and give their support to them. Now orthodox churches do not stand for liberal and advanced ideas. Last spring I had a friend of mine in Boston go about to the different denominational headquarters and get for me authoritative and official statements of the different orthodox churches on matters of faith and religion; and I found not none of the great denominations had modified their creeds to bring them in harmony with the truth of modern science and philosophy. They were still hopelessly mediaeval. Original sin, the atonement—everything just as it was in the dark ages. Now, for a man who believes in the doctrines of the churches as officially and authoritatively stated, the only honest and honorable thing for him to do, is to say in the church, in the creed of which he really and truly believes. And, as it is honest for the man who still believes in the creeds, to stay in the churches which still have them, so is it dishonest for him to remain in them when he finds that he is no longer able to accept the doctrines for which the church stands. In other words it seems to be a question of plain honor and honesty; the same sort of honesty which governs a man in his club relations. A gentlemen, if he discovers that he belongs to a club which is the exponent of things that he is not in sympathy with, promptly resigns. We ought to expect that the same feelings of strict honor would guide a man in his relation to the church. If he does not believe in the doctrines which the church officially promulgates, then he ought to act the part of a gentleman and withdraw.

"And today, I appeal to you men and women who have outgrown the creeds and the dogmas which the church still leans upon, to be true to your own best thought and not to allow yourselves to remain in a false position and to give your assent and your support to something which you do not think is true.

"And yet I do not urge you to join the Unitarian church unless you really believe in the truth for which that church stands. Fundamentally the Unitarian church stands for religious freedom. That is the rock upon which it is builded. If you believe in that principle; if you believe that men should be free from all external authorities whatsoever; that they should allow nothing above their own individual consciences and reasons: if you believe that men should live their spiritual lives in a spirit of liberty, independent from all creeds and Bibles and popes whatsoever, then you accept the very heart and soul of Unitarianism, and you have a very plain duty to support in the most effective way the truth which you have grasped. I say that you have a distinct duty, because a man's first and great duty is always to the truth as he sees it. It was fidelity to that duty which was the main spring to the life of Jesus. He saw the truth and he was absolutely faithful to it. And that is the first duty of every intelligent and brave man, to be faithful to the truth as he sees it. I am aware that this duty is not always easy or pleasant to break away from the conventional and traditional modes of thought. But I am not now speaking of ease and pleasantness, but simply and solely of duty. If you accept the ideas of the Unitarian church, if you believe in its fundamental doctrine of absolute liberty in religion, then you have an obvious duty—whether it is difficult or not does not matter—to come out openly and give your support and allegiance to that church. That is the course of common honor and of common honesty."

ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Wheat Started Out Weak But Became Stronger Later.

Losses Were More Than Regained on Heavy Covering.

Frosts In Germany And Moderate World's Shipments.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 8.—The wheat market started weak and lower this morning, but soon recovered the losses and advanced on heavy covering. The opening weakness was ascribed to an increase of 1,409,000 bus on passage, favorable weather and the prediction of a large crop, but these factors were more than offset by reports of frosts in Germany, the strength in corn, the moderate world's shipments, which amounted to 8,102,000 bus and then came the announcement of the decrease of 859,000 bus in the visible supply and this added to the bullish feeling, it being more than had been expected. Primary receipts were 571,329 bus, last year 785,677 bus. Shipments 327,581 bus, last year 296,491 bus.

Clearances of wheat and flour were very large, aggregating 1,651,000 bus. The seaboard reported 120,000 bus of wheat taken for export on Saturday. Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis, 411 cars, against 480 last week and 998 last year. Chicago receipts, 93 cars, 1 of contract grade.

There was fairly active trading in futures on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ¼c off at 72¼c, sold at 72¼c at 9:31, declined to 72⅛c at 9:32, reacted to 72⅛@¾c at 9:35, slumped to 71⅝c at 9:44, advanced sharply to 72⅝-⅞c at 10:25, eased off to 72¼c at 10:54, recovered to 73¼c at 12:16 reacted to 72¾c at 12:45 and closed at 76⅜c, an advance of ⅝c from Saturday's close. Chicago advanced ⅛c and Minneapolis ⅝c. Cash sales were 40,000 bus at ⅜c under May for wheat to arrive and 1½c for wheat in store.

Coarse grains changed little in price corn showing an advance of about ⅛c in Chicago and no change in Duluth. Flax closed 2½c off and rye was ¼c off. All other coarse grains were unchanged.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73⅜c; to arrive, 74¼c; May, 74⅜c. No. 1 northern, cash, 71¾c; to arrive, 72½c; May, 72⅝c; July, 75⅜c. No. 2 northern, 69½-70¼c. No. 3 spring, 61¾-66¼c. Oats, 27¾-27c. Rye, 50¼c. Barley, 35-55c. Flax, cash, $1.54½; to arrive, $1.59½; May, $1.56; September, $1.15. Corn, 40¾c; May, 41c.

Car Inspection—Wheat, 88; corn, 2; oats, 14; rye, 10; flax, 1. Receipts—Wheat, 108,347 bus; corn, 980 bus; oats, 8128 bus; rye, 766 bus; barley, 777 bus; flax, 367 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 1012 bus; rye, 11 bus; barley, 726 bus; flax, 1218 bus.

Good weather and a very severe break in the Minneapolis wheat condition has caused the early weakness. The rally was due to very general covering by local shorts notably Patten and other professionals were also in line. Local sales 200,000 bus, 50 loads at New York. There was no foreign market but they will be open tomorrow and will have considerable influence. The cash inquiry and the steady decline experienced makes railies natural but in view of the condition of the growing crop, of the size of our visible supply and the bearish conditions generally, wheat looks like a good sale on all rallies for scalping purposes

The corn market has been irregular early but finally showing weakness. Good weather has been an important factor, profit taking has been largely indulged in. Phillips was a seller of May and Patten a buyer. The market has been quiet, cash demand is very slow. 50,000 bus sold from here and only 15 loads at New York. As intimated in our Saturday letter we consider these prices sufficiently attractive to warrant profits, we are still of that opinion.

The oats market has been easy, not quite holding its own, a good deal of the trade has been in the way of changing. There is continued talk of late seeding. Cash demand slow, 50,000 bus from here and none at New York.

The provisions market has been slow, prices yielding, trade very small. English concerns have done some selling and the outsider has shown no interest. Hogs 5c higher with only 19,000 received. Hogs West 42,000 and 56,000 a year ago. Small receipts, however, have no effect upon values and the absence of trade has counteracted helpful features.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 8.—May corn changed hands in heavy quantities at the opening today, selling ¼@⅜c lower at 44¼@43¾c, under the influence of seasonable weather and liberal receipts. The opening rush to sell being over, the market became firmer and May reacted to 44⅜@44½c on a scattered demand. Receipts were 261 cars, 74 of contract grade.

An increase of 1,360,000 bus in wheat and flour on ocean passage, together with the favorable weather and prediction of a bumper crop caused opening weakness in the wheat market, but heavy covering set in later and the losses were more than regained. May opened ⅛c to ¼c lower at 70⅝c to 70¾c, under liberal offerings from bears. Reports of frosts in Germany, the corn strength and moderate world's shipments, 8,102,000 bus, started covering, which was accelerated by a prospectove decrease in the visible May sold up to 71⅝@¾c Local receipts were 93 cars, none of contract grade, while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 411 cars against 480 last week and 998 a year ago.

Oats were quiet. May opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 25⅝c to 25¾c, and recovered to 25⅞c. Receipts were 221 cars.

Trade in provisions was dull and the tone of the market rather easy. May pork opened 5c lower at $14.80; May lard 2½c down at $8.37½ and May ribs 2½c depressed at $8.05.

BEARS ON WARPATH

Made a Well Planned Raid Upon the Stock Market.

Enabled to Realize Profits on a Handsome Scale.

Rally Followed But No Aggressive Disposition to Push It.

New York, April 8.—An organized bear party of stock operators executed a well-planned raid upon the market this morning and upset many top-heavy accounts, wiping out margins and uncovering stop-loss orders which dislodged an avalanche of stocks and enabled the bears to realize quick profits on a handsome scale. The market looked decidedly demoralized in the opening dealings and the slump in prices, especially in last week's speculative favorites, looked for a few minutes as though the bottom had dropped out of the market. A sale of a hundred shares, served to cause a drop of 2½ points in Rock Island, and Burlington slumped 2 points below Thursday's closing price and 11¾ below the top price of Thursday's excited market. Burlington lost an extreme 3¾, New York Central and Manhattan 3⅛ each, St. Paul 3, Delaware & Hudson 5 and Colorado Fuel 3¼. A large number of the principal active stocks were depressed from 2 to 3 points. Meanwhile, the superficial bears began to cover in stocks, satisfied with the quick profits yielded by their sudden raid, and there were violent recoveries reaching from 2 to 3½ in many of them on small lots of stocks. The recovery was aided by an upward spurt in Sugar to 3 points over Thursday and by a show of strength in the market with existing strong demand for available horses, is giving promise of an active market next week. PAYS FINE.

One of Brewing Company's Representatives Gets Off Easy.

Edward Woolway, agent in Duluth for Val Blatz Brewing company, was fined $35 and costs Saturday in district court for keeping his saloon open before 5 o'clock in the morning, for which he had been indicted. He was given the option of paying the fine or spending thirty-five days in jail, and he paid the fine with costs. He was indicted for keeping a saloon at 223 St. Croix avenue open after 5 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 26. Woolway was not actually the proprietor of the saloon, but as agent for the brewing company he took out a license in his name and another man ran the saloon on it. As the technical proprietor, however, he had to stand the punishment for his substitute's law-breaking.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Large Number For West Duluth Buildings.

A capitalist dropping into the building inspector's office this morning might easily have been induced to invest money in Duluth. It looked as if a small sized building boom was on. W. J. Suffel took out a permit to erect a $5500 house on the north side of Superior street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues east; Frank Drama, took out a $495 permit to put in a stone foundation on the north side of Fourth street, near Sixth avenue east; K. W. Upham, had an $875 permit to make alterations on a building situated on Third street between Third and Fourth avenues east; Peter Bucholz, took out a $600 permit for a frame building on the south side of Fifth street between Fourth and Fifth avenues east. The total cost of all building for which permits were issued was $7575.

Locate on the Range.

A large crowd of Finnish emigrants arrived in the city this morning and spent part of the day in the emigrant drawing room of the Union depot waiting for a train up the range, where they will locate. This noon the younger element of the crowd, tired of the wait, went in for a little social amusement. One of the emigrants had an old accordion that he had brought with him from the old country and to the tuneful music of this instrument several couples of the young men and young women were quickly whirling about the waiting room in waltzes and two-steps. An old country style quadrille was successfully piloted through by John Boyd as prompter.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, April 8.—Cotton opened easy and 1@8 points lower and much of the morning was heavy under local selling. Speculative support was almost totally lacking, the large port movement and absence of news from Liverpool (Easter Monday) serving to intimidate prospective buyers. Reports that Southern mills were considering further curtailment owing to continued poor cotton trade conditions, were made much of by shorts. Late in the morning May settled to 7.99 and later months eased off accordingly.

The large force of buyers on the market with existing strong demand for available horses, is giving promise of an active market next week. Values:

THE NEW CAPITOL

Legislature Allows Additional Million Dollars For Completion.

Bill Slightly Amended Passed Both House and Senate.

Leech Lake National Park Memorial Passed the House.

St. Paul, April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new capitol is to be completed in the manner preferred by the capitol commissioners, the additional $1,000,000 being granted today by the legislature. The senate some days ago passed the bill to that effect, which Senator Horton had introduced, and it came up in the house today for final action. The house had amended the bill by making more specific the limit to a total cost of $3,000,000, and to require that the contracts for the work must all be let on or before April 2, 1902. In this shape it went through the house today by a vote of 82 to 11, and being immediately taken to the senate, that body concurred in the house amendments and repassed the bill as amended by a unanimous vote.

Both houses put in the morning session on the steady and somewhat uninteresting grind of routine passage of bills on the calendar. Before this order was taken up the omnibus appropriation bill was reported from the committee of both houses, it carries a total of $2,737,000, an increase of about $600,000 over the omnibus bill of two years ago. In the senate the following bills on the calendar were given their final passage:

Somerville—To allow villages to annex adjacent territory where the owners of the land so desire.

Shellbach—To expedite disbarment proceedings.

Young—To exempt granite quarrying companies from payment of incorporation fees.

Shell—To relieve city and village treasurers from personal liability for deposit of public funds in banks which may fail where such loss comes through no fault of such treasurers.

Wilson—Amending the special legislation constitutional amendment to allow local communities to regulate their own finances and local salaries and other matters.

The house horse shoeing lien bill passed.

Senator Baldwin objected to the house bill relating to the care of non-resident paupers as too loosely drawn, but it was passed. The Little Falls railroad grant bills were under discussion for an hour, no vote having been taken at the time of the noon recess.

IN THE HOUSE.

St. Paul, April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the exception of the capitol bill, the house only acted on its own bills, the following being passed:

Alford—Amending the laws of 1895 relating to the garnishment of non-residents.

Berg—To amend laws for 1897 relating to changing boundary line between adjoining counties.

H. K. Nelson—Amending law for construction and regulation of county jails.

Pennington—To amend law relating to election contests.

Smith—To amend law regulating the plumbing business in cities of over 10,000 and having sewer and water systems.

The Whitford joint memorial to congress for the Leech Lake national park and forest reserve passed the house by a vote of 66 to 32, after Mr. Laybourn had secured the adoption of an amendment requiring that when the memorial is sent to congress it shall be accompanied by a record of the vote of the two houses on the memorial.

The idea of the amendment was that congress could then incidentally get the protest of the Northern Minnesota members against the park while receiving the memorial passed by the majority in its favor. It is believed that the previous memorials sent to Washington on the same subject gave the impression that the legislature had been unanimously in favor of the same, when such was not the case.

IS CLOSED.

Deal For Merrill & Ring Planing Mill Is Made.

The details in the matter of the lease of the Merrill & Ring planing mill at West Duluth to some Eastern parties, who will turn the plant into a box factory, are understood to have been closed within the last few days, and it is expected that the people interested will arrive from the East in a few days and begin the improvements planned before starting up the factory. The parties interested are J. V. Smeaton and associates, of Eastern Pennsylvania, who are men said to have had considerable experience in the business they are about to launch out in at the head of the lake. They are said to have plenty of capital backing the enterprise, and expect to do business on quite a large scale. The box factory project was not considered by the Pennsylvania people alone, for about the first of the year Secretary E. T. Hill of the Duluth Improvement company received letters of inquiry from H. V. Gunn, a factory man, of Chicago, Ill., who, on Mr. Hill's advice, came to Duluth and looked over the ground. It is believed he would have made the lease had it not been closed up by the Pennsylvania men.

Debt Raising Concert.

The Swedish Methodist church has for months been preparing for a concert for the benefit of the fund for relieving the debt on its house of worship. It was to have been held on April 12, but as Governor Van Sant, who is to be one of the speakers, could not attend on account of the closing day of the legislature, the concert will take place April 19. The details are nearly completed and every thing points to a very delightful affair. Dr. Long and Mayor Hugo will also speak and the High School Musical society and others will take part in the program.

LARGE DEEDS.

Six Aggregating Considerable In Value and Acres Filed.

Six deeds covering acres in St. Louis county were filed Saturday in the office of the register of deeds. The acres are practically all old St. Paul & Duluth lands, and the amounts named as the considerations are large.

The Northern Pacific Railway company transfers to Frederick Weyerhaeuser and John A. Humbird 31,891.65 acres for $174,044.70.

The Northwestern Improvement company transfers to Rudolph M. Weyerhaeuser 13,830.13 acres for $26,265.76.

The receivers of the Northern Pacific Railroad company transfer to John A. Humbird and Frederick Weyerhaeuser 11,277.55 acres for $64,845.91.

John A. Humbird and Frederick Weyerhaeuser transfer to the Northern Lumber company the timber on 11,277.55 acres for $68,845.91. This land is the same as that in the foregoing deed.

The Northwestern Improvement company transfers to Rudolph M. Weyerhaeuser 3976.20 acres for $9900.30.

John A. Humbird transfers to F. C. A. Denckman 11,277.50 acres for $20,000.

Though the same property is covered more than once in some of these deeds, the total number of acres included in all of the deeds is 86,083.58, and the aggregate of the considerations in the six deeds is $362,902.57.

COMING HERE.

South African Commissioners to Lecture Next Week.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock a meeting was to be held at the office of M. H. McMahon for the purpose of arranging for a lecture to be delivered in this city Wednesday evening of next week by P. Louter Wessels and Hercules J. Viljoen, commissioners representing the South African republics. The lecture is to be in the interest of the distressed people of South Africa. The meeting this afternoon was to be of members of the committee which had in charge the pro-Boer meeting held here some months ago. J. W. Reynolds is the chairman and M. H. McMahon the secretary.

The two commissioners are lecturing throughout the country now. They illustrate their lecture with stereopticon views of South Africa.

They can't help it; crabbed old bachelors and disappointed girls over 30 need Rocky Mountain Tea; carries them back to childhood's happy home. 35 cents. Ask your druggist.

Logging Hauling Deal.

It is reported that the Bayfield Western Railway company, of which ex-Senator D. M. Sabin, of this city, is the general manager, has just closed a contract with the Street-Chetfield Lumber company, of Chicago, to haul a big cut of the company's logs in Douglas county, Wis., to the Scott-Graff mill in this city, to be sawed. C. H. Street, of the lumber company, was in the city during the latter part of this week.

Testimonial From England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be able to publish testimonials of this character. They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives restored to health and happiness by this remedy. It is for sale at Boyce's drug store.

PATRICK'S VERSION

Makes a Statement Concerning the Death of Millionaire Rice.

Says the Cause of His Death Was Heart Failure.

Complains of Conspiring to Keep Him Locked Up In Jail.

New York, April 8.—Lawyer Albert T. Patrick, who was charged with the murder of Millionaire William March Rice, made a statement Saturday concerning the case. He had been asked to say something concerning a story printed in a morning paper to the effect that Valet Jones had spent several hours, accompanied by a policeman attached to the district attorney's office, in the Tenderloin district. According to his story concert halls, gardens and theaters had been visited by the prisoner and his attendant and dozens of drinks taken. On this point Lawyer Patrick said:

"I had known that this sort of thing had been going on for several weeks. I could not have sworn that such was the case, but I had learned from various sources that Jones was plentifully supplied with money, was taken out buggy riding and was otherwise treated with kindness and consideration."

Patrick then went on to speak of the Rice murder case. This is the first time he has made any statement since his arrest. He said:

"Jones never killed W. M. Rice. Had he done so he never would have testified to it especially as the district attorney had promised him no immunity, nor would his counsel even though provided by Capt. Baker, have permitted him to do so. His confidence is due to the fact that W. M. Rice, at the age of 84 died of heart failure as did his brother, F. A. Rice, yesterday at the age of 70, and there will never be any proof otherwise. The only crime of which Jones is guilty is that of conspiring against the law will and that of perjury in the present proceedings. His fairy story is the result of a collaboration with Capt. James A. Baker, Jones' lawyer, Mr. Battle, who is hired by Baker; Assistant District Attorney Osborne and Professor Witthaus, the professional expert, whose report Osborne for the last six months has been expecting in a few days, and who swore that Rice died of mercurial poisoning, if he did not die of something else.

"The object of Jones' story is to have me held in prison pending the will litigation. I have already been in prison six months on the forgery charge without being indicted and I do not believe there is any serious intention to try me on a criminal charge before a jury. My arrest on a murder charge and the desperate attempt to hold me is due entirely to my ability and attempt to give bail upon any serious charge. The steel in trade of the opposition to the bail will is their already demonstrated ability to control the district attorney's office, that is to say the portion presided over by Osborne, over which there seems to be no administrative supervision.

"So far as the tactics employed against me have been the giving out by Mr. Osborne continually of statements known by him to be false, to influence the people to pronounce me guilty so as to justify false imprisonment and to prevent a fair trial, the wrongful imprisonment of myself and the bungling by detectives of those who appear to favor me, the abuse of the process of the courts by wrongfully subpoening in the name of the court persons to frequently appear before him and submit to examinations in his office.

"This week the testimony of professional handwriting experts that checks, the will of Rice and other papers are forgeries and the procuring of false testimony is all in the same line. Jones swore on the witness stand and Osborn admitted it in open court, that Jones had informed Osborn, about January that Jones had killed Mr. Rice with chloroform and that subsequently in collaboration with Witthaus on Feb. 27, the present complaint charging me with killing Rice with mercurial poisoning was made at the instance of Osborne, in an attempt to deprive me of all knowledge of the nature of the accusation against me until he had used as witnesses those whom he supposed to be for me. Subsequently I was informed that Jones had been for several weeks past permitted to roam the streets. So far as I am concerned I have no objection, provided Jones is kept within the jurisdiction of the court.

"It would take but little corroboration to convict Jones upon his own confession, but it would take a great deal to convict me upon Jones' accusation. If I am held or indicted for murder, Jones will certainly be discharged and I would surely be acquitted, but in his effort to have himself corroborated he might be convicted, innocent though he is, and then he would be surely electrocuted, for no hand could save him.

"Jones is staking his life upon the ability of the handwriting experts and which he shows by his numerous statements and testimony that he knows Rice signed.

"Jones may rest assured that those for whom he has outlawed himself from mankind will abandon him when they can no longer use him.

"As to my own position, I can only say I will be vindicated and will be able to discharge all duties devolved on me, and maintain the rights belonging to me.

"Of personal vengeance, I have not considered, but if I am convinced that Mr Rice was surely murdered, I shall do all in my power to convict all those connected with it, as well as to prove the motives, as well as the forgery of the will of 1899, and that Jones did the deed; believing that he could prevent the consummation of Mr. Rice's plans through me."

District Attorney Philbin was asked today what he knew of Jones' alleged tour of the tenderloin. He replied that he knew nothing except what he had read.

"Have you at any time given permission for him to be absent from court?"

"I have not," he replied.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne said last night he was aware of Jones' trip through the tenderloin Friday night and that it was taken for the purpose of locating witnesses to testify in the Rice case. He added that six witnesses were wanted and that one had been located by means of this trip.

MME. YALE'S HAIR TONIC

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to Mme. Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to the original color without dye. It has gone on record that Mme. M. Yale—wonderful woman chemist—has made this most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally indorses its action and gives the public her solemn guaranty that it has been tested in every conceivable way and has proved itself to be the ONLY Hair Specific. It STOPS HAIR FALLING immediately and creates a luxurious growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful fluffy and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies, entirely gray and with bald heads. It is especially recommended.

A SCIENTIFIC MEDICINE.

Dear Madame Yale:—I wish to say a few words in regard to your Excelsior Hair Tonic and Hair Cleanser. I have used both with the best possible results. My hair had been falling out for some time. I had used various remedies with little or no avail. Finally my attention was called to your Excelsior Hair Tonic. I purchased a bottle and began using it. The result was beyond my expectations; after the second application my hair had ceased to fall out, and as I continued my hair seemed to have more life and vigor and new hairs began to come in. After using the second bottle I was surprised to see that my hair to a no longer tinged with gray but had returned to its natural color.

Your Excelsior Hair Tonic is certainly a scientific medicine and I believe the only one that treats the hair as a sick member and feeds and nourishes it until it is restored to its natural and normal state of health. I cheerfully recommend it to any one who is in need of a Hair Tonic or Restorer, as I have the utmost confidence in the efficacy of all your remedies.

Respectfully,
MRS. C. L. BROWN,
51 Harper Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Madame Yale's Hair Tonic is sold throughout the world at $1.00 per bottle.

BURNED TO DEATH.

An Ada Young Woman Lost Her Life Sunday.

Ada, Minn., April 8.—Miss Maggie Riggers was burned to death at 8:30 yesterday morning. Miss Riggers kept a millinery store and used the rear for living rooms. Smoke was noticed coming from the building, and before the seriousness of it was realized the building was in flames. An effort to rescue Miss Riggers was unsuccessful, but after the fire had been gotten under control her charred body was found lying close to the door opening on the street.

ALLEN AS SECRETARY

Governor of Porto Rico to Enter the Cabinet.

To Succeed Long at Head of Navy Department.

Secretary Root Has Many Callers and a Heavy Mail.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new secretary of the navy will probably be Charles H. Allen, the present governor of Porto Rico. This information was exclusively sent to this paper last week. The Associated Press has taken up the story and has telegraphed that Mr. Allen will not remain in Porto Rico, but that he will be given an important foreign mission. Friends of Governor Allen are aware of the fact that the president is inclined to make him secretary of the navy when Mr. Long desires to retire, as he is certain to do shortly after he returns from the Pacific coast with the president.

Governor Allen, it will be recalled, succeeded Vice President Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy, and while in this office it was conceded that he was one of the best officials, from a routine viewpoint, at that time in a high place in the government service. Governor Allen has strong recommendations for the navy portfolio—being "backed" as he is by Senators Hoar, Lodge, Platt of Connecticut and other New England congressional representatives.

Secretary Root of the war department is having anything but an easy time in disposing of his callers and in answering letters received at the war department. Those callers sometimes annoy Secretary Root, and the letters certainly are burdensome.

Secretary Root has at his disposal, under the new army act, about 1000 positions. He stated today that he had on file more than 11,000 applications for the 1000 places at the disposal of the president upon his recommendation. It will be impossible for Mr. Root to go through all these papers in the near future. He, however, believes that before the president leaves for the Pacific coast he will be able to select the required number of positions the president can appoint and have them disposed of before April 29. The president will leave Washington at noon on that date and will not return for more than six weeks. It is his desire to clear up all the important business in the way of appointments, etc., before departing for the West.

The postoffice department is having quite a little difficulty in making arrangements for the classification of newspapers in Alaska. The department has just received a letter from Alveh Eames, chief clerk-at-large in that country. In speaking of the difficulty Mr. Eames says:

"A newspaper has been started at Veldon which has applied for publishers' rates at the postoffice. Section 374 of the postal laws and regulations provided for the free delivery of this matter within the county in which the paper is published. The territory of Alaska has not been organized into counties. How much mail addressed to points in Alaska should be handled free under the above section?"

After a consultation today it seems likely the territory will be divided into "reasonable districts" and the free distribution of mail from points within any district limited to the boundaries of that district.

The postmaster at Rampart, Alaska, sets forth another difficulty in the following letter to Inspector Edward McGrath, at Circle, Alaska:

"The Alaska Forum, a newspaper published here, has been going through the mail up to yesterday, when I informed the publishers of the instruction sent to me Dec. 23, 1899, from Circle by T. M. Pridham. Will you please inform either the Forum or myself (so that I can show the letter) that I have acted right by refusing to send the paper through the mail during the winter months."

It appears that Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger limited the transportation of mails on this route to strictly letter mail of the manuscript nature, and did not include other classes of mail matter, even though prepaid at first-class postage rates.

The authorities have obtained copies of the Forum—a little 4-page newspaper that easily folds into an ordinary envelope and weighs considerably less than an ounce. It is the only American newspaper published in the Yukon district and does not increase the weight of the mail to any great extent. The inspector notes "that almost all the copies passing through the mail are addressed to other newspapers, to the different government officials in Alaska and to persons evidently related to the publishers."

H. P. Thrall, western superintendent of the railway mail service, has made the only practicable recommendation in the case. "I would suggest," he writes, "that these papers be allowed transmission, on the ground that the weight is not such as to require more than one rate of postage, and that the postmaster has no means of ascertaining officially that it is anything other than strictly first-class letter mail.

* * *

"In whatever respect Canada may have fallen behind other countries in the march of progress or in the efforts for developing its commercial opportunities," writes Consul General Richinger form Monteral, "it must be admitted that in providing railway facilities the Dominion has been in the front rank—far ahead, indeed, of some of the oldest European nations.

"On June 30, 1900, there were in Canada 17,824 miles of railway, of which 466 miles had been built in the twelve months covered by the report of the minister lately presented to parliament. There were also 2588 miles of sidings. Of the total, 17,694 miles were laid with steel rails and 551 miles were double tracked. The system was owned originally by 154 companies, but by amalgamations and leases the controlling influence is now in the hands of eighty-six companies and of the government of Canada, which operates two roads—the Intercolonial and the Prince Edward Island.

"The continued expansion of the subsidy system is awakening alarm among the taxpayers of the country. The population of Canada is hardly over 5,500,000, and the debt, almost solely created by the granting of government subsidies in aid if new railways now under construction, mostly through wild and unsettled territory. The result of the survey for a Canadian railway to Yukon has so far progressed that the chief engineer is able to say that a practicably line can be obtained, on which a road could be constructed at reasonable cost."

ARE EAGER.

Lady Barbers and Other Women Desire to Emigrate.

New York, April 8.—A rather unexpected result has followed Mr. Chamberlain's recent speech in support of the scheme for sending women out to South Africa at the conclusion of the war, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. An enormous number of letters has been received from women eager to emigrate and reluctant to wait till hostilities are ended. One woman who wrote direct to Lord Salisbury said she was prepared to go out at once with her mother and sisters, but she indicated no particular sphere of usefulness. Another wrote to the colonial office in behalf of herself and a few other "first-class lady barbers." Naturally, the colonial office authorities are doing their utmost to discourage applications from women other than those who are self-dependent, and girls of the servant type are urgently advised not to go out at all. It is very doubtful whether there will be any openings for them, and the public funds cannot be used for the purpose of granting free passage to the Cape.

CANNIBALS.

Wrecked Crew Eats the Bodies of Their Dead Companions.

London, April 8.—The Singapore correspondent of the Daily Express wires a story of cannibalism at sea, brought to Singapore by two survivors of the Nova Scotian bark Anglon, wrecked six days' sailing from Manilla, Oct. 18 last. The correspondent says:

"The survivors, Johnnsen, a Swede, and Martincornu, a Spaniard, assert that the Angloa struck a reef. Two rafts were built. The smaller, bearing five men, disappeared. The other, with twelve men, drifted for forty days. The sailors ate barnacles, seaweed and finally their boots.

"On the twenty-fifth day two became insane and killed themselves. On the twenty-sixth day a Frenchman killed the mate with an ax, drank his blood and tried to eat his brains, but was prevented by the others. Next day the Frenchman was killed while attempting to murder the captain. The survivors, all of whom were now insane, ate the Frenchman's body.

"Cannibalism continued until only Johnnsen and Marticornu remained. On the forty-second day their raft stranded on Subior Flat island, in the Natuna group (northwest from Borneo). Johnnsen and Marticornu were awfully emaciated. Friendly Malays sent them by junk to Singapore."

Rheumatism

Rheumatism is due to an excess of acid in the blood. When this escapes through the pores of the skin, as it often does, it produces some form of skin eruption—some itching disease like Eczema or Tetter—but when these little tubes or sweat glands are suddenly closed by exposure to cold and sudden chilling of the body, then the poisons thrown off by the blood, finding no outlet, settle in membranes, muscles, tissues and nerves. These parts become greatly inflamed, feverish and hot; dagger-like, maddening pains follow in quick succession, the muscles become extremely tender, the nerves break down and the sufferer is soon reduced to a state of helplessness and misery. This acid poison penetrates the joints and seems to dry out the natural oils, and the legs, arms and fingers become so stiff and sore that every movement is attended with excruciating pains.

Liniments, plasters, electricity and baths, while their use may give temporary ease, cannot be called cures, for the disease returns with every change of the weather.

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of la grippe, which left me almost a physical wreck. To add to my wretched condition, a severe form of Rheumatism developed. I tried all the physicians in our city, but none of them could do me any permanent good. I used all the rheumatic cures I could hear of, but received no benefit. After beginning S. S. S. I was relieved of the pains and have gained in flesh and strength and my general health is better than for years. I consider S. S. S. the grandest blood medicine in the world, and heartily recommend it to any one seeking relief from the tortures of Rheumatism.
B. F. GREGORY, Union, S. C."

S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by working a complete change in the blood; the acids are neutralized, the circulation purified and the rich, healthy blood that is carried to the irritated, aching muscles and joints, soothes and heals them. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism even when inherited or brought on by the excessive use of mercury. Opium, in some form, is the basis of nearly all so-called Rheumatic Cures, which deaden the pain but do not touch the disease and lead to ruinous habits. Alkalies and the potash and mineral remedies so often prescribed, affect the tender lining of the stomach and weaken the digestion, thus adding another burden to the already weak and impoverished blood. S. S. S. contains no mineral or dangerous drug of any kind, but is a simple, vegetable remedy and the most perfect blood purifier known. Send for our book on Rheumatism and write our physicians if you wish any information or advice. We would be glad to mail you a book free; we charge nothing whatever for medical advice.

THE DAKOTAS.

Desperado Attempting to Escape Shot Dead By Sheriff.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Dickinson—Excitement runs high in Dickinson as the result of the day's work of Sheriff John Goodall and a posse of deputies. Sunday the sheriff learned that a man named McPeak, alias Jim McCarthney, a desperado, wanted both in this state and Montana for a long time, was near Dickinson. He secured a posse, went after McPeak and arrested him on a charge of horse stealing. Later McPeak attempted to escape and he was shot dead. His body was brought to Dickinson by the officers.

Fargo—There was some indignation this week around Milton in Cavalier county. Larry Farrell and Miss Mary Nicklin were to have been married. The date of the wedding was set and invitations had been sent out for the ceremony to take place at the home of the alleged groom's brother. On the date of the wedding it was announced that Farrell had skipped for Montana. The young lady bore an enviable reputation and was popular with all. Her friends are very much wrought up over the matter.

The supreme court adjourned the Fargo term Saturday afternoon to be ready for the Bismarck term Tuesday. Several cases have been argued and some set for hearing in Fargo will be finished at the capital. The right of property owners is involved in a peculiar case. Some years ago Ole C. Tein purchased an inside lot on Fifth avenue, and in 1898 erected a building, which he occupied. Susan Lally purchased the corner lots and built her house so the rear portion was in front of Tien's house. He objects to the erection of certain outbuildings immediately in front of his front door. The case was decided against him in the district court and the appeal was argued Saturday.

Vice President Phelps and Secretary Anheier, of the Fargo fire festival committee, have returned from a visit to the Twin Cities, where they arranged for the appearance of a number of attractions here during festival week. The midway features will be a leading attraction.

Animated by the success of the farmers' elevator at Gardner and the steps taken toward the erection of another at Harwood, the Argusville farmers have called a meeting for Wednesday to make plans for the erection of one there.

Grand Forks—The county commissioners granted the petition of officers of the Deaconess' Hospital association to rebate the taxes against the property on the ground that it was a charitable institution. The matter has been before the commissioners on several occasions and was carried into the courts.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre—Land Commissioner Fastman has found in going over the record of sales made this year that the total amounts received were $20,818 in excess of the figures for which the tracts sold were appraised at. The average price received was $17.83, while the average price received was $15.19. The department now holds in the permanent fund $138,258, and with the receipts from this year's sales will have on hand practically 281,000 for apportionment among the counties on May 1.

Lead—Two of Lead's merchants have been boycotted by the labor unions for not complying with the 6 o'clock closing movement. They opened their stores after 6 p. m., and advertised they would keep open at the old hours. Every laboring man is cautioned not to trade at these places after the early closing hour.

Spearfish—A $25,000 stone and brick building has been commenced in this city by T. N. Matthews, a wealthy cattle man. The building will be three stories high and will have on the second story the finest theater in the Hills.

Huron—An examination of applicants for appointment as cadet at the Annapolis naval school will be held in this city on May 1.

Professor E. W. Hoyler has decided to retire from the superintendency of the Huron public schools at the close of the present term, which will complete three years' service in that capacity here. Mr. Hoyler will go to Minneapolis to engage in business.

Sioux Falls—In the United States court yesterday the grand jury returned indictments against Frederick Benedict, an old resident of Bon Homme county, for selling liquor to Indians; and against George Campbell, a pupil in the government Indian school at Chamberlain, for criminal assault upon a young Indian girl, also a pupil in the school. The cases against Michael Oshea, ex-postmaster at Running Water, and William Crook, of Bazan, were dismissed. The latter was charged with selling liquor to an Indian while the former, who is a justice of peace, was accused of acknowledging a signature to his wife's bond as postmistress at Running Water, when the party had not personally appeared before him.

Parker—An attempt was made to burn the Hamm Brewing company's cold storage plant at a late hour Saturday night. Turpentine, kerosene and straw were put against the corners of the building and set on fire. It was nearly out when discovered by people in the neighborhood. Bloodhounds were put on the tracks and followed them a mile out of town and then were lost. No clue.

Deadwood—A Bible conference circuit is to be established in all of the cities of the Black Hills by the Moody Institute of Chicago. Rev. George W. Sheafor of this city, pastor of the First Baptist church, will assinst in the work.

IN MICHIGAN.

North Bound Train Leaves the Rails Near Champion.

Champion—The Milwaukee road's north bound train, No. 103, due at Houghton at 11:40 a. m., went off the track at Brown's Siding, about one and a half miles west of Champion while en route to the copper country. Although the whole train—engine and coaches—cleared the track, not a car was overturned and, happily, no one was injured. The mishap was due to an open switch. A wrecking crew from Champion hastened to the scene and it was soon after joined by an additional force of men from Marquette and the work of getting the train back on the track was prosecuted with vigor.

Marquette—Reports from south of the city are to the effect that the line of the Marquette & Southwestern road is still heavily covered with snow, praticularly in the swamp lands, of which there are many miles. It will be some time yet before the route is opened up so that operations can be undertaken throughout its entire length. The contractors have not materially increased the force which they were employing last week as they are still waiting for the breakup to make appreciable progress. They expect that they will be able to begin putting in more men within a week or so. This will depend on the weather.

Michigamme—Gust Schwendeman, who has held the office of township clerk for the past ten years, will probably take his departure for West Superior soon after his retirement. He has relatives at that place who have wanted him to locate there for some time past. Mr. Schwendeman made an ideal clerk. Many here will regret to see him leave the village.

PASS RESOLUTIONS.

Stationary Engineers Condemn Electricians' Bill.

The stationary engineers and electricians of Duluth are at loggerheads over the bill now pending in the legislature providing that all electricians in the state shall be licensed.

At a meeting of the engineers on Saturday night, strong resolutions were passed against this bill which is fostered by the electricians of this city.

The engineers say that if this bill becomes a law, it will be against the best interests of the community and a great injustice to engineers. They claim that it has been framed in the interest of the large electric supply companies.

The following extract of the bill explains its purposes very fully:

"All persons engaged in the business or work of installing or repairing wires and devices inside or outside of any building for the transmission of electrical current shall produce a license from the state board of electricity. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, before any court, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $25, nor more than $500, or to an imprisonment not exceeding ninety (90) days, or both."

THE BOARD MEETING.

It Is Adjourned to April 16.

At the county board meeting Saturday afternoon Commissioner Patterson procured an appropriation of $1000 for the improvement of Railroad street in that part over which the city has not jurisdiction. He said he had received a promise from the board of public works to supply stone for the improvement and assist the work in that way.

The county overseer was directed to furnish a bond in the sum of $1000. Former Overseer Rockwell was directed to appear at the meeting on April 19, the date to which the board adjourned, and make a statement of all moneys he had received and account for all property.

The inside of the jail was ordered painted and two bath tubs put in.

L. P. Totman presented a bid of $1.50 for taking patients to the hospital for the county. It was taken under advisement. A telephone was ordered placed in the office of the superintendent of schools.

The board adjourned to 2 o'clock on the afternoon of April 16.

MUCH DANGER IN DELAY

Chinese Indemnity Question Should Be Settled at Once---United States Willing to Cut Down Its Claim.

Washington, April 9.—The state department has heard further from Mr. Rockhill, our special commissioner at Pekin, touching the effort making there to reach an agreement, respecting the indemnity to be demanded from the Chinese government. Mr. Rockhill's principal effort, acting under direct instructions from Secretary Hay, is to induce the ministers of other powers to keep down the total of their claims to the amount which the financial experts, headed by Sir Robert Hart, has decided to be within the ability of China to pay. The United States government has felt that on no account should the tota indemnity claim exceed £40,000,000 sterling and has steadfastly sought to make that figure the outside limit of the claim. For itself the state department claims $25,000,000 indemnity, and it has supplied Mr. Rockhill with data for the presentation of an itemized account showing the expenditures made by the government of the United States in transportation of our military contingent in China, its maintenance there, and the just claims of the missionaries who were American citizens and suffered in property and person from the Boxer outbreak.

In its anxiety to avoid oppressing China and to secure a speedy settlement of the Chinese question, the United States government stands willing to make a heavy cut in its claim, providing the other nations represented at Pekin will abate their claims in proportion. It is entirely possible that if Mr. Rockhill can induce the other ministers to make a cut of 50 per cent in their indemnity claims, he will do so, though the apparent result be the loss to the United States of $12,500,000. The administration is satisfied that the great danger of the situation at Pekin lies in delay. Had the representations of Mr. Rockhill been heeded the officials are confident that the formidable rebellion which has now broken out under the lead of Gen. Tung Fu Sian, in Shen Si province, would never have occurred had Mr. Rockhill had satisfied himself that the Chinese government was absolutely sincere when it pleaded inability to punish the great general and Prince Tuan in the full measure demanded by the powers. It is thought here that more modest demands could have been met by the Chinese government and the rebellion averted. The indemnity question also has consumed an unconsolable length of time and if it had been settled several weeks or even months ago, the present difficulty would have been impossible. It is the hope, therefore, of the officials here that Tung Fu Sian's movement will stimulate the lagging ministers at Pekin to final action. If it does not, and the court is obliged to flee from Sinan Fu and the great Yangtse viceroys are overcome by Gen. Tung Fu Sian, as seems entirely probable, then all China will be plunged into anarchy in the estimate of the officials here.

Cleveland, April 9.—Attorney A. W. Lamson was today appointed receiver of the United Salt company, of this city. His bond was fixed at $25,000. Henderson, a stockholder, who applied for a receiver, avers in his petition that the National Salt company is endeavoring to end the existence of the Cleveland concern.

UNVEILED

Magnificent Statue of Gen. John A. Logan.

Ceremonies Witnessed By Immense Crowd.

Washington, April 9.—The magnificent equestrian statue of Gen. John A. Logan, erected in Iowa circle in loving memory of the distinguished warrior and statesman by his comrades in arms and by the people whom he served so well was unveiled this afternoon. The ceremony occurred in the presence of an immense assemblage, including President McKinley and the members of his cabinet, members of Gen. Logan's family and many persons eminent in the military and civil life of the nation. A grandson of the famous leader, Master George Tucker, drew the silken cord which released the fluttering flags that draped the statue and disclosed to view the heroic bronze figure.

At 1:30 p. m. an imposing military parade, of which Col. Francis L. Guenther of the Fourth artillery was grand marshal, was formed on Pennsylvania avenue, in front of the White House, and thence escorted the president and other distinguished participants in the ceremony to Iowa circle. Many veteran organizations of both the civil and Spanish wars marched by separate routes to the scene of the unveiling. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Fourth artillery band.

Gen. Grenville Dodge, president of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, presided at the ceremony in Iowa circle. After the invocation had been pronounced by the Rev. Frank M. Bristol, the president's pastor, Gen. Dodge presented the sculptor, Franklin Simmons. Young Master Tucker then released the clinging draperies of the statue, and the splendid work was disclosed.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Following a brief introduction by Gen. Dodge, President McKinley delivered the following address.

My Fellow Citizens: It is a good token when patriots are honored and patriotism exalted. Monuments which express the nation's gratitude for great deeds inspire great deeds. The statue unveiled today proclaims our country's appreciation of one of her heroic sons whose name is dear to the American people, the ideal volunteer soldier of two wars, the eminent senator and commoner, Gen. J. A. Logan. Logan's career was unique. His distinction does not rest upon his military achievements alone His services in the legislature of his own state, in the national house of representatives and in the senate of the United States, would have given him an equally conspicuous place in the annals of the country. He was great in the forum and in the field

Some names instantly suggest a sentiment. That of Logan stands for exalted patriotism. This was the key of his success. Party politics to him was nothing when the Union was in danger. When the alternative came he was swift to dedicate his life and fortune to the party of Lincoln, because it stood for the indivisibility of the Union. How much he did to create and increase the sentiment of loyalty and patriotism among the people of his own state and throughout the nation can never be told. He stood with Douglas holding up the cause of the Union and offered his own life as a cheerful sacrifice, if need be, for its preservation.

Logan was never half-hearted. An intense patriot, he was also an intense partisan. He was forceful in the senate as he was undaunted in battle. He had convictions and followed them to their conclusions at any cost. He was never a trimmer nor a laggard. He despised duplicity, was the soul of frankness and always at the front in every struggle, civil or military, during the years of his eventful life. He was a leader from boyhood, the recognized captain among his youthful associates. His integrity was pronounced and served him well, as integrity will serve every man who has and keeps it. His success was founded on good character, unfailing sincerity, high courage and unremitting industry. He came out of the war with the highest military honors of the volunteer soldier.

AGUINALDO OBJECTED

Has Signed the Peace Manifesto But the Reports Would Indicate That He Was Compelled to Do So.

Manilla, April 9, 3:25 p. m.—Although the officials are uncommunicative, it is nevertheless said that Aguinaldo signed the peace manifesto this morning. Chief Justice Arellano drafted the document. Aguinaldo strongly objected to two clauses of the manifesto, and considerable argument was required to overcome his objections.

Col. Aba, the insurgent leader of Zambales province, with 13 officers, 83 men and 92 rifles, surrendered to Lieut. Col. Mancil C. Goodrell, commanding the marines stationed at Olongapo, on Subig bay. Gen. Malares, with about 300 men and as many rifles, is expected to surrender shortly at Silang, in Cavite province.

New York, April 9.—According to a Herald special from Washington concerning the rebellion in the Philippines, 50,000 men is the lowest estimate of the war department of the casualties sustained by the Filipino forces; 7667 rifles have been captured or surrendered, and 605,142 rounds of ammunition, as shown by incomplete returns, have been seized.

The number of Filipinos killed cannot be accurately determined, as Gen. MacArthur in his dispatches states that it is impossible to be accurate on this point. It would not surprise officials should the Filipino fatalities reach 25,000, and some say that 50,000 is closer to the real figures. Adjutant Gen. Corbin is satisfied that the casualties suffered by the Filipinos will in themselves form a potent reason for the abandonment of further resistance by the natives.

WIFE ILL AND STARVING

And Husband Stole Small Amount of Milk.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 9.—A pathetic story of love and poetry was recited in police court, when Ollie McVeigh, aged 20, was arraigned, charged with having stolen 19 cents' worth of milk.

"I was married when I was 18 years old. I had a good position and thought little of the future," said McVeigh. "Soon afterward I lost my position and then we had nothing to live upon except our love. Then I went to work as an apprentice. I got but 60 cents a day, not more than enough to pay for my rent. We were starved and I had to get some food. So every morning for the past three months I would get up early and take the milk and cream when the milkman would leave it on the neighbors' steps. This morning I was arrested and locked up. My wife is ill and almost starving. Please, judge, let me go to her, and I promise you that I will work my fingers off to make an honest living."

McVeigh was fined $5 and costs and sentence was suspended.

LOUBET AT NICE

President of the French Republic Very Warmly Welcomed.

Placed a Crown of Flowers on the Tomb of Gambetta.

His Speech at a Big Banquet Was Well Received.

Nice, April 9.—President Loubet, accompanied by the French ministers and other officials, placed a crown of flowers upon Gambetta's tomb today. He expressed the hope that the French parliament would soon vote to transfer the remains to the Pantheon. It is hoped that this transfer may be accomplished by July 14 next, the French national holiday.

President Loubet subsequently repaired to the port of Nice, three-quarters of a mile away, where he was welcomed by the chamber of commerce and visited the hospitals. He was everywhere warmly greeted. At a banquet later, and replying to a toast to his health, President Loubet asserted that the principles of justice, solidarity and good will were the foundation of the republic and inseparable to France. He said the country needed unity and concord, and that the conflicts of interests and the country's increasing wants would end in compromising the future of the nation unless steps were taken to ameliorate social conditions. Solidarity and civil peace could not be secured except by reciprocal sacrifices. Continuing, President Loubet said that private interests must be subordinated to the greater interests of the nation. The republic had already shown, in its legislation, an appreciation of the necessities of the laboring democracy, but legislation, but legislation alone would not suffice. The give-and-take principle must become part of the conscience of the nation. Thus could the country weld its unity and assure its moral grandeur and material prosperity. President Loubet's speech was loudly applauded.

PLEASED.

Berlin Officials Well Satisfied With Russia's Action In China.

Berlin, April 9.—Russia's declaration, renouncing a separate agreement with China, gives great satisfaction here, since it removes all separate negotiations from having further influence upon the diplomatic situation at Pekin, and the general negotiations can now proceed uninterruptedly. It is said in official circles that it was to be expected that Russia would not withdraw from Manchuria, and now, any power proposing a withdrawal must be prepared to attempt to oust her by force.

The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that the controversy between Russia and Japan, on the subject of Corea has been conducted with the greatest caution on both sides, showing an earnest wish to avoid a conflict. The Berlin diplomats do not expect a conflict.

LINEN TRUST.

Spinners In Europe to Form Big One.

Washington, April 9.—Information concerning the formation of what amounts to a gigantic trust embracing every linen spinning concern on the continent of Europe, has reached the state department in a report from United States Consul Mahin, at Vienna. For some time says the consul it has been understood that the Austrian, German and Belgian spinners of linen thread had decided to unite in a reduction of product. From Paris comes the news that the French spinners also are to join in reducing the output of the mills. The object is believed to be to steady and possibly enhance the price of linen yarn. Makers of linen cloth have, during the fall and winter suffered from the high price of yarn, and this enormous combination, will make conditions still worse, says the consul.

OBJECTION

To the Absorption of Range Railroads.

Said to Be Contrary to Laws of the State.

St. Paul,, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was introduced in the state senate a resolution which recited the reports that the Duluth & Iron Range and Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroads have consolidated, or are about to consolidate, and become merged into the United States Steel corporation; that dispatches from New York report the formation of a great trust to be formed to consolidate and control the stock, property and franchises of other great railroads of this state, all of which is defined to be in violation of state laws. The attorney general is directed at once to investigate these reports, and in case he finds reasonable grounds to believe that any such railroads have entered into, or are about to enter into, such unlawful trust combination or consolidation, he is directed to take steps to protect the people of this state, either by proceedings to forfeit charters, or by injunction restraining the performance of such unlawful acts or by invoking any other appropriate remedies. On notice of debate the resolution went over until tomorrow.

AWFUL MISERY IN PORTO RICO.

New York, April 9.—Senor Santiago Iglesias, delegate of the federation of labor of Porto Rico, who arrived on the steamer Ponce, from San Juan, is the bearer of a petition from the workmen of Porto Rico to President McKinley. In this petition, which bears 6000 signatures, the Porto Ricans say:

"Misery, with all its horrible consequences, is spreading in our homes with wonderful rapidity. It has already reached such a form that many workers are starving to death, while others that have not the courage to see their mothers, wives, sisters and children perish by hunger, commit suicide by drowning themselves in the rivers or hanging themselves from branches of trees."

ACTIVITY IN AFRICA

British Take Pietersburg With Little Opposition---Boers Whip British Detachment and Capture Nearly All the Men.

London, April 9.—Lord Kitchener, reporting to the war office under date of Pretoria, April 8, says:

"Plumer has occupied Pietersburg, with slight opposition. He captured two locomotives and thirty-nine trucks."

The capture of Pietersburg is regarded here as important. The place is the terminus of the railway and has been the capital of the Boer government since the evacuation of Pretoria. The whole northern railroad is now in the hands of the British.

According to Lord Kitchener's dispatch, only one officer and one man were killed. The Boers evacuated the town during the night prior to Plumer's arrival, after blowing up two trucks laden with ammunition. Lord Kitchener further reports the capture of sixteen prisoners, fifty horses and the depot of war stores at Boshmanskop, Orange River Colony.

As an offset, the commander-in-chief reports that a detachment of 100 men of the Fifth lancers and Imperial yeomanry were attacked by 400 Boers to the northward of Aberdeen, Cape Colony, and that after several hours' fighting the British were surrounded and captured, with the exception of twenty-five, who succeeded in making their escape.

STOPPED THE SERVICES.

Rochester Man Disturbed His Own Funeral.

Rochester, N. Y., April 9.—Paul Huber, of Corning, left home three years ago, during which time his parents never heard a word of him. Last Friday afternoon he returned and was surprised to find a hearse and a long line of carriages drawn up before the door. Upon making inquiries he learned that a young man of the name of Paul Huber had been brought home dead, and his funeral was then taking place.

He ran into the house, where his presence created the greatest surprise and confusion. Some thought at first that the corpse had come to life. A telegram was received at Wayne, Mich., saying that Huber had been killed by a train while walking on the tracks in the village. The corpse was ordered sent on and preparations for the funeral completed, when the appearance of young Huber himself upset everything.

There are no means of identifying the unknown dead man, and he was buried. Huber is inclined to think the body is that of a chance acquaintance he made while in Cincinnati, and to whom he gave his card. After the funeral services were over a thanksgiving celebration was indulged in over Huber's safe return.

STEEL INTERESTS.

Important Meeting Held at Chicago Offices.

Chicago, April 9.—A meeting was held in the offices of the American Steel and Wire company today of men interested in the corporation and the Colorado Fuel and Iron company. It was stated the conference was held for the purpose of completing the details whereby the coal and iron interests affiliated with the Colorado Fuel and Iron company will pass under the control of the American Steel and Wire company, the plans contemplating immediate and extensive improvements and enlargement of the big Pueblo plant and other interests. Chairman John W. Gates, of the Steel and Wire company, refused to discuss the objects of the meeting.

SHE TOOK POISON.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 9.—The form of a girl leaning against the weather boarding of a building at 106 Orange street attracted the attention of those who recognized her as Lena Reiter, the pride of the neighborhood. She was sobbing bitterly, and when asked the cause the girl moaned, "They did it at last. Mamma's picture is gone."

A few hours later Lena was writhing in agony at the Cleveland general hospital. She had swallowed carbolic acid, but will recover.

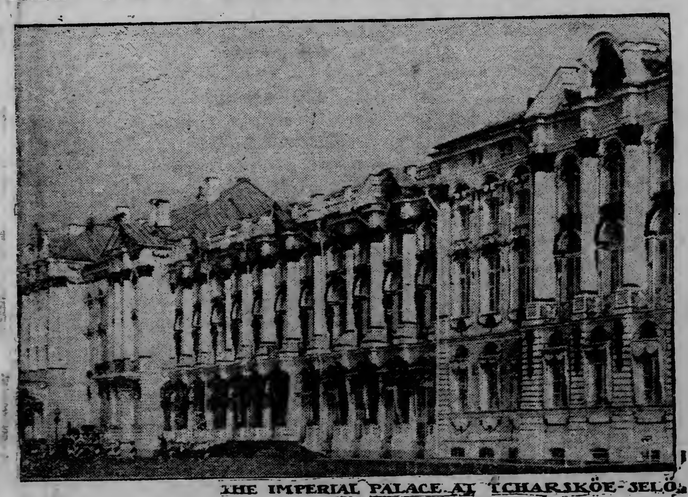
Lena is the 17-year-old daughter of David Reiter, cloakmaker. Six months ago her mother died.

Three months later Reiter married again. The usual discontent and trouble ensued. Mrs. Reiter did not like the picture of Lena's mother. It stood on an easel in the parlor, and there Lena spent many unhappy hours, weeping before the likeness. Not long since her father told her to leave the house.

"I am going to kill myself with this some day," she said to a friend, as she displayed a bottle labeled carbolic acid. When her stepmother chopped up and burned the picture Lena took the poison.

AIR THICK WITH RUMORED ATTEMPTS TO KILL THE CZAR

THE CZAR



THE IMPERIAL PALACE AT TCHARSKÖE-SELO.

The rumblings of revolution are to be heard throughout Russia. For the first time in history students and workingmen are leagued together in secret organizations to strike a blow for freedom. The revolutionary spirit is spreading all over the country and it is impossible to say what will be the outcome. Plots to assassinate the czar and high court dignitaries are being discovered every day. Above is a first picture of the imperial palace at Tscharsko-selo, near St. Petersburg, which is in constant danger of being demolished by the bombs of the Nihilists.

Spring Tired?

Are You Weary and Run Down?

TO FUSEL OIL.

Nearly everyone is nowadays. And it is perfectly natural that you should be; for winter, while apparently bracing, is all the time sapping your strength. It leaves everyone in spring in a fagged out condition. YAWNING, physically and mentally, best describes it. This is especially true if you have had the GRIP or other illness so common to the winter months. To carry you through the spring period of changeable weather to summer when you can again gather strength and lay up energy for next winter, you need

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

The standard of purity and excellence for nearly half a century. We receive thousands of written endorsements from grateful patients who have been helped by DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY. Here is just one of thousands, written February 25, 1901:—

CONTENT AND HAPPY AT 93.

Gentlemen:—It affords me great pleasure at the present time to report to you the great benefits I am deriving from your Pure Malt Whiskey. I am 93 years old and enjoy the best of health. About ten years ago I found my strength was failing me, and the thought flashed across my mind: "Am I now to be an invalid the rest of my life?" My good common sense told me that what I needed was a tonic and stimulant; something to keep up my strength and ward off disease. I was recommended to try Duffy's Malt Whiskey. After two or three weeks I noticed a change coming over me. Nature seemed to be taking on new forces and life and strength were returning once more. My tired, worn-out nervous system improved, my brain became clear. I had delightful sleep, and would awake refreshed, feeling that life was not a burden. My appetite is excellent, eyesight fair, hearing good. I am positive I owe my present condition to your Pure Malt Whiskey. I am satisfied it is prolonging my life; not a life of misery, but one of contentment and happiness. I shall continue to use it, with the hope that I will yet pass the century mark. Gratefully yours,

EZRA GOULD, Park House, Newark, N. J.

Brilliant in battle and strong in military council, his was also the true American spirit, for when the war was ended he was quick and eager to return to the peaceful pursuits of civil life. While a strict disciplinarian, was yet beloved by all his men. No duty was too hazardous for them to cheerfully undertake and no sacrifice was too great for them to undergo when he commanded. He was not only considerate and tender of the soldiers whom he led, but generous and courteous to his brother officers. It was significant of his generous spirit, that under the tempting opportunity of a great command, he declined it rather than in justice should be done and humiliation put upon a brother officer. No wonder that Gen. Logan was the idol of the rank and file of the army. They loved him; he loved them.

In Washington, with most onerous and exacting senatorial duties resting upon him, he was devoted to the wants and necessities of his old comrades. His sympathy, his services and his limited purse were never denied them in their need. He was among the first commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic, and to him we are indebted for that beautiful service, which on the thirtieth of May each year brings to the graves of the soldier dead, among whom he now rests in everlasting comradeship, the offerings of an affectionate people and the undying gratitude of a nation. As a popular orator his voice has been heard in every state and territory of the Union, always for his country and for the flag he loved.

The highest eulogy ever paid him was by his father. The latter in his will divided his property between his widow and children equally, except—and I quote from the will—"John Alexander, whose marked abilities are such that he can provide for himself and lad his mother if necessary. This provision is not made from want of affection, but because of unbounded confidence in his future success." What a remarkable tribute from father to son—that expression of faith was enough to quicken the young man's noblest aspirations and call out the best that was in him. And how worthily he vindicated the confidence—to have inherited, to have deserved, and to have fulfilled that commendation from his father's love and faith were better than any inheritance of lands and tenements, stocks, bonds and money. Beloved of father, wife and children, beloved of his comrade in war and in peace, and beloved of his country, his whole life realized his father's prophecy and its words would adorn any monument to his fame.

The oration of the day was delivered by Hon. Chauncey M. Depew.

Senator Depew spoke in part as follows: "In the crisis of our fate as a nation, God seems to have raised up and prepared men specially for the accomplishment of the wonderful purposes which he had in store for the republic. But these wonderful intelligences, ready for great occasions and the accomplishment of historic deeds, are inactive, and undistinguished in communities like ours until their country calls them to duty. The Mexican war at once fired the imagination of the adventurous youth in our land. It carried young Logan, with a musket as a private in the ranks of his company across the Rio Grande and he won his shoulder straps in the bloody battles under Gens. Taylor and Scott. There was no more unpromising section of the United States in which to rear a young man and a federal soldier than the ancient Egypt of Illinois. It has been settled by slave holders, and the sons of slave holders, and its people, from blood relationship, sympathies and association, were in thorough accord with the slave holding holding states, from which they had come. Young Logan became their idol, and he was their representative in congress.

"Slavery was intolerant of opposition and discussion. Lovejoy, of Illinois, Logan's fellow member, was one of the bravest and ablest of the anti-slavery champions. When he rose to speak in the house of representatives, there would about him an enraged mob of members which not only prevented his being heard but threatened his life. It was this incident which opened the eyes of Logan to the great truth subsequently explained by Lincoln that the nation could never endure half slave and half free. He stamped on the side of liberty and so imperiously demanded a recognition of the rights of his colleague upon the floor of the house that his turbulent associates went back to their seats, and free speech was vindicated."

The ceremony was concluded by the pronunciation of the benediction by the Rev. Dr. J. G. Butler.

The equestrian statue of Logan unveiled today represented seven years of labor on the part of Franklin Simmons, the sculptor, and marks a departure in sculpture in Washington in that it rests upon a pedestal of bronze. Congress appropriated $50,000 for the statue and $15,000 was contributed by the G. A. R. he pedestal is twenty feet high. On its west face is a group representing Gen. Logan in consultation with leading officers in the army of the Tennessee. In this group are portrait bronzes of Gens. Dodge, Hazen, Sloum, Leggett, Mower, Blair and Capt. Strong. On the east face of the pedestal is a group representing Gen. Logan taking the oath as United States senator, which is being administered by Vice President Arthur. In this group are portraits of Senators Cullom, Evarts, Conkling, Morton, Miller, Voorhees and Thurman. The south front of the pedestal is embellished with an allegorical figure of war and the north with another of peace. The equestrian statue rises above the pedestal fourteen and a half feet. Gen. Logan, facing south, is represented as riding along a line of battle, his rose moving forward at a gentle trot, his hat on and sword drawn. The statue produces an impression of dignity, beauty and power. Humbert, late king of Italy, after a private view of the monument, knighted Mr. Simmons.

GRAVES ARRESTED.

Treasurer of Switchmen's Union In Custody.

Because he is said to have sidetracked funds of the Switchmen's union, C. D. Graves, of 1811 West Superior street was arrested last evening. He was run in on the siding of police court this morning and held for an examination tomorrow morning in the sum of $250.

Graves' arrest created considerable surprise among his friends. He is well known and well liked. His popularity brought him the treasurership of lodge No. 28, Switchmen's Union of North America. In the complaint against him, James E. Sullivan, says that he took $106 belonging to the union and unlawfully converted it to his own use.

Mr. Graves, gravely admits that there is a shortage in his accounts, but says that it was caused by dance tickets which were charged up to him and which were lost. He says that he has never had any intention of shirking the responsibility which this shortage placed on him, and that he has a written agreement with the board of directors of the union, by which he was to make up the shortage in monthly installments.

Mr. Graves' bond was put up by a surety company and his friends say that the company is backing the prosecution. The man arrested is 44 years of age and has a wife and two children.

Maccabees Party.

The Uniform rank of Maccabees will entertain this evening at its annual Easter dancing party, in Hunter hall. Only a limited number of invitations are out, but the party is expected to be one of the most delightful of the post-lenten season. The handsome uniforms of the knights will add a dash of military brilliancy to the scene, and the social forces of the local division will be reinforced by members of the Ivanhoe division of West Superior.

BOWERY WHISKY

Result of an Analysis Made By a Chemist.

Amyl Alcohol of Great Strength Supplies Intoxicating Effect.

Statement Showing Some Stuff Found In It.

Blanched with sudden emotion, Bowery rounders were sad and depressed last evening when they learned that the whisky trust had decided to raise the price of all whiskies from 2 to 35 cents a gallon. It was the topic of conversation, and some seemed to feel that the great monopoly had struck a blow at one of their dearest rights.

Their anxiety, however, would be declared out of order in any well-regulated parliamentary gathering. The liquor that is poured from refilled bottles in many Bowery saloons was never inside a distillery, according to expert analysis.

City officials are in possession of this analysis, which was made from four separate samples of Bowery whisky. It is found that the whisky is composed largely of rain water and amyl alcohol. This amyl alcohol produces intoxicating effects of a similar kind to those due to ordinary alcohol, only fifteen times more intense.

A very few drops will produce all the intoxicating effects of a very large quantity of ordinary alcohol, and it is accompanied with nausea and other symptoms. In large doses it proves fatal.

The analysis of the Bowery whisky also showed that there were strong traces of tannin in it, which is supposed to come from casks used for storing. Only a trace of sulphates and metal, however, was found in the lowest grade of whisky examined. The chemist who made the analysis says that some of this whisky is most unfit for beverage. His analysis of it is as follows:

Sulphates	a trace.
Acidity	.06 per cent.
Tannin	strong.
Metals	trace.
Amyl alcohol	very strong.
Extract	.24 per cent.
Lead acetate	heavy.

AFTER THEM.

Health Authorities and Christian Scientists May Clash.

There is likely to be a clash between the health authorities and Christian Scientists in the near future. It has been reported to the department that there is a family in the East End in which a child has scarlet fever. Owing to Christian Science tenets the parents refuse to believe that the child is sick. One doctor who has seen the case says that it is scarlet fever though the child does not appear to be in danger.

The state law requires all scarlet fever cases to be reported to the health office within ten hours and provides a severe penalty for any person refusing to comply with the law's requirements. Physicians are named as being particularly liable, when this violation occurs, but as no physician was summoned in the case in question, it is probable that the health authorities will hold the parents liable. The law in the case is being looked up and the developments promise to be of unusual interest.

There have been one or two other violations of this law recently. A physician concealed the fact that there was scarlet fever in the home of a certain minister. Health Officer Robinson, learning of it from an outside source promptly took steps to prevent the spread of the disease, and it is said that the physician's case is also under consideration.

In another instance the law was violated inadvertently by a poor family down on Garfield avenue. Several of the children were down with scarlet fever, but the parents neglected calling in a physician, and the cases were not discovered until the children were in a serious condition. The health department took hold promptly and used every effort to check the disease, and from the latest reports the efforts are proving successful.

END OF MONTH

That Is Mayor Hugo's Time For a Cleaning Day.

Mayor Hugo had not decided on a day for general cleaning of the city when seen this morning. He said that it should be toward the latter part of the month, when the frost is out of the ground to a greater extent than at present.

It is his purpose to have the urgent necessity of better sanitary conditions preached from the pulpits and talked in the school rooms, through the courtesy of the ministers and teachers who will enter into the cleaning movement. Real estate agents will also be included in those to be favored with requests from the mayor. The agents have control of the vacant lots, and Health Commissioner Robinson, says that the vacant lot garbage is the most perplexing problem with which his department has to deal, in its fight against filth.

The much talked-of health ordinance was among the things that the council did not take up last night, though the aldermen did pass a resolution urging a general cleaning of the city. This ordinance re-establishes the health board and it also makes tenants of property responsible for unsanitary conditions. The old ordinance only affected the property owners, and as many of them were non-residents the ordinance was practically useless.

There is a problem that is rather against the cleaning of the city in a single day. The city officers fear that if everybody gets into line there will be difficulty in getting enough teams to haul away the garbage, but they are willing to take chances on such a famine of teamsters and wagons, if the citizens generally will only enter into the cleaning with enthusiasm.

In the spring of the year, Duluth has never been noted for aesthetic attractiveness. The alleys are usually in a filthy condition and vacant lots frequently have the appearance of an official dumping ground. This spring conditions seem to be worse than ever, and owing to the prevalence of contagious diseases, the city authorities are most anxious that the city should be thoroughly cleansed of microbe hatching filth.

Owing to a shortage of revenue for such purposes, it has been found impossible for the city to go ahead with the work of spring cleaning without the aid of the citizens generally, and with this in view, Mayor Hugo will shortly issue a request to every man, woman and child in the city, to assist the administration in its handicap campaign against filth and disease.

There is some talk of naming a Saturday toward the latter part of the month as the day for general cleaning, but this has met with opposition in certain directions on account of its being a day of shopping and preparation for Sunday.

AT WEST DULUTH

The matter of sanitary sewerage in West Duluth came up in council last evening, and a resolution was passed by that body instructing the engineer to draw up plans and estimate the cost of an outlet for the sanitary sewer between Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth avenue west. This is the only sanitary sewer in West Duluth, and was constructed several years ago. The outlet for the sewer at the time of its construction was in the creek that runs from the heights under the viaduct at Central avenue, between Main and Raleigh streets. The creek empties into St. Louis bay. It is said that the original plan talked of at the time of the construction was the building of a covered way over the creek from the point the sewer joins it to the place it empties into the bay. There is one story to the effect that some of the mill people objected to the idea of having the sewerage emptied into the bay in the vicinity of the mills, and even got out an injunction to prevent it, but that it was ineffective for the reason that an outlet had already been made. It is understood that the plan of a new outlet is practically the utilization of the present one, except that the lower end of the creek be enclosed and a pipe continued out some distance in the channel. The only thing that is urged against the plan is that it is likely to cost a great deal of money, and some believe that the present system of sewerage is giving satisfactory results.

TWO YOUNG ROWDIES.

It is stated on pretty good authority that two West Duluth young men, somewhat under the influence of liquor, made themselves particularly obnoxious to a carload of people about Thirtieth avenue west at 7 o'clock last night, and were finally ejected from the car. The young men started trouble with the conductor, finally assaulting him and tearing his clothes. The passengers became disgusted, and one of them took an active hand in the fray, throwing both young men off the car. One of them struck on his head and shoulders, and is said to have been rendered unconscious for about fifteen minutes. No effort has yet been made to locate the young men, but it is intimated that in case of the discovery of their names action will be brought against them for disorderly conduct.

A REMARKABLE HEN.

The following Easter story, which is a little delayed, was told in West Duluth this morning and is vouched for by two prominent citizens. A young man of West Duluth, whose talents are known to be many and versatile, has surprised his friends by the manifestation of another of which they were entirely ignorant. He has developed a breed of hens that lay carmine colored eggs, variegated with beautiful spots, the size of which is simply gigantic. The egg shown the reporter measures eight inches, its lengthwise circumference, and six and one half inches around the middle. The other chicken fanciers of this suburb are green with envy, and their feathered pets are said to be hiding their heads in shame at being thus outdone.

DESERTED HIS CHILDREN.

John Swenson Gets Ninety Days For That.

John Swenson, formerly of the West End, but now a resident of the county jail, was found guilty of deserting his children, this morning and for the next ninety days will receive his mail in the care of the sheriff, unless he is able to raise $100 with which to pay a fine.

Some time ago Mrs. Swenson died and left the father with five children. They are not so very young but had not reached the age where it would be reasonable to suppose that they could take proper care of themselves. Swenson, however, left them to shift for themselves, and as a result one of the children had to be taken to the poor farm, where he died, and several of the others became charges on the county.

The county authorities knowing Swenson to be an able bodied man, requested him several times to take care of his family but he paid no attention to their requests. His arrest followed and on hearing the testimony Judge Gearhart imposed the sentence of $100 and costs or ninety days' hard labor, which seemed to open Swenson's eyes to his parental duties.

OPTIONS OUT.

Steel Combine Said to Be After Other Mines.

Three of the minor iron properties of the Mesaba range are understood to be under options for their purchase, and it is said that in each case the United States Steel corporation or some of its component companies is the prospective purchaser.

The mines are the Roberts, Hale and Kanawha, and the price is not given out in either instance. The Roberts and Hale last season shipped about 50,000 tons each, and the Kanawha shipped 75,000 tons. The Roberts mine is the property of the Roberts Mining company, of which Harry Roberts is a large owner, and the other properties are owned by the Colonial Mining company, in which Joseph Sellwood is interested.

Tailor-Made

Suits and Skirts

This has been a year of wonderful accomplishments in ready-made dress for women. Our display is a most convincing illustration of wonderful advancement in tailoring effort. Makers of ready tailor-made gowns have grown braver—they have cast their fortunes on your confidence—but not without the broadest display of worthiness—of artistic merit that ever came from their hands. As they grow braver and their products grow larger, the cost of the garments grows lower and lower. To fully demonstrate this we would be pleased to show you some handsome new arrivals in Suits and Skirts just received from our work rooms yesterday. They are undoubtedly the handsomest shown in this city, and it really seems like a useless expenditure of money go to a ladies' tailor when such perfect gowns can be found here ready made for such a small amount of money.

Miss Costello We have engaged the services of Miss Costello, formerly with Miss Lingard. Miss Costello is an expert fitter, and our many customers will be pleased to know that any little alterations required on their garments will be quickly made by one so thoroughly competent to do the work.

TO ENLARGE.

Wright-Clarkson Building to Be Increased In Size.

The Norton estate, which owns the building in which the Wright-Clarkson Mercantile company is located, will enlarge the building in some way the coming summer. It will either be extended on the east or it will be raised two stories. A man named Small, in Pennsylvania, owns the four lots, or 100 feet, just east of the building. The Norton estate owns the two lots, or 50 feet, just east of Small's. The Norton interests have offered to exchange the two lots for the two adjoining the building, and as the lots are about twenty feet longer than the ones they are anxious to get, it would look as though the owner would be anxious to make the trade. It has not yet been consummated, however. If it goes through there will be an addition of fifty feet built, conforming to the rest of the structure. If this cannot be done two stories will be added to the present structure.

MEN AT WORK

Force Put on at New Match Company's Plant.

This morning the Duluth Match company put a large force of men at work at the old Marinette plant at West Duluth getting the building ready for the machinery for the match factory, which is expected to arrive in Duluth in a few days. E. E. Ewing, manager of the company, says that there are several hundred thousand feet of basswood now on hand at the factory to be made into matches as soon as the plant starts up. The big building has been nearly cleared of all the old machinery that was in it.

BASEBALL MEETING.

Organization to Be Formed For Duluth.

A meeting of baseball fans will be held at the St. Louis hotel tomorrow evening at 8:30. This meeting has been called for the purpose of getting some kind of an organization together to control the Duluth team during the coming season. From present indications this city will be represented by the strongest team since the days of the pennant winning Western league organization.

The question at present is whether the club shall be controlled by a stock company, composed of fans anxious to promote clean, fast ball, or whether it shall be handled as a private enterprise as in the past.

Last season and the season before the fans found much fault with the schedule and the way in which the team acted on the diamond. This year they have an opportunity to have a voice in the management of the team, but in case the fans don't go into it, the club will be organized by Manager Hansell, who has already secured some exceptionally fast players. Private parties have indicated their intention of putting sufficient money into the club to carry it through the season against the hardest kind of luck, if necessary. A well known Chicago lumber buyer is also anxious to secure an interest in the team, if it is handled by private owners, but Mr. Hansell says that in view of past criticisms he would prefer having several reliable fans go in with him in the interest of harmony and the game generally.

TO START MONDAY.

Duncan & Brewer to Begin Sawing Then.

The Duncan & Brewer Lumber company expects to start up its mill for the season's run next Monday morning. This the company will be able to do unless the weather turns colder within the next few intervening days. The Duncan & Brewer mill is usually the first to start up in the spring as the ice goes out of the bay at the location of this mill before it does near the plants farther west on St. Louis bay. One of the creeks on the hill discharges a large amount of warmer surface water into the bay near the mill and the ice disappears there a week or two sooner than in the vicinity of the other mills. The Duncan & Brewer company has about 30,000,000 feet of logs banked along the west side of Rice's Point ready to be sawed as soon as the mill starts. The entire season's cut of this company was sold to Chicago parties less than two months ago. The other lumber companies have not yet set a date for the beginning of operations, but the managers of the different concerns say that it will be just as soon as the ice goes out enough to permit of steady work.

The Boer War.

The latest news from South Africa indicates a speedy and peaceful termination of the conflict that has been raging for the past two years. War is a terrible thing and has slain thousands, but stomach troubles, we believe, have slain even more. When the stomach is out of order the entire system suffers and disease takes an easy hold. To insure health and long life keep the stomach in good condition by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The next time you are troubled with dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, or any other disorder of the stomach, do not fail to give it a trial. It will cure these ailments and prevent malaria, fever and ague. Insist on having the genuine with our private revenue stamp over the neck of the bottle.

COMBINE METHODS

Butchers and Wholesalers Crushing an Independent Dealer.

Wholesalers Have Suddenly Refused to Sell Him Meat.

Formerly Sought His Trade With Much Anxiety.

The butchers of the city enter into a combine and put up the price of meat. They place the responsibility for the raise on the packers. The packers in turn say they have not raised and profess to be entirely independent of the combine among the butchers. "We will sell to anyone who has the market price," they say, "and we do not care what he sells it for. He can dump it in the bay if he wants to."

Thus do the two sides attempt to delude the public and make them believe that there is no combination between the butchers' combine and the wholesalers. There is a combination that cannot be beaten just the same. There is a case now which furnishes direct testimony that there is. F. Zeipen has been conducting a meat market on East Fourth street. He has refused to enter into the butchers' combine and he is being crushed by that combine through the wholesalers, to whom they dictate. Mr. Zeipen makes a plain statement with reference to the coercion that has been practiced upon him by the butchers' combine. He shows that the combine is simply raising prices to get a little more profit out of the people and that there is no excuse for the advance which has been agreed upon, especially in the price of beef. Here is Mr. Zeipen's statement:

"For your information I will state that I have been engaged in the retail meat business, in the city of Duluth, for the past ten years, and by strict attention to business and close economy I have been enabled to pay my bills promptly. I think that every wholesale dealer will testify to the fact that I have always purchased the best of meats, not availing myself of the bargains that were offered from time to time of meat of inferior quality. I have paid my bills promptly and do not owe any debts today that I cannot pay upon presentation of bill. I have always conducted my own business, and allowed my neighbor to do the same. With such record in the past, it would seem that every wholesale dealer doing business in the city of Duluth would be glad to do business with me. This has been the case in the past, when every day three or four of the wholesale house representatives could be seen in front of my place of business, but for the past four or five days not a wholesaler has called upon me for orders, and when I have telephoned them in regard to the price of meat, they have answered me that meat was away up in G. They would then hang up the telephone.

"All this state of affairs has been brought about on account of my refusal to enter into the retail meat combine with the rest of the retail dealers. We are paying today for meats in wholesale about 2 cents less than we did a year ago, and are selling meats in retail at the same price that we did a year ago, consequently we are receiving a good and fair profit.

"As I understand there is a move on foot in behalf of retail dealers in this city to raise the price of sirloin steak to 15 cents and porter house to 20 cents. I have considered this as an outrage and a robbery of the public and have refrained to enter into the conspiracy with the rest of the dealers to extort an undue profit from the people and for that reason I am now 'black listed.'

"Whether I shall be able to buy meats outside of the city, remains to be seen. If not, I will be compelled to go out of business because under no consideration will I join the combine to rob the public. I believe every dealer is entitled to receive a profit on what he sells to enable him to support his family and lay up a dollar for a rainy day, but I am unalterably opposed to combines of all kinds that will live on the fat of the land at the expense of the public.

"It matters very little as far as the public is concerned whether I do business in the city of Duluth or not, but the principle which is involved will not allow me to change my resolve, and when the combine is once completed, having crowded out the few independent dealers in meat, in the city of Duluth, then the people will learn to their sorrow, that they have not taken this matter up when it was yet time to do so.

"In this age of trusts and combination, it seems that all independence and manhood is sacrificed for personal greed for the enrichment of a few and the impoverishment of the many."

FOR BRICK.

Petitions Out For That Material For Superior Street.

Another set of petitions for the paving of Superior street is out. This time vitrified brick is called for, and the petitions are being circulated by Whitney Wall at the request of certain owners of property on Superior street.

The petitions were started only last night, but up to this afternoon over 300 feet of property was represented upon them. These signers are all local people, but as the majority of the property is owned outside of the city most of the signatures must be secured from other points, which will take a little time. In all about 2,700 feet of Superior street property is needed.

"One great reason why I favor brick," said Mr. Wall today, "is in the matter of repairs. During the winter especially it will often be necessary to cut up the paving to repair bursted water pipes. It will be impossible to fix the asphalt paving again until summer, and in the meantime the water will get under the paving and freeze, and the streets will be in terrible condition. Eastern owners of property will be likely to think we do not know how to care for any kind of a street in that case. Brick, on the other hand, is easily repaired at any time, and can be replaced so that the breaks will not show in the least."

The petitions call for no particular kind of vitrified brick, except that they specify that it shall be of the best quality.

Woodsmen Visit Emergency Hospital on Way to Town.

William Palmer, who lives out on the Rice Lake road, near the emergency hospital, says that he has frequently noticed woodsmen on their way into the city stop at the hospital and talk with small pox patients and then proceed to the city.

This morning two men stopped in this way and were in contact with the patients. The nurses, according to Mr. Palmer, did what they could to make them move on, but were powerless to do so. The woodsmen after chatting for a while came on into town.

Many of the patients detained at the hospital are rough and difficult to manage. The disease makes them very irritable and in some cases it has been found impossible to keep them from conversing with friends along the roadway. It is probable, however, if the practice continues, that a system of quarantine will be devised which even husky woodsmen will observe.

IN A BAD WAY

Woodsman at Hospital Who Was Evidently Slugged.

Edward Day, a woodsman, lies in St. Mary's hospital very sick, threatened with brain fever, as a result of injuries he claims to have received somewhere on the Bowery on Saturday night. Until today the injured man was in rather dazed state and not able to tell his troubles. He claims that he had been drinking rather heavily on Saturday night and during the evening was assaulted. He thought at first that knock-out drops had been administered, but the theory is not held by the attending physician, who says that the indications are that he was struck from behind while pretty well intoxicated. Day's collar bone is broken, his wrist is sprained and there is a bad bruise over one ear. He does not know what he did after receiving his injuries, but turned up at Dr. Patton's office on Monday morning for medical treatment, and was sent to the hospital. Day had $70 on his person when taken to the hospital and today claims that he has lost none.

FORCED TO FUMIGATE.

How the Superior Authorities Treat Woodsmen.

The Superior health authorities have adopted a very effective scheme for disinfecting the large crowds of woodsmen now coming to the head of the lakes from any possible germs of the disease of smallpox. Special policemen are sent to every train, and as fast as the woodsmen get off they are marched to the old South Shore depot, in that city, where they are put through a thorough disinfecting process. So thorough is this plan that the woodsmen are even compelled to open their sacks and satchels and spread their clothes out where they can receive the full benefit of the disinfectants. Several cases are reported where the woodsmen have objected strenuously to this scheme of the authorities but care is taken to have enough officers on hand to see that the plans are carried out and the woodsmen, after it is all over, usually go away feeling a little more good-natured. The health authorities of Superior claim that the plan was one that was rendered necessary on account of the large number of men now coming into the city from districts where the disease has been prevalent to a greater or less extent.

NO SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN.

Madison, Wis., April 9.—The assembly today killed Mr. Evans' joint resolution for a constitutional amendment to enable women to vote. The resolution had been advanced to a third reading and was on the calendar for passage. It was voted down two to one.

BACK IN DULUTH

President Greatsinger Returns From His Brooklyn Trip.

He Is to Remain Here But a Short Time.

Successor to His Position Here Not Yet Been Chosen.

President J. L. Greatsinger, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company and of the Minnesota Iron company and Duluth & Iron Range railroad, which he is soon to leave, returned from the East this morning. Despite the stories in New York and Brooklyn papers of wonderful experiences through which he has passed in the way of going through street railway jams and mixing with surging crowds, he still wore the same "don't worry" look—as one New York journal styled it—as he walked up from the Omaha depot. His face wore the same tranquil appearance that it did the day he left Duluth, and he moved as calmly and deliberately as he did before he mixed with the maddening throng on Brooklyn bridge.

He went directly to his office in the First National bank building and found it arrayed in much more gorgeous style than when he left, for the decorator has been doing some very handsome work in the Iron Range offices. He spent the balance of the morning receiving the congratulations of employes in the offices and the few people who had learned that he was here and called to extend theirs and express their regret that he was to leave the city.

"I am very sorry to leave Duluth," said Mr. Greatsinger. "I have always liked the city and its people, and my years here have been happy ones. But while I am going away, I will still have interests here that will keep me in close touch with the people and the city."

With reference to his new position, Mr. Greatsinger admits that he has a fairly large job on his hands, but is entirely sanguine of working out the various problems that have presented themselves. There has been a great deal said of the bridge problem and the difficulty which it presents. This Mr. Greatsinger believes will work itself out. The city authorities must provide more room, and the bridge commission is now at work on plans to do this. As indicating the traffic there is at that point, Mr. Greatsinger says that they now load 400 cars an hour time when the rush is on.

No successor to Mr. Greatsinger in his capacity as president of the Minnesota Iron company interests here has as yet been selected. He said this morning that nothing may be done before the annual meeting. Things can run along all right until then.

As to the future management of the properties of the United States Steel company in this section, he said he could say nothing. He did not think they had been determined upon as yet, but were being worked out now.

Mr. Greatsinger will be here for a few days and will then leave for Brooklyn.

Claims a Homestead.

Ed Elston, of Cass Lake, proprietor of a hotel there, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his liabilities at $9188.91 and assets at $8716.20. Of the latter amount he claims $1100 exempt. The exemption is peculiar in that he claims three rooms in the hotel as a homestead, valued at $1000 and provisions now on hand for his family valued at $100. This is a reminder of the E. P. Emerson case in Duluth when he claimed and maintained a homestead in the Spalding.

Rev. Lee A. Brink Again Visits Duluth.

Rev. L. A. Brink, of Iron River, Wis., was in the city a short time this afternoon. This is Mr. Brink's first visit to Duluth since his rather sensational disappearance over a year ago. Mr. Brink, it will be remembered, is the Iron River minister who came to this city to do some trading and his family hearing nothing of him for several days, it was feared that he had met with foul play or was drowned by walking off the dock here or in Superior, in fact, the authorities were considering the idea of dragging the bay near the docks for the body. His brother came out here from Montana, and entered into the search, finally locating Mr. Brink in Chicago, where he was found in bad condition, not even recognizing his brother. It was learned that the minister was suffering from a mental derangement, brought on by bad health at the time he left home to come to Duluth, but since that time has fully recovered and is now in the best of health.

THE EXPOSITION.

Commissioners Have an Important Session.

St. Paul, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pan-American exposition commissioners were in session all today. They will continue in session each day during the week.

Today was spent in discusing ways and means and in arranging for space with the directors of the exposition. The commission will probably organize permanently tomorrow, and will then open an office in the Globe building. The commissioners are reluctant to make any definite plans for the reason that the appropriation is not available. None of the members of the commission would give out the slate for tomorrow's permanent organization, but from a good source it is to be:

President, Alex McDougall, of Duluth; vice president, John Morton, of Havana; secretary, H. P. Hall, of St. Paul; superintendent, James Mullen, of Minneapolis.

HILL SUCCESSFUL.

Leaves New York With Burlington Safe.

New York, April 9.—The Evening Post says: President Hill of the Great Northern railroad will leave this city tomorrow, with his negotiations for the Burlington railroad successfully concluded. According to the Post, Mr. Hill would not make any personal statement, but informed his close associates that the Burlington negotiations han been concluded and that when he leaves New York tomorrow he will leave with only minor points unsettled.

STRIKE PROBABLE.

Trouble In Sight In Indiana Coal Fields.

Indianapolis, April 9.—It was stated at the offices of the United Mine Workers here this afternoon that there is a strong probability of a strike involving the entire block coal district of Indiana, over the question of the purchase and price of powder. The executive board of the mine workers held a protracted session today in President Mitchell's office, but the proceedings were not made public.

Attempted Insurrection at Negros Failed.

Dumaguete, Island of Negros, April 9.—Since the United States Philippine commission was at Bacolod, the capital of this island, March 12, the native civil governor of the island, Senor Severino, has attempted to start an insurrection against the establishing of the commissions new system of civil government. He failed to secure a following. The sentiment of the provincial governments is almost unanimous in favor of the division of the fund of $70,000 Mexican currency, now in the hands of the present government of Negros, between the proposed provinces of Occidental and Oriental Negros.

Young Man Who Committed Forgery Is In Hands of Law.

Menominee—It has been ascertained that Edward Sharick, who was brought to Menominee a few days back charged with arranging a bogus marriage, which was celebrated at Powers a few months ago, figured in some forging operations at that city and Marinette previous to flying the country to escape punishment for his complicity in the fictitious marriage. He got into a couple of the lumber companies. He has practically admitted the forgeries, and now he appears to be doubly in the meshes of the law.

The season's logging operations on the Menominee and tributary streams are completed, and the reports show that an aggregate of 190,000,000 feet of logs were put in during the winter. This does not include cedar and spruce, about 25,500,000 feet. Something over 25,000,000 feet of the previous year's log cut are hung up, says a Marinette authority. This will swell the amount to be driven down the river to about 211,000,000 feet Besides this, about 40,000,000 have been put up in by rail, most of which is all down.

Capt. Maglore Cota of Menominee, an ager mariner, claims to have been victimized by parties in Maine, who have succeeded in relieving him of part of a legacy of $5600 They found their opportunity in the old man's ignorance. The money in the case was the amount of his wife's estate she having died in Maine some twenty-five years ago. The swindlers' operations have extended over a long period of years, and they have managed to possess themselves with much of the money which rightfully belongs to old Cota.

Norway—Norway had a big surprise in the shape of a visit from Sheriff McKilrey of Jefferson county, Wis., who bore away with him a young man who has been living in that city for some time. The sheriff's prisoner is H. W. Erdman, who went to Norway to work in the mines. Being a dashing looking fellow, and possessing pleasant manners, he made friends quickly and became very popular. He was arrested on a charge of deserting a wife and family in Jefferson county, and he was returned to Wisconsin on requisition papers obtained from Governor La Follette. There was not the slightest suspicion at Norway that Erdman was a married man, and his arrest caused a small sensation

Escanaba—Two handsome brick blocks are to be erected on West Ludington street, at Escanaba, within the next few months. One is to be built by Emanuel Olson and one by Peter Olson. They will be located just west of the Walch block, at the corner of Ludington and Mary streets Both buildings will contain two stories and will be modern in every way. There will be two large store rooms in each building. Contractor Lindsay has already commenced the work of excavating for Emanuel Olson's building. The contract for the other will be let in a few days.

CONCERNS GROCERS.

Important Meeting of National Executive Board.

New York, April 9.—A special meeting of the executive board and finance committee of the National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States, has just been held in Niagara Falls, says a special to the Tribune from Buffalo. Matters of national importance, because they will affect every retail grocer in the United States, were discussed, but the conclusions and decisions reached will be kept secret for several days.

The meeting was held on the invitation of Henry P. Perky, president of the National Food company. Secretary Pfeffer read the call for the meeting, stating that it related to the upbuilding and growth of the organization. Mr. Perky spoke. A committee was apointed to consider a proposition, made by him along this line, and report later on it.

"R. and L. T." You are watching it—so are others!

STATUS IS CRITICAL

Employes of Central Railway of New Jersey Voting.

Secret Ballot Which Will Determine Their Future Action.

If Two-Thirds So Vote They Will Quit Work.

New York April 9.—The employes of the Central railway, of New Jersey, are balloting in secret today on the strike question, and if two-thirds vote affirmatively they will leave their posts as soon as the result is officially declared and the approval of the national officers secured. The situation is a critical one, and hinges entirely upon the result of the remarkable election that is now in progress. A forecast of the result of the poll is well nigh impossible. The men will not discuss the prospective strike outside of their lodge rooms. It is difficult to say when the result of the vote will be known. It is generally understood that the ballots will be collected by the local organizations, and by them forwarded to the brotherhood chiefs. The impression has been created that the chiefs are not entirely in accord on all of the issues of the dispute. The company is preparing for a struggle. Outside men to take the places of any who walk out are being assembled at convenient points along the lines and held in readiness for any emergency, and it is evident that if there is a strike the company will make a desperate effort to keep its trains moving. It has been admitted by officials of the company that men are being engaged. Speaking for the company this morning, General Manager Warren said:

"We have heard nothing further from the men, despite our willingness to treat with them, and as far as I know there is nothing new. I am informed that the men are balloting on the question of a strike, but do not know officially or personally that such is the case Most of my information anyhow comes from the newspapers.

"We would regret trouble with our men, for I assure you we have no desire to be other than perfectly fair. I have no idea what the men will decide to do, but I hope they will be reasonable. Everything is moving along evenly and quietly on the lines."

SERIOUS RIOTS.

Anti-Clerical Disturbances In South America.

New York, April 9.—A dispatch to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says: Serious anti-clerical riots have occurred at San Pablo, in the state of Santiago del Estero. They were caused by the presentation of the Spanish drama "Electra," by Perez Galdoz, which recently caused disturbances in Spain.

There was great excitement during the performance and at the end the audience rushed out and marched through the streets uttering cries against the clergy. They marched to the convent of San Benito and stoned it.

The police finally dispersed the rioters and arrested many of them.

FEMALE PASSENGER AGENT

Southern Railroad President Wants to Set Example.

Louisville, Ky., April 9.—Miss Elvira Snydor Miller, the Kentucky newspaper writer and poetess, has been appointed city passenger agent of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad by President Cox. Mr. Cox says he wants to set an example for other railroad men, and to prove that women can solicit railroad business as successfully as men.

PNEUMONIA.

Dread Disease Is Very Prevalent In the Klondike Region.

Seattle, April 9.—Dawson passengers who arrived on the steamer City of Seattle say that pneumonia is very prevalent in the Klondike. Col. J. C. McCook, United States consul for the Klondike, was very ill April 2, and had practically no chance of recovery. Frank J. Belcher, one of the richest men of the Klondike, recently died of the disease, just as he was about to leave for his home in Pennsylvania, where he proposed to retire on a fortune of at least $600,000, which he had accumulated in the Eldorado district. A number of other deaths have resulted from the disease.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Lead—There will be a suit against the labor unions of Lead, brought by L. E. Baltzley and George Bothwell, the merchants who were boycotted by the unions for not closing at 6 o'clock with other merchants. It is said several of the citizens who are against early closing have offered to assist the two merchants. They will bring suit for damages to their business.

Sioux Falls—As the result of a hearing before Judge Jones of the state circuit court, in the suit brought to restrain ex-Mayor Porter P. Peck from further encroaching upon the waters of the Big Sioux river in this city by filling in some lots where they touch the river, the case was indefinitely postponed. It can be called up on five days' notice by either side. In the meantime Mr. Peck is restrained from dumping any more dirt into the river.

The motion of the Great Northern railroad for a new trial in the case of Clark Coats against the company has been denied by Judge Carland of the United States court, and it is said the company will take an appeal. The suit grew out of extensive damage alleged to have been done to the property of the plaintiff by sparks from a train of a strike, but do not know officially or personally that such is the case Most of my information anyhow comes from the newspapers.

Bath—The stock company of farmers which recently bought ont of the line elevators, will, this summer, put in a wagon dump and place the house in first class shape and be ready for business at the opening of the new crop year. For years the farmers have felt that the line house has been practicing extortion on them, and some have shipped their own wheat, sometimes making as high as $70 to $80 and over per car, $40 to $60 being not unusual. As it is usually difficult to obtain cars in the threshing season, it was believed that if the farmers had an elevator of their own they could dispose of their wheat to better advantage than through the elevator combine.

Mitchell Register of Deeds A. R. Grounke has just returned to this city after an absence of some two weeks, during his absence the board of county commissioners met for the purpose of making the regular quarterly settlements. The books in the register's office showed that about $600 in fees had been collected during the quarter, but Mr. Grounke was not on hand to make a settlement. The board waited two days, during which time efforts were made to find the missing official, but without success. At the adjourned meeting the bondsmen made good the amount.

Woonsocket—There is an epidemic of cattle and horse stealing going on in this part of the state. James Lonlog, a one-armed man, of Huron, and George Moody, both lately out of the penitentiary, are suspected of the theft of six head of cattle from Charlie Looby.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Jamestown—Charles Darling, a crippled confectionery dealer, had a narrow escape from suffocation. He was alone in his stand when a fire started from some coals dropped in an open kerosene can. In attempting to remove the can he spilled the kerosene on the floor and a ridge of fire blazed up the walls. He was nearly suffocated before he managed to smash a window and yell for help. In assisting in the work of rescue, Louis Miller, a farmer, dispointed his arm and will be laid up for several weeks.

Grafton—St. Omer commandery, No. 6, Knights Templar, forty strong, went to St. Thomas Sunday and attended Easter services at the Methodist church. Rev. and Sir Knight S. H. Dewart preached the sermon. The St Thomas knights entertained the commandery in teh usual hospitable manner.

Dickinson—Walter Barnett, convicted of hodse stealing, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Fargo—Bishop Edsall conducted special services at the Cathedral Sunday afternoon for the Knights Templar, who marched from the temple in uniform with the band at the head of the column. Dean Barlesoj, who is an as enthusoastic a Mason as the bishop, assisted in the service.

Information has come from Buffalo that the art judges of the Pan-American exposition have accepted two miniatures painted by Miss Male Douglas. The artist is a daughter of Col. Douglas, of Fargo, and is studying in the East.

Grand Forks—Mrs Myron W. Tuttle is dead after six years' suffering from creeping paralysis. She was born in Perry, Ohio, in 1840.

The ice in the Red river has gone out from the Northern Pacific bridge to a point nearly a mile below. No damage resulted.

Hillsboro—The second child of William Borcher, accidentally shot by a brother, is dead. The boy who did the shooting was found after twenty-four hours, hiding in a barn one mile from the home. His mind seems to be giving away, and it is feared insanity will develop.

Larimore—The board of county commissioners has compromised the claim of ex-Deputy Sheriff McElroy and adopted a resolution to pay him $244.15.

GETS BIG COMMISSION.

Broker Wins Suit Against a Mine Owner.

Denver, Col., April 9.—In the suit for a commission on a mining sale that was never made, the jury in the district court has brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff $200,000. The suit was brought by Benjamin F. Seymour against E. A. Colburn. The latter owns a controlling interest in the stock of the Gold King Mining company of Cripple Creek. A contract was made last June by which Mr. Colburn agreed to pay Mr. Seymour $200,000 if he found a purchaser who would pay $2,000,000 for the mine. H. H. Frambach, formerly of Chicago, was interested in the deal, but Mr. Colborn then refused to sell.

GOLD WON BY SOLONS

Gambling In Stocks Has Brought Millions to Senators.

The Burlington Rise Nets Wolcott More Than $1,000,000.

Fifteen or Twenty Others Divide Four Times That Sum.

Washington, April 9.—A coterie of United States senators is credited, according to reports from New York, with having made fabulous winnings on the stock market through the recent sensational and unparalleled advance of Burlington, Northern Pacific and other so-called granger road stocks. Ex-Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, who conducted the negotiations on behalf of James J. Hill and J. Pierpont Morgan for the absorption of a majority of the stock of the Burlington, is known to have made over $1,000,000 in the market.

Mr. Wolcott in his capacity of confidential attorney for the principals of the great deal possessed inside information about what was going to happen, and he thoughtfully gave the word to such of his old friends in the senate as would be likely to appreciate a good thing. Washington wondered just before the session came to a close last month why so many senators found it necessary to pay frequent visits to New York and what was the business that took them away from their duties at the most critical period of the session.

When at the close of the session between fifteen and twenty senators hastened to New York and settled down at the Waldorf-Astoria, the nerve center of all stock operations, as if they intended to remain all summer. Washington wondered more than ever.

For several days stories have been brought to the national capital by men in a position to know what they are talking about detailing the wonderful successes that Wolcott's old cronies have achieved in Wall street. One Western senator who returned last night told a friend that "Wolcott would have to charter a freight train to pack his winnings to Colorado after he has quit the market."

This same senator speaks cautiously about other senators "making a world of money," which is one way of saying that all those who received the Wolcott tip have been extremely fortunate.

From a source that is authentic it is learned that aside from the personal winnings of Senator Wolcott, the other United States senators who purchased Northern Pacific and Burlington before it was publicly known that Hill and Morgan were trying to secure control of Burlington have cleaned up between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Senator Hanna is reported to be the largest individual winner next to Wolcott. Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, also takes down a neat sum.

Other senators who are credited with having profited by the deal are Hansbrough, of North Dakota; Spooner, of Wisconsin; Warren, of Wyoming; Elkins and Scott, of West Virginia; Burrows, of Michigan; McComas, of Maryland; Quay, of Philadelphia; Kearns, of Utah; Clark, of Wyoming, and Jones, of Nevada. There may have been other lucky senators, but their names have not been disclosed. It is stated that not one of the senators who invested has won less than $100,000.

RENOUNCES CHURCH CREED

Prominent New York Methodist Quits the Church.

New York, April 9.—George L. Rusby, a prominent resident of the Nutley district, has resigned as a member of the board of trustees of the Franklin Methodist church. Mr. Rusby made a plea for Christian unity at the diamond anniversary of the church nearly a year ago. In his present letter of resignation, which has been accepted by the trustees, he says: "I can no longer subscribe to the belief that benefits may be expected from the applicance of any faith, creed or belief, except such of the latter as may impart direction to the impulses, motives and acts of the individual. I believe it is the life alone which can justify. I hold that it is not the true mission of our church to propagate creeds and claim that their acceptance will insure salvation, but that, on the contrary, the church's sole duty is to establish on earth a rule of love, mercy and justice." Mr. Rusby's letter has caused much comment.

IN THE TIMBER COUNTRY.

New Railroad Lines Between Duluth and Winnipeg.

Bemidji, Minn., April 9.—While the Northern Pacific has been extending the Brainerd & Northern and buying out the Red Lake Transportation company with a view of tapping the Northern Minnesota timber country the Great Northern has not been idle. It has sent out numerous surveying parties north and west from Cass Lake, Bemidji and Eckels. More than one railroad official has affirmed that in the near future the Great Northern will from one of these towns extend its line into the northern timber country, now so fully covered by the Northern Pacific.

The latest report is that the Northern Pacific is now at work upon a short line from Winnipeg to Duluth, passing through Kittson, Roseau, Marshal, Red Lake and Beltrami counties, and at Bemidji forming a junction with its road, the B. & N. M., thus shortening the distance 200 miles. It is generally believed that the company with not build through to Winnipeg, but will connect with the McKenzie-Mann road at some point near the border.

A surveying party under Joe Wall is now at work on the survey a hundred miles northwest of here. The camp outfits and supplies have been hauled by teams, but as they have reached the swampy country the supplies must be transported by skiffs. They left here several weeks ago.

The country through which all these surveys have been made is heavily timbered and watered. The population is light, but increasing rapidly. The new lines will do a big business in carrying settlers and their effects in and bringing ties and timber out. The whole section will in time develop into a valuable agricultural country.

HIGH SPEED.

New Torpedo Boat Destroyer Breaks All Previous Records.

Seattle, April 9.—The new torpedo boat destroyer Goldsborough recently finished at Portland, Ore., in her second trial over the prescribed course in this harbor, attained a speed of 31.84 knots, the requirement being but 30 knots. The builders are much pleased with this success and claim that their boat has broken the record for her type which was formerly held by the Dahlgren, built at Bath, Me. Cardiff coal was used and the engines and boilers worked to perfection. The Goldsborough will go to Tacoma, where she will soon run for final trial. She will then return to Seattle to finish some of the details of her outfitting, after which she will be taken to the naval station and delivered to the government.

GONE WITH CLIENTS' MONEY

Colorado Springs Broker Said to Owe $50,000.

Colorado Springs, Col., April 9.—George S. Cheesman and A. B. Moulder, of the Moulder-Cheesman Brokerage company, have disappeared and the shortage of the firm is estimated at $50,000. Mining stock held for clients was sold, it is alleged, to pay the expenses of the firm and the personal expenses of the partners. This was done it is claimed, with the understanding that Cheesman would make good with money he expected to receive from relatives in Indianapolis. These relatives, however, refused to give any further aid to Cheesman and the latter left town two weeks ago. His partner found the following note: "Dear Gus—I have concluded not to come back to Colorado Springs. Settle up the business as best you can."

Now Moulder has gone and writes to a friend that he will come back and pay his debts. The firm did an extensive business in Colorado and California.

CHICAGOAN FINDS FORTUNE

W. J. Root's Mine Said to Contain Fabulous Riches.

Louisville, Ky., April 9.—W. J. Root, formerly of this city, but more recently a photographer of Chicago, has found a fabulously rich gold mine in Colorado and those who are associated with him say he will shortly be a multimillionaire. George L. Bacon, one of Louisville's most prominent business men is a brother-in-law of Mr. Root. He says the mine is a bonanza.

Three years ago Mr. Root purchased a claim in the Salida district near Cripple Creek and had it thoroughly prospected. The Turret City Gold Mining and Milling company was organized and capitalized at $300,000. Then Mr. Root came to Louisville and attempted to dispose of $40,000 of the company's bonds. He advertised them at par and as an inducement offered twenty-five shares with every $100 bond. With an abundance of funds he returned to Salida, named his mine "The Vivandiere," and went to work. Three weeks ago pay dirt was struck, at a depth of 400 feet and with every foot traversed the prospect became brighter. Finally a pocket yielding $648 to the ton was discovered. Mr. Root left Chicago several days ago for Turret, Col., and has wired Mr. Bacon that his fortune is made.

BONDS TO BE ISSUED

Council Grants Authority to Zenith Telephone Company.

Saloon Ordinance Introduced Fixing a Limit of 169.

Mayor Called on to Name a Cleaning Day.

The council last night:

Passed an ordinance giving the Zenith City Telephone company authority to issue $100,000 bonds for improvements.

Passed an ordinance giving the Missabe road a right-of-way on Railroad street at Thirtieth avenue west.

Passed an ordinance providing certificate of indebtedness of $2050 to pay for West Duluth park site.

Introduced an ordinance providing that no saloon licenses shall be granted over the present number of 169.

Adopted a resolution instructing the bridge commission to secure government consent to the aerial ferry bridge.

Instructed the board of public works to advertise for bids for material for Garfield avenue viaduct.

Adopted a resolution calling on the mayor to name a day for a general cleaning up of the entire city.

The meeting was strictly a routine affair. Business of general interest failed to find a place on the calendar. The session was so quiet that even the Park Point ferry was not mentioned, except incidentally, when one alderman talked in his sleep.

An ordinance was passed giving the Zenith City Telephone company authority to make a bond issue of $100,000 for improvement and extensions, the bonds to run for a period of ten years, drawing interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

The present plant of the Zenith City Telephone company has cost $183,999 for actual work of construction. The company's officers claim that the business is growing so rapidly that extensions are very necessary.

One of the aldermen remarked that he thought certain improvements very desirable. He said, in explanation, that one day he called up a friend, and the wires got crossed in such a way that his wife began talking excitedly over the same line.

"That is certainly dangerous! we must insist on improvements," came a chorus from his colleagues.

Alderman Cochrane of the Eighth ward said that West Duluth had been promised a metallic circuit, but it apparently had not been put in, for he had personally held conversation with five different people at the same time.

In view of these circumstances, and the fact that one alderman's wife had cut in on the line when he was talking with a "friend," the council voted unanimously and even urged the company to make improvements in its system.

After the ordinance passed and a sigh of relief had zigzagged its way around the semi-circle, on the assurance of a company official that aldermen could talk to their "friends" with safety in the future, one member became inquisitive and wanted to know who the particular "friend" was.

"Why, Alderman Swenson at Smithville," came the reply, and there were certain people sitting in that semi-circle who wore a pained expression as if their votes had been obtained under false pretenses.

Another ordinance was passed giving the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road the right to build a sidetrack on Railroad street, to the plant of the Duluth Brewing and Malting company. This franchise has been sought for nearly six years.

The ordinance committee introduced an ordinance limiting the number of saloons to 169, and providing that no licenses shall be renewed where there has been any violations of law within the saloon within one year of the time the license is asked for.

This ordinance differs from the original Neff resolution in that it limits the number of saloons without specifying conditions on which the limit can be raised. The resolution provided that 169 saloons should be sufficient for thirst-quenching purposes until the present ratio of one saloon to every 325 population should be changed to one saloon to every 500 population. The ordinance simply says that no saloon licenses shall be granted in excess of the present number.

This ordinance was given its first reading and will probably take its second reading next week. A majority of the aldermen seem to favor it, though the ordinance is not as binding as some would like it and more binding than others like to have it. It can be amended or changed at any time the council thinks the public thirst and municipal revenue requires more saloons.

A third ordinance was passed, providing for a certificate of indebtedness on the park fund to the extent of $2050. This is to pay for the new West Duluth park site. The indebtedness will be taken up on July 1 of this year.

A resolution by Alderman Johnson was adopted instructing the bridge commission to take immediate steps toward securing the consent of the war department to erect the aerial ferry bridge across the ship canal. In case the consent of the war department is given, and thee ity engineer finds that the offer recently made by the American Bridge works, is reasonable, steps will be taken to let the contract to the American Bridge concert without further delay, so the work can be pushed next winter as soon as navigation closes.

The board of public works was instructed to advertise for bids for the steel and stone to be used in constructing the city's share of the Garfield avenue viaduct.

Alderman Cromwell introduced a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the mayor to set aside a day for the general cleaning up of the city. It is expected that the mayor will issue a proclamation and all citizens will be asked to clean up their property. School children will also be interested in the work.

A resolution was passed authorizing the construction of a sanitary sewer on Gladstone street, at a point 200 feet easterly of the easterly side of Forty-seventh avenue east to Forty-eighth avenue east.

A petition was received from about 200 citizens and taxpayers urging the council to take steps toward the immediate repairing of London road.

THE BOER LECTURES.

To Be Held At the Armory April 19.

Yesterday afternoon at the office of M. H. McMahon, there was a preliminary meeting in the interest of the coming here of the Boer commissioners, Wessels and Viljoen. Henry Truelsen was chairman and M. H. McMahon, secretary. The matter was talked over in a general way and it was decided to hold another meeting this evening at which there should be more definite action decided upon.

W. F. Nash, advance representative of the Boers was present. He explained that the lecturers are working for the relief fund fo the widows eand orphans of the Boer republics. The lecture will be about two hours in length, and will give much information, from an authoritative source, of the rights and wrongs of the tremendous struggle whic has been going on in South Africa for the past eighteen months. Wessels and Viljoen are graduates of an English college at Cape Town, and speak the language fluently. They have both fought in the Boer army. And are entirely equal to an intelligent presentation of the subject, so necessary for a thorough understanding of the Boer cause, which the censored dispatches and vilification of the English war office are taken into consideration. The views which they present are largely of scenes connected with the war, many of them presenting in all their realism the hostile battle lines in action. The pictures of the battle ground rendered famous during the war, acquaint the beholder with the country and impress upon him the place as well as the name.

The Armory will be secured for the evening of April 19, which is the day upon which the lecture is to be given.

HAS HAD MANY LOSSES.

Clinton Markell's Experiences With Fire.

Clinton Markell has been in the city for several days looking after matters connected with the recent fire at his home on East Second street. His family has been in Denver for some time, that climate being looked to to improve the health of Mrs. Markell. Mr. Markell, in recent years, has been a heavy loser by fire and this instance is the third. In the burning of the elevator in which he was interested and which stood on the lake shore, there was a loss of $60,000. The burning of the old Grand Opera house also brought a loss of $70,000. This third fire at his home with a loss of close to $10,000 makes a large total.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A PRISONER OF ZENDA."

"A Prisoner of Zenda" was given at the Lyceum last evening. The audience was fairly large, but not of that size that has greeted former performances of this play. The company was of fair merit. Vaugan Glaser, who has been seen here as Fritz von Tarlenheim several times now plays the leading role, the dual part of Rudolf and Passendyll. He is not entirely satisfactory in it. His votes is not pleasing, owing to an indistinctness in articulation, and there is a staginess in his manner and walk that is not in keeping with the part. He suffers decidedly in comparison with Howard Gould, who has been the leading man in former productions here. Miss Aldridge as Princess Flavina is satisfactory, but there are no striking points of excellence in her work. The cast is evenly balanced and fairly good.

Dr. Gunsaulus Coming.

Maj. J. B. Pond, who was to have lectured in the Star lecture course, is ill in New York, and it will be impossible for him to fill his date in this city. To fill his place Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, the well known Chicago clergyman, has been secured and he will talk on "The Later Eloquence of Puritanism." The Topeka Capital said of this lecture:

"The lecture of Dr. Gunsaulus on 'The Later Eloquence of Puritanism,' last evening, presented his hearers a new view of his many-sided character. His previous lectures have possessed depths of intellectual thought and beauties of expression that were a revelation to many of his audience, but the lecture last night rose to heights of impassioned eloquence that he had not previously displayed."

Sixth Avenue Theater.

North Brothers, comedians, opened the spring season at the Sixth avenue theater last evening and there was a large audience. The play was "Princess Vergie," and it was cleverly and capably played. Applause was given in liberal measures and the audience manifested every evidence of satisfaction. The specialities were all excellent. Miss Virginia Goodwin, the leading lady, is a clever actress and has a pleasing personality. Mr. Chapin, the leading juvenile and Baby Hazel made great hits. The company will be here all the week.

DULUTH WEATHER

Annual Summary For 1900 Issued By the Bureau.

Mean Temperature the Lowest of Any Station Reported.

Cool Summer Weather Is What Makes Average Low.

The annual summary of the Monthly Weather Review, published by the weather bureau, contains some interesting figures. It shows what the weather has been in all of the stations of the bureau during 1900, including such figures as the mean temperature, the precipitation, snowfall, etc.

The mean temperature of Duluth is the lowest of any station in the country. Last year the mean was 41.2 degrees, and that was 1.9 degrees above the normal. The maximum in Duluth was 93 degrees, that being the highest point the thermometer reached during 1900. The mean maximum, that is the average of the maximum temperatures day by day, was 49 degrees. The lowest temperature reached was 22 degrees below zero, and the mean temperature was 24 degrees.

The total precipitation was 23.14 inches, which is well down in the list, not very many stations showing less. This was a wide departure from the normal for the city, however, as the table shows it to be 7.87 inches less than the normal for the city.

The winds that swept the garbage back and forth over Superior street traveled 86,641 miles, and the prevailing winds were from the northeast. The highest velocity reached was fifty-four miles an hour, from the northwest.

The showing that the mean temperature of Duluth is the lowest in the country is hardly fair, though it is, of course, correct. One might imagine from the showing that Duluth was the worst place in the country to live in. As a matter of fact what brings the mean temperature down is the cool summer weather. The winter is not colder than elsewhere. Indeed the lake, which keeps the summers cool, is credited with affecting the winters in the contrary direction. A statement of the winter weather would show Duluth well up in the list, while a separate statement of the summer weather would show it much farther down in emperature.

There were many places where the thermometer went lower than it did in Duluth, where the lowest reached was 22 degrees below zero. The Sault was the same, and the following stations showed lower minimums: Northfield, Vt., 24 below; Moorhead, Minn., 26 below; Bismarck, N. D., 33 below; Williston, N. D., 26 below; Havre, Mont., 37 below; Helena, Mont., 23 below; Lander, Wyo., 30 below.

TO IMPROVE.

Northern Pacific Railroad to Spend Much Money Here.

J. W. Kendrick, second vice president and general manager, and M. C. Kimberley, general superintendent of the Northern Pacific Railway company, were in the city yesterday afternoon to inspect the company's yards and consider the situation in view of the improvements that have been planned at this point the coming season. The Northern Pacific company, Mr. Kendrick says, will expend about $500,000 in improvements in Duluth this summer, which will include a 22-engine round house, with necessary tool houses, etc., and the rearrangement and regrading of the tracks on Rice's Point. The round house is to be located at the base of Rice's Point, and will cost in the neighborhood of $125,000.

Some of the money is to be expended on the Garfield avenue viaduct, the cost of which will be borne largely by the Northern Pacific company. The railroad company expects to expend about $3,000,000 this year on its system, most of the money to be used in improving the road bed. Some of the improvements are to be made at Brainerd, in the shape of an addition to the round house and a steel bridge across the Mississippi river at that point. Mr. Kendrick says that the contract for the Garfield avenue work has been awarded and operations on the viaduct will soon begin. The company intends eventually to build docks and slips along St. Louis bay and the new construction work this year will be made with a view of planning all future improvements as extensions.

COMES FROM BRAIN.

Phosphates Found on the Skin and Thrown Out From Pores.

We know that active brain work throws out the phosphate of potash, for this product is found on the skin after excessive brain work, therefore, brain workers, in order to keep well, must have proper food containing phosphate of potash to quickly and surely rebuild the used-up tissue. That one can obtain such food has been proven in thousands of cases among users of Grape-Nuts Food.

This contains phosphate of potash in minute particles, just as it is furnished by nature in the grains.

This product makes from albumen the gray matter that builds the brain and fills the nerve centers.

In no way can this gray matter be made except by the action of phosphate of potash upon albumen, and this mineral should be introduced to the body just as it comes from nature's laboratory, and not from the drug store. The system is more or less fastidious about taking up the needed elements, and, as might be suspected, it will favor the products of Mother Nature rather than the products of the drug shop, however valuable the last may be for certain uses.

Lawyers, journalists, doctors, ministers, business men and others, who earn their living by the use of the brain, are using Grape-Nuts Food. It is manufactured for a reason and was originated by an expert. The regenerative value of the food has been demonstrated beyond question.

ICE CRUSHER.

Chances For Adoption Said to Be Getting Brighter.

According to the latest reports from the lower lake ports, the realization of Capt. B. E. Inman's scheme for ice-crushing steamers to make possible winter navigation on the lakes, is a little nearer than it has been before, and another winter may witness the experiment made by crushers built along the lines planned by the well-known vesselman from Duluth. A Detroit paper prints the following:

"If the plans of Capt. B. B. Inman do not miscarry, contracts will be signed with the American Shipbuilding company within ten days by which that company will build three of the Inman ice-crushing steamers, the first one to be launched in time for the late fall navigation this year, and the other two for early winter."

The foregoing is said to have the merest shadow of truth to it. The Canada Atlantic railroad, according to an official of the shipbuilding company, has had this project under consideration for many months, and it is apparently no nearer a definite conclusion than it was last fall. The railroad company is said to be very desirous of running a line of ice-crushing steamers between Chicago and Parry Sound all winter. Each of the crushers are to be built of steel after the Inman model, strong, powerful, and with a capacity of 5000 tons of grain or package freight.

The idea is said to be the trans-shipment of the freight from Parry Sound to the company's cars which would take it across Canada to Montreal for another transshipment into ocean-going vessels for Europe, or going past Montreal to Eastern points. It is figured that the saving in haul would be from 800 to 900 miles. The company already does an immense business during the regular navigation season.

The plans for the ice-crushers are said to have been drawn up by Frank E. Kirby, consulting engineer of the shipbuilding company, who embodied Capt. Inman's ideas, and a month ago Mr. Kirby appeared before the Dominion government to argue in favor of a subsidy being granted the railroad company by the government for carrying out this scheme. Mr. Kirby thoroughly understands and believes in Capt. Inman's scheme, and he has made a strong argument to the Canadian legislators. The matter was held over for future consideration, for Canada is not quick in yielding up her money in an experiment. Just how much subsidy is wanted has not been divulged, but it is believed to be close to $1,000,000, for the boats would cost about three-fourths of that sum.

Economic League.

Tomorrow evening the Economic League will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and the subject of taxation will be discussed with papers by Rev. Alexander Milne and Mayor T. W. Hugo.

Rev. Milne will discuss the importance of a more thorough knowledge of the subject, the inequalities and weaknesses of the general property tax and need for a more scientific system with a side glance at taxation morals.

Mayor Hugo will discuss the subject more particularly from the municipal standpoint and show the extent to which taxes must be levied in order to meet the requirements of good municipal government.

CHURCH MEMBERS MEET.

Election of Officers of St. Paul's Church.

The annual meeting of the members of St. Paul's church was held last evening. The members of the vestry were re-elected with the exception of D. A. Petre, F. L. Gilbert being elected to his place. They are as follows: C. H. Graves, H. M. Peyton, W. A. Olcott, F. L. Gilbert, J. H. Dight, R. B. Knox, F. W. Paine, treasurer, and Henry Taylor, secretary. Judge Dickinson was elected senior warden; Dr. Bowers, junior warden.

The report of the treasurer showed a fine condition of financial affairs. The debt of $500 has been nearly all raised, something like $800 being still outstanding, but that is to be raised in all probability.

The report of the Ladies' Guild showed $500 raised in five years' time, and it was extended a vote of thanks. A. F. M. Custance, director of music, also received a vote of thanks.

IS AFFIRMED.

C. H. Bradley Loses Case Against A. B. Turner.

The case of C. H. Bradley against A. B. Turner, which was appealed by the plaintiff to the United States circuit court of appeals has been decided by that tribunal in favor of the defendant. This is in accordance with the ruling of Judge Lochren in the lower court. It was tried here before Judge Lochren about a year ago. Mr. Bradley sued for $21,000, claiming an interest in a deal made between John McKinley and Mr. Turner out of which grew the organization of the Mass Consolidated Mining comany. Mr. Turner maintained that he knew nothing of Mr. Bradley and that his dealing had been with Mr. McKinley. Judge Lochren found that the evidence sustained this contention. His finding is now affirmed.

Takes Bad Tumble.

Edward King, a well-known livery stable employe, was suddenly stricken with paralysis last evening as he was leaving a gambling house over Campbell & Doran's saloon. He was walking down the stairway when he suddenly plunged forward and fell, striking the sidewalk on his head.

He was hurriedly taken to St. Mary's hospital, where it was found that the entire left side was paralyzed. He passed a fairly comfortable night, but owing to his age it is feared that he will not survive the shock.

SURPRISES THE COOK.

Man Falls Through Skylight to Kitchen Table.

Chicago, April 9.—While a cook in a restaurant at 41 South Water street was broiling a steak at midnight a man plunged through a skylight and fell on the table beside the stove. The cook dropped the steak on the fire and the stranger rolled off the table and staggered out.

The man "from up there" is John Cronin, who boards at the hotel over the restaurant. Cronin's room is on the third floor and in the dark he opened the wrong door and fell into a court and through a glass skylight. His wounds were slight.

BENT UPON COMING.

Mr. Kruger Desires to Visit United States.

New York, April 9.—Dispatches from Holland, says the Tribune's London correspondent, revives the rumor that Mr. Kruger is bent upon visiting the United States during the summer. Private information from The Hague leads to the belief that his physician is strongly opposed to any course of action which will subject him to any excitement. Mr. Kruger's health is fair, but he has a weak heart action and has been warned that he must live quietly. The talk about his American journey comes from Boer sympathizers in Holland who are unwilling to admit that he has exhausted the resources of diplomacy and has nothing in reserve.

A HEROINE.

Nebraska School Teacher Saves Lives of Her Young Pupils.

Harrison, Neb. 9.—An act of heroism unsurpassed in the annals of state is the expression being used by Sioux county citizens in connection with the performance of Miss Lizzie E. Cottman, teacher in the district school near here. Alone, facing a torrent of water carrying debris, trees, dead animals and all the tatterdemalion of a flood, she rescued from a horrible death, the scholars of her school and preserved the building itself from what seemed inevitable destruction. Teacher and pupils were unconscious of the frightful danger awaiting them. Suddenly Miss Cottman felt a strange, uncanny movement under her feet. Again it came, this time so strong that the scholars looked up in terror. Stepping to the doorway, Miss Cottman witnessed a sight sufficient to stir the strongest soul. The White river was out of its banks. The school building was already surrounded and the rising flood was hurling its power against the frail structure. Instantly Miss Cottman's purpose was formed. Across the expanse of water, tugging at his long rope, was a horse ridden by one of the scholars. Springing out fearlessly into the muddy and debris-filled sea, Miss Cottman waded more than waist-deep to the horse's side. Then she began the struggle back, her helpless scholars watching her in pitiable terror. It was frightful at the best; when a great wave struck the building, causing it to totter and break partially lose, Miss Cottman's courage almost failed. Heroically, however, she pressed on and fastened the rope to the saddle and then to the building, giving it the aid of the horse's strength. For three-quarters of an hour, she stood at the horses head up to her armpits in the chilling torrent, until one of the largest of the scholars waded across to land and returned with assistance from the neighbors distant several hundred yards. The children were rescued, the building was safe. It is being suggested tonight that some signal recognition be given Miss Cottman by the county, but what form it will take has not yet been decided.

Eighteen Years Old Today.

On April 9, 1883, The Evening Herald came into existence and it has been published regularly since that date, making it the oldest newspaper of continuous daily publication at the head of the lakes. Many changes have occurred in the newspaper business in this section of the country since The Herald was started, and the cemetery is filled with the graves of journals that have been started during the past eighteen years, some running but a few months and others lasting two or three years. Despite all these failures, involving the loss of many thousands of dollars, The Herald always held its own and in its later years has forged forward rapidly in line with the advancement of the city of Duluth and its tributary territory, until it has a circulation unequalled by any newspaper in the Northwest outside of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and holds a place among the most solid and influential journals in the country. The Herald today enters upon its nineteenth year of publication, with every prospect of enjoying the most successful year in its history.

Our Agricultural Imports.

Sometimes statistical reports from the different departments of the United States government reveal facts which are totally unsuspected. Take for instance the imports of agricultural products If any one was asked off hand for an opinion as to the value of foreign grown products entering this country the answer would be that it was very small; that we produced nearly all we needed ourselves and had lots to spare for other countries. How different are the fects. The United States department of agriculture's report just issued states the total value of the principal agricultural imports for the year that ended June 30, 1900, at $429,139,288. Our combined exports of cotton and cereals for the same period were valued at $403,660,660, using round figures. The total value of all our agricultural exports for that year was $844,616,530, so that the American people are buying very nearly half as much farm and plantation produce from foreigners as they are selling to them. Almost exactly one-half of our total imports last year consisted of the products of foreign soils. The account includes these items: For sugar, $100,250,974; hides and skins, $57,555,698; coffee, $52,467,943; silk, $45,329,709; vegetable fibres, $34,231,750; wool, $29,260,998; fruits and nuts, $19,263,592; tobacco, $13,297,223; tea, $10,558,110. And every one of these items, coffee excepted, shows a marked increase over the figures of 1899.

If Cuba Refuse---What Then?

If Cuba should refuse to accede to the demands of the United States, as expressed through the Platt amendment—what then? Will the army and the navy of the United States be employed to intimidate the people into a compliance with our wishes? Will another constitutional convention be called to frame a constitution to suit the government of the United States? Either this must be done, or the United States must back down from its high position as protector of infant republics. The Cubans have evidently observed the fact that they can, if they wish, put the genial Uncle Samuel in a very uncomfortable hole. They can by standing pat, make him either fish or cut bait; they can make him withdraw his troops after they have a republican government established according to their own notions, or if he refuses to do that, advertise him to the world as a very worthy gentleman who refuses to keep his word. Should the Cubans persist (as no doubt they will) in rejecting the demands of the Platt amendment, the United States might just as well throw off the mask and attempt annexation. By restricting the franchise and a liberal use of money, a popular vote can be secured that will favor the scheme. That is what is being aimed at and it might as well be acknowledged at once and the business finished. A farce is all right for a run of, say 300 nights, but to continue it for two year is asking too much of even the lovers of comedy. Should the Cubans refuse both to be scared or bought, insisting upon an absolutely independent government, what will the administration do? Will a government constructed to suit our interests all ready made be offered them with the alternative of accepting that of military government? It looks like that to a poor man up a tree don't you think?

QUESTIONABLE TACTICS.

Mr. Jacobson has had his inning and now the other fellows are at the bat. The resolution of Mr. Layourn censuring Messrs. Jacobson and Washburn for making charges of bribery which they could not prove is likely to have more support than the gross earnings bill had at first.

Since the committee on investigation reported, the feeling that Jacobson was using the bribery bug-aboo to coerce the members into voting for his bill has become a certainty. Jacobson knew that he had no evidence of bribery that would stick when he made the charge in the house, but what did he care for that? It was a desperate case, and he saw a way to compel the members, in self defense, to vote for his pet measure. It was a good scheme, when viewed from the standpoint of a man who believes the end justifies any means It compelled the members to either vote for the gross earnings bill or be suspected by everyone of having received a bribe from the railroad lobby. This was not fair to the honest men in the legislature. It was coercion, pure and simple, and in the light of ordinary ethics was fully as reprehensible as the use of money to secure a definite result.

If Jacobson and Washburn had had evidence of bribery, such evidence as would be admitted in a court of law, or even such evidence as a committee on investigation could use to sustain a charge of attempted bribery, the case would have been different. And even then a wholesale charge of bribery, which spread like a blanket over the whole legislature, leaving none but the accusers out, was an insult to the entire body; because it placed the entire body on the defensive before the public, with no bill of particulars served which they could answer.

The legislature could do but one thing, vote to pass the gross earnings bill, investigate the charges, and, if it found them sustained, punish those involved, or if it found them groundless, punish the instigators of the plot. The findings of the investigating committee are somewhat vague. While there is no evidence of attempted bribery, yet there was sufficient gossip to put one on inquiry. Just what that means would be difficult to determine. It was no doubt intended to let Jacobson and Washburn down easy, and give a little color to their wild charges of a general conspiracy to buy the legislature at $200 a head.

As to whether or not there was any money used or promised by the railroad interests to defeat the Jacobson bill The Herald will not presume to guess; there may have been some entertainment offered—that is the general practice in legislative bodies, and the present legislature of Minnesota is in no way different from the average. That is not the question however. It seems evident now that the charges were made for one purpose, and one only, to force the members to vote for a certain bill. That fact appears on the face of the proceedings, notwithstanding the attempt of the committee to gloss it over by finding that there was sufficient evidence to put one on inquiry. Evidence sufficient to put a man on inquiry does not justify him in openly and vehemently besmirching a whole legislative body with a criminal charge, as did Mr. Jacobson. His little scheme worked nicely—but if the members of this legislature are men of nerve, and not sheep, they will make the gentleman pay the fiddler. There is a law in many states that when a man makes a malicious criminal charge against another, and when he cannot prove the same in court, he must pay the costs, as a punishment for his willful misrepresentation of facts. In this case the legislature can do nothing less than pass a vote of censure upon Mr. Jacobson, who failed utterly to make his case, but succeeded in casting a stigma on the whole state.

RUSSIA'S STRONG POSITION.

Russian diplomacy has again triumphed. And although the powers succeeded in influencing China to refuse to sign the convention in regard to Manchuria, the 300,000 Russian soldiers still occupy the disputed territory, and will continue to do so until the guarantees which were provided for in he convention are given. Russia assures the powers that there was no intention of permanently annexing Manchuria, but that her interests are so great, and the danger of another outbreak so probable, that definite pledges from the Chinese government as to the military occupation of Manchuria are necessary before the troops can be withdrawn.

In the beginning of the controversy over Manchuria, The Herald maintained that neither Great Britain, Germany, Japan nor the United States could consistently object to Russian occupation of Manchuria. In protecting the vast Russian interests in that region Russia was only following the example of England in South Africa and the United States in her quarrel with Cuba. If the control of Corea was essential to the safety of Japan, as that empire alleges, then is a protectorate over Manchuria essential to the Russian railroad and commercial interests which terminate in Manchuria. Emperor William evidently saw this situation in its true light when he declared that the Anglo-German agreement regarding the integrity of the Chinese empire did not cover the case of control of Manchuria. Although the Chinese government has refused to sign the convention, giving Russia practical control of the province, the matter is as far from a final settlement as ever. Russia will keep her troops there and wait until the concert of powers has disposed of the question of indemnity and secured the return of the imperial family before any further movement is made in a diplomatic way. Then a treaty providing for practical suzerainty will be negotiated.

There is another phase of this controversy which has been overlooked by most of the newspaper writers on the diplomatic situation. Nearly all have assumed that the various powers occupied similar relations toward China. That is not so. The offense of attacking the legations was common to all, but Russian territory was invaded by the Chinese troops, under orders of the government. In this respect Russia stands in a totally different relation to China from that of England and the other powers. Why Russia did not accept this overt act as a declaration of war, and then and there seize Manchuria, as she could have done, will perhaps never be known. In entering into the concert of powers and agreeing that the attack upon the legations should not be construed as casus belli, Russia did not waive any right to demand of China reparation for the invasion of Russian territory and the destruction of Russian interests in Manchuria. At any time she wishes this demand can be made, and if China refuses, Russia will be justified in taking by force what is denied by diplomacy. It is a significant fact that the greatest of all Chinamen, Li Hung Cahng, has repeatedly urged the Chinese emperor to ratify the Manchurian convention. This stand Li Hung Chang has taken and maintained against the protests of the other powers now represented at Pekin. He evidently knows that, when the day of reckoning does come, as it surely will, it will cost China more than the signing of the late Manchurian convention.

Whether we have faith in the attitude of the Russian bear or not, it is necessary in this case to admit that the arguments, as well as the facts and precedents, are with the Muscovites.

A meritorious measure now before the legislature is the Potter bill, affecting the rights of physicians to practice in Minnesota. The bill is intended solely to give to such practitioners as have been disqualified by the present board of medical examiners an opportunity to appeal from this decision to the district court. It is stated there are cases of record wherein the medical board has seen fit to disqualify physicians whom it had previously recognized as capable because these physicians were willing to pay for advertising that other doctors, no more capable than they, were and are very fond of getting free. This is a gross injustice. The Potter bill does not deprive the medical board of any just rights nor the public of any proper protection. It simply provides that when a professional man is deprived of his means of livelihood he shall have an opportunity to get a final judgment that is not ex-parte, biased or vindictive.

Dr. Taylor, of Philadelphia, is out again on a crusade against kissing which he reiterates is one of the chief factors in the spread of contagious diseases. There is nothing new to this claim of Dr. Taylor but the bringing of it before the public again at this time gives it interest. Dr. Taylor speaks with special reference to consumption and says that tuberculosis germs are frequently communicated from one person to another in kissing, and he advises people who wish to enjoy good health to proceed cautiously in using this sign of endearment. Dr. Taylor does not want to deprive anyone of the enjoyment of love's favorite token, but he contends that the welfare of the race will be best subserved by extreme caution.

A statistical expert formerly connected with the department of agriculture advances the theory that in case of war between England and Russia the latter could starve the former into submission by cornering the American wheat market, thus cutting off England's supplies and practically nullifying her powerful navy. The originator of the theory says it would cost about $150,000,000 to do this.

The Boston Globe wants to know if government postage stamps used as a means of conveying statistical information of more or less importance will rank among the multitudinous educational agencies of the great republic?

Now that "salesperson" has been used "officially" in the advertisement of a Boston department store, the dictionary makers will obviously have to accept it as the proper word for the woman or the man behind the counter.

Commissioner Evans says that the severest punishment that could be inflicted on Aguinaldo would be to make him the head of the pension bureau. And still Mr. Evans says nothing about resigning.

Some persons call Germany a non-progressive nation, but it is said that fully 9000 railway carriages in that country have been equipped for electric lighting.

With the nihilists worming mines under his bed chamber, the czar has good reason to lie awake nights. The thought would give any man insomnia.

Everything indicates a great year in railroad building, regardless of the suggestion sometimes made that there are already too many railroads.

Funston has crowded Roosevelt off the center of the stage, and in a little while someone will displace Funston.

Makes Little Difference.

Martin County Sentinel: Van Antwerp, the brilliant Washington correspondent of The Duluth Herald, writing of the report that Grover Cleveland is again a candidate for president, says the idea is ridiculous; that Grover "is at this time so old and stout that he is scarcely able to walk." But it makes little difference. Cleveland betrayed not only his party, but the principles of his party. The money power captured him and outside of that influence he could not get the support of a corporal's guard for any position of trust.

Let Slip the Dogs.

Washington Times: It appears that the Venezuelan newspapers actually have had the audacity to publish cartoons of Mr. Loomis, our Minister at Caracas. After such an affront it is difficult to conceive how war can be avoided. It almost brings tears to think how deeply Mr. Hanna will sympathize with Mr. Loomis.

Possibly He Did.

Atlanta Journal: One cannot help thinking that Aguinaldo would like to have taken something with that oath.

LAUGHING GAS.

Indianapolis Press: "Why did you hit the complainant with a fence picket?" the judge asked.

"Because, sorr, Oi didn't have time to pull up a post," answered the accused.

Chicago Record: "Were you desperate when I refused you, George?"

"Desperate? I had the toothache and didn't feel it."

Chicago Tribune: Waiter (at swell restaurant)—Prairie chicken? Yes, sir. Do you like your game high?

Uncle Si—Not so doggoned high the gun won't reach 'em, o' course, but what's that got to do with eatin' of 'em?

Washington Star: "I understand that energetic Kansas women has smashed another saloon."

"Yes," answered the proprietor of the big distillery. "If the idea spreads the retail supply of goods will become so depleted that our place will have to work overtime!"

Pittsburg Chronicle: "No I have nothing for you, said the housekeeper sternly. "And don't you come here after dinner again."

"Beg pardon, lady," replied Hungry Hawkins, "but I didn't suppose you'd have dinner over die early in do day. You ain't very stylish, are yer?"

Philadelphia Press: Towne—That fellow Taylor is a skin.

Bronwe—Sh! You shouldn't say anything like that unless you're sure about it.

Towne—I am sure about it. He sold me this suit of clothes, and just look at it.

Browne—Well, don't you know you should never judge a man by his clothes?

Catholic Standard: Farmer Korntop—I guess our John's goin' to make a preacher. Seems to be great on the Bible, from what I hear tell.

Mrs. Korntop—Do tell? Stopped out to the college when you wuz in town, did yer?

Farmer Korntop—Yaas, and when I asked his perfessor how John wuz gettin' along he said the thing he noticed most wuz that he wuz "rather inclined to be bibulous."

Chicago Tribune: "Anyhow," remarked one of the court flatterers, "your majesty may claim to be the John D. Rockefeller of your age."

"No," responded Croesus, with proud humility, "I am only the King of Lydia. I am not the king of Grease."

Washington Star: "I'm going to get even," said the Kansas husband.

"What are you going to do?"

"If my wife is going to go into politics and make speeches I am going to read the household hints and publish recipes for angel cake."

Detroit Journal: The moment had come for the good fairy to show her power.

"Be quick!" she cried, and touched the A. D. T. messenger boy with her magic wand.

To the unutterable amazement of every person in the drama the boy actually covered the distance of a block in less than four minutes, hereupon.

APRIL WEATHER.

Soon, ah, soon the April weather
With the sunshine at the door,
And the mellow molding rain-wind
Sweeping from the South once more.

Soon the rosy maples budding,
And the willows jutting forth,
Misty crimson and soft yellow
In the valleys of the North.

Soon the hazy purple distance,
Where the calmed heart takes wing,
Eager for the old migration
In the magic of the spring.

Soon, ah, soon the budding windflowers
Through the forest white and frail
And the odorous wild cherry
Gleaming in her ghostly veil.

Soon about the waking uplands
The hepaticas in blue—
Children of the first warm sunlight
In their sober Quaker hue.

All our shining little sisters
Of the forest and the field,
Lifting up their quiet faces
With the secret half revealed.

Soon across the folding twilight
Of the round earth hushed to hear,
The first robin at his vespers
Calling far, serene and clear.

THE PULPIT AND POLITICS.

Chicago Chronicle: The Sunday previous to the late city election in Cucago the occupants of a dozen or more pulpits thundered resonantly against one of the candidates for mayor. They reiterated the slanders against Chicago contained in partisan newspapers and in the stump speeches of candidates. Not one of these preachers had credible evidence to sustain his charges.

As has been previously remarked in The chronicle, it is not popular to calumniate the city in which you live, which furnishes you with your support and the protection of your home. The result of the city election showed the folly of the experiment. The pulpit did not influence a hundred votes in the city.

The pulpit should be a great influence for good. It is such an influence except when it interferes in politics and other matters with which it should have nothing to do. The preacher is not the keeper of conscience. He is not responsible for Leary, pastor of the Holy Rosary church gation. His office is advisory only within the limits of the faith which he represents. When he turns politician he goes out of his walk in life. As in this case, when his lack of political intiuence is shown, it impairs the force of that wise, proper and just influence which he should exercise.

A striking illustration of these facts is at hand. During the recent municipal campaign in St. Louis, which was quite as animated as that in Chicago, the various clergymen were asked to advise from their pulpits the members of their congregations how to vote. Some ill-advised preachers, like those in Chicago, gave rank and repulsive partisan advice to their hearers. The great majority, however, respected the advice which they held and refused to participate in the political campaign.

Among this number was Rev. Daniel the salvation of the members of his congre- and one of the most distinguished clergymen in the West. He announced that he had been requested to deliver a political sermon, but he had refused. He then denounced the slanderers of his home city. He said that never before had he seen in any political campaign truth violated so often, so systematically and so flagrantly. He warned his hearers to regard no lies and added:

"Let me now entreat you to cast your votes influenced purely by the dictates of your own consciences, and not by what any other person — — say of the different candidates. This you should do in the interest of religion and Christian morality."

Good Christian priest! Wise and pious spiritual and temporal adviser! Such is the man who from the pulpit advises the members of his congregation to vote as they choose, not under his dictation, but in accordance with their intelligence and consciences!

A Bachelor's Reflections.

Whenever you can get three ministers together, you can get a new funny story.

The ancients probably invented a pretty wife for the devil so as to explain why he was so wicked.

A woman is never worried by her big troubles near as much as she is troubled by her little worries.

Probably in heaven the women will all talk as nice to the men as they do on earth to their husbands when they have company.

DAILY STORY.

WHERE WEDLOCK ENDS

BY GEORGE LEMOYNE.

(Copyrighted, 1901, William R. Miller.)

All day long as he toiled in the office, the well-remembered words came back to him with startling distinctness:

"I will marry you," she told him, "partly because I trust you, somewhat because my present life grows intolerable, but most of all because you seem so much to desire it, and it is something to be strongly wanted by a strong man.

"None the less I must tell you that I do not love you; my affection is a cold and colorless feeling as compared with that throbbing and vivid emotion—love If in three years time, I do love but not love you, then I must be free from all ties; free to go when and where my love may lead me; and should you agree to this undoubtedly strange condition, I shall expect you as usual tomorrow evening. Very sincerely yours,

"VALERIE CRAWFORD. "

Certainly a strange acceptance of an offer of marriage, nevertheless it was an acceptance, and John Groves decided to agree to this curious condition, for he was charmed to secure the girl upon almost any terms and beside he trusted to the years to take care of the matter.

Now, the three years ended today and Valerie had never come to him with the words, "I love another," none the less it was true that she had never said to him, "I love you."

She was certainly a dutiful wife, almost an affectionate one, but she could not be called devoted.

They were spending the evening quietly enough and quite after their usual fashion, but he was unable to restrain a growing apprehension that something serious was about to happen.

"It is three years today, John," she said suddenly, "and you remember it was to be an experiment during that time."

She smiled curiously, as he answered, "It has been a happy one I trust," while a dumb feeling of dismay came over him, for he had hoped the day would end without discussion of this sort. "You see, I am rather old," he continued, "and inclined to stoutness—not a very romantic sort of a man, you know."

She moved restlessly, pushing the heavy hair off her low forehead. "No," she answered, "not very romantic to look at, John, but then our marriage was not romantic, and it disappointed me at the time, for I always loved romance; that is in a book, but real life is different; its best offering is comfort, if we can get it," and she resumed her needlework with a regretful sigh.

"Yes, that's about it, I imagine," Groves replied while he thought of that shrewd Jew, Jacob, who served fourteen years for a woman and won her, and so he rallied a little.

"You remember," she continued a minute later, "that there was a condition to our marriage, and as yet I have said nothing of it, but tonight is my last night of freedom and I must make use of it before it is too late."

Groves answered nothing, only faced about with eyes that held so much of pain that it hurt her to look into them, and she moved as to go to him, but restrained herself at once.

"The truth is," she went on, "that at last I am sure that I love; in fact, I have known it for sometime, but have put off speaking of it until the last moment, which is thething one generally does in such matters.

"So you would leave me all alone?" she asked.

"So it has come," he murmured wretchedly, while a dull uncertainty seized upon his intellect, "it will be rather difficult to arrange," he said finally and without looking at her, "and for your sake we must do all things as quietly as possible."

"It would be much better so," she answered.

"I presume you can sue me for a divorce in some Western state, and in the meantime we had better remain as we are; that is," he added hurriedly, "if it please you. You understand that I am in a decidedly unique and undesirable position."

"Oh, decidedly," she concurred with a short laugh, "and so you really intend to let me go, after all these years?" and one would have sworn that there was more of surprised displeasure than of any other emotion in her tone.

"I had promised you," he replied perplexedly, "and after all it is only a question of your going quietly with my consent or a great scandal if I refuse you. However," he went on, "there is another plan and the beauty of it is growing on me, but since there is nothing we can do tonight, I shall go to bed," and cursed with the force of a habit, he approached to kiss her and then drew back in some confusion. "Good night," he said and went up to his bedroom.

The woman followed him with a disappointed gaze, exclaiming: "Will he never speak, I wonder, and so find out the truth. Before marriage," she continued with a growing irritation of manner, "he never ceased to question: 'Can you love me, do you love me, won't you love me?' while now, when I long for it, during three years, he has never asked me once. He considers it useless; a breach of our contract, perhaps." Then, seized with a nameless uneasiness, she followed up to his bedroom and opening the door she saw her unromantic husband about to blow out his brains.

"So this was his better plan," she thought, and in a moment she had thrown the revolver across the room and faced him reproachfully. "So you would leave me all alone? she asked with the illogical reasoning of a woman.

"But this man whom you love?" he asked her.

"You have nothing to fear," she murmured, "for he is a married man and adores his wife or at least he says so."

"But," he insisted, "supposing the wife should die, she might do so tomorrow, and the husband be a free man."

"Oh!" she cried to his amazement, "I certainly hope not, because the man I love," and here he caught a glimpse of her eyes, and the look in them made his heart throb hopefully, as she continued softly, "the man who loves his wife and whom I love is—you," and she kissed him as he had often dreamed of being kissed.

Home Rule For Cities.

New York Evening Post: The nineteenth century test of Democracy was its capacity to rule a nation composed of states whose people lived for the most part in the country or in small towns. The twentieth century test will be its capacity to rule the great cities which will dominate many of the states. The question must be decided by those cities, and the sooner the people in the rural districts understand this the better all around.

The Donkey's Trade Mark.

Boston Transcript: If the officers of the United Sistes treasury find the engraver who took liberty with our national bird on the ten dollar notes, it is likely that he will look like thirty cents when they are through with him and he won't have to be reversed either to get that appearance.

Protection of Birds.

Baltimore American: It is gratifying to learn from the Audubon society that public interest in song birds is growing, and that the practice of wearing birds as ornaments on millinery is decreasing. The pretty little creatures, so important a part of nature's orchestra, should have every protection that the law and an educated public sentiment can throw around them.

Making Much Progress.

Indianapolis Sentinel: It may reasonably be assured that Aguinaldo is not making advances without encouragement. We predict that he will wind up a "patriot," and our Republican contemporaries should be prepared for it.

Honoring the Dead Ones.

St. Louis Republic: President McKinley has never been accused of being irreverent, the way he is honoring the dead ones in his recent appointments is proof that he has not changed.

Grief Is Not Great.

Washington Post: A very small thimble will hold all the tears Hon. Mark Hanna will care to shed over the defeat of the McKisson crowd in the Cleveland municipal fight.

Boston Herald: Did those men in the quartermaster's department over in Manilla take what did not belong to them, or merely "annex" it?

Too Much to Hope For.

Washington Star: It really looks as if Mr. Funston would manage to get away with his glory without precipitating a controversy of any kind.

HOPE OF SETTLEMENT.

Grand Chief Morrissy Is Rather Optimistic.

Cleveland, April 9.—Grand Chief Morrissey of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who has just arrived home from New York, said to the Associated Press correspondent today that notwithstanding the failure of the various heads of labor organizations to secure conference with Vice President Warren, he still thought the trouble on the Central Railway of New Jersey, would be settled satisfactorily to all concerned without a strike.

"It is true," said Mr. Morrissey, "that the entire question has been referred to the members of the various labor organizations on the Central road and they are now taking a vote to decide whether or not a strike shall take place. I am inclined to think, however, that we shall reach an agreement with the company before it will be found necessary to adopt such a radical measure."

DR. B. P. BARRINGER, Professor of Physiology and Surgery, University of Virginia.

"In more than twenty years of practice I have used Lithia as an ANTI-URIC ACID agent many times, and have tried it in a great variety of forms, both in the NATURAL WATERS and in TABLETS. As a result of this experience I have no hesitation in stating that for prompt results I have found nothing to compare with BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in preventing uric acid deposits in the body. My experience with it as a solvent of old existing deposits (calcull) has been relatively limited, and I hesitate to compare it here with other forms to their disadvantage; but for the first class of conditions above set forth I feel that BUFFALO LITHIA WATER STANDS ALONE."

THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.

M. Pasteur, of France, invented a process for killing all possible germs in a product, and we use it. After each bottle of Schlitz beer is filled and sealed it is sterilized.

This is an extreme precaution. The beer is brewed in extreme cleanliness, cooled in filtered air, then filtered. It seems impossible for a taint of impurity to get to it. Yet we sterilize every bottle.

We, who know brewing, know the value of purity. We add vastly to the necessary cost of our beer to assure it. You who drink it get the healthful results of our precaution. Your physician knows; ask him.

MANAGERS.

Those Who Will Have Charge of Steel Corporation Departments.

Cleveland, April 9.—The Leader says: "Information was obtained from several sources here that the United States Steel corporation had appointed Mr. Gayley, of the Carnegie company, as first vice president in charge of docks and mines; W. R. Walker, metallurgical engineer for the American Steel and Wire company, as second vice president, in charge of the operation of the mills, and W. P. Palmer, president of the American Steel and Wire company, as third vice president in charge of sales. The same authority states that the various companies absorbed in the United States Steel corporation will maintain separate organizations, as heretofore, with the policies of the various departments being dictated by one of the three gentlemen mentioned, whose headquarters will be in New York. The matter of taking care of the fleet has not been fully decided, but general the supposition now is that the steel trust will select a manager from its own ranks instead of accepting the services of a middleman, as has been the supposed policy.

New York, April 9.—The Herald says: In an effort to fortify its position against the United States Steel corporation, the Pennsylvania Steel company has purchased for cash the entire $5,000,000 worth of stock of the Spanish-American Iron company. It is understood that the transaction involved a sum of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. The Spanish-American Iron company, of which Charles F. Rand is president, has since 1893 been shipping ores to this country from Cuba, mining about 225,000 tons a year. The Pennsylvania Steel company, which uses about 1,000,000 tons a year, has been taking practically all the Spanish-American concerns product and has now bought it outright so as to have an important source of ore supply in its hands.

OTTAWA FIRE.

Flames Destroy the Russell Theater and Russell House.

Ottawa, Ont., April 9.—A fire which started in the Russell house block at 1:45 o'clock this morning destroyed the Russell theater, one of the finest play houses in Canada, and damaged the Russell house, one of the principal hotels in this city before the firemen succeeded in getting control over the flames. These buildings, with two others, occupied the block bounded by Queen, Elgin, Canal and Sparks streets. The total loss is estimated at $100,000.

The fire spread from the theater to the hotel with great rapidity and forced some of the 200 guests to make their escape in their night clothing. To add to the confusion the electric light wires were cut, leaving the hotel in total darkness. All the guests escaped, however, without injury.

The "Belle of New York" Opera company played in the theater last night, and what scenery and costumes had been left in the building were lost. The company leaves the city this morning, and some of their effects had been removed to the depot.

Besides the hotel and the theater, the block contained the office of the Free Press, and another portion of it was occupied with offices. The loss on these is small.

QUICKLY PASSED

Laybourn Insurance Law Codification Through the House.

Laybourn's Resolution of Censure on Jacobson and Washburn.

Items In Appropriation Bill For Duluth Normal School.

St. Paul, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Laybourn insurance law codification, or the committee substitute for his bill, came up in the house yesterday afternoon, and with little debate and without any opposition, it was passed as soon as the vote could be taken. The changes from the original bill were few, and these had all been taken care of in committee. By having the bill put in such satisfactory shape before it was reported to the house, Mr. Laybourn very shrewdly assured its successful running of the gauntlet in the house, for all the fight was in committee, and the opposiiton was there fully satisfied.

* * *

The two house bills for the compromise settlement of the Little Falls & Dakota railroad land grant were before the senate a good part of the day yesterday, finally passing with little difficulty late in the afternoon. The bills provide for 35,000 acres being accepted by the road in lieu of the 100,000 originally granted, and will dispose of the cases now pending in court regarding this land grant.

* * *

Mr. Laybourn did not call up his resolutions of censure on Jacobson and Washburn yesterday, owing to the length of the calendar, and at the request of members who had bills on the calendar which they feared might be delayed in getting through. Just when he will ask to have it acted on is yet to be seen, but he is as determined as ever to have the resolutions adopted, and many other members are just as aggressive as he in the same war. They resented the Jacobson-Washburn charges when first made, and have not ceased to denounce them since. Just what the outcome will be it is impossible to predict, as both Jacobson and Washburn profess to be anxious to fight the resolutions, and say they will insist on having them expunged from the record of the house, if not acted on. That some definite action will be taken may be considered assured, but more than this cannot be predicted.

* * *

Mr. Mallory is not usually rated as a humorist, but he occasionally takes a turn that way. Yesterday, when the Leech Lake park bill was before the house, he argued strenuously against it, declaring that most of those who had been working for such a park had never been near Leech lake, and did not know what it was like, that the lake region was not suitable for a park, adding: "There are no features about Leech lake that would make it suitable for a park, but the state might have one in Lac qui Parle county, for that locality has its natural curiosities." And even Jacobson laughed.

* * *

The general appropriation bill has come into the two houses, and it is possible to see the state's condition for the next two years, for total amounts provided for in the bill is $2,700,000 in round numbers, or over $700,000 in excess of the figures of 1899. The increase includes $400,000 for current expenses and $200,000 to be devoted to improvements at the various state institutions. Under the valuations this will entail a tax rate for the next year of 1.3 mills, as compared with a rate of 1.5 mills two years ago. This latter figure was afterwards cut down under the law by the state auditor to 1.4 for the year 1900, in the way of new legislation the bill gives sweeping power to the newly-created board of control. It is to have authority to make transfers in its judgment of sums appropriated for one institution to the maintenance and repair of another of the same class. The Buffalo Pan-American exposition gets an increase of $10,000, or a total of $90,000 The bill was made a special order in the two houses for Wednesday morning, at 10:30, and it will be pushed through with all speed possible. Not until this bill has been passed can the ways and means committee of the house bring in its one important bill, which is that fixing the tax levy. If no great changes are made in the omnibus bill this will stand at 1.3, as stated above.

This long bill will test the good temper of Reading Clerk Jones, for there is nothing dryer than the reading of lists of big sums to be handed to someone else. However, Jones is as good-tempered as he is handsome, and will finish the reading with the same smile that has greeted the house daily for the past three months, and then his ringing tenor voice will swing down into the "Aanenson, Alford, Allen," etc., of the roll call, and one of the most important as well as one of the last of the laws of the session will be well on its way to the governor.

Under the heading of normal schools, the following items affecting the Duluth school appear in the bill:

Duluth—Available year ending July 31, 1901:

To complete heating plant	$ 7,500
Electric light and gas plant	1,000
Year ending July 31, 1902:
Current expense	$10,000
Miscellaneous	4,850
Year ending July 31, 1903:
Current expense	$12,000
Miscellaneous	5,150

Members come and go, but some go sooner than others. The same is true of house and senate employes. Speaker Dowling has been "coming" for some years and has not yet commenced to "go." His first appearance at the capitol was as assistant clerk, from which he stepped up to the chief clerk's desk, and after a decent interval he came back to preside over the body of which he had previously been an efficient clerk. Jacobson has kept coming for these twelve years, and doubtless will keep up the habit as long as he wishes, for his people know a good thing and propose to keep it in service. That is also the reason the Duluth people have insisted on keeping Laybourn and Mallory and others at work down here in the capitol. The return of members, when efficient and popular, is to be expected, but the return of officials of the two houses is more out of the ordinary. Sam Langum is of this sort of out of the ordinary. He has been at the secretary's desk in the senate now for four sessions, and many of the older senators would be at something of a loss just what to do if they did not see that very familiar face peering at them over the desk. And in the house, Sergeant-at-Arms Ed Fanning is another of the kind who are good to keep. He was promoted from a lower place and was deserving of retention, so he has been retained. Then, Jens Arneson, who was formerly file clerk, has this session proved to be one of the best men ever placed in charge of the books of the second assistant clerk of the house. He also is a "comer."

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, whenever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria, Hydrastin and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslee, in speaking of the new catarrh cure, says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkable satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patent medicine, and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them, as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

CARTER AGAIN.

Motion to Release the Culprit on Bail.

Washington, April 8.—A motion was made in the United States supreme court today by Hon. Jeremiah Wilson for the admission of Capt. Oberlin M. Carter to bail. Solicitor General Richards gave notice that he would resist the motion on behalf of the United States and he was given five days in which to prepare a brief. Capt. Carter is now serving a 5-year sentence in the Leavenworth penitentiary for defrauding the government.

PASS RESOLUTIONS.

Want Religious Orders Expelled From Spain.

Madrid, April 8.—Large and excited anti-clerical meetings at Malaga, Corunna and elsewhere have passed resolutions demanding that the government expel the religious orders from Spain.

At Corunna the manifestants paraded, shouting "Down with the Jesuits," and "Down with the convents." They stoned the Jesuits college and the offices of the clerical newspapers.

INCENDIARY.

The St. Louis Elevator Fire Was Set.

St. Louis, April 8.—It is believed that the fire yesterday that caused the destruction of the elevator owned by the St. Louis Elevator and Storage company, causing a loss of $650,000, was of incendiary origin. Several boys whom the watchman had ordered away from the premises are thought to be the guilty persons. The fire started in the oil room. A meeting of directors was held this afternoon to discuss plans for rebuilding the elevator, which was the oldest in the city.

HIS OWN BENEFIT

Edison Proposes to Make a Fortune For Himself.

Has Obtained a Patent on a New Storage Battery.

Claims It Is Less Expensive and Does Not Depreciate.

New York, April 9.—After having made millions for others Thomas A. Edison has decided to make a fortune for himself—or at least to try it—through his new storage battery, on which he has obtained a patent.

Although not by any means a poor man, Mr. Edison is not rich, when his foruine is compared with the great fortunes that have been made by others out of the manufacture and sale of his inventions. So he has decided to promote, manage, manufacture and sell the latest creation of his inventive genius, with the hope of getting for himself whatever profits are derived from his newest device.

Following are some of the claims of superiority made for Edison's marvel as compared with the battery now in use:

First—That it is far less expensive.

Second—That it is lighter and more compact.

Third—That it can be discharged to zero voltage. The present battery can be discharged to only about the two-fifths point.

Fourth—That it has twice the output for the same weight.

Fifth—That it virtually does not deteriorate. Depreciation is one of the drawbacks of the battery now in use.

Sixth—That it will stand rougher usage.

Seventh—That it does not require nearly as much attention as the present battery.

Eighth—That it can undergo any amount of shaking without affecting the circuit. Shaking always cuts short the circuit of the old battery.

Space has been reserved at the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo for an exhibit of the battery, and there the first demonstration of the remarkable invention will be made.

Capitalists and representatives of capital engaged in the manufacture of the bulky storage battery now in use have tried to "get in," as the saying is, on the Edison invention, but all have been politely repulsed. Mr. Edison, confident that this is one of the greatest of all of his great inventions, is determined to hold on to it.

"I have made fortunes for many people out of my inventions," says the wizard. "This one is going to make a fortune for Edison."

HE REFUSES.

Russian Minister Declines to Talk With Ching and Chang.

Pekin, April 9.—The Russian minister to China, M. De Giers, responding to the letter from Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang regarding Manchuria merely refuses to hold further communication with him upon the subject.

The Mongolian prince, father-in-law of Prince Tuan, proves to be an important factor in the rebellion now in progress. He urges the rebellious troops to march on Sian Fu.

Chinese knowing Gen. Tung Fuh Sian say the emperor brought the rebellion upon his own head, when he published the edict threatening the general with future punishment. On account of his present power and influence Gen. Tung Fuh Sian would not permit this, and naturally desired to prove that power. He has the entire Mohammedan population with him. Prince Tuan also has a large following, while Prince Olaskan controls the entire province of Mongolia.

The German minister, Dr. Mumm von Schwarzenstein, entertained all the ministers at a dinner today, in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Count von Waldersee.

AT CASS LAKE.

Boat Company to Build Fine Boat House.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cass Lake Boat company has plans drawn and will at once let the contract for a handsome new boat house, one which, when completed, will be the best along the line of the Great Northern railway from Duluth west. Late last fall the boat house, which the company erected last season, was blown down and entirely demolished. The main dock is to be 100 by 24 feet, with two launch houses 16 by 37 feet each, with 2-foot walks all around the inside. On top of the dock and enclosed will be a very handsome band stand, with seating capacity for 500 people.

A shock was caused to many people of Cass Lake on Sunday when a telegram came announcing that Miss Maggie Riggers had been burned to death early that morning in a fire which entirely destroyed her store at Ada, Minn. Miss Riggers was a sister of Mrs. M. M. Nygaard, wife of the leading merchant at Farris, a small station four miles west of Cass Lake. She was well known to a number of Cass Lake people, and her terrible death is sincerely mourned here.

The Congregational and Methodist congregations held special Easter services on Sunday and both places of worship were crowded morning and evening.

The local M. E. congregation has secured the new Strawbridge hall, in the second story of the new Ferris block, for church purposes. Rev. Robinson, the pastor of the congregation, is very popular with our people, and the services conducted by him are always attended by large congregations.

"I'm Simply all Worn Out."

The story is the same, no matter what her station in life may be.

If she belongs even to the realm of the "well-to-do,"

Or—

If she belongs to the unnumbered thousands who must work in order to live—

The story is just the same; all suffer from about the same cause, and in this suffering "peculiar to women," all reach the same level, and all are of the same family.

When a woman is nervous and irritable, head and back ache, feels tired all the time, loses sleep and appetite, has pains in groins, bearing-down sensation, whites and irregularities, she is not "worn out," but feels as if she were.

Such symptoms tell her that a womb trouble is imminent, and she cannot act too promptly if she values her future comfort and happiness.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., as thousands do.

MRS. KELLOGG'S STATEMENT.

"One year ago I read a letter in a paper telling how much good one woman had derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had been sick all winter, and was nearly discouraged, as the medicine the doctor gave me did me no good. I had kidney complaint, leucorrhœa, itching, bearing-down feeling, and painful menstruation. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, describing my trouble, and soon received an answer telling me what to do. I followed her instructions and have taken nine bottles of Vegetable Compound and used one package of Sanative Wash and one box of Liver Pills. I am well now, do not have those sick spells at the monthly period, but can work all day, and that I never could do until I began taking the Compound. I cannot praise the Compound too highly.

"I do hope every suffering woman will learn of the Pinkham remedies and be cured as I have been. I wish all success to the Compound; it has done wonders for me, and I am so thankful."—MRS. GENIE KELLOGG, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. WEAK DAY IN WHEAT

Markets Show a Loss of More Than a Cent.

Liverpool Reflected the Decline In American Markets.

Fine Weather Also Caused Selling on All Hard Spots.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 9.—The wheat market started out quite firm this morning, but the strength did not last and prices soon worked downward. The news was rather bearish, the Liverpool market reopening with a decline of 1d since last Thursday and fine weather for the growing crop in this country being reported, which caused selling on all hard spots. On the other hand the Northwest receipts were light, and Chicago reported a good cash demand. The Liverpool market failed to rally and closed 1½d off.

Primary receipts were 456,000 bus, last year 556,710. Shipments 217,541 bus, last year 535,240. Clearances of wheat and flour were 575,000 bus. Bradstreet's report showed a decrease of 442,000 bus in the world's visible. At the seaboard yesterday exporters bought 464,000 bus of wheat. Chicago wired today:

"The following from J. Henry Norton, who is looking into the cash wheat situation at New York had much yesterday to do with influencing the important covering. No foreign markets today, but they are after hard winter wheat, which is getting scarce. Very little offering f. o. b. here or at the Gulf ports and at much less discount. There is the same situation at Chicago and Kansas City. I think the export demand will soon come for the Chicago No 1 northren which is now getting to be the only available sound wheat in sight and the demand this year is for sound wheat. Indeed some of the exporters evidently anticipate such demand and have bought some No. 1 northern today c. i. f. Buffalo shipping shipments. When Chicago No. 1 northern begins to be shipped freely look out for fireworks.

Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis, 171 cars, against 352 last week and 388 last year. Chicago receipts, 105 cars, 1 of contract grade.

Trading in futures was active on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ¼c off at 72¾c, sold at 72¾c at 9:40, declined to 72c at 10:40, recovered to 72¼c at 11:19, sold off to 71¾c at 11:54, reacted to 71¾c at 12:07, slumped to 71¼c at 12:17 and rallied to 71¾c at 12:25 and closed at that point. This was a decline of 1¼c. Chicago and Minneapolis both declined 1¼c.

Cash sales aggregated 30,000 bus and wheat to arrive advanced to ½c on under May and wheat in store to 1¼c under.

Corn showed an advance of ½c in the Duluth market, while in Chicago it was off 1¾c. January receipts of corn were 294,888 bus, last year 815,000. Shipments 407,038 bus, last year 536,727. Clearances were 268,000 bus. Bradstreet reported a decrease of 1,031,000 bus in the world's visible. The coarse grains were unchanged in price.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 72¾c; to arrive, 73¼c; May, 73¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 70¾c; to arrive, 71¼c; May, 71¾c; July, 72¾c. No. 2 northern, 67¾@67¾c. No. 3 spring, 56¾@61¾c. Oats, 27½@27c. Rye, 50½c. Flax, cash, $1.54½; to arrive, $1.51½; May, $1.56; September, $1.15. Corn, 41c; May, 41½c.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Showed Moderate Degree of Firmness.

Chicago, April 9.—A moderate degree of firmness was observable in the wheat market during the first part of the session today. The Liverpool market reopened after several days' suspension of business and registered a decline of 1d since Thursday. This, together with the fine weather, caused fair selling on all hard spots. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 71@71¼c. On light Northwest receipts and goods cash demand, May rallied to 71¾c. The support soon failed, however, and the market gradually worked off to 70¾c. Local receipts were 106 cars, one of contract grade, while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 171 cars, against 352 last week and 388 a year ago.

Seasonable weather invited some realizing in May corn, but the market, encouraged by higher Liverpool cables, took care of offerings and prices ruled steady. May opened ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c lower at 41⅛@41c, rallied to 41⅝@⅝c and reacted to 41¼c. Receipts were 275 cars, 71 of contract grade. Southwestern farmers, owing to a backward spring, were reported to be feeding corn heavily. Grass, it was said, is growing very slowly.

Oats were quiet and a trifle easier on selling by longs. May opened a shade down at 25½c and sold to 25⅝c. Receipts were 322 cars. A report stating that seeding is very late and the oats acreage reduced attracted considerable attention among traders.

Provisions opened weak on lower hogs, but steadied on moderate pit support. May pork opened 20c under yesterday at $14.20 and reacted to $14.45; May lard 7½c lower at $8.17½, touched $8.12½ and reacted to the opening; May ribs opened ½c down at $8.02½ and rallied to $8.07½.

Closing: Wheat, April, 69¾c; May, 70c; July, 70⅝@⅝c. Corn, April, 24¾@⅝c; May, 24⅝@25c; July, 24⅞@25c. Pork, April, $14.20; May, $14.30; July, $14.42½. Lard, April, $8.27½; May, $8.15; July, $8.10. September, $8.07½@8.10. Ribs, April, $8.02½; May, $8.07½; July, $7.90; September, $7.87½. Flax, cash Northwestern, $1.55½; No. 1, $1.54; May, $1.54. Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 69¾@72¼c; No. 3 red, 67¾@71¾c; No. 2 hard winter, 68¾@70c; No. 3 hard winter, 68¾@69¼c; No. 1 northern spring, 70¾@72¼c; No. 2 northern spring, 68¾@72¾c; No. 3 spring, 67@71¾c. Corn, No. 2, 43½c; No. 3, 42¼@43½c. Oats, No. 2, 26½@26¾c; No. 3, 26¾c. Rye, April, 50c; May, 50¼c; July, 50¾c. Barley not quoted. Timothy, April, $4.10; September, $3.20. Clover, April, $11.00.

WEARE'S REPORT.

Chicago, April 9.—After a temporary show of strength the wheat market has demonstrated a weakness beyond expectations and the May option sold at the lowest price yet on the crop, 69¾c. Liverpool cables were not as weak as anticipated, 1d to 1½d lower since last Thursday. Northwestern receipts were lighter and clearances were 575,000 bus. There was no cash business of consequence, here about 50,000 bus and only 29 loads at New York. Primary receipts were 456,000 bus against 357,000 bus last year. The world's visible decreased 422,000 bus. All statistical help, however, was entirely lost sight of with the bearish sentiment prevailing. The entire absence of any crop damage and the absolute absence of any practical faith in the long side by the outsider and the continuel increasing of short lines by the local trader as well as by the country. Undoubtedly the government report coming to morrow has inspired a good deal of this sentiment, it being expected to show a very bearish outlook. The decline, however, has been very sharp and discounts to at least some extent whatever figures may be posted and the short interest is much more general than it has been. We are still of the opinion that wheat should be sold on every rally. This advice we have advised often for some weeks and aven at these figures there is so little of a bull character about the market that we fell the short side on all bulges should make money.

There has been a decided increase in the volume of liquidation in corn and long holdings come in in quantity. There was also some more nerve shown by the bears and short selling by them. The consequence was that the market was weak and paid little or no attention to other features. Bradstreet's decreased 1,031,000. Local sales were 100,000 bus, there were only 3 loads at New York. Receipts today were 275 cars, with "ontract and only 115 estimated for tomorrow. Liverpool cables were strong, ½d higher on futures and ¾d to 1d higher on spot. We still believe in securing profits on corn, especially on the May option every time it shows strength. It is getting late in the months and there will be consequently an increase in liquidation and no reason to look for any manipulation to produce higher values.

THE WHEAT CROP.

Reports Show Best Conditions In Ten Years.

New York, April 9.—The forthcoming number of the American Agriculturist Weekly will say:

Local reports from American Agriculturist's corps of country observers carefully consolidated into state averages, show a condition of wheat higher than has been noted at this time in the past ten years, with the exception of '91. The general average, as reported for the whole belt, is 95.5, a figure which represents a practically perfect prospect over the greater part of the winter wheat area. At the date at which the correspondents of the American Agriculturist made the observance, there had been no period of warm growing weather sufficient to induce spring growth, demonstrating absolutely the extent to which the Hessian fly is present. The returns, therefore, must be qualified with the statement that the discount shown from a perfect condition may not entirely represent the actual damage from this cause. With the exception of a few counties in Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio, no winter killing is reported. Since March 1 there has been an abundance of moisture in all sections.

REBOUND IN STOCKS

Shown By Majority of the Leaders at the Opening.

Tone Quiet and Volume of Trading Not Extra Large.

Close Active and Irregular With Prices Well Supported.

New York, April 9.—There was no sign this morning of yesterday's urgent pressure to liquidate speculative profits, although there was a sprinkling of losses, including some of the important stocks. The majority of the market leaders showed a sharp rebound, running in some cases to 1 and 1½, including Texas & Pacific, Sugar, Amalgamated Copper, Louisville & Burlington. The smelting stocks were in large demand, the common rising an extreme 2 points and preferred 1½. The tone of the market was rather quiet and trading was not of an unusually large volume.

Secondary transactions in the stock market were quite erratic, but the trend of prices was distinctly upwards, although some stocks did not retain their full rise. The advance over yesterday's close reached 2¾ in Burlington, 2½ in United States Express and 2 in Amalgamated Copper, Sugar and Continental Tobacco pfd. Practically every stock of importance rose a point or over. Before 11 o'clock there was a relapse in some leading stocks on profit-taking, but as their recessions did not disturb the general market, the traders took back their stock again, and the tone was strong again at the end of the first hour.

Liberal offerings of the United States Steel stocks and Burlington caused the last mentioned to sag 1½ and checked the rise elsewhere. Many losses, however, were small and the market hardened when Western Union and General Electric rose 2¼ to 9½ points. This rebound carried Burlington, Rock Island, People's Gas, Brooklyn Transit, Northern Pacific, Amalgamated Copper, Missouri Pacific, New York Central and many other stocks to the best prices of the morning. Burlington touched 187 despite the continued doubt as to whether negotiations are on or off with the Great Northern-Northern Pacific interests. Other advances ran from 1 to 2½. United States Express rose to 88, a gain of 4 points on top of its 3 point rise of yesterday. Bonds were dull and irregular.

There was a desultory profit taking as the session neared its close at points of earlier strength, while new stocks were pushed upwards. The local tractions gained 2⅝ to 3½. Northwest rose 6 points in all, American gained 3½ and Consolidated Gas as much and General Electric made the extreme rise of 12½. Meantime, the grangers, Pacifics, Sugar and the local tractions showed the effects of realization, with gain of 1 to 2¾ points and the market generally was easier. The closing was active and irregular with prices vigorously at many points.

JONES' STORIES

Continues His Recital as to the Death of Rice.

Reads His Contradictory Statements Made on Previous Occasions.

Pronounces the Transcript to Be a Correct Report.

New York, April 9.—The commitment proceedings in the case of Albert T. Patrick, who is accused of having caused the death of William Marsh Rice, the aged Texas millionaire, in September last, were resumed before Justice Jerome sitting as a magistrate today. Charles F. Jones, who was Rice's valet, and who has turned informer, was recalled for cross-examination by Mr. Moore. Jones said that the stenographic notes taken of the statements made by him at police headquarters after his arrest had not been read over to him. A transcript of the notes was then handed the witness and he was told to read it carefully and see whether it was a correct report of what he had then said. In this statement, although some stocks did not retain their full rise. The advance over yesterday's close reached 2¾ in Burlington, 2½ in United States Express and 2 in Amalgamated Copper, Sugar and Continental Tobacco pfd. Practically every stock of importance rose a point or over. Before 11 o'clock there was a relapse in some leading stocks on profit-taking, but as their recessions did not disturb the general market, the traders took back their stock again, and the tone was strong again at the end of the first hour.

OPPOSED TO TRUSTS

Senator Miller Would Inquire Into the Steel Corporation.

Strong Resolutions Introduced By Him In the Senate.

Baldwin's Poor Commission Bill Passed In Upper House.

St. Paul, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Miller today introduced a resolution instructing the attorney general to investigate the report that the Duluth & Iron Range and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern had consolidated under the organization of the new steel trust, and that consolidations of other railroads are under consideration. Senator Daugherty gave notice of a debate. Miller moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution passed, but this was defeated.

The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, it is currently reported that the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company have consolidated, or are about to consolidate their stock, property and franchise and become merged into the trust known as the United States Steel corporation, in violation of the law of Minnesota, which prohibits the consolidation of parallel or competing lines of railroad, and,

Whereas, it is reported in the dispatches from New York that a great trust in the form of a corporation is being organized to consolidate and control the stock, property and franchises of certain other great railroad lines of this state, in violation of the law of Minnesota, and to the immeasurable damage to people of this state, therefore be it

Resolved, by the senate of the state of Minnesota, the house of representatives concurring, that the attorney general of the state of Minnesota is hereby directed to at once investigate as to whether any railroad companies in this state have already entered into or are about to enter into any trust, combination or consolidation, in violation of the letter or of the spirit of the laws of the state of Minnesota, and in case the attorney general shall find reasonable grounds to believe that any such railroads have entered into, or are about to enter into, any unlawful trust, combination or consolidation, he is hereby directed to take such steps as may be necessary to enforce the law and protect the people of this state, either by proceedings to forefeit the charters of the offending railroads, or by injunction to restrain them from threatened unlawful acts, or by invoking such other remedies as may be appropriate.

The house insurance code bill, passed yesterday, came into the senate today and was substituted for the senate measure and placed on general orders. The Reeves bill, providing for a uniform system of text books, over which there has been such a hot fight and which has also been referred to the finance committee, came back today with a recommendation for indefinite postponement, and the report was adopted.

The St. Louis county delegation recommended the passage of Senator Baldwin's bill providing for a board of poor commissioners, after amending it so as to fix the tax levy limit at 11 mills. The bill was then passed under suspension of the rules. It provides for a board to be appointed by the judges of the district court, who are to serve without compensation and are to have control of the county poor farm, over whose management there has recently been considerable scandal. The secretary of the board is to have a salary of $125 per month.

The house bill, providing for the disposition of real estate bid in for the state at forfeited tax sale was amended so that the amount of the redemption payment in excess of what the original tax sale purchaser paid, shall go into the county revenue fund. As amended the bill passed.

IN THE HOUSE.

St. Paul, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—On motion of "Admiral" Pugh, the house concurred in the senate amendment to the Alford bill for appeals from the Duluth municipal court to the district court and repassed the bill as amended. The amendment increases the compensation for a stenographer in the municipal court.

S. D. Peterson secured the passage of Senator Somerville's bill amending the act requiring payment of fees on incorporation filings, which was on general orders. Mr. Berg moved to reconsider the Deming bill, for the parole of the Younger brothers, which Mr. Laybourn opposed vigorously, calling attention to the agreement on the floor Saturday that the bill would not be reconsidered. Mr. Deming briefly appealed for his pet measure, promising that he would make no further attempt to amend the bill, only wanting it again sent to the governor. Mr. Kelly wanted the bill left alone where it was, but Mr. Jackson expressed grave doubt as to the legality of the whole recent action since recalling the bill. After some further talk Mr. Larson moved the previous question and demanded a call of the house. On the motion to reconsider, the vote stood 69 to 41, and Mr. Deming's motion to return the bill to the governor was adopted without division. Mr. Bosworth, with consent of the governor, introduced a bill to allow clerk hire in the Houston county auditor's office, and it went through under suspension of the rules. On recommendation of the governor, Mr. Johnson, from roads and bridges committee, introduced the omnibus bill for the appropriation of $32,000 from the internal improvement fund for road and bridge appropriations for the various counties. The clerk read the bill so quickly that Mr. Roberts, of Hennepin county, entered a protest charging that the bill had not been read in full, but the speaker ruled that it had been read and ordered the roll call to proceed. Several members voted against the bill on the ground that they did not know what they were voting for, while others insisted that they must know how their counties had been cared for before voting at all. However, the bill passed, 80 to 12.

Only two bills on the calendar were passed during the morning, that of Pennington to amend article 8 of the constitution relating to school funds, and the Morris bill amending the game laws to make the possession of a gun prima facie evidence of intention of violating the game laws.

TWO-THIRDS IS BEET

The Rapidly Increasing Share of the World's Sugar Consumption Which Is Supplied From Sugar Beets.

Washington, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rapidly increasing share of the world's sugar consumption, which is supplied from sugar beets, is pointed out by a publication in the monthly summary of commerce and finance, just issued by the treasury department. Under the head of "The World's Sugar Crop of 1900" it shows that the total beet sugar production of that year was 5,550,000 tons and the cane sugar crop 2,850,000 tons, more than two-thirds of the world's sugar supply being thus produced from beets. This statement is followed by a table showing the cane and beet sugar prodution in each decennial year beginning with 1840 and the percentage which these rival sugar plants have in supplying the sugar consumption of the world. This table sows that in 1840 beets supplied less than 5 per cent of the world's sugar consumption; by 1850, they supplied over 14 per cent; by 1870, 34 per cent; by 1890, over 63 per cent, and in 1900, 67.71 per cent.

The growth of sugar consumption is also shown in a striking manner by this table. In 1840 the total sugar crop of the world was only 1,150,000 tons; in 1870, 2,416,000 tons; in 1890, 5,702,000 tons, and in 1900, 8,800,000 tons. The world's population has no more than doubled during the sixty years, probably not so much, yet its consumption of sugar is today eight times as much as in 1840.

The article in question begins with a statement from the London Statist to the effect that but a single factory in all the United Kingdom now refines cane sugar, all the others being exclusively occupied in preparing for the market the raw product of the beet farms of Germany, France, Austria and Russia. RAPID RISE

Of Two Brothers Now Known as the Peanut Kings.

Chicago, April 8.—From the business of vending peanuts and popcorn at a stand near the corner of a street in South Bend to an attempt at cornering the peanut market of the country—such is the transition realized in the fortunes of the Mills brothers, the new peanut kings, within the short snap of five years.

These brothers, F. W. Mills and H. S. Mills, are now in New York. They are credited in newspaper dispatches with having advanced the claim that they have succeeded in cornering the peanut crop of the entire country. As the originators of the slot machine for peanut purchases the two brothers were already known in the business world, but it was a surprise to their many acquaintances and former backers in South Water street to be informed that the mysterious purchaser of seventeen cars of peanuts, representing the whole supply in Chicago, within the last few weeks was the firm said to have been founded by the Mills brothers with a view to cornering the market.

For many years the Chicago firm of Garibaldi & Cuneo, 81 South Water street, was a backer of the Mills brothers in the business of peanut vending at the street stands in South Bend. At first the brothers appeared to have only one peanut stand. But they managed so well that they soon bought up all the peanut stands in that town and subsequently all in the business everywhere throughout hoosierdom.

Through their slot-machine devices for the sale of shelled peanuts the Mills boys within the last few years acquired extensive trade interests in the yearly crops of the small peanut grown in Virginia—the particular variety sometimes spoken of in the trade as "fairy peanuts." It is this peanut that is shelled and sold at peanut stands in small packages at 1 cent and upward and which are to be obtained by dropping a penny in a peanut slot machine when the slot macine seemed about to come in vogue as an auxiliary to the work of the vendors at the peanut stands.

"Well, the Mills boys have certainly come up in the world," said John G. Garibaldi at his South Water street commission house. "Why, I remember them well. it is only five or six years since they were vending peanuts behind street stands in South Bend. From time to time my partner, Frank Cuneo, and myself gave them small credits on our books. We found them reliable and we increased their credits until the aggregate figure reached some thousands of dollars. Then we heard that they were casting their eyes upon the Virginia peanut tracts and branching out extensively. Now comes this report that they claim to have cornered the peanut crop of the whole country during their recent operations in the peanut pit in Wall street."

"My understanding of the operations of the Mills brothers is that their attempt at a corner is directed only at the supply of peanuts used for shelling and has nothing to do with the larger peanuts that are roasted," said Frank Cuneo, partner of Mr. Garibaldi. "But even to engineer a corner in the shelled peanuts successfully would require a high degree of skill. Moreover, it would take not less than $500,000 in ready capital. How the Mills brothers could command such a sum is to me a mystery, although they have the pluck and energy to attempt a deal of considerable magnitude. Here in Chicago we have no knowledge that they have on hand more than the seventeen carloads gobbled up in this market. The year's crop is about 200 cars. If the market in 'roast' or shelled, ur both, is cornered there will be a squeeze in the price. Of such a development there is yet no sign whatever, the price today being at the normal figure, 5 cents. A cornered market would inevitably send the price soaring to not less than 7 cents and probably as high as 10 or 12 cents."

AGNEW ADMITS IT.

Says He Has the Famous Gainsborough Portrait.

Liverpool, April 8.—C. Moreland Agnew, upon his arrival here on the steamer Etruria this morning, admitted that he had the Gainsborough portrait of the duchess of Devonshire.

Mr. Agnew himself carried the picture ashore, but beyond admitting that it was the famous missing Gainsborough portrait, he declined to furnish any details regarding its recovery, and proceeded to London.

TO TAX WATER.

Mineral Beverages to Be Put on List.

New York, April 8.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is said to be considering the advisability of putting a small tax on mineral waters. There cannot be any doubt that such a tax would bring in a large sum of money to the treasury. At the present time mineral waters pay nothing to the revenue and they could with advantage to their quality, bear some portion of the burden of extra taxation that will have to be imposed.

TWO WILLS

Signed William Marsh Rice Were Before the Probate Court.

New York, April 8.—The two wills signed William Marsh Rice were on the calendar before Surrogate Fitzgerald today for the setting of dates for the trials in the contests. Counsel for Albert T. Patrick, the Rice heirs, the Rice institute in Texas, and for the temporary administrator of the estate were in court. Counsel for Patrick and the Rice heirs asked for an adjournment until June. Counsel for the temporary administrator asked that the case be put on at once for trial.

Surrogate Fitzgerald adjourned the hearing until next Monday, or until the close of the proceedings against Patrick before Justice Jerome on the murder charge.

DIRECTORS ARRESTED.

Edinburgh, April 8.—Robert and Walter Pattison, who were managing directors of the Pattisons' whisky firm, which failed in 1898 with a deficiency of £80,000, were arrested today in connection with the flotation of a company. The arrests promise to revive the sensation which caused the failure of the whisky firm, which ruined a number of small firms.

THE WAR NOT ENDED

Capture of Aguinaldo Does Not End the Filipinos' Struggle.

Standing Army In Philippines Not to Be Reduced.

Controversy Between Colonels Barr and Clous Over Promotion.

From The Herald Washington Bureau

Washington, April 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The capture of Aguinaldo by no means ends the war in the Philippines. His departure as the so-called commander of the Filipino insurgents will mean but little if anything. There are said to be braver men in charge of the rebellion who will be able to succeed the late chieftain of the Filipinos as commander-in-chief of the revolutionary army. It is thinted by certain diplomats in Washington that Aguinaldo deserted his people at a certain time, but in a dramatic sort of way, so that he could make peace with the United States government. Whether this rumor is ill-founded or not will probably be discussed later on. It will be noticed, however, that the war department, of which the president is commander-in-chief, is not failing to secure all the transports possible to carry the troops—regulars at that—to Manilla. The standing army in the Philippines has at the present time 60,000 men considered in fairly good physical condition. Some of these will return to the United States within the next six months, but the information secured from the inside army sources is to the effect that President McKinley and Judge Taft, president of the Philippine commission, do not believe it would be wise to reduce our forces in this archipelago within the next year below 75,000. From this it may be safely maintained that, notwithstanding the great splurge made regarding the capture of Aguinaldo, the powers that be in this capital do not consider that the war in the Philippines is by any means at an end. Peace, of course, may be brought about through the instrumentation of Judge Taft, but the taking of the so-called chief of the Filipinos will by no means bring about the surrender of the insurgents of the islands in the Philippines almost unapproachable by land or sea.

There is quite a controversy in the war department between Cols. Barr and Clous, of the army judge advocate general's department, for the vacancy which will occur May 21, upon the retirement of Gen. Lieber. It is customary, if the officer so desires, to retire at the age limit. He can, however, continue in office until physically or mentally incapacitated. The situation regarding the matter at this time was given out by the war department, and is as follows:

Cols. Barr and Clous, having abandoned their efforts to induce Gen. Lieber to retire, have instituted an active campaign for the place. Col. Barr has several months before reaching the retiring age, while Col. Clous retires in June, and, if appointed, would have little over a month to serve. He thinks, after years of faithful service, he is entitled to the promotion, and on his retirement Col. Barr could be appointed. Col. Barr is not willing to give way any more than was Gen. Lieber, and he wants to have the office on the ground that he is senior, and therefore next in line of advancement. There is no apparent altruistic spirit on the part of either Gen. Lieber or Col. Barr, and all efforts to work upon either in the interest of Col. Clous have failed. There is, in fact, no certainty that Col. Barr will be selected, owing to the short time he has before him on the active list, and it is regarded as probable that Col. Davis, who has many years yet to serve, will receive the appointment. Next to Col. Clous in rank is Col. Hunter, who may, however, be selected. Secretary Root will dispose of the controversy in a few weeks.

Carter Harrison is giving Democratic possibilities for the presidency in 1904 considerable worriment at this time. It was maintained by Mr. Harrison, who has just been elected for a third time mayor of Chicago, that if he succeeded in carrying that city with anything like a popular majority, he would be available as a Democratic presidential candidate. It will be recalled by the majority of the men wo managed the last state campaign in Illinois and by others who are intimately acquainted with Mayor Harrison, that he could have been nominated governor of that state, but not desiring the position, declined, and a Republican candidate was elected. It is believed that had Mr. Harrison made the race for the governorship he would have defeated Governor Yates, who, while in Washington, is charged with having used a toothpick in the senate gallery while the inaugural ceremonies were being conducted.

It is probable that Governor Yates has paid no attention to this rumor and it is possible also that the incident never occurred. However, the governor of Illinois and his staff came to Washington to attend the inaugural ceremonies with the flash of fanfire and returned to their native state covered with glory for the reason that their uniforms had the resemblance of the glories, in cut, of older colonial days of this country. The one thing lacking to make a George Washington out of any of the members of this Illinois governor's staff was a powdered wig, a smooth face, and, doubtless, brains.

Returning, however, to the political situation in Illinois which will develop, without doubt, an opposition candidate for the presidency to Mr. Bryan, the man most talked of and regarded most favorably is the present mayor of Chicago. While he is not considered as brilliant as Col. Bryan has not the peculiar legal ability of former Senator Hill, of New York, and is not as clever a political mayor as Senator Martin, of Virginia, his geographical location, his popularity and all things that go with the making of a president may defeat the ambitions of all the others mentioned, and the thrice elected mayor of the so-called Windy City of the West, if not re-elected president by the Democrats in 1904, may at least be nominated for this high position.

It is a well-known fact, and may be stated as an incident in passing that Mayor Harrison could have had, had he so desired, the nomination for the vice presidency at the Kansas City convention last July, which was finally tendered to a resident of his native state, Adlai E. Stevenson.

A COMMON ERROR

The Same Mistake Is Made By Many Duluth People.

IT'S A COMMON ERROR TO PLASTER THE ACHING BACK, TO RUB WITH LINIMENT RHEUMATIC JOINTS, WHEN THE TROUBLE COMES FROM THE KIDNEYS. DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE ALL KIDNEY ILLS, AND ARE ENDORSED BY DULUTH CITIZENS.

Mr, Fred Hicks, of 412 Fourth street, east, engaged in the shoe business, says: "I have had trouble all my life with my kidneys, the result of a nervous difficulty from which I suffer. Often severe, heavy aching pain existed across the small of my back, and it was accompanied with irregularity and unnatural condition of the kidney secretions. I tried everything in my power to check the trouble but was unsuccessful until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at W. A. Abbett's Drug store. I tried that remedy like I had tried a score in the past, with little expectation of receiving any benefit. I was surprised at the results, and although I do not expect to become absolutely clear of kidney trouble, I have at least found a preparation upon which I can depend to bring relief when I appeal to it."

STUDENTS ARRESTED.

Police at Kharkoff Gather In Twenty-One.

London, April 8.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Reuter Telegram company says the police at Kharkoff have arrested twenty-one students for rioting at the railroad station on the occasion of the departure of other students who were expelled for being connected with previous disturbances at Kharkoff.

A number of students also were arrested in St. Petersburg on leaving a theater where they had manifested particular approval of certain passages of a play which seemed to refer to existing political conditions in Russia.

JEALOUSY

The Cause of Fatal Shooting at Wichita.

Wichita, Kan., April 8.—Edward Sine, an employe of a hardware company, was shot and fatally wounded during the night while preparing to retire. The shot was fired from a window of a building opposite. T. J. Robinson has been arrested on suspicion, as he is said to have been jealous of Sine, to whom Robinson's divorced wife rented a room.

Topsy-turvy.

That's a favorite attitude of the small boy. And in this again "the child is the father of the man." The man does not essay to walk through life on his hands, but he creates for himself a kingdom of topsy-turvydom. He turns night into day. He eats regardless of time and physical necessities. He makes a pleasure of his business and a business of his pleasure. In fact, he effectually reverses the order of natural living. The result is physical disability generally introduced by "weak" stomach. The food he eats does not nourish him because the stomach and its associated organs are not able to extract the nourishment from the food. Hence, the body is under nourished and disease develops in one form or another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases which originate in a diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs. Hence, it cures "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" nerves and other forms of so-called weakness.

"I had been troubled with catarrh of the stomach and heart trouble," writes Mr. W. D. Merchant, of Tylersburg, Clarion Co., Penn'a. "Had doctored for some time without relief, then I began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took seven bottles. Before I began to take it I weighed 119 pounds, and now I weigh 176. I am working steadily and feel like a well man. I send you many thanks."

INITIATES LAID UP

"Run For Dicky" at Harvard Said to Be Dangerous.

Two Students Are Injured, One Being Seriously Hurt.

Faculty May Inquire on Return of President Eliot.

Boston, April 9.—Because of hazing, two Harvard students, after being initiated into the institute of 1770 and D. K. E., have been obliged to leave the university temporarily, and it is doubtful whether one of them will return. The students are Enos Stanley Thomas Richardson, of New York, a first-year student in the scientific school, and Herbert W. Mason, a sophomore.

Mason was taken out for his "first stunt," as the phrase goes, about a month ago. As a result he has been confined at his home with water on both knees and a broken finger up to a few days ago. Mason is limping a bit and the little finger of the right hand is bandaged. He said:

"I do not in any way blame the men of the D. K. E. for the injuries received in my initiation. While running the gauntlet the first night I slipped and fell, as the ground was very slippery and hard. I wrenched my knee badly. From this wrench I got water on the knee. Of course, my running around irritated this, and it became much worse. The last part of the initiation was more severe than the rest, when I hurt my other knee and dislocated my finger. This, however, was due in most part to my own awkwardness and carelessness. I want to emphasize the fact that no one was to blame, and I was well cared for. It was only a little hard luck on my part, and I have no complaint whatever to make. I hope that no one will think that my injuries were in any way due to brutality, for that is entirely wrong."

According to a "Dickey" man, Richardson's injury dated back to the institute initiation, from which the candidates for D. K. E. are recruited. It was while "running the gauntlet" for the institute, so the D. K. E. man says, that Richardson was kicked in the head. As a result he was affected mentally. They watched him closely and cheerfully, but one night, getting out of his room, he wandered through the hall to the stairs and fell headlong to the lower floor. This eposide marked the finish of Richardson. He was put to bed and a doctor was called.

The symptoms seemed to be those of concussion of the brain, and after lying in college hall, he was sent to his home in New York city. Richardson, according to his friends, will return at the end of the Easter recession about two weeks. There is a contradictory report from other sources that he will not be back this year.

The cruelties in the initiation of the exclusive secret societies of Harvard, made public through the serious injury of Enos S. T. Richardson, of New York, and H. W. Mason, of Boston, both of whom have been under the doctor's care for several weeks, is giving the members of the faculty considerable concern. Several professors said that no action would be taken by the college authorities until the return of President Eliot, who is expected soon.

Richard Derby, president of the Delta Kappa Epsilon society, by which the alleged hazing was done, admits that in the cases of Richardson and Mason it was severe, and that the system has now been changed.

Dr. Walcott, acting president of Harvard, says he was not aware that any cruelties were practiced until he received a very vigorous letter in regard to the matter. He said:

"The question is how to stop them. About thirty years ago Harvard assumed the position that she could not be responsible for the way the students spent their time. The only way is for the students who are asked to join the society to refuse to submit to actions degrading not only to themselves, but to the college. The faculty has the power to exercise discipline, and if it so choose it might rule that public initiations should be discontinued."

Dr. Bartlett, the regent of the university, has charge of all the secret societies or Harvard. He said:

"It is true that at times I have to get after some of the societies for rough treatment of their noyitiates, but the men have always made any changes which I have suggested, and so far I am perfectly satisfied with the actions of the men. I was not aware that anything serious had happened to Mason or Richardson. The injuries were due to accident."

MORE APPOINTMENTS.

Washington, April 8.—The president today made the following appointments: Henry S. Matthewson to be passed assistant surgeon in the marine hospital service of the United States, and the following to be warrant machinists in the navy: Charles Hosung, David Purdon, William J. Treverrow and James W. Murray.

TALE TOLD BY RIPLEY

To Judge Yost In Presence of Ex-Governor Bradley.

Death of Goebel Boldly Predicted By Governor Taylor.

New Evidence to Be Offered at Next Trial.

Frankfort, Ky., April 9.—New evidence of the greatest importance will be offered in the trial this week of Capt. Garnett Ripley, charged with complicity in the assassination of Governor Goebel.

The new evidence will be given by anti-Goebel men of national note, and its effect will be felt not only in the Ripley case, but in the retrials of the Powers and Howard cases, recently remanded by the court of appeals.

Judge William H. Yost, of Greenville, one of the ablest and most prominent gold Democrats in Kentucky, was a supporter of Taylor against Goebel, and during the final struggle which resulted in the assassination of Goebel was one of Taylor's chief advisers.

It can be positively announced that Judge Yost will testify to these facts:

That immediately after Goebel was shot, Garnett Ripley detailed to him a conversation which he had had on the previous day (Jan. 29) with Taylor. That conversation was substantially as follows:

Taylor directed Ripley to go to his home and get together a militia company of Republicans to come to Frankfort and defend the state house. Ripley said:

"I can only do that at the order of the county judge. I'm likely to get into trouble if I do it without an order from him."

Taylor replied: "Go on and do it as quickly as you can. If you get into trouble I'll pardon you."

Ripley responded: "That's all right if you're governor, but suppose the legislature seats Goebel. He won't pardon me. What will become of me then?"

Taylor replied: "Go on and get your company. Goebel won't be alive twenty-four hours."

Judge Yost will testify that Ripley detailed this conversation to him in the presence of ex-Governor Bardley.

Further, there can be no doubt that ex-Governor Bradley will corroborate the statements of Judge Yost. It is said that there will be further evidence offered by equally reliable witnesses, to the effect that Taylor, two days before Goebel's assassination, displayed the copy of a proclamation which he intended issuing after Goebel's death.

In view of this important testimony, the reversal by the court of appeals of the verdicts in the cases of Jim Howard and Caleb Powers, convicted of complicity in the conspiracy to assassinate Governor Goebel, and sentenced respectively to death and life imprisonment, is likely to prove disastrous rather than advantageous to the defense in these celebrated cases. The best evidence of this fact is that the attorneys for the defense have requested the court of appeals to withhold its mandate of reversal until they shall have time to file a petition for a modification of the court's opinion. The court has agreed to the request as a matter of form, but only the most weighty reasons can induce a modification of the opinion, and a retrial, with no points at issue except those left open in the opinion of the court, offers little hope to the prisoners. A brief analysis of the court's opinion will show plainly the serious defeat which it means to the defense.

In both the Howard and Powers cases the court, composed of four Republicans and three Democrats, holds unanimously that the indictments under which the defendants were tried are effective and legal.

In both cases the court holds unanimously that the pardons granted by Fugitive Taylor, the de facto governor, were invalid and worthless.

In the Powers case the court holds that 843 out of 847 exceptions taken by the defense are not sustained. Four exceptions for technical error of the most unimportant nature are sustained, the court voting 4 to 3.

In the Howard case many exceptions for error are sustained, but as stated above, the vital question as to the sufficiency of the indictment and the validity of pardons issued by Taylor are decided for the prosecution.

There is nothing in the opinion of the court to prevent retrial of the cases upon exactly the same lines as those heretofore followed. It will, of course, not be possible that error will be repeated where error has been pointed out.

Without the introduction of new testimony on either side, convictions might reasonably be expected in the new trials, and only upon entirely new ground could a second reversal of the verdict of the lower court be expected. A vastly more important fact is, however, that in the new trials evidence may be offered which was not in the possession of the prosecution during the first trial. The evidence of ex-Governor Bradley and Judge William H. Yost, which may have a more important bearing in the new trials of Howard and Powers than in the trials of Garnett Ripley, in which it will be originally offered.

There seems now reason to believe that William F. Taylor, the fugitive ex-governor of Kentucky, who has been posing as a martyr in Indiana will yet be brought to trial. It is known that the belief in his innocence, which was once quite general among Indiana Republicans, has been shaken by developments, and that furthermore Governor Durbin is not disposed, as was the late Governor Mount, to stand between the courts of Kentucky and a fugitive under indictment. Taylor declared that he fled to Indiana to escape partisan persecution, or possible assassination. The only man who has been assassinated in Kentucky was a Democrat. The court of last resort in Kentucky has become Republican since Taylor's flight. The present governor of Kentucky stands ready to give Taylor the fullest possible protection should he return or be returned to the state. An era of order and peace has succeeded the turbulance which existed at the time of Goebel's assassination.

Political strife in Kentucky is for the present wholly at an end. The Democrats are anxious only to maintain their record of observance of the law. The Republicans who are dominant strive to the same end. The Republican court of appeals has just reversed the verdicts of conviction against two of the men indicted jointly with Taylor. The court's decision has been received quietly and not one whisper of "partisanship" has been raised. That court stands squarely between Taylor and any verdict tinged with "partisan persecution." The people and the officials of Indiana have reason to ask why Taylor, if he is innocent, does not return to Kentucky and vindicate himself in the courts of the state, where he received the Republican vote for governor.

MILLIONS IN SIX YEARS.

Riches Gained Swiftly By Daniel G. Reid.

Richmond, Ind., April 9.—Daniel G. Reid, who has been elected a member of the board of directors of the United States Steel company and also a member of the executive committee, was born in this city forty-nine years ago, the son of poor parents.

He was cashier of the Second National bank until a few years ago, when with a comparatively small capital he became interested in the tin plate industry, which at that time was in its infancy. Investments in the American tin plate plant at Elwood, this state, brought rich returns, and the concern soon became the largest of its kind in the world. Mr. Reid became its head, and when steps were taken to bring about a combination of tin plate mills he was the recognized leader. The trust was formed, and Mr. Reid was made president, and when the offices of the company were removed to New York Mr. Reid removed to that city. He was conspicuous in all the preliminary transactions that bore relation to the United States Steel company, and by its formation becomes one of the officials of the largest corporation in the world.

From a man in only moderate circumstances six years ago, Mr. Reid has become one of the richest men in the country, his wealth being estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Associated with Mr. Reid throughout his career has been William B. Leeds, who seven or eight years ago was superintendent of the Panhandle division of shrd ishrdlu shrdlup handle division between Logansport and Cincinnati. He likewise has become a multi-millionaire. He was also born in Richmond.

MYSTERIOUS

Was Gold Robbery on an Ocean Steamer.

No Trace of the Gold or the Thieves.

New York, April 10.—The robbery at sea of the specie room of the North German Lloyd liner, Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse seems a mysterious crime. Apparently there has been complete failure to locate either the missing gold bullion or the men who took it, although the search of passengers and ship at Bremen again this morning may furnish material for the investigations. Three bars of gold, aggregating in value $22,750, shipped by the National City bank, of New York, were stolen from cask No. 4 of the specie room somewhere between this port and Cherbourg. The advices to Oelrichs & Co., agents for the company in Germany, and on the point as to whether the specie room was broken open or entered by beating the lock, admits of translation either way. The specie room is iron bound and almost as strong as a vault. Its door was secured by a patent lock, for which there were but two keys. One of the keys was kept by the chief officer, the other by the purser. The gold bars were packed in oak casks bound with iron hoops. Thousands of dollars in gold were within the reach of the man who forced his way into the strong room, but only the sum named was taken. At the office of the North German Lloyd agents this morning, this statement was given to the Associated Press:

"Three bars of gold, valued at $22,750, were taken from the specie room of the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, somewhere between here and Cherbourg. The bars were taken from cask No. 4, but we have no idea as to how the robbery was accomplished. Our advices are but brief, and do not show how the room was entered. The gold was shipped by the National City bank of New York. We understand it was insured, but the question of responsibility will be passed upon later. The ship is due at Bremen today and we may hear further from there. We have not recovered the gold, and this office has no knowledge of the thieves. The specie room is a strong safe and secured by patent lock to which there was but two keys. The chief officer kept one key, the purser the other. We will make every possible effort to recover the money and catch the thieves."

Bremerhaven, April 10.—It is officially announced that two bars of gold were stolen during the voyage of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, which left New York April 2 and arrived at Cherbourg April 9. The company has offered a reward of 10,000 marks for their restitution or for the discovery of the thieves.

London, April 10.—The offer of a reward for the return of the gold stolen from the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, or for the discovery of the thieves, appears to effectually dispose of the theory first advanced that the bars were stolen previous to having been put on board the steamer. No clues, however, seem to be forthcoming regarding the perpetrator of the robbery. Passengers of the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, who were landed at Southampton, told a representative of the Associated Press that they knew nothing of the matter until they read of it in the papers this morning. It was observed that there were no special precautions or searching when the passengers disembarked, though there was some comment caused by the delay of several hours in landing the passengers at Cherbourg, where the steamer arrived at 11 o'clock Monday night. But, contrary to custom, the passengers were kept on board until 6 o'clock in the morning. Officers of the steamer explained that the tender would not come out. But this failed to satisfy the impatient passengers, who, however, were quite ignorant until they landed that their detention was due to the initial investigation consequent upon the theft and the precautions exercised at Cherbourg. But the fact that these precautions were not observed subsequently at Southampton was taken to indicate that the officials believe the conspiracy has its chief end on the continent. The passengers are inclined to believe that the robbery must have been accomplished by a person acquainted with the arrangements of the steamship company, for the passengers say they were not aware there was specie upon the vessel, much less where it was kept.

KILLED BAD MAN

A Deputy Marshal Shoots a Would-be Train Robber.

Prisoner Tried To Turn His Gun on the Deputy.

Was Met With Bullets From the Detective's Revolver.

Ainsworth, Neb., April 10.—Deputy United States Marshal Frederick M. Hans, who is also special agent for the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad, shot and killed David O. Luse at the latter's home near here last night. Hans called at the Luse home and, after a short conversation, placed Luse under arrest and ordered him to prepare for a trip to Omaha. Luse asked permission to get his overcoat from another room. Hans followed him. Luse is said to have reached behind the overcoat and got a shot gun. As he wheeled around Hans shot him twice through the heart.

Omaha, April 10.—Railroad officials in this city authorized the statement today that Detective Hans killed David Luse at Ainsworth last night, after having arrested him to prevent a well-planned train robbery. Further particulars were not forthcoming, however.

TAX ON MINES

More Reasons For Increase of Valuations.

Roads Themselves Have Supplied One Argument.

The announcement in The Herald Monday evening that the iron properties of this county are escaping with a ridiculously light proportion of taxes continues to be a prominent feature in discussions everywhere. All classes of property owners are surprised at the showing that has resulted from the terms of the purchase of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines. It is the first inkling the general public has had of the real value of the iron deposits in this county, and the movement to get them taxed according to their value meets with the heartiest approval of taxpayers of all classes.

There is every reason why the assessment on the mines should be raised at least as high as The Herald suggested Monday, if not higher. If they are assessed at a dollar less than the amount suggested, $75,000,000, it will be an injustice to other classes of property, which are paying the share that the mines are escaping. The figures named are merely tentative, and if the governor appoints the right kind of a commissioner upon the receipt of the complaint that is necessary to start the movement, it is altogether likely that the investigation he makes will result in placing them still higher, for nobody believes that $150,000,000 represents the real value of the iron mines. That is as low as it could possibly be guessed, and a thorough investigation is sure to develop values much higher than this.

All that is asked is that the iron mines pay in the same proportion as other property. No strained reasoning is necessary to show that they ought to pay a higher proportion, but that is not asked. If they are made to pay on the same basis as other property they will be immensely more liable for the public expenses than they are now, and that will content most of the taxpayers of the county and state.

To show that they ought to pay even more than other classes of property it is only necessary to paraphrase a favorite argument of the iron interests themselves.

It will be remembered that when proceedings were instituted some time ago before the state railroad and warehouse commission to reduce the iron ore freight rates, and a hearing was held upon the matter in this city, the railroads practically admitted that their rates for carrying iron ore were excessive and produced earnings greater than any other carrying trade in the world. They could hardly deny this, so they sought to justify it. They justified it with very plausible arguments, so plausible that they come in even better now than they did then.

They said that the iron ore industry of the state is a short-lived thing. At the rate that ore is being removed at present, they said, it would only be a short time before all of it would be taken away, and then the roads would have no business left to do, and they would have to lapse into desolation and disuse along with the iron ranges, which they pictured as passing back into the primeval conditions that existed before the foot of man penetrated the wildernesses north of Duluth.

Therefore, they said, the roads had only a short time in which to earn enough to pay for building their lines, so they must have high rates and get their earnings out of the iron industry while it remained, for when it had gone their usefulness would go with it.

If there was any intent to make the iron mines pay a higher percentage than other classes of property, the people of this county might thank them for that argument. For if the railroads must get higher rates out of iron than other classes of freight, because it is disappearing rapidly, surely the state ought to get a higher proportion of taxes, because with the disappearance of the iron deposits will go a large slice of the state's wealth. Therefore, in order that

IN STATE OF SUSPENSE

It Is Believed That the Central Railroad Employes Voted to Strike and Only Await Orders From Leaders.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 10.—Employes of the Central Railroad of New Jersey are still in a state of suspense. They say they expect to be called out almost any hour, although it is possible that they may not be called out at all. It is admitted that it is still within the power of Vice President Warren to avert the threatened trouble, but a delay of twenty-four hours may be too late.

Only them embers of the local organization and Chairman Waite, of the general grievance committee, know positively the result of yesterday's poll on the strike question. While the employes are unusually reticent, enough can be gleaned from their conversation to justify the statement that they are only waiting for the brotherhood leaders to say quit work.

It is believed that the Jersey Central officials are fortifying themselves against a tie-up, as many men who are known by the employes here to be railroaders, reached here last night. There are also a large number of former employes of the Lehigh company in this city, but it is not known whether they would accept positions with the Jersey Central if a strike is ordered. Nearly all of them were members of the brotherhood at the time of the trouble on the Lehigh Valley.

New York, April 10.—It was said at the office of the Central Railroad of New Jersey today that no change had taken place in existing conditions between the employes and officials of the road.

There was a rumor to the effect that an informal meeting might be held today or tomorrow between Vice President Warren and some of the participants in last Saturday's conference, but diligent inquiry failed to confirm this in the slighest degree.

"HINKY DINK"

Famous Chicago Politician Acquitted of Keeping Open Sunday.

Chicago, April 10.—Michael Kenna, "Hinky Dink," prominent in levee politics, who was arrested yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Kate Mills Boyd, secretary of the anti-Vice Crusade society, charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday, was acquitted by a jury in Justice Prindiville's court today. Members of the jury stated that City Prosecutor Scully had introduced no evidence against Kenna. Attorneys for the defendant were severe in their denunciation of Mrs. Boyd.

KNOX INTRODUCED.

He Is Formally Presented to the Supreme Court.

Washington, April 10.—Attorney General Knox was formally presented to the United States supreme court when that tribunal assembled at 12 o'clock today. The ceremony was both brief and simple, consisting of little more than an introduction. The attorney general entered the court room a few moments before the justices came in. He was accompanied by Solicitor General Richards, who as soon as the members of the court had taken their seats, rose to present his superior in office. "May it please the court," he said, "I have the honor of presenting Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, who has succeeded Mr. Griggs as attorney general of the United States."

The chief justice responded, saying that the court was pleased to welcome Mr. Knox and directing that his commission be recorded. The regular business of the court then proceeded and after remaining for a short time as witnesses of the routine Mr. Knox and Mr. Richards withdrew.

DR. DUFFIELD DEAD.

Well Known Princeton Professor Passed Away.

Princeton, N. J., April 10.—Dr. John T. Duffield, class of 1841, emeritus professor of mathematics, died from heart trouble at his home here today. Dr. Duffield was the senior member of the faculty, and in addition to his duties as professor, directed the distribution of scholarships to needy students. He has been prominent in recent years in the agitation of important questions concerning the doctrine of the Presbyterian church. He was 78 years of age.

JURY SECURED.

To Hear the Case of Garnett Ripley.

Frankfort, Ky., April 10.—A jury was secured today to hear the case of Garnett Ripley, accused of complicity in the shooting of Governor Goebel. All are Democrats and are farmers living outside this city.

Ripley entered a plea of not guilty. In opening the case for the state, Judge Williams declared that a conspiracy was formed to kill Goebel and that Ripley was connected with it throughout.

HIS CHANCE.

Morgan's Opportunity of Bringing Ship Owners Together.

London, April 10.—The Pall Mall Gazette today, discussing a cabled suggestion that J. P. Morgan's visit to Europe concerns not only the Steel trust, but the Panama canal prject, considers it probable that the strong feeling of British ship owners in favor of the Panama route has had some influence with Mr. Morgan and says:

"Mr. Morgan has the chance of bringing the great moneyed people and ship owners of Great Britain and those of the United States together on this question of an international canal. His presence in this country may consolidate the ideas on this question and bring about a working arrangement suitable to the maritime nations of the world."

REVERSE FOR BRITISH

Seventy-Five British Troopers Are Surrounded and Captured By the Boers Near Aberdeen In Cape Colony.

New York, April 10.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The Boer resources of craft have not yet been exhausted, for there is an official confirmation of the report that seventy-five British troopers were surrounded and captured near Aberdeen, Cape Colony. This is the first Boer success recorded for several months and is proof that the guerillas can do more than to retreat.

Sir Alfred Milner has decided that the time has gone by for treating the Cape Colony rebels with leniency. They will no longer be tried under the special commission act passed by the colonial legislature last year, but will be indicted under common law and will be subject, therefore, to all the penalties prescribed for the crime of treason, including capital punishment. This official announcement is an indication that the situation in Cape Colony is not so satisfactory as the British authorities would like it to be.

JAPAN IS SATISFIED

The Government Accepted the Latest Declaration of Russia as Made In Good Faith and Will Act Accordingly.

Washington, April 10.—The Japanese minister, Mr. Takahira, today received official advices from the foreign office at Tokio, entirely dispelling the alarming reports as to a Russo-Japanese rupture, and showing that the Japanese government accepted the latest declaration of Russia on Manchuria with the same sense of satisfaction that it had been received in the United States. Mr. Takahira called at the state department and and informed Secretary Hay of the gratifying turn of events.

The position of Japan, as now defined in the highest official quarters, is practically the same as that of the United States. A copy of the recent Russian communication was delivered to Japan at the same time it was given to this government. Although the texts differ slightly, they are alike in all material points. The Japanese government now makes known that it accepts this declaration, as made in entire good faith, and like the United States, it is quite satisfied to leave the Manchurian question in its present status. The assurances given by Russia are of such a character that the Japanese authorities confidently look forward to a course of action which will remove the perplexity and dangers in which the issue has been involved thus far. As the other powers already have indicated their acceptance of the Russian declaration, the course of Japan removes the last possibility of division, and appears to restore the harmonious concert which has thus far proceeded in dealing with China.

IMPROVING.

The Condition of Herman Armour Not Regarded as Serious.

New York, April 10.—The condition of Herman O. Armour, stricken by paralysis last Friday, continues to improve and his physician thinks there will be no serious result, although he cannot use his right arm or leg.

Mr. Armour was born in 1837 and was five years younger than the late Philip D. Armour. He has been untiring in his labor and generous in his lavish charities, as was his elder brother.

In the vast business interests of the Armour brothers Herman O. Armour was a potent and energetic factor. He worked with his older brother and John Plankinton in Milwaukee, starting the meat-packing business of the West.

He left Milwaukee in 1862, and went into the grain commission business in Chicago in 1865. H. O. Armour moved to New York, where a firm was organized under the name of Armour, Plankinton & Co. Here he proved himself fitted for metropolitan finance and an unusually successful merchant.

Throughout their long business career the Armour brothers retained close and affectionate relations. The welfare of each was the affair of the other, and there was never a break in their love, mutual admiration and aid.

Mr. Armour has been for many years identified with the business and social life of this city. His wife was Miss Jeannie P. Livingston. Their life had been very happy. In the summer they usually lived at their summer home near Tarrytown on the Hudson. Their daughter Mary was married to William Gilman Nichols, of New York, June 29, 1893.

Mr. Armour on Sept. 10, 1900, joined the brokerage house of McIntyre & Wardwell, with offices in the Produce Exchange building and having connections with the New York stock exchange, produce, cotton and coffee exchanges and the Chicago board of trade.

Mr. Armour is a member of the Union league and various other Republican clubs. He has been an enthusiastic friend of art, a strong supporter of the metropolitan museums and of other public institutions of the city.

His home, at the south corner of Sixty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, is in the neighborhood of the multi-millionaire colony, but, although a commodious house, scarcely rivals those of some of his neighbors in cost. The price of the land was $250,000 and the amount spent on the building was the same.

TO UNIFY WORK.

An Important Meeting of Catholic Educators.

Chicago, April 10.—Improvement of the Catholic educational system, and plans for unifying the educational work of the church and raising it to a level in effectiveness with the state and non-sectarian institutions for higher learning, will be discussed at the third annual convention of representatives of Catholic colleges, which opened here today. The convention will continue three days, and during that time many important papers will be read and discussed by leading church educators.

Representatives were present today from nearly every Catholic college and university of prominence in the United States and Canada. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Conaty, D.D., rector of the Catholic university at Washington and president of the association, called the convention to order. In his annual address he spoke on "The Catholic College in the Twentieth Century."

ON CHANGING NAME.

Populists Will Vote on Question May 4.

Cincinnati, April 10.—In compliance with the national committee of the middle-of-the-road Populists party at St. Louis last December, providing for a referendum vote on changing the name to Populists, and on public ownership of certain means of production, distribution and other issues, National Chairman Parker has fixed the time for this vote at 2 p. m. Saturday, May 4, at the usual voting places. Chairman Parker issued a call for the national committee to meet at Detroit, July 4.

STATE TREASURER DEAD.

Little Rock, Arkansas, April 10.—State Treasurer Thomas E. Little died suddenly today from heart disease. He was a brother of Congressman Little of the Second Arkansas district.

TO AN UNNAMED GRAVE

Remains of Well Known Grain Trader, Who Died In Chicago Hospital, Narrowly Missed the Potter's Field.

Chicago, April 10.—Only the accidental visit of a deputy coroner to the morgue of the county hospital prevented the remains of George Thurber, formerly considered one of the most astute traders in the Chicago wheat pit, from being buried unnamed in the potter's field. Mr. Thurber died in the county hospital Monday from a complication of diseases. He was taken sick on a train while on his way to Hastings, Minn., from Dayton, Fla., where he had been for almost a year in hopes of restoring his shattered health. The conductor of the train found on his unconscious form, a memorandum directing he be sent to a Chicago hospital in case he was taken seriously ill. He was unknown and apparently without friends. The sick man was refused admittance at the hospital and he was taken to the county institution, where he died. The body was placed in the morgue and arrangements made for interment in the potter's field, when the body was recognized by the deputy coroner and notification sent to his widow at La Crosse, Wis., and his friends in Hastings, Minn. Mr. Thurber was but 38 years of age. He retired from active business about a year ago on account of ill health.

FRICTION.

Hawaiian Legislators Have a Controversy With Governor Dole.

Honolulu, April 4.—The house of representatives has engaged in another controversy with Governor Dole. The executive yesterday sent a communication to the house, replying to a request for data and the house ordered the clerk to return to the governor, with notice that it was not in proper shape, because it was signed "Sanford B. Dole" without any title affixed. This action was taken because the governor recently sent a resolution back to the house on account of its being uncertified by the secretary. In his letter the governor declined to respond to a call for general information on subjects connected with the executive council, stating that he required specific demands for certain data and that there did not appear to be any subject before the house on which data was needed by the members.

BROKER SUICIDED.

After Expulsion From the Consolidated Exchange.

New York, April 10.—B. Forst, a broker, was suspended from membership in the consolidated exchange today. Shortly after the announcement of this fact, a body supposed to be that of Mr. Forst was found in a room in the Hoffman house. Forst is said to have been a man of means. There is no reason known for his suicide.

GAIETY AT TOULON.

The Town Is Fast Filling With Visitors.

Toulon, April 10.—The town is filling up fast and is gay with flags and festoons of French and Italian colors.

The duke of Genoa visited the mayor of Toulon this morning and was everywhere greeted with cheers.

MINISTER AD INTERIM.

Paris, April 10.—Owing to the illness of M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the premier and minister of the interior, M. Georges Leygues, minister of public instruction and worship, has been appointed to the ministry of the interior ad interim.

SKIPPED FOR AMERICA.

Berlin, April 10.—The Boersen Zeitung prints a special dispatch from Budapest to the effect that Count Rahnere Galfty has fled to the United States leaving debts amounting to 200,000 crowns.

ALL WERE SAVED.

Fire Discovered In Insane Asylum In Indiana.

Indianapolis, April 10.—Fire which broke out at 3 a. m. in the women's building of the insane hospital at Mt. Jackson, just west of the city limits, was brought under control before much property damage was done. Great difficulty was experienced in controlling the patients of the two wards and getting them to a place of safety. This was accomplished by the female nurses, who displayed rare heroism. Two nurses, Margaret Waltman and Kate Nolan, were severely scorched, but none of the patients were injured. Property loss nominal.

AT WEST DULUTH

Action was taken at the meeting of the park board yesterday that is of special interest to the people of West Duluth, as it means no more or less than the final consummation of the purchase of the 40-acre Norton tract of land for a park site in West Duluth. The papers for the purchase were turned over by the agent of the Norton estate to the city attorney last December, but owing to one and another little technicalities that kept coming up, no real settlement was made until just at the present time, and the whole thing might have been declared off. The park board was figuring on paying part of the purchase price and issuing certificates for the balance of the payment, and an ordinance was introduced in council at the last meeting providing for the sanction of the council for the issuance of certificates of indebtedness by the park board. When the board met yesterday it was discovered that the March apportionment for park purposes was larger than had been expected, and in order to obviate all further chances for controversy in the purchase of the park, the board decided to pay $4000 and get the benefit of the discount.

The purchase is considered a fine one, when it is remembered that the tract was previously assessed at $6000, was last year reduced 10 per cent in assessment to $7200, and it is barely possible that a few more years may see its valuation shoot up to $10,000.

The payment of the whole purchase price at once will cripple the park board so far as making any extensive improvements on the park this year is concerned. It is the sense of the board that if any of the public-spirited citizens of West Duluth wish to extend the board any aid this spring in the matter of contributions of a little labor, of teams, or anything else, it will be very acceptable. The idea is not to be gained from this that the board wishes the people of West Duluth to fix up their own park after those in other parts of the city have had city aid, for it is only a question of time when funds will be available for more extensive improvements. Any help offered by citizens now only means the getting of the park in condition a little sooner than otherwise. It is understood that the park board will this spring avail itself of the labor of the chain gang, which will be sent out to the new site on occasions to perform labor toward its improvement. City Engineer Patton has said that he will survey the tract within the next ten days, after which he will make a topographical survey of the park site with a view of recommending to the park board the improvements he believes best suited to the nature of the land embraced within the limits surrounding the park. The board intends to make some improvements on the park this season, but does not wish the impression to go out that it is in a position to do anything on a large scale because of the lack of funds for the current year.

HOW DID THEY VOTE?

Some of the West Duluth Republicans feel that they are in a position to do a little guessing as to the motives of certain representatives of the Forty-ninth district in the state legislature in voting on the Torrens bill. The report in the morning paper of the work done yesterday in the state legislature says that the Torrens system of land registering bill passed the house, all of the St. Louis county delegation except Messrs. Mallory and Alford voting against it. If this is true, the Republicans say that they have no objection to make, but a report was received in West Duluth this morning to the effect that a mistake was made in the earlier report, and that Messrs Mallory and Alford were the only representatives of the delegation from this county to vote against the bill. Friends of these gentlemen feel assured that the West Duluth representatives will explain the matter fully when they come back from St. Paul. Last Saturday night the Republican club passed resolutions endorsing the bill and sent copies of the resolutions to Representatives Mallory and Alford, asking them to vote in its favor.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

A number of the West Duluth property holders are making improvements on their houses here this spring. This morning ex-Alderman David Sang began extensive improvements on one of his Wadena street properties. Charles Fancett has made a number of improvements on his house at Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street. The big tenement house on Broadway that has been in bad condition so long has been fitted up and is now in excellent condition. Scores of West Duluthians are said to be already figuring on the costs of new homes to be built during the coming summer. Peter Larson, register of deeds of Aitkin county, who with his wife has been a guest of William Spencer for a few days, is here to look over several lots that he owns, and it is possible that he may build on some of them this season.

BOWERY'S BIG DAY

Fifteen Hundred Woodsmen Throng That Notorious District.

A Reasonably Orderly Good Natured Crowd of Men.

Smallpox Detective Is Watching All Trains Closely.

This has been a momentuous day on the Bowery. Fully 1500 woodsmen are just in from the camps and the glistening thoroughfare is the stamping ground of a great majority. All morning both sides of the street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, were black with woodsmen. In many of the saloons the crowd that faced the rosewood resembled a mass play in a football game. There was a terrific run on amyl alcohol and rainwater, and other thirst-quenching liquid and if the pace keeps up for a few days, a famine in liquid refreshments is not impossible.

The crowd was very orderly. The police force was increased part of the time, but the woodsmen were so good-natured and happy that the Bowery almost resembled a peace conference.

Every train into the city brought in large numbers of woodsmen and many of them only staid over long enough to catch another train out. Hundreds are going down to the Twin Cities and many left for their happy homes in the southern part of this state and Wisconsin.

One thing was clearly demonstrated in today's rush on the Bowery—a woodsman with plenty of money is not what he is often said to be. They are probably as orderly as almost any body of men would be if thrown together under similar circumstances. The trouble seems to be that the bulk of the woodsmen have to suffer for the misdoings of a very small minority. It is the small criminal element that gives the craft an undeserved reputation, and does the majority of them a great injustice.

Owing to the large number of men in from the lumber camps, the health department has put on a smallpox detective. He meets all trains and is sworn as a special police officer. This man recently graduated from the detention hospital, after taking a two month's course in smallpox in its most severe form. In consequence he is well fitted to pick out a case the moment he sees it, and has captured several woodsmen before they had an opportunity to spread the disease about the city.

There were only two robberies last evening, notwithstanding the careless display of large rolls of money by woodsmen. The police department is watching matters pretty closely, and seem to have the situation well in hand, though it is impossible to prevent an occasional theft even if the force was double.

A wraith like wreath of saffon smoke followed the trail of James Shields, from the central house to police headquarters. The Central house is located on Lake avenue near the viaduct. Mr. Shields and two friends with whom he had worked all winter, concluded that it would be a desirable place for them to camp. The two friends were brothers—Tom and Dennis Reilly. All three had money. Shields put $65 in his hip pocket for safe keeping and went to bed with his trousers on. Tom Reilly slept with him, and this morning when Shields woke up he discovered that his bed fellow and friend, had taken a knife and cut the hip pocket out of his trousers while he slept. Pocket, money and friend were gone.

What made Shields particularly warlike and restless, was the fact that Tom Reilly yesterday drew $80 while he only drew $65. He said that if his friend had been without money he would not have felt as he does about it, but having more money his friend was trying to give an imitation of a man trying to get a corner on all wealth.

A woodsman named Brady claims to have been robbed in a hack last night but this morning he was not so sure of it. He says that he only lost $10 anyway. George Slater and J. D. McIver, are under arrest charged with robbing him, but up to a late hour today htere were no de-

A SENSATION.

A Pretty Creole Appears In the Police Court.

Police court had a new sensation this morning. She was a languorous, almond-eyed, creole soubrette. Almost bursting through a black brocaded gown of unmistakable Parisian origin, and modestly concealing gems of undoubted authenticity, she threw back a very tropical mantilla revealing a mass of raven hair. She pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in the peculiar soft, easy mode of speech of one born under sunnier skies. The court imposed a fine of $17, including costs, or gave her an alternative of staying in the county jail for ten days. She smiled pleasantly and informed the police that she thought a friend would pay her fine.

She told a strange story when arrested last evening. She claims that as an actress she was enticed from the joyous whirl of the first row by a brunette Duluthian, who promised to marry her. He promised her a fashionable career, but coming to Duluth from the sunny South she was unable to find the man that had rifled her affections and felt deeply humiliated. At first she thought she would breathe her sorrows into the shelly ear of some lawyer, who makes a specialty of beauty in distress—on a basis of practical philanthropy, but not being able to find such a lawyer she concluded to shroud her bizarre patronymic in shrinking fleshings once more. From this, too, she was discouraged. Then, with a soubrette's sangfroid, she decided to face her humiliation as best she could—wearing sackloth at three-seventy-five the yard. She pawned her Easter millinery and boozed brownly. One day, chaperoned by a blue ribboned terrier and a cabinet photograph of Carrie Nation, she took apartments in a flat down on Paradise alley.

There she met another brunette snare and delusion, who promised her many gems, and informed her that life in her absence would be a dream worse than any chronicled by the Society for Psychical Research. He wooed with the ardor of men from her tropical birthlace. She thought his declarations sincere and even went so far as to deck the baby grand piano with an azure scarf bearing the legend "Honi soit qui mal y pense?"

But one afternoon while he was calling she was thrown into great anguish by the discovery in his appendicitis pocket of a note signed "Bessie." She wept mostly and yesterday when she confronted him with his infidelity and reminded him of a certain promise, he laughed hoarsely, admitting he was not adverse to a certain blonde person named Bessie, and denied that he had ever promised her a wedding or that he ever contemplated one.

The police do not believe Miss Wells' story, and say that they found her in some very fast, brunette company wearing a costume that did not add much to the serious moral endeavor of the occasion.

North Bros.' company repeated the success of Monday at the Sixth Avenue theater last night, when another big crowd was in attendance. Virginia Goodwin and Baby Hazel in their respective parts and all the specialties hade decided hits. Tonight the company will play a pastoral comedy drama entitled "Paradise Regained." Critics from other cities where the company has played say the comedy in the play is of a high order, and well handled by the North Bros.' company.

Would Sell the Line.

In a suit filed in district court this morning it is proposed to sell a portion of the Great Northern system to satisfy a mechanic's lien. It is altogether probable that the road will not be sold, but the suit is rather interesting because of the novelty of the proposition. D. B. Lasher begins the suit, which is against Arthur Fitzgerald and the Eastern Railway company of Minnesota. Fitzgerald was a sub-contractor on the line from Stony Brook to Iron Mountain, and Lasher claims that he owes him $131.75 for work done for him. He wants the court to make his claim a lien on the line, and to order the property sold to satisfy it. White & McKeon are the attorneys.

RATE ON LUMBER

Practically Fixed at $2.50, Higher Than Was Expected.

Engineers' Strike Overshadows Interest in Navigation.

Tug Trust Now Complete, Having Bought Up Maythams.

One thing may be considered as settled in the lake freight situation, and that is that lumber rates will be $2.50 per 1000 feet instead of $2, which rate was considered likely to be the opening price for some time. Several charters are practically made at $2.50, and while none are closed, there is little question that the higher figure wil prevail. Last year freights on lumber opened at $3.

The raise from 12 to $2.50 can be partially attributed to the engineers' strike. It has been threatening delay in the opening of navigation, and the prospect of a shortened season has stiffened the demands of the vessel owners.

On other rates nothing is doing, and there will be nothing to figure upon until the strike element is removed from the situation. The only rate that has been discussed is 2 cents on grain, but until it is known when it will be possible to move cargoes little can be done in the way of charters.

A hope is being expressed generally that the negotiations down the lakes will put an end to the engineers' strike and let things go back on the ordinary basis. What this hope is based upon is not known, but there is such a hope prevalent, and it will be known within a day or two whether it is warranted or not.

It is a peculiar fact that never in the history of the lake marine has there been so little interest in the opening of navigation. Usually everybody is anxiously inquiring about the condition of the ice, the weather at various ports, and the outlook generally for the opening of navigation. This year the engineers' strike has overclouded everything of that sort, and the condition of the ice has aroused absolutely no interest except among the smaller lines that are not bothered by the strike, being fortunate enough not to belong to the Lake Carriers' association, against which the strike is directed.

Associated Press dispatches from Cleveland would indicate that the tug trust, otherwise known as the Great Lakes Towing company will be the whole thing on the lakes this season. It is said that a deal for the purchase of the Maytham tug property was practically closed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Great Lakes company last night. The details of the sale were not given out, but the dispatches state that the tug trust made a good bargain, and that the Maythams will take a large block of stock as part payment.

This will result in removing the opposition to the trust in all of the principal ports, leaving its tugs the only resource of vessels. It will make the trust a complete "trust" for the first time, as during all of last season there was opposition from the Maythams in most of the principal ports on the lakes. It will mean that there will be but one line in Duluth for the first time since Capt. W. H. Singer came in and started his opposition to Capt. B. B. Inman, who had been the only tug man in Duluth for many years.

It will be remembered that during the winter it was announced that the tug trust had passed up its dividends for a while in order to take care of the opposition line. At that time it was supposed that a tug war was intended, but it now appears that the plan was that of peaceful possession of the opposition through purchase. This probably means the end of the opposition, as it is not at all likely that any other tug men will be anxious to buck against the trust. It means that lines must be started in every principal port, because an opposition line in one port only would fail because it could not give service elsewhere as the trust can. There will probably be no more tug wars, therefore, and the old time races for tows will go into history along with the Mississippi pilot, the birch canoe and the Mackinaw.

THE BEST GOWNED.

The Finest Easter Frock In New York.

New York, April 10.—A jury of fashionable dressmakers that inspected the Easter parade in Fifth avenue Sunday found the best gowned woman in it was Miss Lily Oelrichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, of 35 Madison avenue.

Miss Oelrichs has some of the most beautiful frocks in New York. Her blonde beauty and pretty, slender figure are set off vastly well by her gowns, which she wears perfectly. But she has never looked a more stunning figure than she did Sunday.

Her Easter frock is thus described by a modiste:

Navy blue cloth, light weight, made with tight fitting Eton coat and simple flared skirt, with French flounces, finished at the joining with a red cord. The Eton coat is also finished with red cord and buttoned with large blue cloth buttons.

The coat is cut away from the shoulders and collarless; sleeves plain, edged with red cord. It is worn over a white chiffon bodice. The bodice is finished on the front with a large fluffy bow beneath the chin.

The hat worn with this costume is a large, flat-shaped, rough brown straw, turned up on each side, but with no bandeau beneath, this omission being noticed on the swellest hats.

The trimming consists of two beautiful tails of the sale were not given out, but the dispatches state that the tug trust made a good bargain, and that the Maythams will take a large block of stock as part payment.

The combination of dark blue and brown in the gown and hat sounds a bit puzzling, but the two colors, chosen in quite right shades, are extremely effective in combination. And that, by the way, voices one of this season's edicts—that dark blue, one of three colors to be most worn, will be combined with the other two, which are gray and brown, and, of course, always with black and white.

SELLS TWO.

Minnesota Iron Company Has Disposed of Two Mines.

The Minnesota Iron company has sold two mining properties, the Elba and the Corsica. This announcement will cause considerable surprise, for the big steel combine is supposed to be after all the mines it can get. The deal was made, however, before the company passed into the hands of the combine, although it has not yet been formally closed. Pickands, Mather & Co. are the purchasers. They are already operating the property. Michael McCarthy is in charge, although it is rumored that he is to go with Mr. Bacon to the Tennessee Coal and Iron company.

The Elba and Corsica mines adjoin each other on the west side of town 58, range 16, and across the line in range 17. The Elba is a fee mine of promise and of a splendid grade of Bessemer ore, and the Corsica is a lease from Pettit & Robinson, of Minneapolis, the royalty being 40 per cent of the net profits of the mine.

The Elba shipped last year 121,000 tons, that being the first year it had overcome water, and therefore the first year of sizable shipments. It is good for about 200,000 tons a year.

The Corsica is a new mine, in which development commenced last season, and will be able to make small shipments this year. It is expected to take all the water from the Elba, and the two should be operated in common. The grade of Corsica ore is much like that of the adjoining property. Pickands, Mather & Co. have undeveloped properties near by and will make an important mining center there in time. The Elba has been mining and stocking a large amount of ore the past winter, and has more than 50,000 tons on the surface. The Corsica has a small stock of ore taken out of the development.

CURLING CLUB MEETS.

Fine Condition Shown—Officers Are Elected.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Curling club was held last evening at the board of trade rooms. The secretary presented the report of the condition of club, and it was very satisfactory and beyond the expectations of the members of the club. It showed a balance of about $400 on hand after paying all obligations.

The following officers were elected: President, Paul Sharvy; vice president, C. A. Duncan; secretary, Alexander MacRae; treasurer, Donald Morrison; director, A. H. Smith.

It was decided to extend an invitation to the Northwestern Curling association to hold the bonspiel at Duluth next winter during the second week in January.

The Boer Lecture.

Another meeting in the interest of the lecture to be delivered by the Boer commissioners here next Wednesday evening was held last evening at the office of M. H. McMahon. A report was made that the Armory cannot be secured for that evening, and it was decided to get the Lyceum instead, if a change of date cannot be arranged for.

There was much interest among those present in the event. The attendance numbered considerably more than on the previous evening.

A PROTEST.

Some Citizens of Second Ward Want No Saloons.

Two hundred prominent residents and taxpayers of the Second ward have filed a petition with the city protesting against the granting or renewal of any more saloon licenses in what is termed the residence district of the ward.

The district named is as follows: From Third avenue to Seventh avenue to Third street to Seventh avenue east and from Third street to Sixth street. They do not allege that this is the only residence part of the ward, however.

At present there are four saloons within these limits and the petitioners say that they are anxious to have the residence portion of the Second ward as free from the contaminating influence of saloons and picture slot machines as Lakeside where the sale of intoxicants is prohibited.

Should the council's ordinance limiting the number of saloons in the city to 169, pass next Monday night there will be no new licenses granted, but the Second warders would have the aldermen take one more step. They would like to have passed against renewing the present licenses. Should the signatures of 200 property owners and taxpayers have sufficient weight the district would be rid of saloons in a very short time as most of the licenses expire within the next month or so.

It is now up to the council to consider this petition and its action will be watched with considerable interest.

IS AGAIN AT HOME

Ex-Senator Towne Returns After Four Months' Absence.

Comments on Defeat of Duluth Dike Reimbursement.

Senator Allison Claimed It Would Establish Precedent.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Towne arrived this morning from Michigan, where they have been for the past two weeks, visiting Mrs. Towne's parents at Lansing. Mr. Towne, who has been absent from the city for about four months, is in fine health, and says he is glad to get back home; that the delightful spring weather that he found here on his return was indeed a surprise. He is back to stay, with the exception of business trips that will probably take him away at intervals during the summer. About the 18th or 19th of this month he will attend the wedding of a friend in Kansas City, and on the 20th of the month will lecture in Columbia, Mo.

Ex-Senator Towne remained at Washington for some little time after his successor, Senator Clapp, was seated, in the hope that the appropriation reimbursing the city of Duluth for the money expended on the canal and old dyke might be pulled through, but it was defeated in the appropriations committee by Senator Allison, whose attitude was that it would open the flood gates to countless other claims of the same nature. Mr. Towne says that this was merely a subterfuge, however, for he could find no instance where there was a similar claim on record, or even if there was, it was no reason why Duluth should not be reimbursed the money spent on the dike.

Mr. Towne said: "I am sure that had I remained in the senate a little longer the appropriation could have been put through and the city would have received the money that is justly due her. I still believe that the reimbursement can be secured if the right effort is put forth in the senate. Before the commerce committee, on which were Senators Hanna, Depew and Frye, the chairman, all unfriendly to me, I set forth fully and conclusively the right of Duluth's claim and secured the majority report. I explained Duluth's importance as an inland port, second to none other in the country, its immense incoming and outgoing traffic, a small percentage of which remains here. I told Senator Hanna, who represented the important lake ports of the state of Ohio, that a large percentage of the business done at those ports came through the port of Duluth, and showed Senator Depew of New York how the importance of Buffalo was made possible by the business sent down from the head of the lake. After all this, I asked them if it were not just and reasonable that the enterprise of the citizens of Minnesota's center of lake commerce should be rewarded by paying back to them the money they spent in building up a harbor of which the lower lake ports have reaped the greater percentage of benefit.

"The trouble has been that there were no detailed records kept of much of the money spent on the harbor by the city, and according to reliable traditions of the best posted citizens here, the claim I made was not within $50,000, or even more, of the amount actually expended, but it was the only sum that we could really show to the government by actual record. The claim for the canal work was $50,000, and in all reason and justice the government could not help but accept such, for have not the canal and other improvements since been included within the government work. What the citizens of Duluth did was for the good of the public in general. The claim of $82,000 on the old dike is one that is even more of a moral obligation for the government to pay, for did not the citizens of Duluth contribute the money to build it under protest? They did not believe it necessary, but the government engineers, in response to the clamor of the people of Superior, decided that the dike must be built if the canal was put through I consider the fact that the government has since taken a hand in removing this same dike as of much significance toward establishing its responsibility in the matter.

"The city of Duluth should be reimbursed, and though I did my best after leaving the senate to have the measure go through, it will be readily understood that one has not the opportunity to make the fight or bring about the desired results in private life that he has when on the ground."

In regard to political matters, Mr. Towne says that there is really nothing new to say, that he does not care to discuss the governmental policy further regarding the Philippines, for the reason that the press misrepresented him to such a degree on other occasions that he has about made up his mind that the wiser course is to say the least.

Mr. Towne says the report that he had been engaged in the legal department of an Eastern liquid air concern was untrue, and probably arose from the fact that he did a little legal business on one occasion for one of the stockholders of the company.

SOUTHERN TIMBER.

John McCarthy of Stillwater Talks of It.

John C. McCarthy, of Stillwater, a well known timber cruiser, who makes his home at the head of the lakes a large part of the year, has just returned from a two months' cruising trip through the timber districts of Indian Territory, examining and estimating yellow pine and other woods. Mr. McCarthy says of his trip:

"Yes, there is a great deal of pine in the Indian Territory, particularly in the timber belt that runs through the lands of the Choctaw nation southward to Northwestern Texas. Through the northern portions of the territory there is plenty of hardwood. Splendid stretches of magnificent forests of oak are to be found with miles and miles were there is not a particle of underbrush, but the forest seems more like an immense orchard. Other hardwoods also abound. Yellow and white oak are to be found along nearly all the river bottoms in the southern portion, while farther back, and following the mountains up to the very summit are forests of yellow pine. The pine grows in the most uncongruous places, for here and there you will find them way up on the mountain top growing out between the crags, where there seems scarcely a foothold for the roots. The yellow pine down there is far inferior to the quality of the yellow pine of Minnesota. It is simply full of sap which on some of the trees that have been cut oozes out and overhangs for five or six inches. The yellow pine of the Indian Territory resembles very much the Norway pine of this state. Some of the lumber that I saw in buildings looked very good.

"The government does not permit any cutting there now, but is examining the pine districts. The great slaughter in the districts was done ten or fifteen years ago before the government took a hand in the matter and lumbermen slid in there with portable mills and cut and sold the timber to the railroad companies. It was a slaughter too, for in many instances they would cut down a magnificent tree and perhaps take just one log from it, leaving the rest to rot, which it does very quickly on account of the excessive amount of sap.

"The land in the Indian territory is simply grand, I believe it cannot be excelled anywhere else in the world for its fertility. The climate, during the winter months that I was down there was fine. It was moderate all the time. There would be a morning or two a week, perhaps, when there would be a frost and a thin coating of ice over the creeks.

"Every morning, when we got up, we could hear the wild turkeys gobbling in every direction. The first gobbler that we shot weighed twenty pounds. They are a magnificent game bird, and live on the acorns that they find in plenty.

"Next August the land of the Chickasaws will be opened by the government and there is going to be another such rush as took place into Oklahoma. There are 4000 claims to be opened and about 70,000 applications have been filed for them. There are no 'sooners' getting in on the territory to be opened either, for the government is keeping strict guard over it.

"While in the territory I met several men that are well known here. At Tahlana, I met and had dinner with F. B. Hill, who used to run a steamboat on Vermilion lake, and a man named McInnis, of Tower. They preceded me into the territory on cruising work, by about two weeks."

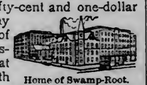
The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.



Home of Swamp-Root.

Is Finally Caught.

Late this afternoon Detective Irvine arrested Tom Reilly for whom the police have been looking since early this morning. Reilly is accused of having robbed his bed fellow, James Shields, while sleeping in the Central house, last night.

Shields aided the police in looking up the man and finally noticed him entering a saloon on the Bowery. He told Detective Irvine, who promptly took Reilly in custody.

Although the prisoner had considerable money on him when searched at headquarters he denied taking Shield's money, and was apparently much surprised to hear that his former friend had been robbed while in bed.

LOUBET IS SALUTED

By Italian and French Ships and the Land Batteries.

Legion of Honor Decorations Bestowed on Italian Officers.

Visits Exchanged By Duke of Genoa and President.

Toulon, April 10.—The land batteries and the Italian and French ships joined in the general salute to President Loubet as the St. Louis entered port, passing the Italian ships, whose sides were manned by their cheering crews while the bands played the "Marsellaise." The duke of Genoa and his staff, on the bridge of the Lepanto, exchanged salutes with M. Loubet and his ministers.

The president landed at 2 o'clock and drove in a landau through streets lined with troops to the Place D'Armes, where he bestowed decorations on a number of military men. Thence M. Loubet repaired to the prefecture.

Great crowds everywhere heartily welcomed the president. The duke of Genoa and his staff left the Lepanto at 3 o'clock, all of the forty warships in the roads firing salutes. On his arrival at the arsenal, the duke was received by the officials and conducted in a landau to the maritime prefecture, where he was received with military honors.

President Loubet has sent numerous decorations of the Legion of Honor to the Italian officers and he has also bestowed Legion of Honor decorations on three officers of the Spanish battleship Pelayo. The duke, who was in full uniform, was immediately presented to President Loubet. They cordially conversed for twenty minutes, after which the duke handed M. Loubet the collar of the Order of the Annunciata. The suites were then introduced to one another and the duke of Genoa left and returned to his flagship with the same ceremonial as observed on his arrival.

President Loubet next received the officers of the Spanish battleship Pelayo, and compliments were exchanged. The officers of the Japanese and Russian warships were afterwards introduced. Immense crowds assembled around the mediaeval prefecture and wildly cheered the representatives of each nation, especially the Russians.

President Loubet, later, returned the duke of Genoa's visit.

ON BOARD SHIP.

Believed Gold Bars Are On Vessel Still.

Paris, April 10.—Neither the Cherbourg nor the Paris police have found any trace of the missing gold bars, or of the thieves. They are confident that the bars were not landed in France and think they are still aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse and will be found concealed in the hold on her arrival at Bremen.

The only suspicious incident on board the steamer was a fight between two members of the crew on the evening of her arrival at Cherbourg, during which both men were stabbed with knives. A little later the robbery was discovered. These particulars have been telegraphed to Bremen.

LIVED AT LA CROSSE.

Thurber In Business There at One Time.

La Crosse, Wis., April 10.—George S. Thurber, whose death occurred at the county hospital in Chicago, was well known in this city, having been in business for a number of years and his wife being the daughter of a prominent business man here.

Of late years Mr. Thurber has been identified with the Weare Commission company of Chicago.

TO GIVE BALL.

Municipality of Iloilo To Entertain Commission.

Iloilo, Island of Panay, April 10, 5:50 p. m.—The United States Philippine commission, on board the Sumner, arrived here this afternoon. At a meeting of delegates from the villages of Iloilo province, held in the theater here, Judge Taft outlined the purposes of the commission. The municipality of Iloilo will give a ball and banquet tonight to the commissioners. All the provinces of Panay island will be organized under civil government.

PAPER SUSPENDS.

Dreyfusite Organ In Paris Announces Failure.

Paris, April 10.—Le Siecle, the leading Dreyfusite organ in France and the most persistent champion of Great Britain in the Transvaal, today announces its failure and sale at auction. M. Yves Guyot, the editor of Le Siecle and the writer of its principal articles, published a long review of the paper's career, in which he recalled the fact that Le Siecle first published the indictment against Dreyfus, which up to that time was a secret. He admits the policy of the paper failed to find sufficient readers to make it pay.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

Between Officials and Men of Jersey Central.

New York, April 10.—There is a strong probability that the conference between the employes and officials of the Central, abandoned at the time of the fruitless intervention of the railroad brotherhood chieftains, may be resumed, and it is believed that if the disputants get together in friendly spirit, the possibility of a strike will become very remote. Some of the more conservative element among the employes have declared openly they will not vote on the strike proposition until there has been another conference, and those who agree with them are moving for the appointment of a joint conference committee that will work with the grievance committee. If the movement is successful it will take shape within the next twenty-four hours. Speaking for the company, in answer to a direct question, Vice President Warren said: "Yes, we are most certainly prepared to meet our men if they care to confer with us. We have all along expressed a willingness to confer at any time. I have been informed that the men will name a conference committee, but am not in possession of any direct information on the subject. If they come forward they will find us ready to treat fairly and openly with them."

There has been some speculation as to a sympathetic strike that might come from a walkout on the Central, but it has not created an apprehensive feeling among the officials of the lines that would be affected. Outside railroad men doubt that the Central employes will go out.

Wisconsin Legislature Cares Naught For Discrimination.

Milwaukee, April 10.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Madison, Wis., says: The Hall railroad commission bill, a measure for the appointment of a commission to hear and investigate complaints of alleged discrimination in freight and passenger rates and other powers in connection with the control of railroads in the state was killed in the assembly today by a vote of 74 to 24.

HANGED HIMSELF.

Fourteen Year Old Boy Committed Suicide.

Chicago, April 10.—The body of Willie Grossman, a 14-year-old boy, was found by his mother today hanging from a bedpost in his room. Grossman's parents were extremely poor, and despondency over this fact, which prevented him from pursuing his studies in painting and drawing,, for which he had considerable natural ability, is supposed to have driven him to suicide.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED.

New York, April 10.—A meeting of Northern Pacific Railroad directors was held this afternoon, but after the meeting, it was announced that the only action taken was the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on preferred shares.

SPRING MEET.

London, April 10.—At the first day of the Warwick club's spring meet today, the Warwick welter handicap of 200 sovereigns, for 3-year-olds and upwards, distance 1 mile 3 furlongs, was won by L. Pilkington's bay gelding, Methellos, with Lester Reiff in the saddle.

Advice to "Lookers"

DON'T imagine you've done justice to the garments you're looking at, or, to yourself, when you've merely seen them in the hands of the salespeople, or spread out before you to admire!

You haven't by any means!

There's as great difference in clothes makers as between an artist and "a dauber," a skilled mechanic and a clumsy apprentice!

As you look at a garment laid down, or shown admiringly by the salesperson before you, you see the cloth, the lining, and some of the sewing, and of these you may or may not be a judge, but that is the smallest part of it!

How will it fit you? How will it wear? Will it hold its color? Will it hold its shape?

Our pride is gratified when we hear a woman say, as one did a day or two ago, "that's the best tailor-made suit I ever had on in my life!"

Sampson's Attorney Fails to Save Him From Prison.

Chicago, April 10.—Michael J. Sampson, formerly auditor of the water assessment bureau, who was brought back from Europe and convicted on a charge of forgery, and who was saved from imprisonment last week by a writ of habeas corpus, served at the doors of the Joliet prison, was taken to Joliet today in charge of a deputy and began serving his sentence. This probably ends one of the most remarkable fights for liberty ever made in Illinois courts by a convicted man. Every recourse of law, with the exception of an appeal to the highest tribunal of the land, has been exhausted by Sampson's attorneys.

WORK OF BRIGANDS.

Shanghai, April 10.—Brigands have destroyed three towns in Thibet. They also captured and tortured, according to French advices, a French priest, named Mussot. The viceroy of the province of Sze Chuen at the request of the French consul has sent a force to rescue Mussot.

TRAIN WRECKED.

San Francisco, April 10.—The northbound passenger train running over the New Coast division and known as the New Orleans express, was wrecked near Bradley today. No one was injured. Several cars were burned, including the mail car, two baggage cars, two standard sleepers and three tourist coaches.

DISCUSSING RATES.

Cleveland, April 10.—A largely attended meeting of the independent vessel owners of the lakes was held here today for the purpose of agreeing on ore-carrying rates. Nearly all of the principal independent owners were present. The matter was discussed at length.

The Northern Pacific company has just received from the shops four new coaches that are to be put on the Duluth Short Line service, between this city and the Twin Cities. Captain Gridley's Mother and Brother Restored by Peruna.

DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP OLYMPIA—CAPTAIN GRIDLEY, COMMANDER.

Mrs. Gridley, mother of Captain Gridley, who was in command of Dewey's flagship, at the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Manila, says of our remedy, Peruna:

"At the solicitation of a friend I used Peruna, and can truthfully say it is a grand tonic and is a women's friend, and should be used in every household. After using it for a short period I feel like a new person."

Mrs. Longstreet is the wife of the famous Confederate general, Lieut. Gen. James Longstreet, the only living ex-Confederate officer of that rank. She writes as follows to the Peruna Medicine company:

"I can recommend your excellent remedy, Peruna, as one of the best tonics, and for those who need a good, substantial remedy, I know of nothing better. Besides being a good tonic it is an effective cure for catarrh."—Mrs. James Longstreet.

Hon. Lucius E. Gridley, brother of Capt. Gridley, also speaks a good word for Peruna. In a letter written from 1511 T street, Washington, D. C., he says:

Hon. Lucius E. Gridley.

The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen—"Your Peruna has been thoroughly tested in my family. My mother and wife used it with the very best results, and I take pleasure in recommending it to all who want a good, substantial remedy, both as a tonic and a catarrh cure."—Lucius E. Gridley.

Miss Mary J. Kennedy, manager of the Armour & Co.'s exhibit, Trans-Mississippi exposition, Omaha, Neb., writes the following in regard to Peruna, from 842 West Sixty-second street, Chicago, Ill.:

"I found the continual change of diet incidental to eight years' traveling completely upset my digestive system. On consulting several physicians they decided I suffered with catarrh of the stomach.

"Their prescriptions did not seem to help me any, so, reading of the remarkable cures performed by the use of Peruna, I decided to try it and soon found myself well repaid.

"I have now used it for about three months and feel completely rejuvenated. I believe I am perfectly cured, and do not hesitate to give unstinted praise to your remedy, Peruna."

Mary J. Kennedy.

Every organ of the body is liable to catarrh. Symptoms of catarrh differ according to the part affected. If the catarrh is confined to the nose the symptoms will be sneezing and mucous discharges, or the formation of dry scabs, corresponding to the stage of the disease.

When in the pharynx it causes hawking, enlarged follicles and tonsils, and sometimes deafness. In the larynx it produces hoarseness, and often loss of voice. As soon as it reaches the trachea and brenchial tubes, cough, with abundant mucous expectoration, ensues.

Upon reaching the lungs catarrh speedily causes consumption, and all of the symptoms of that dread disease follow sooner or later. Catarrh also attacks the urinary tract, producing in the kidneys "Bright's disease." In the bladder chronic cystitis, and in the uretha small, frequent and painful micturitions. Peruna is a specific for catarrh wherever located and in all stages.

STREET PAVING

Race Between Superior Street and Nineteenth Avenue Sewer.

Only One Possible With the Money Now Available.

Contest Between Paving Material Men Getting Lively.

The Superior street paving proposition has reached the point where it is a mere toss up whether it will be paved this year, and if the toss decides in favor of the paving, it is another toss up as to the kind of material to be used.

As published in The Herald on Monday, the smaller improvements are making a heavy run on the permanent improvement revolving fund. If the petition for the Nineteenth avenue east sewer gets in ahead of Superior street paving petitions, the street paving proposition is likely to be hung up indefinitely. In case the Superior street petitions beat the sewer petition, the residents of Nineteenth avenue may have to do without the sewer for a while.

Owing to the energetic efforts of the paving material interests to secure petitions for Superior street, the council's resolution calling for a petition to amend the charter has not been pushed.

The backers of sheet asphalt, block asphalt, sandstone and vitrified brick are all claiming the lead in the matter of petitions. Incidentally each paving interest has been doing some very heavy "knocking" against the other materials. The burden of opposition seems to be against sheet asphalt, which would indicate that that material at present holds a slight lead in the matter of petitions.

The other materials say that asphalt is too slippery for Superior street, and that heavy loads coming up or down the steep avenues would cause horses to slip the moment they struck the paving. The asphalt people deny each and every allegation of this complaint, but say that if the property owners think that would be the case, it would be an easy matter to pave the avenue intersections with sandstone.

Then another objection that has been raised against asphalt in sheet form is that it would never look the same after having been torn up and patched. Owing to the fact that there is no conduit system under Superior street, the paving has to be taken up every time a water connection is made or a pipe breaks.

The asphalt people say that in paving the street the pipes could easily be so arranged that all connections would be made under the sidewalks.

Still another objection is that asphalt is dusty, and that it rots in the gutters where horses stand. This is answered by the asphalt people with a statement that it is not dusty if properly cleaned, and that vitrified gutters could be put in.

Block asphalt seems to raise less objection. Being in block form, it can be taken up easily when water connections are to be made, and then put down again. It is said to be 15 per cent asphaltum against 11 per cent for the sheet asphalt.

The other interests, however, say that the blocks would chip off and would be too slippery for use on Superior street. This is denied by those back of the block asphalt paving.

A majority of the city officers believe that sandstone taken from the Kettle river quarries is the ideal paving for Superior street. It is claimed that it wears as smooth as asphalt, does not chip, and holds moisture to such an extent that it does not become dusty.

Taking this argument up, the opponents of sandstone say that if it holds moisture to that extent it would be unsanitary. Another great objection which has been raised is that it would be almost impossible to get competitive bids for sandstone.

Vitrified brick was supposed to be a mere selling plater among the other paving materials, at one time, but it has been drawing up with the bunch recently and may land a winner.

The objection to this paving is to the effect that it is slippery and breaks off at the edges. The brick people say that they can point to miles and miles of streets paved with vitrified brick for years, in which there is not the slightest break.

Commissioner Herman Rules In Northern Pacific Case.

Commissioner Herman of the United States general land office has made a decision in a controversy over some lands claimed by the Northern Pacific railroad, and situated a short distance from Duluth, in which he rules that the railroad is not entitled to them. There is about 6000 acres in all. In 1864, when the Northern Pacific grant was made, the lands involved in this controversy had been granted to the Lake Superior and Mississippi railroad. They were lost to that road later on, but the commissioner holds that the fact that they were wrongfully withdrawn for that road did not make it possible for the Northern Pacific to take them because they were specifically excepted by law. The lands are in townships 52-12, 52-13, 51-14, 52-14, 51-15 and 52-15. The decision says:

"Under the ruling of the land department that the grant to the Northern Pacific Railway company terminated at Duluth, the listing of certain lands by the company east of the Duluth terminal was canceled.

"Subsequently it was decided by the United States supreme court that the grant to the company extended to Ashland, Wis., and the cancellation of the company's lists was rescinded. In a former case it was held by the department that lands on account of a prior grant at the date of the passage of the act of July 2, 1864, making the grant to the Northern Pacific company are excepted from the latter grant, and by a decision upon the question submitted as to whether the withdrawal for the old St. Paul & Duluth made May 26, 1864, should be held to extend to the limits of thirty miles, the department ruled that said withdrawal must be restricted to a belt of twenty miles, or ten miles each side of the general route, and that the withdrawal shall be given effect accordingly. Upon adjustment of the limits, terminal and lateral, of the grant for said road upon definite location, the lands beyond the terminal and not within the grant were, of course, released from withdrawal to the extent of the admisison of settlement and entries, and did not bring such withdrawn or reserved lands within the Northern Pacific grant of July 2, 1864.

"An adjustment of the 20-mile belt, or ten miles on each side of the general route withdrawal for the old St. Paul & Duluth, shows all land designated to have been within said withdrawal at the date of the grant for the Northern Pacific, and consequently were reserved and excepted from said grant; it, therefore, follows that the Northern Pacific is not entitled to the lands so listed, and for this reason the lands are held for cancellation, and all claims or entries are suspended until final determination."

Park Board Election.

The board of park commissioners met yesterday afternoon and re-elected Luther Mendenhall president for the next year. B. Silberstein was elected vice president and H. C. Heim, secretary.

It was learned at this meeting that the park fund would have a large enough cash balance to pay the $2500 installment for the West Duluth park site, without taking advantage of the ordinance passed by the council on Monday night, authorizing a certificate of indebtedness on the park board.

IS TO LEAVE.

Edward Ball to Join D. H. Bacon's Forces.

Edward Ball, general manager of the Minnesota mine at Tower, the Fayal, Genoa and Elba mines, and in charge of Vermilion explorations, is to take the position of general superintendent of the mines of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company on May 1. The place was offered him by Don H. Bacon, chairman of the board of directors of the company a few weeks ago. Mr. Ball notified President Greatsinger of the Minnesota Iron company and after a conference with him yesterday afternoon, the matter was arranged and it was agreed that Mr. Ball should leave on May 1.

The new position will require Mr. Ball to take up his residence in Birmingham, Ala. It is a fine advancement for him and means a much larger salary. Capt. Ball has been in Tower about seven or eight years, going there from the Marquette district.

Dr. Gunsaulus.

Next Monday evening Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, one of the noted divines of the West, will lecture at the First Methodist church in the Star lecture course. It will be the closing attraction in the course, filling the place of Maj. J. B. Pond, who is ill and unable to appear. The subject will be "The Latter Eloquence of Puritanism." The Chicago Beacon said of this gifted man:

"The charm of his oratory is not merely in the magnetism of his presence, the wonderful richness, yet transparency, of his style, and the freshness and beauty of his poetic figures, but lies more in the intense and lofty moral earnestness which makes it a genuine inspiration of the soul to hear him."

COMES FROM BRAIN.

Phosphates Found on the Skin and Thrown Out From Pores.

We know that active brain work throws out the phosphate of potash, for this product is found on the skin after excessive brain work, therefore, brain workers, in order to keep well, must have proper food containing phosphate of potash to quickly and surely rebuild the used-up tissue. That one can obtain such food has been proven in thousands of cases among users of Grape-Nuts Food.

This contains phosphate of potash in minute particles, just as it is furnished by nature in the grains.

This product makes from albumen the gray matter that builds the brain and fills the nerve centers.

In no way can this gray matter be made except by the action of phosphate of potash upon albumen, and this mineral should be introduced to the body just as it comes from nature's laboratory, and not from the drug store. The system is more or less fastidious about taking up the needed elements, and, as might be suspected, it will favor the products of Mother Nature rather than the products of the drug shop, however valuable the last may be for certain uses.

Lawyers, journalists, doctors, ministers, business men and others, who earn their living by the use of the brain, are using Grape-Nuts, Food. It is manufactured for a reason and was originated by an expert. The regenerative value of the food has been demonstrated beyond question.

MRS. RORER'S LECTURES.

Interesting and Instructive In Many Ways.

Mrs. S. T. Rorer's lectures at the First Methodist church parlors are in progress this week, and an interested company of ladies are there every afternoon. Last evening she lectured on the chafing dish, and made a number of savory dishes. Mrs. Rorer considers the chafing dish one of the most useful of all cooking utensils in the house. She remarked that every boy should be taught its use. When he goes to college the knowledge of how to use a chafing dish will make him a most popular young man with his associates, and will often save him many a bad spell of indigestion, for when his boarding house does not provide just what he likes to eat he can cook it himself. She is also strongly in favor of athletics for boys, declaring that it is rare to find an athletic young man who is immoral either in conduct or talk. More than that, they take the highest honors in college, for the athletic training keeps their minds in good condition. She said she could not declare too strongly in favor of athletic training for boys from early age.

Mrs. Rorer fills her talk while making her demonstrations with many observations upon food in general and household features. Some of her ideas are decidedly startling to some of the women and upset many of the old ideas. For instance, last evening, in remarking upon some feature, she said, "and there are some people who even keep a garbage pail." She does not. She utilizes every scrap of meat and bone for stock for soups, etc., uses up everything that is left over from one meal to another, and burns all of that from which every particle of nourishment has been abstracted. She declared that most garbage palls contain a great portion of the really nourishing part of food. This not only means that much that is valuable to the body is being lost, but the household expenses are greatly increased.

The lectures of Monday and Tuesday afternoons were given in part to treatises on the feeding of children and infants, but throughout them she treated of many subjects interesting to all housewives, whether mothers or not. She discussed the cooking of cereals, made a number of desserts, baked some bananas, etc.

This afternoon's subject is soups and the arrangement of meals. Tomorrow she will talk on vegetable cookery.

CAMP FIRE.

Culver Post Entertains at a Very Pleasant Affair.

J. B. Culver post, G. A. R., and the Womans' Relief corps gave a very large and enjoyable camp fire in the Masonic Temple last evening. Among the guests was Department Commander Harries of Caledonia, who made an eloquent and interesting address along the line of the beneficial effect on the nation of the organization, Grand Army of the Republic, and its influence for patriotism. There was present a large delegation of old soldiers and their ladies from West Superior, also a number from the Willis A. Gorman post, and other friends of the order. The program for the evening was comprised of many musical selections and reminiscences by the old soldiers. At its close refreshments were served by the ladies of the Relief corps, and an informal social session was had. The program was opened by singing "America," in which all present joined. Then followed several selections by the drum corps from Superior. Mrs. Francis Oppel and Mrs. Mary Oppel rendered a piano duet and Miss Seyler sang. Mrs. McAdams played a violin solo, Mrs. H. J. Sang contributed a vocal solo, and Master Charley Ashley performed on several musical instruments at the same time. The speakers of the evening were Capt. Bragg, W. M. Bates, Senior Vice Commander J. H. Agen of Wisconsin, Commander T. J. Cleveland of the Alonzo Palmer post, of West Superior; N. A. Burnhart, commander of Gorman post; A. Britton, of Superior, and Rev. B. Patrick.

WON THE TOSS

G. S. Giffin Gets Position of Alderman at Superior.

The aldermanic contest in the Sixth ward in the city of Superior, was settled at a special meeting of the council last evening, and George S. Giffin, the Democratic nominee, will represent the ward for the next two years. He succeeds former Alderman Stack, who has been in the council for several years and was the Republican candidate for the office this year. The election recently held resulted in a tie vote for Stack and Giffin, with one ballot counted for Stack, that Giffin asserted was defective. The city council, however, decided that the ballot was all right, and last night Mayor Parker flipped a coin, the choice falling to Giffin. The latter has already served one term as city comptroller, but was defeated for the same office last fall by Adolf Reedfors, the Republican nominee.

To Close the Office.

Through the request of the state board of health of Wisconsin, it is expected that the health commissioner of West Superior will today issue orders closing up the free employment office in that city for an indefinite period. The office will not be closed from lack of business, but the health authorities agree that for a time it will be better to provide no place where the woodsmen coming into the city may congregate.

Passage of the Torrens Bill.

It is with pleasure that The Herald notes the passage by the house of Senator Snyder's bill introducing the Torrens system of land transfers in this state. Having previously passed the senate, the bill will now become a law on receiving the governor's signature. The bill was amended in the senate to apply only to St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties, but the next legislature will probably extend it to the whole state. Steps are to be taken at once to have the courts pass on the constitutionality of the measure. Its friends believe that there is no doubt on this point, but they propose to get a final decision without delay. In order that every property owner who deserves to register his realty under this system may feel thoroughly satisfied with the security it affords. The provisions of the bill follow the Massachusetts law to a considerable extent, except that the district courts will finally pass on the titles. The system is optional, property owners being at liberty to register under it if they desire or to stick to the present cumbersome and obsolete system. It is but a question of time where every piece of property will be registered under it. The passage of the bill affords much satisfaction which, almost alone among the newspapers of the state, for years past has been explaining the merits of the Torrens system and urging its adoption here.

The Decline of Gen. Cassius M. Clay.

There is a pathetic side to the domestic disasters and mental failings of Gen. Cassius M. Clay that seems to have been entirely lost sight of in the humorous aspects of the late events in which he was the prominent actor. Gen. Clay in his younger days was a man of remarkable achievements and noble courage, and was prominently before the country for many years. He graduated from Yale college five years before Admiral Dewey was born. His parents were slave-holders in Kentucky, but from various reasons his sympathies were enlisted in the anti-slavery cause, and fifteen years before Fort Sumpter was fired on he began the publication of an abolitionist paper in Lexington, Ky. His abolition utterances were not at all mild and he was constantly in hot water. His office was mobbed and he was compelled to flee to Cincinnati, where, however, he continued the publication of his paper and managed to circulate it in Kentucky. This was in the year 1845. In the two succeeding years he distinguished himself as an officer of volunteers in the Mexican war. After his return home he continued in his abolition work, and was an ardent supporter of Fremont and Lincoln. The latter made him minister to Russia, where he served through two administrations, including the period of the civil war, and while the negotiations for the purchase of Alaska were in progress. During these years he attracted national attention and was prominently before the people. The personal safety of Gen. Clay was due largely to his prestige and prowess as a duellist. Throughout his long life he has shown an utter disregard for danger, such as distinguished his conduct last week with the sheriff, although in that case in a somewhat burlesque form. He is certainly to be pitied rather than held up to ridicule. His only fault is that he has lived beyond his time and beyond the retention of his mental powers. In his day there was never a smarter man.

A railroad track seems to be a favorite place for deaf men to walk on. Every few months report is made of a deaf man being run over by a locomotive. Unless he desires to commit suicide and have it appear as an accident, it would seem that a deaf man would select some other walking path.

BABCOCK IS A HERETIC.

Congressman Babcock is in a fair way to be denounced as a heretic and excommunicated by the Republican machine. His little heresy of last winter, which took the form of a bill to remove the tariff from the iron and steel products of the proposed great iron and steel trust, was regarded with little alarm, as it was thought to be only a temporary hallucination which would pass with the ordinary political pressure. Instead of better he is becoming worse, and on numerous occasion has declared his disbelief in the divine origin of the tariff theory and questions the immutability of the Dingley schedules. He further declares that if he lives he will introduce a bill to remove all tariff from trust-made goods in this benighted country. Should he carry out his announced purpose he will upset the whole structure of protection—an entirely new revenue bill will have to be framed.

Anticipating the action of Babcock, the ultra-Republican press is setting back fires, formulating learned arguments to prove that a removal of the tariff from trust-made goods will help the trusts by crushing out all competition. The Boston Journal, with the grave seriousness of an ape, announces that if the Babcock heresy should prevail it will mean ruin to the manufacturing interests of our beloved country, that the great trusts of France, England and Germany will rush their goods over here and sell them so much cheaper than our people can manufacture them that in a short time we will be destitute of a single manufacturing plant.

It is the same old story that has been howled from the stump for years. It would be funny if one did not feel a sense of disgust at such hog wash dealt out to the public as argument. In one breath the Republican press tells us of our increasing foreign trade, that we are able to compete in the markets of the world with foreign manufacturers, notwithstanding their tariffs, then in the next they tell us that our industries will be ruined should we allow those vicious competitors to come into our markets. There is nothing so refreshingly idiotic as the position of the Republican press on the question of foreign trade and protective tariff.

If The Herald understands the position of the Boston Journal correctly, the people are to be taxed to keep up the small manufacturer and incidentally to fatten the great trust, while it goes into the foreign market and undersells all competition. That is, we will pay millions per year to allow the foreigner to get our trust-made goods for one-half the price we are obliged to pay at home. Just where the people of the United States are to be benefited by such an arrangement none but a Republican cuckoo sheet can see.

Mr. Babcock has with him on the matter of tariff law reform about two-thirds of the rank and file of the Republican party and nine-tenths of the Democratic party. The legislation which he proposes is bound to come and the party which opposes it will have a serious time reckoning with the people. From the Democratic standpoint nothing can be more fortunate than to have the Republican party oppose the removal of the tariff from trust-made goods. That party will soon be in a position to pray to be delivered from its fool friends.

SHOULD CHURCHES ADVERTISE?

It is regarded as a serious breach of professional ethics for a lawyer or a doctor to advertise. He may hang out his sign with "John Smith, Attorney-at-law," or the more pretentious addition, "Lawyer;" the doctor may do the same with "M. D." after his name He may even go further and arrange to have himself called from a crowded church or theater by insistent patients, but he must not advertise in the public press. The lawyer may have his friends posted in a public gathering to call out his name with a demand for a speech; he can even try to bribe the reporters with 15-cent cigars to give prominence to his cases in court, commenting on his exceeding eloquence in addressing the jury, but he must not advertise in the press and pay for it in the regular way.

Perhaps this is right because it is the established custom, but why? Is not the public interested in knowing the peculiar abilities of this doctor and this lawyer from their own lips, as it were? A merchant tells in the press what can be bought at his store; how excellent are the goods and how low the price. Why not allow the same privilege to men who deal in skill and brains? The Herald leaves the question unanswered for the purpose of asking another. May churches advertise? Is it proper for the preacher, whose profession is soul-saving, to let the people know how they can be saved, and where it can be done with the least trouble? The Rev. Elmer E. Whittaker, of Ashtabula, Ohio, thinks that it is the proper thing. More than that, he thinks that it is an essential attribute of church success. He advertised his vocation according to the custom of the merchant or the manager of a theater—in display type, so that he who runs may read. The Herald is inclined to think that Rev. Whittaker is about half right—if not more.

The object of the work of the church is to influence people to think and do right, at least to think and do what the particular church holds to be right, which is the same thing. The first thing necessary to influence a man or woman is to induce him or her to come within the sphere of a particular influence. There was a time when all must attend church, but now there is no must about it. They attend church when they want to, and when they don't—well, they don't.

A congregation is what the preacher wants and needs. If no one comes to hear him his efforts, however eloquent and convincing, will be lost. Further, he needs a congregation composed of others than his particular flock—he comes to call not the righteous but the sinners to repentance In a word, he wants the crowd to come to church that he may talk to them. How can he accomplish this? He must go into the highways and byways and gather them in. He cannot do this personally. The task is too great. He must resort to the press. The press reaches everybody. With a well written advertisement, telling on what he will speak, and perhaps giving a synopsis of the sermon; telling who is to sing and what is to be sung, and adding any bit of information that is likely to tickle the curiosity of the non-churchgoer, he can attract many to his place of worship. Once there they are in his power. If he be witty he can please them; if he be brainy he can interest them, and if they be sinners he can save them. Every church does a little advertising—a sort of time-card, like the ones the railroads keep running—but this is not sufficient to accomplish the work desired. It would not be a bad plan for each church to put aside each year a certain sum for legitimate advertising. As a financial venture it would pay, and as to the ethics, there are precedents.

There is evidently a chance for reformers, missionaries or something of the kind at Ellis island. The inspectors of the immigration bureau are certainly in need of guardians. Their latest exploit was to detain a Philadelphia merchant who had lived in the Quaker City, because he had lost an arm. He was a saloon passenger on the Germanic and exhibited letters of credit for $10,000, yet the autocratic inspectors said they had no official proof that he might not become a public charge, having never renounced allegiance to Great Britain. A storm of protest was raised, but it had no effect on the inspectors who claimed they were literally following out the letter of the law which forbids the immigration of any crippled foreign subject. They went so far as to say that they thought seriously of detaining the duke of Newcastle the other day because he, likewise, is crippled. On second thoughts the best thing to do perhaps would be to send the fool killer down to the island.

Sir Robert Giffen figures out some rather rosy-looking results on the cost of the Boer war to Britain. The total cost, he estimates, will not be over $500,000,000—a premature estimate, by the way—but what is $500,000,000? It is only about 1-16th of one year's income of the British people. And of that total he calculates that one-half, or $250,000,000, will be charged up against the gold mines, which will be compelled to pay that sum during a series of years. Upon the whole, Britain, in the end, says Sir Robert, will be minus only $250,000,000. The enlarged army, to be maintained after the war, he thinks, ought not to count, since an increase was needed anyhow. Still another item the economist does not count is the loss of life. The last official report is that 15,000 British soldiers have died in this war. Perhaps he does not consider human life an asset to the nation?

The April number of the World's Work describes a telephone newspaper, that has been in existence several years in Budapest. It gathers the world's and local news the same as any other newspaper, and transmits it throughout the day to over 6000 subscribers by a special telephone service. It seems to be a success, but how many Americans would want to sit around home or in their offices listening to news all day, however good the service was? Especially when they can get all the news of the day in a first-class newspaper like The Herald every evening, and peruse it at their leisure.

The justification offered by the New York health authorities for arresting expectorators is that they spread disease throughout the city. Tuberculosis in particular is spread in this way. The respectable people who are getting arrested understand this as well as any one; all they need is to have the point emphasized in an emphatic manner. It is a nasty performance for any one to spit in public places or on sidewalks, and the sooner the lesson is learned the better. There is a law forbidding expectoration on Duluth's streets, but there is no serious attempt made to enforce it.

A surgeon at Jamestown, Mich., advertises legs amputated while you wait. He established a record the other day for rapid delegging that has no equal. He secured a patient by the name of Hartley with a fine case of gangrene, and from the time that a bell was tapped it was just thirty-eight seconds before the leg was off and in eleven minutes all the other surgery was finished and the stump dressed and bound up. Excuse us!

Some sixty American warships which have been doing duty near the Philippines are soon to return, reaching this country probably in time for the summer season. Officers of the Sampson type will see to it that the social functions of the navy are properly carried out at the various summer resorts at which they will visit.

Perhaps the board of public works is doing all it can at present to clean up Superior street, but there are many people who think differently and are urging The Herald to "punch up" the board on this subject. Let this hint be sufficient.

It is stated that the first name of the newly elected mayor of Cleveland is not Thomas, as would be naturally supposed, but the whole of it is just Tom. It is the surname of a Kentucky family after whom the boy Johnson was named.

The Chicago newspapers manifest surprise that $218 was found in the shoe of a man who applied to the central police station for a night's lodging. The man who stays in Chicago over night is liable to lose more than $218, if he has it.

"For the first time in the history of Havana the month of April begins without a single case of yellow fever in the city," says a significant Havana dispatch.

The Socialists made great gains in the Danish elections last week, showing that the socialistic tide is running higher and higher in Northern and Western Europe.

A Kansas City minister has advertised for the return of a silk, silver-handled umbrella. The reverend gentleman has given an exhibition of remarkable faith.

The regular army officers seemed to think no one was capable of performing the Funston act unless he had taken a tobasco sauce course at West Point.

Why does not Alderman Neff amend his ordinance by fixing the total number of saloon licenses to be granted in the city at 125? With that number in existence and care taken to issue licenses to only those who have not violated the law and are not the representatives of breweries, the license question would be in pretty good shape.

The czar of Russia maintains twenty-seven physicians for his own exclusive service. It is not surprising that he is seldom well.

A LENTEN CALL.

'Twas the second of March, in the present year,
And the morning after a revel,
When the World and the Flesh made a party call,
Accompanied by the Devil.

Their coats were creaseless, their "patents" shone,
And the Devil smiled most sweetly,
To think that a carefully built-up shoe,
Hid his cloven hoof completely.

They rang the bell at Society's door,
Sent their name in and stood waiting,
The usual warm reception there
Serenely anticipating.

But the white-capped maid returned and said,
In a voice demurely level,
That her mistress was not at home that day
To the World, the Flesh or the Devil.

The World and the Flesh grew pale—as well
They might do, with propriety—
For they'd be in a parious state, without
The countenance of Society.

And even the Devil looked half perplexed
Till he cried—"Ah! I see the reason!
It is one of Society's yearly fads,
And this is the Lenten season."

Then they all three laughed, both loud and long,
For it certainly did relieve them
To think that after some forty days
Society would receive them.

And that the unwonted quiet would give
New zest to each after-revel,
When society opened her doors again
To the World, the Flesh and the Devil.

A Spring Fantasy.

A joyous goat on a hook beer sign
(Sing merrily, for the spring is here!)
Pranced gleefully, for he felt so fine,
And he cried: "Sing, ho, for this life of mine!
But it seems to me it is time to dine"
This jocund goat on the sign of beer.

Then a hollow ache and a hungry pang—
(Sing joyously, for the spring has come!)
They hushed the song and the poor goat sang,
And he moaned: "Alas, that I thus should hang
With naught to eat on the whole shebang!"
This doleful goat with the visage grum.

Oh, the flippant goat had an appetite,
(Sing merrily, for the spring is here!)
It never yet had been sated quite;
'Twas one that was on both day and night,
And paper and paste were his delight,
This crafty goat on the bill of beer.

At last, when his hunger painful grew,
(Sing joyously, for the spring has come!)
He nibbled away at the bill so blue,
The pictured foam and the keg he'd chew,
Till he ate himself and the billboard, too,
The gay old goat was a vacuum.

This shows that a goat, wher'er he's placed
(Sing merrily, for the spring is here!)
Will never lose his peculiar taste
For paper, paint and pictures and paste—
And possibly gobbles himself in haste—
The book beer goat was his own bier.

Fun For the Farmer.

Boston Herald: A slender man bearing the modest name of Phillips has cornered the Chicago corn market and is sending the price up, despite the fact that four millionaire board of trade members are trying to prevent it. Corn is selling higher than it has for six years and some say it will reach 50 cents a bushel. Meanwhile, the farmers are laughing in their sleeves and enjoying the fight.

Coming to Her Rights.

Chicago Record-Herald: Mrs. Benjamin Steinhart, of New York, has just been victorious in a lawsuit over the color of her hair and the sparkle of her diamonds. The woman was not satisfied because some fancy photographs that she had taken recently made her hair look pink instead of Titian red and gave no hint of the excellence of her diamonds, which she modestly told the court "were very fine." This case, in connection with that in which a Cleveland woman secured judgment a few weeks ago because it had been alleged that her corset was tight, will serve to further emphasize the fact that woman is at last coming into her rights. The age of chivalry may be dead, but justice has her hammer out!

Setting a Fast Pace.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Tom L. Johnson, elected on Monday, was inaugurated as mayor of Cleveland yesterday. This is quick work. Mr. Johnson is just as speedy as the municipality, however, and has become a candidate for president already.

DAILY STORY.

FROM A PRISON WINDOW

BY JOHN VANDYKE.

(Copyrighted 1901, William R. Miller.)

I went from London to St. Petersburg in the interests of the Nihilists, but it was before they had resorted to assassination in hopes to further their aims. As men striving to bring about reforms by appealing to intelligence and justice they had my full sympathy and assistance, but when they turned to the knife, pistol and bomb I severed all connection with them. I knew what I was about when I landed in the Russian capital. I was to be a fixture there for a year, in order to get a national movement under way, and I realized all the dangers surrounding the position. Not only were the regular police active in searching out Nihilism, but the government spies covered the land and were making scores of arrests weekly. I could speak both German and Russian, and it was as a German-Russian that I opened a small hotel and was in instant contact with the police. I had to go to them to explain my plans, to get official permission and to secure my license. They visited me to inspect the place and its approaches, and to make sure that there were no hidden retreats. At least twice per day an officer called in to look my guests over, and there was hardly an hour in the day that a spy was not hanging around. It was my idea to bring the police about me as often as possible, and to let them exercise all possible surveillance, and then to carry on my work under their noses.

In the course of four months more than 200 Nihilists visited my place without suspicion being excited. In that time over 1000 letters passed through my hands, and I received and disbursed over $30,000. There were times when the police drank vodka with Nihilists, on whose heads there were large rewards and government spies who came in disguise rubbed against guests who were every day daring the terrors of Siberia. I played a bold game and a successful one, and it was the veriest trifle that broke me up. One day a guest who was not a Nihilist even in sympathy, sat down at one of the drinking tables, and after disposing of his glass, and his thoughts being far away, he began scrawling on the table with a pencil. He made crosses and circles and squares and figures, and within one of the circles he printed the letters B. B. B. When he rose up after a time and wandered away a government spy pounced upon the sheet of paper and carried it off in triumph. Within two hours my hotel was closed, I was under arrest with fourteen of my guests, and the police were boasting of having discovered a Nihilist key or password. It was not sufficient that the guest who had used his pencil identified himself as a loyal, industrious man, and that none of the others had any reason for fear. They were sent to prison pending an investigation, and of course I must go along. The only thing discovered after weeks of hustling around was that a well-known Nihilist had asked the way to my hotel of a pedestrian. Nothing whatever could be brought against my guests, but they were kept in prison for two months as a "warning." The government still searching for evidence against me, hoping to arrest some one who could be bribed or bulldozed into confessing or accusing, when a curious incident happened.

I was confined in a cell in the city prison. The small barred window was opposite a tumble-down old place which had been used as a machine shop. Windows and doors were gone, a part of the roof caved in, and the place had been abandoned for years. It was the only thing to be seen from my window, except that a pedestrian or a wagon passed in front of it now and then, and I used to stare across by the hour. One afternoon, as I was gazing in an abstract way, I saw a woman of the poorer class passing by. As she came opposite the old building she lifted her eyes for an instant to scrutinize it, and her step was more hurried as she continued her way. An hour later a boy about 12 years old came sauntering along, having a package under his arm. He seemed a careless lad, but I noted that he had an eye for the ruin. He stopped and picked up a brick-bat and flung it upwards through a window opening, and finally made his way in by the door. He acted just like any boy prowling about, but when he came out, ten minutes later, I missed the package from under his arm. Why had he left it? He whistled as he sauntered on but he had aroused my curiosity. I wondered if he would come again next day, and I was on the watch from early afternoon. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he reappeared. It was the same careless boy, with his same careless demeanor and again he entered the ruin and left a package. At about the same hour on the third day he went through the same program, and half an hour after his going away I caught a glimpse of some object moving past a hole in the bulging wall.

That evening when the goaler brought my supper and tarried a moment to get off a joke at my expense, an Austrian who had attempted the murder of a government official some weeks before and escaped arrest, had been tracked to St. Petersburg and a large reward offered for his capture. With a hearty laugh the goaler asked why I didn't turn out and find the fugitive and secure the reward, and I struck him almost dumb as I replied that I had already located the man. He tried to laugh again as he went away, but he was evidently puzzled over my words. He did just what I hoped he would do. He repeated them to others, and it wasn't an hour before I had a visit from the prefect of police. He repeated my statement to the goaler and asked what my words meant.

"They mean this," I replied, as I looked him full in the eye. "I have been arrested without cause. You can find no evidence against me. Set me at liberty and I will locate the Austrian for you."

"You are talking nonsense," he exclaimed. "He came here only a week ago, and how could you know his hiding place?"

"If I don't carry out my part of the bargain you can return me to prison," I replied.

He pondered over it for awhile and then went away, and two hours later he returned with an official of the civil government. I was then informed that it had been decided to exile me as a political suspect, but if I could locate the fugitive and would promise to leave Russian territory I would be set at liberty. I then told them of the old building and the woman and the boy, and half an hour later the police surrounded the ruin and found the man in hiding. They gave me my liberty with begrudging hand. My hotel was confiscated, I was escorted to the border without a dollar in my pocket, and when my escort left me he was courteous enough to remark that it would have given him far more pleasure to have accompanied me on the first stage of my journey towards Siberia.

FULL OF PRUNES.

Prices Reduced to Diminish Large Supply.

San Jose, Cal., April 10.—The directors of the Cured Fruit association have reduced the prices on all prune sizes to a 2-cent basis for a term of fifteen days. They have also decided to submit to the members of the association the question of the further life of the organization.

Fresno, Cal., April 10.—Owing to the fact that over 1000 carloads of last year's raisins are still on hand, with a possible market for only one-third of that amount before the new crop comes in, the directors of the Raisin Growers' association have resolved to cut the price temporarily to 3 cents a pound for seeding purposes, allowing the retailer to sell one-pound cartons for 10 cents.

INCORRECT.

President Ely Declined to Talk With Alleged Committee.

Buffalo, April 10.—President Ely of the International Traction company, when asked to confirm a published statement that a committee of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway employes had called on him yesterday, and presented a demand for 25 cents an hour, a nine hour day, recognition of the union, etc., and that Mr. Ely had received the committee most cordially and had promised to look into the requests made, said:

"It is incorrect. A Mr. Merritt called at my house and said he desired to speak to me. I asked him who he was. He said he came as a representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes. I told him that we had nothing to do with that association, that the association had nothing to do with us and that we would receive no communication from them, that was all," said Mr. Ely.

Mr. Merritt and the others named as a committee, in the article, do not work for the company.

GET STRONG

Vinol Makes Weak People Strong.

WE GUARANTEE IT WILL DO SO.

WE KNOW OF NO TONIC OR REBUILDER LIKE IT.

Vinol does create strength.

We know that and have proved it in many instances.

The reason Vinol rejuvenates and strengthens a person is that it acts directly upon the stomach, strengthening and toning up this great vital organ and enabling it to obtain for itself, from the food that is taken into it, the elements which are required to make firm healthy flesh and muscle tissue, sound bone structure and pure healthy blood.

Vinol does this in a scientific way and is enabled to do it because it contains, dissolved in a delicate mild wine, in a highly concentrated state, the active principles of cod-liver oil.

Vinol does not contain any of the grease that formerly characterized cod-liver oil, hence is free from all the objectionable features which made it impossible for patients to take or retain that vile-smelling remedy into their stomach.

Vinol in its favorable action upon the stomach and other organs of the body acts also in a beneficial way upon the nerves and brain, and will be found to be invaluable to brain workers as well as body workers.

The following letter is from a well-known authoress. It reads as follows:

"I wish to acknowledge the receipt of the Vinol and testify to its great benefits. Since taking it I am much improved in health, and during the intense heat of last August I should not have been able to continue in my literary work if it had not been for the strengthening properties of Vinol. Yours in gratitude."—ELLA STARR, 106 W. 82d St., N. Y. City.

We wish any one suffering from weakness, a demoralized condition of the nerves, or a susceptibility to wasting diseases, to call on us and hear what we have to say in regard to Vinol.

Try it on our recommendation, and if you find it does not do everything we claim for it, we will gladly refund to you the amount you have paid us.

CHINESE MARTYRS

Over Forty Thousand Native Converts Were Killed By Boxers.

Nearly Two Hundred Protestant Missionaries Were Slaughtered.

Boxer Rising Was Result of Cunningly Laid Plot.

New York, April 10.—The annual report of the American Bible society, relative to the situation in China, will contain the following interesting statements from its agent in China, the Rev. John R. Hykes, D. D.:

"There was a deep and cunningly laid plot, under imperial sanction, to extirpate Christianity, expel all foreigners and destroy all foreign interests. No one divined the full extent of the iniquity which was deliberately contemplated.

"In all 183 Protestant missionaries, including sixty men, seventy-five women and forty-eight children, have been massacred.

"With the exception of the massacres at Ku Choo in Ckeklang, in which eleven persons were killed, and at Heng Choo, in Hunan, all of the deaths occurred in the northern provinces.

"The question has been raised at home as to whether the Boxer uprising was anti-foreign or anti-missionary in its character. No doubt exists in the mind of any well-informed person in China. The movement was undoubtedly against foreigners, as such, and the crusade was directed against everything foreign—Christianity, of course, included. Hsu Chingg Cheng and Yuen Chang, two ministers of the foreign office, would not transmit the awful edict which reiterated the order to 'painfully extirpate all foreigners,' and then sent it flying over the wires to the remotest provinces. They were sentenced to be cut in two. Missionaries were the class that benefited by this act of heroism.

"In the provinces of Chi Li and Shansi every school, hospital, chapel and dwelling was looted and burned by the Boxers or imperial troops, the only exception being the property in the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin. So complete was the demolition of property by these mad fanatics, that not a vestige was left to mark the site, even the foundations were dug up and carried away. There was also destruction of mission property in the provinces of Shensi, Hotan, Hunan, Hupeh, Kiangsi, Che Kiang and Kwan Tung. The native Christians have been the worst sufferers. Those who escaped the general slaughter in the northern provinces lost absolutely everything and many of them are perishing from cold and starvation.

"The Scriptures destroyed will aggregate not less than 100,000 volumes, and the actual loss to the society will not be less than 8000 or 10,000 fold dollars, including the necessary expense of getting workers to places of safety and back again to their stations. All of our foreign superintendents were saved. We have to mourn the loss of many noble and devoted native workers. They were warned of the risk they were running, but not a man of the noble band of eighteen flinched. Their reply was: 'We go on a colportage tour. God's will be done.' Only four of the eighteen returned from that journey. The homes of these martyrs were looted and burned and their families exterminated. Those who survived escaped to the mountains, where they suffered terrible privations and managed to get back to Pekin after it was captured by the allied armies. Of the colporteurs under missionary supervision I have not heard of one who escaped. In some other parts of China colporteurs endured terrible persecution and some of them are only now venturing out of hiding.

"More than 40,000 native converts (including Roman Catholics) met death with a heroism worthy of the best age of the church.

"While the total number of volumes of the Scriptures published is 37,700 less than the previous year, the number of pages is slightly in excess. The number of pages printed in 1899 was 76,932,200. This year it was 77,646,700, or about 750,000 more. This is the largest number of pages ever printed in one year by the China agency, and will give some idea of the proportions to which the work had grown when, in common with all forms of Christian work, it was suddenly interrupted by the events of the past year.

"The number of mandarin Bibles manufactured is worthy of special notice. There were received from the printers no less than 16,500 complete Bibles, and 5000 copies were in press on Dec. 31. Then years ago an edition of 2000 copies was thought sufficient to meet the demand for several years. This fairly indicates the growth of the native church during this period, for it is from native Christians that the demand for these Bibles comes."

VARIETY THEATER CLOSED

And the Proprietor Will Enforce the Law.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crystal Bay theater, owned by A. Lessard, which has been running for some time as a variety show, was closed Monday night, just after the evening's performance had commenced, by Marshal Burns, upon order of the president of the village council. It is said that Mr. Lessard has threatened to "get even" by instituting proceedings whereby every saloon in the town will be compelled to strictly observe the law as to closing promptly at 11 p. m., and that he will also make life a burden for any of the gambling fraternity who may attempt to make Cass Lake their stamping ground, and the end is not yet.

A lodge of Rebekahs will be instituted here on April 17 by Mrs. Melville, of St. Paul, president of the state assembly. Already forty of the prominent ladies of the town have signed the roll of membership, and it is expected that by the time the lodge is instituted Mrs. Melville will have a class of at least fifty candidates to initiate into the mysteries of the order.

PRICE OF ORE.

The Bessemer Association Makes Reduction In Rates For This Year.

Cleveland, April 10.—The Plaindealer says: If the policy established by the United States Steel corporation in the fixing of the price of ore is carried out in all other branches of the trade, the independent mine owners, furnacemen and mill owners will have nothing to fear from the big corporation.

At the meeting of the Bessemer Ore association held here Monday the price for all standard Bessemer ores was fixed. The base price agreed upon is $4.25 a ton for ores that run 63 per cent iron, .045 phosphorus and 10 moisture, delivered at Lake Erie ports. The relative price of all ores is figured on that price, which is a reduction of $1.25 a ton compared with the base price for 1900.

The cut is much greater than was predicted. The United States Steel corporation, which controls the largest part of the Bessemer properties, did not vote on the price question, leaving the matter with the independent or merchant miners to settle, agreeing to abide by the price fixed. The officials of the big corporation were, of course, consulted. They were the most conservative of all the parties interested and were in a large measure responsible for the low price agreed on.

Sales of non-Bessemer ore have been made during the past week at $3 a ton, which is a cut of $1 compared with last year.

The independent mine owners are well pleased with the action of the United States Steel corporation in the fixing of prices. Official notices of the action of the Bessemer Ore association were sent out yesterday and the prices will go into effect Thursday. A conference was held by independent furnace operators in Pittsburg regarding the proposed combine of all these plants under the ownership of one company, to be capitalized at $12,000,000. The conference lasted most of the afternoon, and while definite information was not given out, the result, it was said, was that the proposed combine would undoubtedly go through in a short time. Satisfactory progress has been made in the venture, and nearly all the plants wanted for the new company have been optioned by the promoters.

Regarding the alleged opposition of the United States Steel corporation to this movement, it was said that the rumors were not based on any facts.

THE DAKOTAS.

Several Injured at Lisbon From Explosion of Chemicals.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Lisbon—An explosion of flash light chemicals behind the scenes of the Lisbon Opera house Monday evening severely injured Rev. Father J. B. McDonald, who had his arm fractured and two others, Mills E. Moore, city auditor, was struck by pieces of the shattered metallic cyinder, and Roy Severance, son of the county surveyor, was severely shocked and his hearing so badly injured he could not perform. The comedy, "Turn of the Tide," was to have been presented by local people under the auspices of the Catholic church, but no performance took place.

Valley City—Watson Lingfield, of Dazey, had his back broken Tuesday and it is claimed recovery is impossible. He was at work trying to raise a small shanty, when the building fell on him. He lay helpless several hours before help came.

Fargo—The executive committee of the state prohibition organization is in session here to discuss plans for the coming two years. The meeting was called by Acting Chairman Sizer. It is said that many of the leading members of the organization favor the withdrawal from politics as a party and confining their efforts to the creation of favorable public sentiment.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

The intense interest which has characterized the debate between the state universities of Iowa and South Dakota before it occurred, was maintained to the last moment, reaching its highest pitch at 10:30 last night, when the judges, by a vote of 2 to 1, voted that Iowa, with the negative side of the question: "Resolved, that the Porto Rican tariff laws are in accordance with the principles of American government," had won the debate.

Bryant—The elopers, Frank Leisure, aged 16, and Gertie Clark, 14 years old, were arrested at Elkton, S. D., and brought to Castlewood, the county seat. The boy was tried on a charge of abduction, and was bound over to the next term of circuit court in the sum of $200, which was furnished by M. J. Leisure, his stepfather, and A. O. Arneson.

Deadwood—The spring session of the teachers of Lawrence county closed this week. The new superintendent of schools made a change in the method of instruction, which gave excellent satisfaction. Instead of having the teachers learn lessons and recite, lectures were given. It is claimed that more work was accomplished in this way than by the old method.

The 8-year-old daughter of Martin Jilbert has been taken from St. Joseph's hospital in this city and sent home to the Spearfish valley. About two months ago her little brother accidentally shot her in the head with a 22-caliber rifle, the bullet entering the brain. A remarkably delicate operation was performed. The bullet was removed and the girl is now about fully recovered.

Spearfish—Cattlemen in the Hills predict a decline in the price of Southern cattle. Several big deals have been made in this part of the range, at a price not much higher than last spring. J. W. Driskill, one of the leading cattlemen, purchased last week 6000 yearling steers in Texas, which are to be sent to his new Wyoming range. The Pemberton & Cowden Cattle company also purchased 4000 head of 2-year-old steers at about $22 per head. These will be sent north about the first of May.

Lead—Miss Alice Jewell, who has charge of the work of the Children's home at Sioux Falls in the Black Hills, will take the two sons of Jacob Zurich to that institution where good homes will be found for them in the eastern part of the state. These boys have been arrested frequently, their last offense being the stealing of a horse.

Montrose—The people of Montrose and vicinity have as yet been unable to discover the identity of a woman who created a sensation a few days ago by leaving a basket containing a baby at the home of a farmer, claiming it was the child of a son of the farmer.

GETS SIX YEARS.

London, April 10.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg announces that Lagowski, the provincial official who recently attempted to assassinate Privy Councillor Pobledonostzeff, procurator general of the holy synod, has been sentenced to six years' penal servitude, with deprivation of civil rights.

IN MICHIGAN.

Returning of Volunteers Warmly Welcomed at the "Soo."

Sault Ste. Marie—The entire city turned out Tuesday morning and gave the returning Philippine volunteers of the Thirtieth regiment a rousing welcome home. It was the biggest reception ever accorded any one in the Soo. The stores were closed for two hours and the city was in holiday attire. Capt. G. G. Scranton and seven others were in the contingent. The parade from the station was a large one, and in it were several Canadian volunteers who returned from South Africa, and numbers of the Canadian Soo home guards, together with soldiers from Fort Brady and the local company of the Michigan National Guard.

Ishpeming—The Chicago & Northwestern is planning to lay new rails from Cascade to Ishpeming. Rails for this purpose were scattered along the route last fall and as soon as the weather becomes settled the work of laying them will be started. These rails are much heavier than those now in use and are calculated to last many years. The company relays some track every year on each of its divisions and thus the road is kept in first class condition.

Marquette—The Lake Shore engine works will receive the 34-foot life boat in which it is to install one of its motors about the middle of next week. As soon as the engine is installed and in working order the boat will be reshipped to one of the government's life saving stations.

Menominee—A strike of the tug men of the boom company is at hand, as the company has refused to pay the new scale of wages adopted by the Tug Men's union.

CHINESE TO REFORM

New Scheme That Includes Education of Princes Abroad.

Organization of the Army After Modern Methods.

Indemnity Negotiations Are Now Progressing Satisfactorily.

New York, April 10.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Reports of an outbreak of fresh rebellion in China are not confirmed, and are attributed to Earl Li's disconsolate reflection that everything will go wrong since his advice has not been heeded. The more trustworthy dispatches indicate a steady progress at Pekin in the direction of a settlement by which the court can speedily return to the capital. Count Von Waldersee is keeping the commanders of the allied forces together, and an agreement on all essential points is already assured.

There seems to be some hope that the Chinese empire is taking to heart the lesson it has been so roughly taught, if one may judge from the list of reforms proposed by provincial viceroys and governors. The scheme includes the education abroad of princes and future high officials, as well as the organization of the army on Western models, and other innovations tending in direction of greater security and administrative efficiency. The indemnity negotiations are progressing satisfactory, and a clear understanding is reported to have been arrived at between England and Germany.

DR. YOUMANS DEAD.

Editor of Popular Science Monthly For Years.

New York, April 10.—Dr. William J. Youmans died today at his home in Mount Vernon, N. Y., a suburb of this city, from typhoid fever, after an illness lasting ten days.

When difficulties a year ago came upon the house of Appleton and the Scientific Monthly was transferred, Dr. Youmans severed his connection with it and retired permanently from active life. He established the Popular Science Monthly in 1872, and had been its sole editor since the death of his brother, with whom he was associated in its management. Dr. Youmans, though 62 years of age, was up to the time of his last illness, given much to outdoor exercise and to athletics. His impulses and his tastes bent him much to association with young people among whom he was respected and loved because of his rugged integrity, his brilliant attainments and his simple tastes.

FIRE ON TRANSPORT.

New York, April 10.—Fire was discovered in the second hold of the transport Rawlings early this morning. A quantity of hay was stored in the hold and the firemen endeavored to confine the flames to the one part of the vessel. The Rawlings was at the government pier, Brooklyn, and was to have sailed for Cuba this afternoon.

COCK FIGHTS

Will Be Once More a Popular Pastime at Manilla.

Manilla, April 10.—Lieut. Mapes, of the Twenty-third Infantry, has captured $40,000 of insurgent funds and has taken prisoner three officers belonging to Gen. Caille's staff near Manilla.

Under the old regulations, cock-pits will be re-established in Manilla, the privilege of conducting them being granted to the widow of Capt. Lara, who commanded the native police of the city. Formerly the municipal revenue derived from cock-fighting amounted to $60,000 annually.

It is stated that before Aguinaldo is liberated he will be required to obtain the surrender of Gen. Tino, the insurgent leader.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure-all, Nor a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure For Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no further than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

They are manufactured by the F. A. Stuart company, of Marshall, Mich.

Any druggist will tell you it gives universal satisfaction.

WATERING OF STOCK

Text of Decision By Justice Dixon of New Jersey.

Property Purchased Must Be Worth the Price Paid.

Action of Directors Held to Be Subject to Review.

New York, April 10.—The important decision bearing on the practice of watering stocks, that was handed down on Monday at Trenton, N. J., by Justice Dixon of the court of errors and appeals as previously announced in these dispatches, is being discussed with much interest by corporation lawyers. The importance of the opinion rendered by Justice Dixon lies in the construction placed by the court on the forty-eighth and forty-ninth sections of the general corporations act. Vice Chancellor Stevens held the court could not go beyond the decision of the board of directors as to the value of property to be purchased by the issuing of stock. The court of errors, on the contrary, holds that it must be clearly shown that the value of such property is at least reasonably near the price to be paid and that the action of the directors is subject to review at the instance of any stockholder who considers himself aggrieved.

The syllabus of Justice Dixon follows:

"Under section 40 of our corporation act, when an original issue of corporate stock for property to be purchased is contemplated, it is the duty of the directors to see that the real value of the property is at least equal to the face value of the stock.

"Before an original issue of corporate stock for property to be purchased takes place the bona fide judgment of the directors as to the value of the property, while it is entitled to considerable weight, is not conclusive, but may be reviewed at the instance of existing stockholders, and if, on such review by a court of equity, the value of the property appears to be less than the face value of the stock, the issue should be restrained.

"After stock has been issued as fully-paid stock for property, purchased, the judgment of the directors as to the value of the property becomes conclusive, in the absence of actual fraud in the transaction and such stock is not liable to any further call.

"An increase of corporate stock, voted for by the bodard of directors and by the requisite majority of the stockholders, in order to issue such stock for property worth less than the face value of the stock, should be restrained at the instance of dissenting stockholders."

In considering the righ of the court to review the action of the directors, Justice Dixon says, the language of section 48 of the corporation act, is not questionable as to the fact that the money paid in must equal the face value of the stock issued. The language of section 49 is even more explicit, providing that the corporation may issue stock to the amount of the value of the property.

The distinction between the contemplated issue of corporate stock for property and the issue for money, Justice Dixon finds, lies not in the rule for valuation, but in the fact that different estimates may be formed of the value of property. When such differences are brought before a judicial tribunal, Justice Dixon says, the judgment of those upon whom the duty of determining the value is placed must be accorded considerable weight, but it is not final.

"Nor is it necessary," the opinion says, "that conscious overvaluation or any other form of fraudulent conduct on the part of these primary valuers should be shown to justify judicial interposition. Their hones; judgment, if reached without examination into the elements of value or if based in part upon an estimate of matters which are really not property, or if plainly wrapped by self-interests, may lead to violation of the statutory rule as surely as would corrupt motive. The original issue of corporate stock is a special function, in the exercise of which the legislature has fixed the standard to be observed, and it is the duty of the courts, so far as their jurisdiction extends, to see that this standard is not violated either intentionally or unintentionally."

Justice Dixon points out that under section 40 when corporate stock has once been issued for property purchased the legislature has directed the application of another rule. Under such conditions nothing but actual fraud in the transactions can impair the right of the stockholder to hold his stock as full-paid stock, free from further call.

Applying the rule as above laid down Justice Dixon discusses the actual value of the property, the purchase of which was contemplated by the issue of $45,000,-00 of stock. He finds it admitted that the value of the Guggenheim plant as physical possessions did not exceed $10,-000,000 and with the cash to have been turned over would have left about $23,000,-00 to be made up in the value of the good will of the business and the leases and contracts, the nature of which was not at any time disclosed in the proceedings.

While the defendants claimed the complainants had not borne the burden of proof cast upon them, Justice Dixon holds that under the circumstances this rule would not be rigorously enforced at this stage. The proofs, Judge Dixon says, point strongly to the conclusion that in the negotiations between the parties the real value of the property to be acquired had not been the basis upon which they determined the amount of stock to be issued therefor.

The fact that the expected consummation of the deal caused the market value of the stock to rise and which was used as an argument that the proposed purchase would not be advantageous to the stockholders, Justice Dixon finds to be without weight. He says that if the intrinsic value of the stock was only 80 per cent in money for additional stock to be issued such an offer would clearly be advantageous to the company and its stockholders, but it could not legally be accepted, because the legislature has required that 100 per cent, whether in cash or property, shall be received for corporate stock.

The court finds that the mere fact that two-thirds of the directors and stockholders voted for the purchase cannot prevent its review, pointing out that this would not justify an issue of stock for an illegitimate enterprise. In accordance with these views, the court orders that the stay be continued, enjoining the purchase, and that proceedings to increase the stock should likewise remain in statu quo pending final argument and a decision by the court of chancery as to the real value of the Guggenheim property.

TAX ON MINES.

it may get its due share of the wealth within its borders, it ought to tax the mines at a higher rate than other classes of property.

Such logic cannot be questioned, and really there is no reason why it should not be followed by the state. But at present all that is asked is that the mines pay the same proportion as other classes of property, and in order that that may come about it is necessary that the valuations be increased to at least $75,000,000 instead of the paltry $10,000,000 that the boards of equalization have been kind enough to make.

One county officer that The Herald talked with yesterday was somewhat interviewed on the matter. He said that because the city of Duluth had a large bonded debt, and therefore had to have a high valuation, up to 50 per cent of the actual value of the property, that was no reason why the iron properties should be compelled to pay at the same rate.

"Why," said he, "there are many acres of the best land in the state of Minnesota, fine farming land that is worth $50 an acre, that is only assessed at from $2 to $8 per acre."

Of course the county officer is a long ways removed from the facts in all of these statements. In the first place, $50 an acre is a very high price for farming lands, and many beautiful farms in the southern part of the state are held at little more than $25 per acre. There are farms held at $50 per acre, but they are few, and they are not likely to be purchased at that rate. In fact, the owners give them that value without any idea of selling.

As to the assessments on these lands, the county officer is equally misinformed. There are no farming lands in this state that are worth mentioning that are assessed so low. A glance at the report of the state auditor for 1899-1900 shows conclusively that farming lands throughout the state are assessed for about half their actual value, just as property in the city of Duluth is assessed, and as it is proposed to assess the iron properties of the state. The southern portion of this state is a garden spot. Its acres are covered with broad farms that yield as largely as any farms on earth. It is the best farming section in the state, and that is saying much. Of course not all the land in each county is good. Probably every county has much bad land, cut up with lakes and rivers and hills. Yet in a few of these counties the average value of land per acre, exclusive of structures and improvements, is as follows:

Wright	$9 55
Dakota	11 90
Dodge	11 88
Fillmore	10 19
Goodhue	9 62
McLeod	10 65
Mower	11 00
Olmsted	11 41
Rice	10 78

This is only the average and it includes lands both good and bad. The valuations of such lands as the county officer referred to would clearly be much higher than that, probably from $15 to $20 per acre, which is at least 50 per cent of its actual value.

Again the conditions do not warrant comparisons of iron lands and farming lands, for here again comes in the favorite argument of the iron-carrying railroads, why they should be permitted to impose extortionate freight rates. Every year that these farming lands are cultivated, and every dollar's worth of produce that they yield, is an addition to the wealth of the state They are here, they will be here tomorrow, and they will be worth more tomorrow than they are today.

On the other hand, every year the mines are worked, and every dollar's worth of ore that is taken from them, means so much less wealth in the state. They are here today; tomorrow they will be gone, and they will be no more subject to taxation. Fifty years from today the farm will still be paying taxes and contributing to the wealth of the state. Fifty years from today the mine will be a gaping hole in a wilderness, grown up to a second crop of small timber and worthless to the state. So say the iron companies, anyway. At least the iron ore will be gone, and it will be paying no taxes.

Not only is it not true that the mines should be taxed at a lower rate than other property, as the county officer implied, but it seems to be true, on the other hand, that they ought to be taxed at a higher rate.

But that is not asked. It may be later, but it is not now. If some interested taxpayer will only make complaint, if the governor will appoint a fair commissioner to make a fair investigation and present a fair report, and if it results in putting the iron mines on the same basis as other property, everybody will be content.

But it should not be a cent less than $75,000,000, and it should not be put off a day longer than necessary.

NEEDS OF PORTO RICO

Seen By Representatives of American Missionary Society.

General Hospital With Modern Appliances Is Necessary.

The Report as Presented By the Rev. E. S. Tead.

Boston, April 10.—Following is an abstract of the report of Rev. E. S. Tead, of Somerville, Mass., who, with Rev. A. F. Beard, of New York, went to Porto Rico as representatives of the American Missionary association about six weeks ago.

In some of the towns where the greatest poverty exists Spaniards live who are worth all the way from $100,000 to $1,000,000, but they are not touched by this condition of the poor nor are efforts made to alleviate the distress. Beggary is common and in some stores little baskets of coppers on the shelf hold the amount which the merchant intends to dispense that day. All sorts of bodily deformities and disease are displayed by these beggars, such as blindness, twisted feet, dropsy, sores, bruised legs, paralysis, women carried in carts or hobbling along on their haunches, or men seated by the wayside holding up a maimed limb and begging for a pittance.

The need of the island is a general hospital equipped with modern appliances. A hospital could be built and equipped at comparatively small expense. Miss Dr. Atkins, connected with the Presbyterian mission of San Juan, has twenty-five to forty calls a day from patients who need hospital treatment, many of whose lives are lost because of the lack of it.

The education of the people is receiving the careful consideration of the authorities. Dr. Brumbagh, the commissioner of education, is working night and day on this pressing problem. At present 40,000 children are in the public schools, but 300,000 remain as yet unprovided for. Theer are 800 teachers, about 90 of whom are from the United States. Both Spanish and English are taught, and the children are quick and eager to learn. There is no high, normal, industrial school or college in the island, though Majardo has raised $30,000 for a normal school. Sixteen school inspectors are in the saddle visiting the different sections of the island, and their services are much needed to keep the native teachers to their tasks, which sometimes they are disposed to shirk.

Religion is not allowed a place on the curriculum. There is a widespread desire to learn English, and at Lares the clerks in the stores meet Professor Scott in the night school that he has opened to study the language.

The Presbyterian mission, under the wise generaiship of Rev. Dr. John M. Green; the Methodist mission, led by Rev. Dr. Drees; the Baptist and Episcopal missions, conducted respectively by Rev. Drs. McCormick and Van Huren, are doing excellent service in education and evangelistic lines. Their Sunday and week day services are crowded with curious and interested listeners.

The Congregationalists, through the American Missionary association, have two excellent schools at San Turce and Lares, and are doing as thorough work in education as is done by any schools in the island. There is a distinct and emphatic call for a large central boarding school of the higher grade, with normal and industrial departments

The outlook for industrial, educational and religious education is encouraging. During the past two years great advances have been made. The people, in spite of the present disturbances, are expectant of changes for the better. The hope of that fair land is in the children. By their ready assimilation of American ideas will constitute the ground work of a new civil and moral order. That such regeneration is to come is the confident expectation of those who know Porto Rico best.

GETS A FORTUNE.

Newspaper Man Inherits Quarter of a Million.

New York, April 10.—John McGlynn, one of the pioneer builders of this city, who died last week, left an estate of over $500,000. He left two sons, one of whom, the elder, had been banished from the family home for over ten years. When the will was read it was found, greatly to the surprise of the other son, that the father had not disinherited the banished son, as was expected, but had given him just the same share of the estate as he had the one who had always abided with him.

The property was divided into five parts, two of which were bequeathed to the elder son, two-fifths to the other son and one-fifth of the faithful housekeper, who had been with the testator for many years.

The eldest son is Harry McGlynn, one of the best known newspaper men in this city. He was once city editor of the Chicago Daily News, was also on the Boston Herald and held high positions on the New York Star, the New York Herald and other papers, but has been in hard luck for some years. His fortune will now, it is thought, exceed $250,000.

As soon as he learned the tenor of the will Harry McGlynn took possession of the family mansion and told the other brother that he had lived there while he, Harry, had no place to sleep, and now he would not be allowed to enter. Harry was graduated with high honors at St. Francis Xavier college and was after his graduation appointed tutor in that institution.

DULUTH PROOF!

SECOND STREET WEST.

F. J. Carr, of 621 Second street west, employed as checker at the Northern Pacific railroad freight sheds, says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone troubled with pains through the loins or in the kidneys. I was bothered on and off for two years, especially if I caught cold or strained myself, with dull, aching pains through the small of my back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles, I went to W. A. Abbett's Drug store, procured a box and began their use. I felt better after a few doses, in a short time the trouble disappeared entirely, and I have had no return of it since."

THIRD STREET WEST.

Homer B. Thompson, of 2217 Third street west, employed as filer at the Scott & Holston Lumber company's mills, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family for years, sending to the Eastern states for them, as they were not at first on sale here. They never failed to give prompt relief whenever the kidneys became inactive or backache threatened. Both myself and Mrs. Thompson had been for years subject to kidney complaint, and nothing we were able to get was successful to remove the trouble. I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, and never fail to advise others suffering from their kidneys to go to W. A. Abbett's Drug store and get a box. They have invariably given satisfaction in every case where we have recommended their use."

NINETEENTH AVENUE.

Mrs. Agnes McKay, of 125 Nineteenth avenue, says: "For some years I suffered from kidney complaint, and although I tried different remedies I did not succeed in getting anything to effectually rid me of the trouble. I had constant heart bearing-down pains across the small of my back, so that I could hardly get around, and at night I could not rest well. The kidney secretions were irregular, highly colored, and deposited a heavy sediment. I also suffered from severe and persistent headaches. On being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills I procured them at W. A. Abbett's Drug store and used them. They relieved me of the pains and restored the action of the kidney secretions to their normal state."

UNRESERVED.

Russian Press Now Discusses Freely the Manchurian Situation.

St. Petersburg, April 10.—The Russian press is abandoning that reserve with which it first discussed the government's declaration on the subject of Manchuria. It now declares that the joy with which the British press greeted China's refusal to sign the Manchurian agreement has merely postponed the signing of a new understanding with China, since the convention would be advantageous to China.

One paper says: "Our London friends overlooked the fact that in dissuading the signing of the agreement they did not hasten the evacuation of Manchuria, but strengthened Russia's position."

HARD WORDS FOR STAGE.

Professor Says It Is Snare of the Devil.

Columbia, S. C., April 10.—To a large congregation in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association, Rev. R. C. Reed, D.D., professor in the Presbyterian theological seminary here, dellyered an address on the "Relation of the Church to the Theater." He cnaracterizes the theater as one of the snares of the devil referred to by the Apostle Paul in his epistle to Timothy. The barroom could not be considered a snare; its purpose was known by all men. The theater, he said, lives on impurity. Its stock in trade is the display of the physical charms of women and the depraved appetite of the theater-goer feeds and fattens on the degradation of women.

"As a general rule," he added, "actors upon the stage are composed of women who have lost their character and of men who have lost their money."

PROVIDES FOR EMPLOYE.

Senator Cullom Gets Secretary a Place In Hawaii.

Washington, April 10.—Senator Cullom has thoughtfully provided a job for another member of his office force at the capitol. A year ago he had old Dan Ray, who was suffering from ineipient palsy, appointed marshal of Hawaii. Dan had been his private secretary for several years. Recently he secured the appointment of J. C. Ridgeway, his assistant secretary, as an inspector of Chinese immigration in Hawaii. Mr. Ridgeway bought a coffee plantation of 100 acres when he was in the islands with the Cullom commission, and as he was desirous of beginning the cultivation of the land he deemed it wise to provide himself against the contingencies of the future by getting on the payroll. With the aid of his patron senator he succeeded. Mr. Ridgeway will be in a position to wait for his coffee crop to sprout without caring about the future.

LOW FARE FOR CLEVELAND.

Mayor Johnson to Parallel Existing Car Lines.

Cleveland, April 10.—It has developed that there is a project on foot, headed by Mayor Tom L. Johnson, Albert Johnson and Martin Mullen, to parallel Cleveland's two big street railway systems with lines that will carry passengers for a 3-cent fare. Eastern capitalists are interested in the scheme. Mayor Johnson said in his ante-election campaign that if he were made mayor he would see that the people were given 3-cent fares. Nobody outside the syndicate knew how he was to bring this about, as the franchises of the present companies do not expire for several years.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

Supt. Brooks of Philadelphia Discusses the Subject.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Superintendent of Schools Brooks in discussing the subject of introducing physial culture in the public schools, as directed by a recent act of the assembly, said: "I am opposed to a special department for this work if it is to be made a compulsory part of the public school training. We can easily have our regular eachers instructed and equipped so that they can give all the attention necessary to accomplish good results in this direction, but I am against any such action."

NO IDEA OF RESIGNING.

Indianapolis, April 10.—A report from Hazelton, Pa., that John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, had resigned to accept a position with an Eastern life insurance company, was denied at the miners' national headquarters here today. Mr. Mitchell, it was stated, had no idea of resigning as president of the miners.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thomson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale at Boyce's drug store.

WATERING OF STOCK

Text of Decision By Justice Dixon of New Jersey.

Property Purchased Must Be Worth the Price Paid.

Action of Directors Held to Be Subject to Review.

New York, April 10.—The important decision bearing on the practice of watering stocks, that was handed down on Monday at Trenton, N. J., by Justice Dixon of the court of errors and appeals as previously announced in these dispatches, is being discussed with much interest by corporation lawyers. The importance of the opinion rendered by Justice Dixon lies in the construction placed by the court on the forty-eighth and forty-ninth sections of the general corporations act. Vice Chancellor Stevens held the court could not go beyond the decision of the board of directors as to the value of property to be purchased by the issuing of stock. The court of errors, on the contrary, holds that it must be clearly shown that the value of such property is at least reasonably near the price to be paid and that the action of the directors is subject to review at the instance of any stockholder who considers himself aggrieved.

The syllabus of Justice Dixon follows:

"Under section 40 of our corporation act, when an original issue of corporate stock for property to be purchased is contemplated, it is the duty of the directors to see that the real value of the property is at least equal to the face value of the stock.

"Before an original issue of corporate stock for property to be purchased takes place the bona fide judgment of the directors as to the value of the property, while it is entitled to considerable weight, is not conclusive, but may be reviewed at the instance of existing stockholders, and if, on such review by a court of equity, the value of the property appears to be less than the face value of the stock, the issue should be restrained.

"After stock has been issued as fully paid stock for property, purchased, the judgment of the directors as to the value of the property becomes conclusive, in the absence of actual fraud in the transaction and such stock is not liable to any further call.

"An increase of corporate stock, voted for by the board of directors and by the requisite majority of the stockholders, in order to issue such stock for property worth less than the face value of the stock, should be restrained at the instance of dissenting stockholders."

In considering the right of the court to review the action of the directors, Justice Dixon says, the language of section 48 of the corporation act, is not questionable as to the fact that the money paid in must equal the face value of the stock issued. The language of section 49 is even more explicit, providing that the corporation may issue stock to the amount of the value of the property.

The distinction between the contemplated issue of corporate stock for property and the issue for money, Justice Dixon finds, lies not in the rule for valuation, but in the fact that different estimates may be formed of the value of property. When such differences are brought before a judicial tribunal, Justice Dixon says, the judgment of those upon whom the duty of determining the value is placed must be accorded considerable weight, but it is not final.

"Nor is it necessary," the opinion says, "that conscious overvaluation or any other form of fraudulent conduct on the part of these primary valuers should be shown to justify judicial interposition. Their honest judgment, if reached without examination into the elements of value or if based in part upon an estimate of matters which are really not property, or if plainly warped by self-interests, may lead to violation of the statutory rule as surely as would corrupt motive. The original issue of corporate stock is a special function, in the exercise of which the legislature has fixed the standard to be observed, and it is the duty of the courts, so far as their jurisdiction extends, to see that this standard is not violated either intentionally or unintentionally."

Justice Dixon points out that under section 40 when corporate stock has once been issued for property purchased the legislature has directed the application of another rule. Under such conditions nothing but actual fraud in the transactions can impair the right of the stockholder to hold his stock as full-paid stock, free from further call.

Applying the rule as above laid down, Justice Dixon discusses the actual value of the property, the purchase of which was contemplated by the issue of $45,000,000 of stock. He finds it admitted that the value of the Guggenheim plant as physical possessions did not exceed $10,000,000 and with the cash to have been turned over would have left about $23,000,000 to be made up in the value of the good will of the business and the leases and contracts, the nature of which was not at any time disclosed in the proceedings.

While the defendants claimed the complainants had not borne the burden of proof cast upon them, Justice Dixon holds that under the circumstances this rule would not be rigorously enforced at this stage. The proofs, Judge Dixon says, point strongly to the conclusion that in the negotiations between the parties the real value of the property to be acquired had not been the basis upon which they determined the amount of stock to be issued therefor.

The fact that the expected consummation of the deal caused the market value of the stock to rise and which was used as an argument that the proposed purchase would not be advantageous to the stockholders, Justice Dixon finds to be without weight. He says that if the intrinsic value of the stock was only 80 per cent in money for additional stock to be issued such an offer would clearly be advantageous to the company and its stockholders, but it could not legally be accepted, because the legislature has required that 100 per cent, whether in cash or property, shall be received for corporate stock.

The court finds that the mere fact that two-thirds of the directors and stockholders voted for the purchase cannot prevent its review, pointing out that this would not justify an issue of stock for an illegitimate enterprise. In accordance with those views, the court orders that the stay be continued, enjoining the purchase, and that proceedings to increase the stock should likewise remain in statu quo pending final argument and a decision by the court of chancery as to the real value of the Guggenheim property.

TAX ON MINES.

it may get its due share of the wealth within its borders, it ought to tax the mines at a higher rate than other classes of property.

Such logic cannot be questioned, and really there is no reason why it should not be followed by the state. But at present all that is asked is that the mines pay the same proportion as other classes of property, and in order that that may come about it is necessary that the valuations be increased to at least $75,000,000 instead of the paltry $10,000,000 that the boards of equalization have been kind enough to make.

One county officer that The Herald talked with yesterday was somewhat luke-warm on the matter. He said that because the city of Duluth had a large bonded debt, and therefore had to have a high valuation, up to 50 per cent of the actual value of the property, that was no reason why the iron properties should be compelled to pay at the same rate.

"Why," said he, "there are many acres of the best land in the state of Minnesota, fine farming land that is worth $50 an acre, that is only assessed at from $2 to $8 per acre."

Of course the county officer is a long ways removed from the facts in all of these statements. In the first place, $50 an acre is a very high price for farming lands, and many beautiful farms in the southern part of the state are held at little more than $25 per acre. There are farms held at $50 per acre, but they are few, and they are not likely to be purchased at that rate. In fact, the owners give them that value without any idea of selling.

As to the assessments on these lands, the county officer is equally misinformed. There are no farming lands in this state that are worth mentioning that are assessed so low. A glance at the report of the state auditor for 1899-1900 shows conclusively that farming lands throughout the state are assessed for about half their actual value, just as property in the city of Duluth is assessed, and as it is proposed to assess the iron properties of the state. The southern portion of this state is a garden spot. Its acres are covered with broad farms that yield as largely as any farms on earth. It is the best farming section in the state, and that is saying much. Of course not all the land in each county is good. Probably every county has much bad land, cut up with lakes and rivers and hills. Yet in a few of these counties the average value of land per acre, exclusive of structures and improvements, is as follows:

Wright	$9 55
Dakota	11 90
Dodge	11 88
Fillmore	10 19
Goodhue	9 62
McLeod	10 65
Mower	11 00
Olmsted	11 41
Rice	10 78

This is only the average and it includes lands both good and bad. The valuations of such lands as the county officer referred to would clearly be much higher than that, probably from $15 to $20 per acre, which is at least 50 per cent of its actual value.

Again the conditions do not warrant comparisons of iron lands and farming lands, for here again comes in the favorite argument of the iron-carrying railroads, why they should be permitted to impose extortionate freight rates. Every year that these farming lands are cultivated, and every dollar's worth of produce that they yield, is an addition to the wealth of the state. They are here, they will be here tomorrow, and they will be worth more tomorrow than they are today.

On the other hand, every year the mines are worked, and every dollar's worth of ore that is taken from them, means so much less wealth in the state. They are here today; tomorrow they will be gone, and they will be no more subject to taxation. Fifty years from today the farm will still be paying taxes and contributing to the wealth of the state. Fifty years from today the mine will be a gaping hole in a wilderness, grown up to a second crop of small timber and worthless to the state. So say the iron companies, anyway. At least the iron ore will be gone, and it will be paying no taxes.

Not only is it not true that the mines should be taxed at a lower rate than other property, as the county officer implied, but it seems to be true, on the other hand, that they ought to be taxed at a higher rate.

But that is not asked. It may be later, but it is not now. If some interested taxpayer will only make complaint, if the governor will appoint a fair commissioner to make a fair investigation and present a fair report, and if it results in putting the iron mines on the same basis as other property, everybody will be content.

But it should not be a cent less than $75,000,000, and it should not be put off a day longer than necessary.

NEEDS OF PORTO RICO

Seen By Representatives of American Missionary Society.

General Hospital With Modern Appliances Is Necessary.

The Report as Presented By the Rev. E. S. Tead.

Boston, April 10.—Following is an abstract of the report of Rev. E. S. Tead, of Somerville, Mass., who, with Rev. A. F. Beard, of New York, went to Porto Rico as representatives of the American Missionary association about six weeks ago.

In some of the towns where the greatest poverty exists Spaniards live who are worth all the way from $100,000 to $1,000,000, but they are not touched by this condition of the poor nor are efforts made to alleviate the distress. Beggary is common and in some stores little baskets of coppers on the shelf hold the amount which the merchant intends to dispense that day. All sorts of bodily deformities and disease are displayed by these beggars, such as blindness, twisted feet, dropsy, sores, bruised legs, paralysis, women carried in carts or hobbling along on their haunches, or men seated by the wayside holding up a maimed limb and begging for a pittance.

The need of the island is a general hospital equipped with modern appliances. A hospital could be built and equipped at comparatively small expense. Miss Dr. Atkins, connected with the Presbyterian mission of San Juan, has twenty-five to forty calls a day from patients who need hospital treatment, many of whose lives are lost because of the lack of it.

The education of the people is receiving the careful consideration of the authorities. Dr. Brumbagh, the commissioner of education, is working night and day on this pressing problem. At present 40,000 children are in the public schools, but 300,000 remain as yet unprovided for. Theer are 800 teachers, about 90 of whom are from the United States. Both Spanish and English are taught, and the children are quick and eager to learn. There is no high, normal, industrial school or college in the island, though Majardo has raised $30,000 for a normal school. Sixteen school inspectors are in the saddle visiting the different sections of the island, and their services are much needed to keep the native teachers to their tasks, which sometimes they are disposed to shirk.

Religion is not allowed a place on the curriculum. There is a widespread desire to learn English, and at Lares the clerks in the stores meet Professor Scott in the night school that he has opened to study the language.

The Presbyterian mission, under the wise generalship of Rev. Dr. John M. Green; the Methodist mission, led by Rev. Dr. Drees; the Baptist and Episcopal missions, conducted respectively by Rev. Drs. McCormick and Van Buren, are doing excellent service in education and evangelistic lines. Their Sunday and week day services are crowded with curious and interested listeners.

The Congregationalists, through the American Missionary association, have two excellent schools at San Turce and Lares, and are doing as thorough work in education as is done by any schools in the island. There is a distinct and emphatic call for a large central boarding school of the higher grade, with normal and industrial departments.

The outlook for industrial, educational and religious education is encouraging. During the past two years great advances have been made. The people, in spite of the present disturbances, are expectant of changes for the better. The hope of that fair land is in the children. By their ready assimilation of American ideas will constitute the ground work of a new civil and moral order. That such regeneration is to come is the confident expectation of those who know Porto Rico best.

GETS A FORTUNE.

Newspaper Man Inherits Quarter of a Million.

New York, April 10.—John McGlynn, one of the pioneer builders of this city, who died last week, left an estate of over $500,000. He left two sons, one of whom, the elder, had been banished from the family home for over ten years. When the will was read it was found, greatly to the surprise of the other son, that the father had not disinherited the banished son, as was expected, but had given him just the same share of the estate as he had the one who had always abided with him.

The property was divided into five parts, two of which were bequeathed to the elder son, two-fifths to the other son and one-fifth of the faithful housekeeper, who had been with the testator for many years.

The eldest son is Harry McGlynn, one of the best known newspaper men in this city. He was once city editor of the Chicago Daily News, was also on the Boston Herald and held high positions on the New York Star, the New York Herald and other papers, but has been in hard luck for some years. His fortune will now, it is thought, exceed $250,000.

As soon as he learned the tenor of the will Harry McGlynn took possession of the family mansion and told the other brother that he had lived there while he, Harry, had no place to sleep, and now he would not be allowed to enter. Harry was graduated with high honors at St. Francis Xavier college and was after his graduation appointed tutor in that institution.

DULUTH PROOF!

SECOND STREET WEST.

F. J. Carr, of 621 Second street west, employed as checker at the Northern Pacific railroad freight sheds, says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone troubled with pains through the loins or in the kidneys. I was bothered on and off for two years, especially if I caught cold or strained myself, with dull, aching pains through the small of my back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles, I went to W. A. Abbett's Drug store, procured a box and began their use. I felt better after a few doses, in a short time the trouble disappeared entirely, and I have had no return of it since."

THIRD STREET WEST.

Homer B. Thompson, of 2217 Third street west, employed as filer at the Scott & Holston Lumber company's mills, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family for years, sending to the Eastern states for them, as they were not at first on sale here. They never failed to give prompt relief whenever the kidneys became inactive or backache threatened. Both myself and Mrs. Thompson had been for years subject to kidney complaint, and nothing we were able to get was successful to remove the trouble. I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, and never fail to advise others suffering from their kidneys to go to W. A. Abbett's Drug store and get a box. They have invariably given satisfaction in every case where we have recommended their use."

NINETEENTH AVENUE.

Mrs. Agnes McKay, of 125 Nineteenth avenue, says: "For some years I suffered from kidney complaint, and although I tried different remedies I did not succeed in getting anything to effectually rid me of the trouble. I had constant heart bearing-down pains across the small of my back, so that I could hardly get around, and at night I could not rest well. The kidney secretions were irregular, highly colored, and deposited a heavy sediment. I also suffered from severe and persistent headaches. On being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills I procured them at W. A. Abbett's Drug store and used them. They relieved me of the pains and restored the action of the kidney secretions to their normal state."

UNRESERVED.

Russian Press Now Discusses Freely the Manchurian Situation.

St. Petersburg, April 10.—The Russian press is abandoning that reserve with which it first discussed the government's declaration on the subject of Manchuria. It now declares that the joy with which the British press greeted China's refusal to sign the Manchurian agreement has merely postponed the signing of a new understanding with China, since the convention would be advantageous to China.

One paper says: "Our London friends overlooked the fact that in dissuading the signing of the agreement they did not hasten the evacuation of Manchuria, but strengthened Russia's position."

HARD WORDS FOR STAGE.

Professor Says It Is Snare of the Devil.

Columbia, S. C., April 10.—To a large congregation in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association, Rev. R. C. Reed, D.D., professor in the Presbyterian theological seminary here, delivered an address on the "Relation of the Church to the Theater." He characterizes the theater as one of the snares of the devil referred to by the Apostle Paul in his epistle to Timothy. The barroom could not be considered a snare; its purpose was known by all men. The theater, he said, lives on impurity. Its stock in trade is the display of the physical charms of women and the depraved appetite of the theater-goer feeds and fattens on the degradation of women.

"As a general rule," he added, "actors upon the stage are composed of women who have lost their character and of men who have lost their money."

PROVIDES FOR EMPLOYE.

Senator Cullom Gets Secretary a Place In Hawaii.

Washington, April 10.—Senator Cullom has thoughtfully provided a job for another member of his office force at the capitol. A year ago he had old Dan Ray, who was suffering from incipient palsy, appointed marshal of Hawaii. Dan had been his private secretary for several years. Recently he secured the appointment of J. C. Ridgeway, his assistant secretary, as an inspector of Chinese immigration in Hawaii. Mr. Ridgeway bought a coffee plantation of 100 acres when he was in the islands with the Cullom commission, and as he was desirous of beginning the cultivation of the land he deemed it wise to provide himself against the contingencies of the future by getting on the payroll. With the aid of his patron senator he succeeded. Mr. Ridgeway will be in a position to wait for his coffee crop to sprout without caring about the future.

LOW FARE FOR CLEVELAND.

Mayor Johnson to Parallel Existing Car Lines.

Cleveland, April 10.—It has developed that there is a project on foot, headed by Mayor Tom L. Johnson, Albert Johnson and Martin Mullen, to parallel Cleveland's two big street railway systems with lines that will carry passengers for a 3-cent fare. Eastern capitalists are interested in the scheme. Mayor Johnson said in his ante-election campaign that if he were made mayor he would see that the people were given 3-cent fares. Nobody outside the syndicate knew how he was to bring this about, as the franchises of the present companies do not expire for several years.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

Supt. Brooks of Philadelphia Discusses the Subject.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Superintedent of Schools Brooks in discussing the subject of introducing physial culture in the public schools, as directed by a recent act of the assembly, said: "I am opposed to a special department for this work if it is to be made a compulsory part of the public school training. We can easily have our regular eachers instructed and equipped so that they can give all the attention necessary to accomplish good results in this direction, but I am against any such action."

NO IDEA OF RESIGNING.

Indianapolis, April 10.—A report from Hazelton, Pa., that John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, had resigned to accept a position with an Eastern life insurance company, was denied at the miners' national headquarters here today. Mr. Mitchell, it was stated, had no idea of resigning as president of the miners.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thomson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale at Boyce's drug store.

LANDS IN DEMAND

Big Movement to the Northern Part of Minnesota.

Settlers From Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska.

An Advance In Price of One Hundred Per Cent.

Minneapolis, April 10.—With a satisfactory crop, land men are certain that this will be the biggest year for land sales in the history of the Northwest. Last year produced a very creditable record, but under ordinary crop conditions 1901 will increase it materially. The sales made during the spring months are far in advance of those made during the same season of any previous year.

For the past eight weeks there has been a big movement from Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska to the northern part of this state. The lands of the Red River valley, Wadena, Morrison, Becker, Cass, Crow, Aitkin and Itasca counties have been selling fast. Aitkin county has been in especially good demand. Several large sales have been made to syndicates that intend to promote immigration from the South within the next year.

L. B. Arnold, who has charge of the Rock Island lands in Northern Minnesota, disposed of 20,000 acres in small lots last year. At least 95 per cent of these were sold to actual settlers. These people have been coming to Minnesota this spring to begin work on their new farms. Mr. Arnold believes that under favorable conditions there will be a big increase in the sale of lands in the northern part of the state, and especially to the man who intends to farm them himself. In addition to that, prices have greatly increased on these lands, many of which were being passed by as undesirable two years ago. Instead of $3 and $4 per acre, the purchaser has been forced to pay $5 and $6, and in some cases $9 per acre.

W. D. Washburn, Jr., operates largely in Northern Minnesota. His sales this spring have cleaned up his list in Wadena and Morrison counties. In the last sixty days his sales to settlers alone have amounted to 10,000 acres. He has that faith in the future activity of the land market that he lately added 12,000 acres to his holdings in Cass and Crow Wing counties, which he purchased from B. Nelson, of the Nelson-Frey company.

The Hunter-Wendle Land company, which gave the land market a big start in the sale of 1,500,000 acres for the Northern Pacific, constituting all the Northern Pacific lands in North Dakota between Jamestown and the Missouri river has disposed of 50,000 acres in small lots to settlers in the northern part of the state. Timber tracts along the Bemidji & Northern are beginning to sell in small parcels and many sales have been made to small stockmen who are locating in Roseau county and the eastern section of Kittson and Marshall. The fact that some of the Roseau county lands have brought as high as $7 and $10 per acre has been one of the agreeable surprises to the land men now figure that with a railroad Roseau county would be one of the liveliest selling spots in the state.

There has been some movement in Red River valley lands on the Minnesota side of the river, but not to compare with the sales at Aitkin, Cass and neighboring counties. In the Black Duck country there have been many filings on homesteads and some sales. It is expected that that country will be the scene of unusual activity next year. Land men believe that better drainage in the Red River valley will not only raise the price of land, but greatly increase the sales in that part of the state.

Senator Washburn has closed a contract with Frank Jackson, of Hastings, Minn., for the grading and bridge work on his railroad extension from Wilton to Washburn in North Dakota. The road will be ready for the transportation of the crop this fall. This has served to increase the demand for farm land along the line of the road and, incidentally, all through the western part of the state. Senator Washburn sells to actual settlers only. During the past sixty days he has disposed of 10,000 acres to the people who are going into Western North Dakota to make it their home. He looks for a big demand this fall.

The Northern Pacific lands west of the Missouri are on the market. The company evidently intends to make a clean up of its land interests in North Dakota. Its holdings are now almost entirely west of the Missouri river and it is expected that the next year will see a large amount of this land purchased by ranchmen if it is not all taken in one chunk. The rancher in the western part of the Dakotas has been forced for the first time to secure his grazing lands by purchase. In years past he has used vacant government or state lands for this purpose, but the greatly increased demand for land has made that a thing of the past. The homestead law which sets aside every other section for the settler has blocked the rancher in securing a single tract of several sections at a time when the land can be purchased cheaply. The Bad Lands in Eastern Montana and Western Dakota are good for stock raising only and it is considered that they will be in demand for that purpose many more years.

South Dakota lands have sold rapidly this spring. Several big purchases west of Huron have been made by Iowa people. Much of this is for stock raising. Two large tracts in that part of the state have been purchased with the intention of colonizing. The principal activity in South Dakota is in the western section of the state, east of the Missouri, where the price is still reasonable. Land agents predict that a very few years will see the newcomer crowding across the river into the virgin domain between the Missouri and Black Hills.

The fall months have always proven the best in Northwestern land sales. It is from October on that the big records are made. November and December are usually big months. Immediately after seeding a revival will take place. July and August are quiet, but with a satisfactory crop the last four months of the year are expected to produce a land boom that will eclipse anything of the kind on record in this part of the West.

ADMIRAL DECORATED.

Loubet Presents Cross of Legion of Honor.

Ville Franche, April 10.—President Loubet today paid his promised visit to the Russian squadron and during his visit decorated Admiral Birileff and two of his officers with the cross of the legion of honor. Admiral Birileff and his staff, contrary to usage, landed and conducted M. Loubet aboard the flagship. The whole squadron was dressed and manned.

President Loubet subsequently embarked on the St. Louis and sailed for Toulon. The Russian bands played the Marseillaise and their crews cheered, and both the French and Russian warships saluted as the St. Louis, with the president on board, passed out.

The Russian fleet will remain here for a week.

CENTRAL SITUATION

Will Be No Strike For Forty-Eight Hours at Least.

The Votes of the Men Have Not Yet Been Canvassed.

The Big Five Will Ratify Action of the Men.

New York, April 10.—That there will be no strike on the part of the New Jersey Central employes for at least forty-eight hours, if a strike is declared at all, was shown in a brief interview last night. L. Parker Titus, a conductor on the Central, who is the chairman of the federated board board of general adjustment, when asked about a report that the federated board would meet in Jersey City during the night to canvass the votes of the men, said:

"There will be no meeting tonight, as neither Mr. Waite nor myself can be in it, and it is necessary for all five of us to be there. All I can say is that no strike will be ordered tonight, nor by tomorrow night. I would be impossible under our rules."

It was learned in corroboration of this statement that while the conductors on the road had been voting, the collection of ballots had not been begun. Some ballots had been taken among the members of the other organizations, but not enough to make a bulky parcel. No one of those who had voted would talk about the ballots to persons they did not know, indeed, none was inclined to discuss his differences with the company or the possibility of a strike. An Easton, Pa., dispatch to the Herald says:

"When the ballots have all been cast the general chairman will meet in New York or possibly Jersey City, where the Big Five—Athur, Sargent, Morrissey, Clarke and Dolphin, will assist the general chairman in the canvassing of the vote.

"With two-thirds of the employes voting to strike, the Big Five will ratify their action and the time for the order to strike will be decided upon."

GOLD STOLEN.

Three Big Bars of the Precious Metal Taken From Steamer.

New York, April 10.—The gold bars stolen from the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse, the discovery of which theft has just been made at Cherbourg, France, were doubtless a part of shipment of $500,000 in gold made by the National City bank of this city. The gold was withdrawn from the assay office here and taken aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm on Monday, April 1. The liner sailed next day.

At police headquarters, no notice had been received of the reported loss last night. Shipments of gold are always heavily insured. The gold is taken from the assay office in trucks, usually in sealed kegs.

All the kegs are locked in the specie vault on board the steamship in the presence of the representatives of the shipper. When the vessel reaches its destination the kegs are again checked off, so that any loss may be immediately detected. Enormous sums in gold are shipped back and forth across the Atlantic when conditions are favorable to such movements. Some vessels have carried as much as $5,000,000 on a single trip, but in recent years, at least, not a dollar has been lost.

DRESS FOR THE JURY.

Will Decide Whether Mrs. Gould's Gowns Fit.

New York, April 10.—Mrs. Howard Gould must appear before a jury instead of a referee in the gowns, waists and laces over which the dressmakers are suing her for $1000. This is the decision of the supreme court.

Smith & Dillon, the dressmakers, had appealed from the decision of the city court, where Howard Gould had obtained permission for his wife's case to be taken before a referee instead of before a jury. The dressmakers said that more than $1000 was due them on Mrs. Gould's bill.

Mrs. Gould's contention was that the gowns and other articles of apparel did not fit her. Smith & Dillon insisted through their counsel that Mrs. Gould should put on the disputed gowns in court, so judge ad jury might decide for themselves about the fit.

BIG MOUNTAIN LION.

Killed After a Hard Fight Near Mankato.

Mankato, Minn., April 10.—Farmers killed a mountain lion five or six miles southeast of the city two or three days ago. It was the first one seen in this section almost within the memory of man, and had been killing the farmers' hogs, making the first attack about two weeks ago.

A farmer discovered it in his pig pen and shot it through the body with a Winchester. An exciting chase followed until another farmer put a charge of shot in its head. Even then it was necessary to kill it with clubs. It measured nearly five feet long and three feet high and weighed nearly 100 pounds.

It is believed to have been the same animal that was seen in the same section a year ago, when it killed some hogs and was seen by several people. The section is cut up by the LeSueur river and contains good hiding places.

New York Merchant Bit On Old Scheme.

New York, April 10.—Frank Netchet, a prominent Fifth avenue merchant, has just bought a castle in Spain for $2000. Mr. Netchet is one of the largest importers and manufacturers of artificial flowers and decorative plants in the United States. The swindle played on him is an old one. The importer is a very busy man, but when he received a letter from Madrid he found time to cable, as requested, for further particulars. The second letter told how the writer lay on his death bed in a prison in Madrid, but that $2000 would rescue his valises, containing a check, payable to bearer, for $200,000, which the government had seized. If Mr. Netchet would forward the $2000, he should have 25 per cent of the proceeds of the check, the balance to go to the dying man's daughter. Mr. Netchet sent the money and then found he had been swindled.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

Proclamation Issued By Governor Van Sant.

St. Paul, April 10.—Governor Van Sant has issued a proclamation designating Friday, April 26, as arbor and bird day. His proclamation follows:

The legislature, with the object of subserving the best interests of the people, has wisely authorized and directed the designation each year of a day for the planting of forest trees and the beautifying of private and public grounds. Pursuant thereto, I, S. R. Van Sant, as governor of said state, do hereby fix and appoint Friday, the 26th of April, 1901, as Arbor and Bird day, and do most earnestly request the universal observance thereof. It is especially desirable that suitable exercises be had at all public and private schools, colleges and other educational institutions, that the youth may be taught to appreciate the beauty and utility of trees and shrubs, and the importance of preserving the harmless birds that make Minnesota their home.

I therefore earnestly recommend that all our people devote at least a portion of said day to the planting of forest trees and shrubs to the end that our home and public grounds may be made more pleasant and attractive. Let the object and spirit of the day be met through hearty co-operation in the pleasant duties which the law invokes.

S. R. VAN SANT, Governor.

A Well Known Business Man

Loses One of His Valuables.

Name Not Mentioned.

A well-known business man of this city lost one of his valuables not over ten days ago. It was of vital importance. He could not eat without it; he could not sleep without it; work was no longer enjoyable and became neglected. His friends wondered why he did not enliven them as before with his jolly humor. He was losing flesh and energy; life was not worth living. Driven to desperation, he finally sent for the aid of the reliable detective, Cascarine. With this aid that which he had lost, which is Health, was soon recovered, and he is now able to enjoy both work and pleasure.

Loss of appetite is a serious thing. It is a sign of indigestion and a congested state of the bowels. Are you suffering from this loss? Don't, for your stomach's sake, let a day pass without obtaining relief. Your trouble may become chronic.

The best remedy for stomach, liver and bowel complaint is Cascarine. Save trouble by keeping this laxative tonic close at hand. Cascarine will not gripe the most delicate stomach. It tones up the system, purifies the blood, stimulates the liver, makes the bowels regular and drives all impurities from the system.

At all druggists. Price per bottle 50 cents. If your druggist hasn't it, ask him to get it for you of his jobber.

The manufacturers of Cascarine will send to any address, free of charge, a little booklet which explains thoroughly the diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, with instructions how to treat them, and one week's treatment for 10 cents in stamps to cover postage.

CATARRH

A Constitutional Affection.

Sprays, washes, powders, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes, however long and persistently used, do not cure Catarrh. They relieve temporarily the inflammation in the throat and nose, and enable you to breathe more easily and freely, but the continual rush of impure blood to these parts keeps up the irritation and ultimately produces ulceration of the glands, when the breath becomes exceedingly offensive and the soft bones of the nose are frequently destroyed. The catarrhal inflamunation extends over the entire surface of the mucous membrane, or inner skin; the stomach, kidneys and lungs are often involved; the whole system soon becomes affected by the rapid absorption of poisonous matter into the blood, and the disease that you had hoped to cure with simple local remedies, assumes a dangerous form.

I had Catarrh about 15 years, and tried during the time everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. At last I came to the conclusion that Catarrh must be a blood disease, and decided to give S. S. S. a trial. I could see a little improvement from the first bottle, and continued it three or four months, or until I was cured. Have not taken anything for six years, and am just as well as I ever was.—M. MATSON, Lapeer, Mich.

I had Catarrh so bad was entirely deaf in one ear, and all the inside of my nose and part of the bone sloughed off. The physicians gave me up as incurable. I determined to try S. S. S., and began to improve at once. It seemed to get at the seat of the disease, and after a few weeks' treatment I was entirely cured, and for more than seven years have had no sign of the disease.—MRS. JOSEPHINE POLHILL, Due West, S. C.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease—a blood disease which is frequently inherited, and only a blood medicine, such as S. S. S., can remove the hereditary taint, destroy the poisons that have been accumulating in the system for years perhaps, and restore the blood to a healthy and pure condition. The inflamed membranes and diseased glands are healed by the rich, pure blood which is carried to them, and the offensive discharges from the nose, and the terrible headache and neuralgic pains cease. Chronic cases of the most desperate character and apparently hopeless, have been cured completely and permanently by the use of S. S. S.

Write our physicians fully about your case and they will cheerfully assist you by their advice. We charge nothing whatever for this service. Book free on application.

Liverpool Market Opened Weak and Rallied Little.

Rain In the Southwest Where It Is Badly Needed.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 10.—The wheat market started out rather weak this morning under a flood of selling orders at Chicago but soon made a sharp rally. The early cables were weak, Liverpool opening ¾d off. There were also reports of rain in the Southwest in sections where it is badly needed. Shortly after the opening there was a strong buying pressure that made itself evident and the market took a sharp brace. Liverpool closed ¾d lower and Antwerp closed the same amount off. The American markets lost part of their rally toward the close. Primary receipts were 488,655 bus, last year, 424,705 bus. Shipments were 368,121 bus, last year 485,024. Clearances of wheat and flour were 27,600 bus. Chicago reported a livery increase in cash business, yesterday's sales aggregated 280,000 bus, mostly of spring wheat. At the seaboard, exporters bought 256,000 bus of wheat.

Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis, 175 cars, against 421 last week and 310 last year.

Cash sales at Duluth were light, aggregating 5000 bus at ¾c under May for wheat to arrive and 1¼c under for wheat in store.

Corn was ½c off in Duluth, and ¾c off in Chicago. At Chicago, the May option sold down to 43¾c this morning, but quickly rallied to 43¾c, and Phillips was reported as buying moderately. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat and Corn Displayed Considerable Weakness.

Chicago, April 10.—A rush of selling orders caused a weak opening in the wheat market today. May sold from 70 to 69¾, unchanged to ¼c lower than yesterday's close. Cables were comparatively steady early, and strong later, and the market rallied sharply to 70¾c. Rain was reported in the Southwest, where it is badly needed. Local receipts 47 cars, none of contract grade, while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 175 cars against 421 last week and 310 a year ago.

Continued good weather and indications of somewhat freer country offerings produced weakness in corn at the opening. May opened a shade higher to 43¾@¼c lower, at 44@43½c under heavy selling. The market soon touched 43¾c and reacted to 43¾c on buying by the bull leader. Receipts were 150 cars, 35 of contract grade.

Oats were weak, selling by elevator interests depressing prices. May opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 25@25¼c and declined to 24¾c. Receipts were 110 cars.

Provisions opened irregular, but steadied on moderate local investment buying. May pork opened 5@10c lower at $14.30@14.25 and sold to $14.40; May lard unchanged at $8.15, advancing to $8.22½, and May ribs 10c higher at $8.17½@, selling late to $8.22½@.

WEARE'S REPORT.

Chicago, April 10.—The wheat market has shown a tendency to hold its own and at times bid quite a little strength, advancing at one time ¼c over yesterday's close, but weakening later. The trade has been very limited, however, probably on account of the government, has done much to restrict the trade. Cables did not reflect our decline yesterday, being only ½@¾c lower. Cash business here very slow, 25 loads at New York. Clearings 309,000 bus. It is generally expected that the government report will be very bearish, but the fears are that these prices discount a bearish report to a large extent has checked the enthusiasm of the short seller temporarily. There is also considerable comment being made about the cash situation. Our Kansas City reports indicate a much more liberal distribution. There are only 908,000 bus in store there and every bushel is sold. There is a good demand for No. 2 hard, going at about 4½c over the May option, which are restricting the receipts. There is a feeling that the scarcity of winter wheat will lead to revival of No. 1 northern demand, the supply of which is inadequate. This may put a different appearance upon the present very bearish situation, should it develop.

The corn market has been comparatively dull, trade light. Local trade appears to be playing for a break while Phillips is the sustaining force. The weather is fine for both movement and farm work. No cash business reported. Only 20 loads at New York. Clearances, 349,000.

There has been a contination of liquidation by big holders of oats. This created a decline which, however, was as quickly recovered. Cash demand is light, 50,000 bus from here and 60,000 bus at New York. Clearances, 37,000.

Provisions—Hogs were 10c lower, creating a sympathetic break in provisions, but buying by packers on the decline were in evidence. Hogs West, 74,000, against 82,000 last year.

She estimates the value of the estate at $1,500,000.

ACTIVITY IN STOCKS

Large and Well Distributed Demand at the Opening.

Gains Were Lost on Realizing and Short Selling.

Closing Was Active and Easy at the Reaction.

New York, April 10.—There was a large and well distributed demand at the opening of the stock market, the higher prices in London giving an impetus to the rise. The grangers and internationals and a number of high-priced specialties was all conspicuous. Burlington opened a point higher and on the second sale of 4000 shares rose an additional 1¼ to 188. Amalgamated Copper was run up 2 points on runing sales of 4600 shares, Texas & Pacific sold at 41¾ to 42⅝, compared with 41¾ last night, 5000 shares changing hands in the opening sales. General Electric jumped 5 points and Consolidated Gas 5½. There were other gains of a point in the railroad and industrial list. Rock Island and Northwestern advanced 2 points.

Prices of most stocks did not hold long at the opening gains, realizing and short selling forcing the grangers, Amalgamated Copper, Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, People's Gas, General Electric and Metropolitan down 1 to 2½ points. A rapid break of 2⅜ in Colorado Fuel accelerated the general tendency. Meanwhile there was extensive buying of the Kansas & Texas stocks, the common rising 2¾ and the preferred 2. The general list developed new strength, Omaha bounding up 8 points, Northwest 6 and the preferred 4, Burlington and Rock Island rallied above their earlier prices. Full recoveries were not made by all stocks, but the market was strong at 11 o'clock.

Speculation became very broad and confident. There was a large demand for low-priced railroad stocks. Texas & Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande, Colorado Southern, common and second preferred, Erie, common, and Wabash, preferred, were lifted materially. Colorado Fuel rallied 4½ and the preferred 2½. Amalgamated Copper rose to 112½ and Anaconda mining 3 points. Substantial gains were also made by Pennsylvania, Illinois Central and the Atchisons. Brooklyn Union jumped 4 points. The extreme rise reached 2⅜ in Burlington and 3 in Rock Island. Northwestern extended its rise to 8 points and the preferred to 14. Generally speaking buying for the long account was as confident as during the closing days of last week, but prices were below the best at noon. Bonds were higher.

The favorites during the last hour were St. Paul, Chicago Terminal preferred and Denver & Rio Grande with prices in the general list held pretty steady, although trading was active, showing the sustaining force of the points of special strength. St. Paul advanced an extreme 3½, Chicago Terminal preferred and Anaconda 4¼ each and Denver & Rio Grande 2¾. Lackawanna moved up 3 points over last night. Prices ran off all around on realizing. Burlington yielding 2¾ and some other stocks from 1 to 2 points. The closing was active and easy at the reaction.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, April 10.—Cotton opened steady and unchanged to 4 points higher, in keeping with firm early Liverpool cables. A reaction to last night's bids followed, on heavy receipts and favorable weather. Before the first half hour had elapsed the export contingent which last night advanced prices 10 points, stepped to the front and absorbed all offerings of May and July. A bad scare of shorts resulted and a full stampede to cover carried prices up 15 to 17 points, with a rush. Later there were reactionary movements under selling for a turn and a lull in the support from the short side, but the market continued active, with an upward tendency.

BAKER'S EVIDENCE

In the Rice Murder Case Draws the Net Closer Around Patrick.

Was Executor of the Rice Will Made In 1896.

His Testimony Was Principally In Connection With Wills.

New York, April 10.—Taking of evidence in the committment proceedings in the case of Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer, who is accused of having caused the death of William Marsh Rice, was resumed today before Justice Jerome. The first witness today was Capt. James A. Baker, Jr., a lawyer of Houston, Texas, who was named as an executor in the Rice will of 1896. Capt. Baker in reply to questions by Attorney Osborne, said that Patrick had never acted as attorney for Rice at any time. The will of Mrs. Lizzie Rice, wife of William M. Rice, he said, was offered for probate in Galveston, Texas. This will was contested by the children of Mrs. Rice, who employed A. T. Holt and Patrick as attorneys. The witness appeared in these proceedings as attorney for William M. Rice. The testimony in the case being taken in New York city. He also said he had acted as Mr. Rice's attorney up to the time of his death in September last. He knew Patrick in Houston, Texas, as far back as 1891. The first news he received of the death of the aged millionaire was in a telegram sent him by Jones, the valet. He immediately telegraphed Jones to confer with M. S. Melvin to maintain the status quo until he (witness) arrived in New York. He reached this city on the third day following the death of Rice and met Patrick. Mr. Melvin was with the witness.

"When I met Patrick," said Baker, "he asked me to step into another room as he wanted to speak to me alone. I said Mr. Melvin should accompany us, but I went into a back room with Patrick."

Col. Baker detailed his conversation with Patrick, who informed him that Mr. Rice had lost confidence in the witness and engaged him (Patrick) as his legal adviser. The will of 1900 was produced by Patrick, who, after some objections, had given the witness a copy though refusing to endorse it as a true copy of the will. The witness also received a number of Rice's papers from Patrick. Patrick had told him he did not wish his connection with Itice to become generally known and said that James, Rice's valet, was the only person who knew of the relations. The 1896. will was handed to Capt. Baker by the assistant district attorney and witness declared that the signature attached thereto was Rice's. Then the Swenson checks were handed to the witness, who declared that the signatures, purporting to be Rice's, were forgeries. On cross examination Col. Baker said he had not known that Rice had a mania for making wills, though when the Holt litigation—which was over the will of Mrs. Rice—was on, he had learned that Rice made several wills between the years 1873 and 1896.

WHY? IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST

Because it is healthy, clean, pure and brilliant.

HEALTHY—
It has no odor. Prof. Thompson states that one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN—
It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.

SAFE—
As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP—
By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

MILLER IN EARNEST

Backs His Railroad Resolution With an Effective Bill.

Which Will Furnish Desired Information From Roads.

Bill For Board of Poor Commissioners Passed the House.

St. Paul, April 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Miller's resolution instructing the attorney general to investigate the reported consolidation or proposed consolidation of railroads in Minnesota was adopted by the senate without debate. Senator Miller then introduced a bill empowering the attorney general whenever he deemed it desirable to examine into the affairs of corporations to requisition books and subpoena witnesses, any officer, director or employe of a corporation who refuses to comply with any such subpoena or to answer any question put to him upon examination, shall be deemed guilty of contempt and shall, without indictment, be summarily tried by the district court.

It was referred, at his request, to a special committee consisting of Senators Lord, Wilson and Young.

Numerous bills with house amendments were repassed, among them being Senator Chilton's marriage bill and Senator Hawkins' bill for a county board of health in St. Louis county, and the Lord bill for a commission to revise the laws.

The special committee on Senator Miller's bill recommended its passage upon suspension of the rules, and the roll call showed no opposing votes. The rest of the morning was spent upon the general appropriation bill. All amendments but those submitted by the committee were voted down. Then the house bill was substituted for the senate measure and passed.

By a vote of 45 to 5, the senate yesterday afternoon adopted the joint memorial asking congress to reserve 100,000 acres or more of pine land in the Leech Lake Indian reservation. Senators Underleak and Wilson made the principal pleas in behalf of the measure. Senator Daugherty, of Duluth, opposed the passage of the memorial and offered an amendment providing that a certificate should be attached to the memorial that would show congress what members of the Minnesota legislature voted for the memorial and who voted against it. The amendment was lost. The memorial was then passed, as already stated. The five senators voting against it were Baldwin, Buckman, Daugherty, Hawkins and McCarthy.

IN THE HOUSE.

St. Paul, April 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the house were confronted with a most unusual condition today. Tomorrow is the last day for legislative business, but today there was no house calendar, all bills awaiting final passage on the calendar having been disposed of yesterday. There are a number of general orders yet to be advanced to the calendar, but the entire absence on the next to the last day for legislative business seems to indicate considerable industry heretofore in the house.

The house disposed of the general appropriation bill in about forty minutes this morning, amending it somewhat and passing it without difficulty. A list of minor amendments were submitted by the appropriations committee and adopted by the house, but the total amounts added did not exceed $9000, leaving the bill substantially as it came into the house from the committee. This important measure did not attract so much attention as the senate bill to provide an additional judicial district, for which Senator McKusick is alleged to be a candidate. The bill had reached the calendar and Mr. Stark tried to secure its passage. He was opposed by Mr. Pope and some warm talk ensued between the two, but the Kanabec county member won and the bill was killed. However, an attempt w... be made to reconsider it.

On recommendation of a committee, the house killed the state fire marshal bill. The Washburn bill for another tax clearance sale in June came back from the senate somewhat amended and was passed as amended.

The senate bill creating a board of poor commissioners for St. Louis county was passed under suspension of the rules

Chicago Urged as Place For 1904 Sports.

Chicago, April 9.—Chairman Henry J. Furber, Jr., of the committee on prospectus, that is urging Chicago as the place for the Olympian games in 1904, today received a letter from Paris announcing that President Loubet, honorary president of the games committee, will preside in person at the meeting in Paris May 19, to determine where the next revival of the ancient sports shall be held. A conference of those interested in securing the meet for Chicago will be held tonight and arrangements made for the securing of subscriptions for the guarantee of $200,000 proposed. About $50,000 already have been guaranteed.

AFTER THE SUFFRAGE

May Convention of the Suffragists Booked For Minneapolis.

Proposed Change In the Intestate Law of Pennsylvania.

Widow Will Have Use of All the Real Estate.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is said here that women from Philadelphia will have honors thrust upon them at the May convention in Minneapolis, to which Susan B. Anthony will lead her followers from all parts of the United States. All except four of these states remain draped in black on the map of the country that woman suffragists use for reference. The badge of black has been removed entirely from four Western states and partially from at least twenty-five more. This means that the women in four states vote for everything, from president down, and in a number of others for various dignitaries not quite so high as chief executive.

* * *

Pennsylvania will be honored with unusual opportunities for speech-making. Some long steps have been taken by its leaders with a quiet intensity that will not be realized until they are reported at the big conference. One of these steps has reached the citadel of lawmakers at Harrisburg. Of this Mrs. Blankenburg will have to speak to the assembled clubwomen.

An act to amend the intestate law of 1833 has been presented to the legislature by Mr. Koonts, of the Keystone state. Should it become a law widows will have new property rights. The only road to the appreciation of its changes is to read it verbatim.

It runs as follows:

"When such intestate (any husband dying without a will) shall leave a widow and issue, the widow shall be entitled to occupy and use the real estate for and during the term of her natural life, and to one-third part of the personal estate absolutely."

The old law compelled her to sell the property and take a third of it.

"Where such intestate shall leave a widow and collateral heirs or other kindred, but no issue," says the new bill, "the widow shall be entitled to occupy and use the whole of the real estate for the term of her life, and to one-half part of the personal estate absolutely."

The movement that has resulted in this bill began six years ago in the Pennsylvania Womans' Suffrage association, of which Mrs. Blankenburg is president.

* * *

The old statute triumphed in the last two legislatures, but women in and out of suffrage circles are alert to help the new one through the present session by thought waves and all other "indirect influences."

Miss Jane Campbell has discovered that in Philadelphia only women pay at least 20 per cent or one-fifth, of the taxes on real estate throughout the county.

How much they pay in all of Pennsylvania would be an interesting disclosure.

Columbia County, Penn., has just organized a new suffrage society, which it has named "Lucretia L. Blankenburg." Mrs. Ida Porter Boyer is president, and the Rev. Amanda Deyo vice-president.

There is another Philadelphia with a society "named after" her. Pittsburg has a "Rachel Foster Avery" club. Before the May convention opens it is probable that a "Lucretia Mott" club will make its bow near Philadelphia.

Among those who will soon start for the conference, which will be the first national meeting of suffragists in the new century, are the Pennsylvania state president, Mrs. Blankenburg; Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, national corresponding secretary; the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, who is also an H.D.; Mrs. Ida Boyer, Miss Lucy S. Anthony, a niece of the veteran pioneer, and Miss Nicola Shaw.

MEN WILL DECIDE.

Sargent Does Not Care to Discuss Probabilities.

Peoria, April 9.—Frank P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, returned from New oYrk today. Regarding the situation on the Jersey Central he said:

"I do not care to discuss probabilities, especially in view of the fact that it will be definitely known in a short time what the action of the men is to be. Officers of the different brotherhoods were unable to obtain any satisfactory answer from the railroad officials, so the commission prepared a circular which was submitted to the men, by whose answer we shall be governed."

THE CABINET MEETING.

Attorney General Knox Presented to Colleagues.

Washington, April 9.—The cabinet meeting today, lasted about an hour. Mr. Knox, the new attorney general, was presented to his colleagues, and created a very favorable impression. Much of the time of the meeting was given up to a discussion of the indemnity which the powers are demanding of China. No official confirmation has been received by the government of the reported rejection of the Platt amendment by the Cuban constitutional convention. The matter was discussed by the cabinet and it was considered strange that Gen. Wood had not communicated so important a fact, if it were true.

REJECTED THE OFFER.

Washington, April 9.—Secretary Gage today received an offer of $1,000,000 short-term bonds from New York. The price was higher than he was willing to pay, and he therefore rejected the offer.

SICK HAIR

Few people realize that their hair is sick when it shows signs of failing and that in its feeble way it is crying for nourishment. If your hair is falling or dry or turning gray it is very evident that it is not enjoying good health; therefore, the only intelligent thing to do is to treat it.

Give it medicine and not dye. Dye is a relic of barbarism, and should be shunned by all refined people, aside from the vulgarity of the act. All hair dyes are injurious, and it is an impossibility to make a hair dye that is not, as nitric of silver, lead, sulpher, copper and other poisonous minerals compose their ingredients. Civilization has progressed in the last decade so effectively that the hair can now be restored to its natural color without dye.

Mme. M. Yale's Hair Tonic

is a life-giving fluid to the hair, and the only remedy on record in the history of the world that has the power to restore the natural color of gray hair. It is a medicine that strengthens and invigorates—giving circulation to the natural coloring fluids and action to the oil ducts. It tones up the debilitated nerve force and STOPS HAIR FALLING in twenty-four hours.

IT CURES DANDRUFF,

makes hair grow on bald heads, softens dry, harsh hair; gives gloss and richness to the natural color, produces a luxuriant growth and is a positive cure for all manner of hair and scalp diseases. Scientifically compounded by the great woman chemist, Mme. M. Yale, after her formula from her analysis of the human hair.

RESTORES FADED HAIR.

Madam Yale:—Your Hair Tonic is all that it is recommended to be. From long and severe illness my hair had become faded and dead; before I had used one bottle the natural color and lustre were restored. It has a marvelous effect on faded hair.

FAVOR STRIKE

Unless Road Officials Will Grant Conference.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 9.—The employes of this division of the Central Railway of New Jersey, it is said, have voted almost unanimous in favor of a strike, providing that Vice President Warren of the road still persists in refusing the brotherhood officials a conference. It is believed here, however, that Vice President Warren will ask the grand officers and various brotherhood officials to return to New York and discuss the conditions. The vote was completed today. A strike in this region on the Jersey Central would force about 12,000 miners to quit work.

NO APPREHENSION

Of Italy's Weakening Caused By Demonstration.

Berlin, April 9.—The Toulon demonstration does not excite an apprehension here that Italy is weakening toward the dreibund. The officials say the driebund is practically certain of renewal in 1903.

Commenting on the exultation in the Paris press at the fact that the estrangement fomented between Italy and France by the late Prince Bismarck is now ended, German diplomatic circles point out that the cause of the estrangement was not Prince Bismarck, but France's seizure of Tunis.

Practical Suggestions About What to Eat and How to Prepare Food.

This matter will be found to be entirely different from and superior to the usual run of food articles, in that every item is a nugget of culinary wisdom and eminently practical.

GRACE WITHOUT MEAT.

Th' unknowing man
Eats only flesh, the understanding, valor;
His ignorance i' th' mistery keeps him a coward.
To him 'us but a meal; to you 'tis virtue.

Through a common error, many look upon the absence of animal food from their daily bill of fare as denoting a meager and unsubstantial diet.

While the natural and almost universal demand of man is for mixed diet of food substances, he must learn to be guided by reason and judgment as well as that tyrant "taste" which may, through thoughtless and undue pampering gain an ascendancy most harmful to its subject, the body.

Unless carefully restrained and guided by the laws of health and not entirely by the momentary pleasure derived from pleasing the palate, the sense of taste becomes very arbitrary and may cause considerable inconvenience and annoyance.

MEAT THREE TIMES A DAY.

In many households meat is served two or three times a day with certain regularity and usually, of course, accompanied with white potatoes. This becomes such a firmly established rule that any deviation from this routine is regarded as a hardship and almost as an infringement on the rights of citizenship, being resented accordingly. The teacher or writer who suggests a new order of things is designated a "crank."

ON THE BASIS OF ECONOMY.

hTe strongest appeal to the reason of those who have become wedded to a too frequent meat diet may be made on economical grounds. That they can get something at less cost that will furnish an agreeable change and substitute for the expensive meats they consider so necessary, will at least attract their attention and consideration, and curiosity to test the truth of the theories advocated may do the rest.

RULES FOR REGULATING DIET.

While there is undeniably much overeating and also improper eating, which causes one-half of the disease and the evils that inflict all classes of society, it is difficult to apply to the individual any accurate rules of guidance, without a knowledge of his daily habits and life, as well as his most pronounced physical peculiarities. The average eater cannot be trusted to depend entirely upon his powers of discrimination as to the quantity or quality of food required, as his choice of food is too often governed by what he wants, or thinks he wants, and not by what he actually requires.

The man who indulges in a mixed diet that includes all animal products, is too apt to partake to excess of one or two elements of nutrition while he neglects to obtain others in sufficient amount to sustain an even balance. They fail to associate meats with other products containing similar elements of nutrition, and therefore, when included in our menus for breakfast, dinner and supper are meats, eggs, milk, cereals, legumes and foods of like nature, we are greatly in danger of committing a grave error, for if, in order to equalize the various elements demanded by the body, we attempt the feat of eating a corresponding proportion of the various other substances, we will overtax the powers of digestion and assimilation.

SUBSTITUTES FOR MEATS.

Frequently the housekeeper resorts to a meat dish simply because she can think of nothing better, even while she deplores the necessity. And this is evident from the request sent us for either a "new meat," or "a substitute for everlasting beef, veal, mutton and pork."

The organic needs cannot be but indifferently supplied by starch and sugar, but we have other foods that, in their various forms, will supply all natural demands without resorting too frequently to the use of animal food. The cereals, nut foods, vegetable oils and milk give us a generous list of materials with which to not only vary the monotony of a too frequent meat diet, but assist, very materially, in keeping the appetite in a normal state for wholesome enjoyment of food.

Many imagine that the dishes presented for meat substitutes are too much trouble to make, or require ingredients not always procurable. This is not the case, if a careful selection of dishes and materials required is made, with the design to produce something as wholesome and palatable as the meat preparations, and not wholly to display the culinary skill of the cook, though the attractiveness of the dish must be considered as important a feature as its substance.

MACARONI.

This well-known product of wheat, is prepared in such form as to be available in supplying a nutritious basis for a great variety of most palatable dishes, and it may enter into almost any combination of food from soups to desserts. It is especially well adapted to substitute meats.

Below we give a few recipes for dishes, which may be served for meat courses.

BAKED MACARONI.

Have a kettle well filled with boiling, salted water. Put in half a package of macaroni without breaking it, and boil until tender when pressed between thumb and finger. Drain it, and put into a stew pan, season with white pepper and a grating of nutmeg. Mix with enough bechamel sauce to moisten. Put a layer of this into a baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese, Parmesan if you use it, then add another layer of macaroni, and so on until dish is full. Cover top with the cheese and bits of butter. Bake in the oven for thirty minutes.

BECHAMEL SAUCE.

Rub three tablespoonfuls of butter with three tablespoonfuls of flour until smooth, place over the fire with a very small slice of onion, a sprig of parsley, thyme and small bay leaf, tied together, a little grated nutmeg, a level teaspoonful of salt and a pint of white stock. Stir until it boils up smooth, then place where it will just simmer. Keep covered, stirring occasionally and cook for thirty minutes. Add half a pint of cream or two level tablespoonfuls of butter and cook a moment longer.

MACARONI AND CORN.

Break a quarter of a package of macaroni into inch lengths and boil in salted water until tender. Drain. Season a pint of corn pulp or kernlet with salt and pepper. Add one and one-half cupfuls of milk and two level tablespoonfuls of butter. Mix this with the macaroni. Turn into an earthen dish and brown in a moderately quick oven. If the corn is fresh, thicken with a little flour mixed with the milk, two level tablespoonfuls to a pint.

MACARONI AND OYSTER SCALLOP.

Take a quarter of a pound of macaroni and break into 2-inch lengths. Boil in a large quantity of salted water until tender; drain and blanch. Drain the liquor from two dozen large oysters. Scald the liquor and skim and strain. Put a layer of macaroni in bottom of a baking pan, then a layer of oysters, season with salt, pepper and a few small pieces of butter. Then add another layer of macaroni and then oysters. Cover top with macaroni, pour the oyster liquor over all, then cover with half a cupful of cream sauce. Sprinkle a little grated cheese over this and set in the oven and bake a nice brown, about half an hour.

INDIAN PILAU.

Throw a cupful of rice into two quarts of boiling water and cook until tender. Drain in a colander. Let cold water run over it for a moment; dry again and set in a moderate oven to dry and keep hot. Then add an ounce of butter, melted, and seasoning of pepper and salt. Toss until thoroughly mixed. Pile on a heated dish and garnish with sliced, hard-boiled eggs and fried onions in brown sauce.

BAKED HOMINY WITH NUTS.

For this dish the hominy left from breakfast can be used or prepared in following manner: For coarse hominy, take four parts of water or milk and water to one of grain; cook slowly in a double boiler four or five hours, unless the hominy has been previously soaked in water, then one hour less is required. To two cupfuls of hominy, add one cupful of chopped nuts. Beat two eggs and add with sufficient milk to make the mixture like a stiff batter. Season with salt and pepper; bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Rice or corn may be used instead of hominy.

BEAN CROQUETTES.

Cold baked beans, either canned or home made, may be used for these. Mash the beans through a coarse sieve or vegetable press, removing all the skins. Season to taste with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce, unless the beans already have tomato sauce or catsup added. A little vinegar and mixed mustard may be added for seasoning for a change. If the mixture is too dry, soften with a little cream or white sauce. Form the croquettes, dip into beaten eggs and cover with bread crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat until nicely browned. Serve with tomato sauce.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

(No attention paid to inquiries not giving name and address of writer, plainly written).

A. G. Soull, M. D.: The booklet of holiday dinners contains the recipe for orange and nut salad mentioned in the menu. We hope the book reached you in time. You can substitute English walnuts for chestnuts, if desired.

ALMOND CAKE.

Mrs. R. G. Morrison writes: Will you kindly give me the formula for making almond cake where no flour is used, where the almonds are ground and used instead of flour?

We presume the writer refers to the nut product, prepared almond meal, which is now used for making muffins, cakes, etc. By permission of a well-known sanitarium, we publish the receipt for almond pound cake: Measure three-fourths of a cupful of sifted almond meal, then sift again. Beat the yolk of three eggs and gradually add a scant cupful of granulated sugar. When stiff add part of a tablespoonful of water and more sugar, alternating with a tablespoonful of lemon juice until all the sugar is in. Stir into the mixture half of the three-fourths of a cupful of almond meal with a pinch of salt. Beat the whites of the eggs to a moderately stiff froth, with a pinch of salt. Add the remainder of the tablespoonful of lemon juice and beat until light and dry. Slide into the cake mixture, sprinkle part of the sifted meal over them, sift on a little flour and fold in. Then add more meal and flour until all the meal and three-fourths of a cupful of flour is used. Do not mix to much. Put in a pan at once, and bake slowly in an oven with a good under heat. Handle very carefully when removing from the oven. If gas is used for baking the heat may be turned off and the cake allowed to cool in the oven. Half a cupful of seeded, chopped raisins may be used if desired. This recipe calls for flour. I have not used the meal alone, but have eaten most delicious cake made entirely of the almond meal.

Almond meal gems are made with beaten whites of two eggs, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and ten scant tablespoonfuls of almond meal. Mix thoroughly together and drop on slightly heated gem irons. Bake ten or fifteen minutes.

Toulon, April 9.—The duke of Genoa, in command of the Italian fleet repaid today Vice Admiral Beaumont's visit of yesterday. Both the French and Italian warships saluted while the duke was going ashore. The duke, after reviewing the guard of honor of marines, proceeded to the prefecture through troop-lined streets. CONLEY IS ARRESTED

"The Ithaca Giant" Charged With Complicity In Murder.

Accused of Fatally Striking Charles Gildea at Cincinnati.

Conley Was Formerly a Pugilist Living at Ashland.

Cincinnati, April 10.—Last Sunday afternoon, Charles D. Gildea died at his home, 909 Betts street, from a three-inch fracture of the skull. Mike Conley, the former pugilist of Ashland, Wis., and known as "the Ithaca giant," is under arrest charged with being implicated in the murder of Gildea.

Early Sunday morning, Gildea was put out of Bob O'Brien's saloon on West Sixth street and tried to get back in. When at the door he was shoved into the street, after being struck in the face.

He was under the influence of liquor and fell upon his face, striking his forehead on the pavement, causing a three-inch fracture of the frontal bone. A clot of blood formed at the base of the brain and death followed.

The exact circumstances surrounding the infliction of the injuries are difficult to obtain, but David Satchwell, a waiter, testified at the coroner's inquest yesterday that he saw Conley strike Gildea. On the advice of his attorney, Conley refused to testify. He claims he is innocent; that, while he was in the saloon at the time of the fight, he did not hit Gildea.

Charles D. Gildea was a Western Union telegraph operator, and had been in that company's employ from boyhood. He was 28 years old.

According to the best information that could be learned he entered O'Brien place about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, had a few drinks and went to sleep on a chair. Being in the way at a table, he was roused and asked to move. An argument followed, and Gildea, who became abusive, was ordered out of the house. He refused to go and two house men put him out. He turned to re-enter. By this time several people had gathered, and what appeared to be a general fight ensued. Gildea got near the door, when he was struck by some person in the face. He reeled back and, turning around, fell heavily to the pavement and lay unconscious.

Puck McCaffery says he happened along at this time and, seeing that it was a friend of his lying on the pavement, called hack No. 7, driven by "Rubber" Carey. Several of the fellows who had come out of O'Brien's place were then trying to lift the stricken operator to his feet, evidently thinking him but slightly injured. The hack drew up and he was placed in it and taken by McCaffery to the office of Dr. Freeman, Seventh and John streets. On arriving there Gildea was taken inside the office, but could not be roused to consciousness. Electrical appliances were used, but they failed to bring him to, and Dr. Freeman, with the remark that the sufferer would not live, ordered him taken to his home, 909 Betts street. Dr. Freeman tried for over an hour to resuscitate Gildea, but failed.

On arriving at his home, Tommy Gildea, the dead man's younger brother, was awakened, and he and McCaffery carried the injured man to his apartments on the third floor in a chair. He was bleeding at the nose and ears.

After placing him upon a bed McCaffery went home. All the rest of the morning the injured man raved and remained unconscious until nearly 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when his brother Tommy called Dr. Maloney, but before the doctor arrived Gildea was dead.

Dr. Henry Terlinden was called, and the coroner was notified. Dr. Terlinden was ordered to perform an autopsy, the result of which showed that he had died from a fracture of the frontal bone, and that a clot of blood had formed in consequence at the base of the brain. No other evidences of injury could be found about his body.

STRUCK A BONANZA.

A Former Waste Product Being Utilized.

De Kalb, Ill., April 10.—The American Steel and Wire company, a branch of the trust, is said to have struck a bonanza here in utilizing a former waste product. For years the wire-works people here were accustomed to drain the acids used in drawing wire into the Kishwaukee river. To such an extent was the stream used in carrying off the stuff that the water was polluted and the concern was threatened with a number of damage suits unless they desisted.

In considering a plan by which they might get rid of the acid without injury to any one, a plan to utilize it and sell it was hit upon. The operation has been going on quietly for several months, during which the production of copperas from the acid has been brought to a successful stage. Carloads of the material are now being shipped from here, and the company has more orders than it can fill.

The acid is turned into a series numbering twelve tanks. Into the tanks are thrown certain quantities of scrap wire, which is entirely eaten by the acid. A plank is laid across a tank and from it are suspended a number of hangers resembling steel rods. The hangers dip down into the acid, which forms in crystals around the hanger. When the latter is well loaded with the copperas crystals it is drawn out and shaken over a drying table, on which they are permitted to remain until the steam pipes under the tables have thoroughly dried the product, when it is ready for shipment.

The firsts are barreled, but the seconds, an inferior grade, are shipped by the carload in bulk. Copperas is used for dyes, in making inks, medicines, paints and for other purposes, and up to this time there has been a steady demand for the product.

HIS LEG AMPUTATED.

Surgical Operation on a Theatrical Manager.

Pittsburg, April 10.—H. M. Barnett, the millionaire theatrical manager, who is 69 years old, have submitted to the amputation of his right leg above the knee. The operation was performed at Mercy hospital. It was made necessary by a case of incipient grangrene. Last fall Mr. Bennett, who is senior partner of the theatrical firm of R. M. Gulick & Co., lessees of the Bijou theater, this city, and the Star theater in New York, came to this city and took up his residence at the Hotel Victoria. The disease first appeared in Mr. Barnett's right foot. After his big toe was amputated the disease spread to his leg and the latter had to be amputated to save his life.

THEY STRUCK.

Workmen In Ashley Shops of Central Road Go Out.

Wilkesbarre, April 11.—Employes of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, in the Ashley car shops, struck at noon today because Superintendent Thomas refused to reinstate thirty discharged men.

About two weeks ago thirty men employed in the car shops of the Central Railroad of New Jersey were suspended. They claimed they were laid off because they were prominent in the labor union, while the officials maintained that work was slack and were confirmed by General Manager Warren, upon whom the men called. They were not convinced, however, and gave the officials until noon today to reinstate them.

HELPS A LUMBER GRAB.

Root Turns Down the Hoar Amendment.

Washington, April 11.—In turning down the Hoar amendment to the Spooner amendment by deciding to uphold his departmental order enabling Representative Hull's Philippine Lumber and Development company to grab and exploit the great forests of the archipelago, Secretary Root has given his first exhibition of constructive legal talent since he entered the cabinet.

It is the first time that he has played lawyer on a big scale. Heretofore he has carefully refrained from doing anything of the sort, although hard pressed by Republican politicians. Where questions of law have arisen he has invariably turned to the department of justice for advice and assistance. In the case of the lumber order, however, he deemed it expedient to act upon his own responsibility and not wait for advice from the attorney general. Perhaps Mr. Root did not feel sure of the character of the advice the department of justice would offer him.

He may not have been satisfied in his own mind that Solicitor General Richards, who is acting as attorney general, would hold that he had a right to give Representative Hull a franchise that will yield him and his friends millions in profits. At any rate, Mr. Root, with characteristic audacity, took the bull by the horns and gave Hull what he wanted. There is only one opinion about the matter in Washington, and that is that the order is a clear and flagrant violation of the Hoard franchise amendment.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

Youngstown, Ohio, April 11.—Unless the engineers, firemen and water tenders employed at the plants of the Republic Iron and Steel company here are granted increases in wages, ranging from 15 to 35 cents per day, they threaten to strike next Monday. A strike would throw about 2000 men out of employment.

RIDICULED

Miller's Railroad Resolution In House.

Duluth Members Check Its Progress.

St. Paul, April 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Miller's Iron Range railroad resolution came up in the house today for first reading. Its friends wanted immediate action. Mr. Laybourn gave notice of debate, but Mr. Jacobson insisted that such notice did not apply to concurrent resolutions, and spoke at some length in support of the investigation. Mr. Mallory was against it and called into play his most cutting carcasm, ridiculing the whole tenor of the resolution. He said:

"'Whereas, it is reported that some fellow or other is reported, and

"'Whereas, it has been currently published in some newspapers that some fellow or other is thinking of making up his mind to go to Europe, therefore be it ordered that the senate report be investigated.' That is about the substance of this resolution, which is all buncombe, and should not be adopted.

"Some fellows want to make a reputation and say 'We did it.' A lot of fellows who want to come before the people two years hence want to use this legislature to help them. This house should not stultify itself by getting excited over something that is only rumored."

Mr. Jacobson again took the floor in behalf of the resolution insisting upon the necessity for its adoption in a strenuous speech.

Again Mr. Mallory came at him, suggesting that the member from Lac Qui Parle knows the general implement business, but that he knew nothing of iron ore railroading. Mr. Laybourn referred to the statutes to show that the attorney general already had full power to act and he insisted on his notice of debate. Mr. Roberts moved a suspension of the rules, but the Duluth men won, the vote being 62 to 28, and a two-thirds vote being required.

Today, as the last day for legislative business, was a house cleaning session, committees and house combining in the work of clearing away all pending matters. The appropriation committee brought in a report indefinitely postponing fifty-seven bill, the items in which had in most cases been incorporated in the general appropriation bill passed yesterday. The general road and bridge bill was sent to conference on a few items added by the senate. Senate amendments in a number of other cases were concurred in and the bills repassed.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE

Mrs. Margaret Hossack, an Iowa Woman, Found Guilty of Murder on Evidence That Was Entirely Circumstantial.

Des Moines, April 11.—Mrs. Margaret Hossack, of Indianola, wife of a wealthy farmer, was found guilty today of the murder of her husband on the night of Dec. 1, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. The trial lasted two weeks. It excited much interest as the evidence was entirely circumstantial.

On the night of Dec. 1 John Hossack and his wife retired for the night. About 10:30 Mrs. Hossack declares that she was awakened by a flash of light. Upon getting out of bed, she found that her husband had been hit on the head with an axe. Two wounds were made, one by the sharp edge and the other with the blunt end of the axe, which was found hidden under the granary. Death ensued in an hour. The state presented evidence that for thirty years the couple had quarreled and that previous to the murder they had a dispute over one of the children, of whom nine are living. It was also maintained by the prosecution that Mrs. Hossack had as an object the securing of the $60,000 estate of her husband.

LIVELY ON THE BORDER

Serious Trouble on the Nacroca Railway---Strikers Killed American and Others Were Severely Wounded In Melee.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 11.—Serious trouble continues along the line of the Nacroca railway, where the graders have struck. On the Arizona end of the line several hundred Yaqui Indians have been put to work in place of the strikers and are guarded by a strong force of deputies.

At Fronteras an American gambler was killed by strikers, two Mexicans were mortally wounded and several others seriously hurt in the melee.

Four troops of Mexican soldiers have been sent to Fronteras and the contractors have asked for further protection.

It is stated that an attempt by Americans to organize the graders was the cause of the strike and subsequent rioting.

VERY AMUSING STORY

The Filipino Junta at London Claims That Gen. MacArthur Is Building Engines of Torture For Aguinaldo.

London, April 11.—At a secret meeting of the Filipino junta held here today thirty-five representative Filipinos from Madrid, Barcelona, Paris and Brussels being present, there was read a telegram from the Singapore junta, which said that Gen. MacArthur was preparing to torture Aguinaldo unless Aguinaldo took the oath of allegiance to the United States and signed the peace proclamation. The Singapore junta urged those present at this London meeting to formulate a circular of protest directed to the European courts. It described in detail the engines of torture that were being erected by the Americans at the Malacanan palace at Manilla.

The meeting professed intense anxiety over this statement from Singapore, in spite of the publication here, April 2, of a dispatch to the effect that Aguinaldo had already sworn allegiance to the United States. The meeting adjourned pending the receipt of a report that the tortures had actually been inflicted upon Aguinaldo, when, it is said, their protest to the European courts would be filed if the Singapore junta so advised.

The Filipino leaders here ridicule the idea that the arrest of Aguinaldo will put a stop to the insurrection in the Philippines.

BOILER EXPLODED.

One Killed Another Injured at Rose City.

West Branch, Mich., April 11.—By the explosion of the boiler at Edward O. Arnold's sawmill at Rose City, Fireman Oliver Allen was killed. Arnold's son was seriously injured. The mill was completely destroyed.

LARGEST ON RECORD.

Easter Offertory at a New York Church.

New York, April 11.—Grace church parishioners laid on the plates $100,000 in money and checks when the offertory was taken on Easter Sunday, the largest amount in the history of the famous church. The money is to be devoted to enlarging the church building on Fourth avenue and increasing the scope of the church work.

At other Episcopal churches Easter collections were also generous. Over $12,000 was raised at St. Thomas', of which $2000 will be used to give the 1200 Sunday school scholars the benefit of sea breezes at the church home on Long Island. At Calvary $9000 was contributed. At St. George's $5000 was given for the fresh air fund, which made 14,000 children happy last year. The Church of the Ascension raised nearly $7000.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

Believed the Jersey Central Conference Will Have Results.

Both Sides Think There Will Be Complete Adjustment.

In All Probability New Committee Will Be Appointed.

New York, April 11.—Employes and officials of the Central Railroad of New Jersey will go into conference at Jersey City at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Both sides incline to the belief that there will be a complete and final adjustment of wage differences. The only difference between the representatives of the engineers and firemen and the officials was as to the participation of the trainmen in the meeting today. Waite and Shea did not seem inclined to have them, but Olhausen insisted that they be present. It was also decided to admit any employes who can spare the time, so there is a possibility that the meeting will be a very largely attended one. The conductors will have no voice in the conference for the railroad acceded to their original demands and their only relationship to the present dispute is sympathetic in nature. It is improbable that the meeting of this afternoon will be fruitful of results, but there is a strong likelihood some line of action will be agreed upon. It is possible that the men will appoint a new conference committee to act with the group of officials who are handling the dispute for the railroad. Vice President Warren gave out the following today:

"We have been receiving many expressions from employes of a desire to have a new committee selected by them meet the company and discuss the matter. The propositions submitted by the company are so fair there has been no doubt they would be accepted by any new committee appointed. The officers of the company, as previously stated, are always ready to confer with employes on matters of mutual interest. Mr. Waite and Mr. Shea called upon Superintendent Olhausen and Superintendent Wentz yesterday, requesting and arranging for a meeting between their committee and the local officials of the company for this afternoon, to further discuss the propositions submitted by the company."

FORGERIES

Experts Testify In Rice Murder Case.

Say the Checks and Will Are Forged.

New April 11.—Lawyer Albert T. Patrick, who is charged with having caused the death of William Marsh Rice, the Texas millionaire, will probably know this afternoon whether Justice Jerome will hold him to await tae action of the grand jury on the capital charge. It is generally expected that the testimony in the commitment proceedings will be all in this afternoon. The first witness today was William J. Kinsley, an expert on handwriting. The witness was handed several checks paid by Swenson & Co., and signed by William M. Rice, and then was handed the 1900 will and the checks for $25,000 and $65,000, drawn on Swenson & Co., in favor of Patrick. Mr. Kinsley said that in his opinion the signatures on the will and on the $25,000 and $65,000 checks were not written by the person who had signed the checks presented by the prosecution as bearing the genuine signature of William M. Rice.

Attorney Osborne then handed the witness the assignment on the Fifth Avenue Trust company, and what is known as the "Cremation letter," and Mr. Kinsley said:

"I have already compared the signatures on these papers with the admitted signature of the late Mr. Rice, and I say that in my opinion they were not written by the same person."

Defendant's counsel, Mr. Moore, then asked the witness if he had any personal knowledge of the handwriting of Mr. Rice other than that certain signatures were shown him as being in Mr. Rice's handwriting, and the expert replied that he had not.

David N. Carvalho, another handwriting expert, was called. He corroborated Kingsley's testimony.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne then said that the prosecution rested its case until Professor Witthaus, the analyst, could appear. Professor Witthaus was not in court, and a recess was ordered, pending his arrival.

Professor Rudolph Witthaus, expert in chemical analysis, testified that he had made an examination of the internal organs of William M. Rice. In the stomach he found traces of mercury, in the intestines he found about half a grain of mercury, in the kidneys about one-ninth of a grain of mercury and in the liver an unweighable quantity of mercury. There was not sufficient mercury to cause death, but the presence of it in the organs indicated that a large quantity had been taken by the deceased, but just how much he could not determine. Witness said he had seen the brains and lungs, but was unable to tell of their condition, as he is not sufficiently conversant with these organs to give an expert opinion. On cross-examination, the professor said that traces of mercury would remain in the system several months after the drug had been introduced into the body. He could not say how long the fumes of chloroform would remain about a person to whom the drug was administered by inhalation. Professor Witthaus' testimony concluded, the court to ka recess after which arguments will be heard.

LACKS CONFIRMATION

Nothing Has Been Heard In London of the Re-Opening of Peace Negotiations By Gen. Botha.

New York, April 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The report that Gen. Botha has reopened peace negotiations lacks official confirmation, although one correspondent, in sending the news from Capetown, describes it as semi-official. The fact, however, that the telegram has been allowed to go over the wires by the military censor need not be taken as a guarantee of its correctness.

Only the other day Mr. Kruger scouted the idea of peace without independence, and asserted passionately that his officers in South Africa were of his opinion; but if there should be any truth in the report of the revival of negotiations, it is clear that the ex-president must have been misinformed, for it must follow that any idea of retaining the independence of the republics has been finally abandoned by the Boers. It is entirely possible that Gen. Both does not find it easy to co-operate with De Wet, but repeated statements about the latter's mental decay contrast sharply with the accounts of the famous raider's foresight and fertility of resource during his recent retreat from Cape Colony.

QUIET AT VENEZUELA

Minister Loomis Arrives at San Juan, on His Way to Washington---Says Situation Is Not Serious.

San Juan, Porto Rico, April 11.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Scorpion arrived here at 5 o'clock this evening from La Guayra, Vez., having on board Francis B. Loomis, the United States minister to Venezuela. Mr. Loomis will sail for New York tomorrow, on board the Red D liner Caracas. He was non-committal as to the exact situation, saying he was not recalled, but was simply on leave of absence.

Continuing, Mr. Loomis said there was no probability of the United States severing dilpomatic relations with Venezuela. Mr. Loomis will not report to Washington from here by cable. He left William R. Russell, the secretary of legation, in charge at Caracas.

Answering a question on the subject, Mr. Loomis said he saw no necessity for sending the United States squadron to Venezuelan waters, though he admitted that it was possible this might be done. Venezuela is now quiet and there is no immediate apprehension of a revolution. The minister said he believes President Castro is capable of handling the situation. He made no direct statement regarding the possibility of trouble between the United States and Venezuela, remarking that he could not talk on the subject before reaching Washington, but so far as he knew the entire misunderstanding was due to the asphalt controversy, and that in his opinion months will elapse before it is settled in the courts. He refused to deny that a certain anti-American ring would be glad to see him recalled. Mr. Loomis thought there was nothing serious in the situation.

IDLE GOSSIP.

The Report of Lord Hasbury's Retirement.

New York, April 11—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The rumor of Lord Halsbury's retirement from office is the idle breath of state gossip. The lord chancellor is in good health, and not in a mood for complaining of the burdens of an office which is a stronghold of power. No member of the government is likely to resign voluntarily the year before a coronation, except Lord Salisbury himself, whose health is impaired, possibly beyond hope of permanent revival.

OPEN SWITCH

Caused Wreck of Train on the Wabash.

Omaha, April 11.—Wabash passenger train, No. 1, northbound, was wrecked today at Wilcox, Mo., by running into an open switch. As the train was running slowly the engine was overturned and only the mail car was thrown into the ditch. The passengers received a severe shaking up, but no one was seriously hurt.

WORK AT A STANDSTILL.

Indianapolis, April 11.—Work in the block coal districts of Indiana, where over 3000 union miners are employed, is at a complete standstill, owing to the disagreement over the powder question. Another joint meeting will be held at Brazil on Monday, when it is hoped the matter will be amicably settled.

Big Contract For Rails For Glasgow Railway.

New York, April 11.—Private cable advices last night brought the news that the Glasgow, Scotland, municipal committee had recommended the awarding of a big contract to an American Steel company for the supplying of 3450 tons of rails and fish plates for the municipal street railway of Glasgow.

This rail contract will be the largest ever placed in this city for use in Great Britain. The Lorain Steel company, of Ohio, gets the order.

AT WEST DULUTH

John Beamur, of New Duluth, who was mixed up in the Arlington case that was tried over in Superior earlier in the year, is in trouble again, that is, he will be in trouble just as soon as the authorities get him. Beamur has been working in a box factory at New Duluth, and the foreman, John Noprnonsk, came down from New Duluth to Justice Stone's office last night and swore out a warrant charging Beamur with assault. The foreman, who was very badly bruised up, alleges that yesterday morning he found Beamur idle and told him to go to work, when the latter knocked him down and then kicked him about the head several times. When Noprnonsk started for the train to come to West Duluth after the papers, Beamur is said to have followed him to the depot threatening vengeance if a complaint was made.

Justice Stone telephoned to New Duluth authorities, who confirmed Noprnonsk's story, and a warrant was issued. Beamur, however, did not await further developments, but was missing when the officer went after him. The warrant will be placed in the hands of the sheriff.

New Duluthians are said to be rather pleased than otherwise at the absence of Beamur, and only hope that it will be permanent. Beamur was the man who was living with Ada Arlington at the time she shot a former paramour who was trying to break into her house. She was tried on the charge of manslaughter, in West Superior, and acquitted.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The insurance has been satisfactorily adjusted on the loss by fire, recently, of the Max Shores' Shirt factory, of West Duluth, but the company has not yet formulated their future plans enough to make them public. It is understood that a large part of the stock of cloths uninjured by the fire will be put on sale soon by various retail merchants of the city.

The Royal Neighbors gave a large and successful dancing party last evening in the Great Eastern hall. There were a number present from Duluth and Proctorknott.

The United Workmen and the ladies of the Degree of Honor had a joint meeting last evening in the Workmen's hall and a fine time is reported. A program of musical and literary selections was carried out. Speeches were made by Grand Foreman White and Deputy Grand Master Olson and others. A social session and rfreshments followed the program.

The Lady Foresters of West Duluth have changed the date of their party from April 19 to April 17.

Edward Caplis has returned from Koochiching, where he has been for some time. He returned on account of sickness.

Henry Moberg returned yesterday from the range, where he has been on his claim. He was called back to West Duluth by the sickness of Mrs. Moberg.

Extensive improvements, including the laying of a new foundation, are about to begin on the double store building at 5506 and 5508 Raleigh street. Emil Zauft has the contract for the work.

Up to this noon the condition of Mrs. Nygren, who is very low, was reported about the same.

The assault case of Mrs. Morton, of Proctorknott, who was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Henry Barber, of the same place, was dismissed in Justice Stone's court yesterday afternoon, as the chief witness for the prosecution did not put in an appearance. There was a large crowd present to hear the controversy had it not been dismissed.

Mrs. C. E. Moss, of Proctorknott, won the quilt raffled off for the benefit of St. Anthony's Charitable association.

DAY WAS QUIET.

Woodsmen Made Very Little Trouble Yesterday.

Notwithstanding the large crowd of temporarily well-to-do woodsmen on the bowery yesterday the best of order was maintained all day and all night. Police court this morning only dealt with about the ordinary number of drunken men, and there were no robberies or fighting.

For such a large crowd of heterogeneous money spenders the absence of drunkenness and other infractions of the law is very remarkable.

About the only ripple of excitement in police court this morning was caused by an innocent bystander, as they say down in Kentucky.

Guss Shores, one of the men arraigned for drunkenness, seemed to be suffering from rheumatism. He didn't make any effort to keep the secret of his suffering from the public, and insisted on being carried into the court room moaning and groaning as if he were going through agonies in anguish at the rate of 1000 a minute.

A ten-day sentence seemed to increase his suffering, and by the time he was carried out of the room the velocity of his anguish had been increased to 2000 agonies a minute.

The innocent bystander looked on for a few moments with an expression of sympathy, and then stepping up to Clerk Ross he said:

"Say, what is the matter with that old fellow?"

"Why, he has rheumatism," said Mr. Ross.

"Rheumatism! Rheumatism, is it? Why, I didn't have any idea you arrested people for that."

SELECTS THE DAY

Mayor Hugo Picks Arbor Day For City Cleaning.

All Citizens Urged to Clean Their Premises Then.

Will Mean Much For General Health of City.

Arbor day will be designated by Mayor Hugo as the proper day for all citizens to turn out and help cleanse the city of its filthiness. Governor Van Sant has proclaimed Friday, the 26th day of this month, as Arbor and Bird day, and the mayor in a proclamation to be issued shortly will designate it as a day to be set aside for the general cleaning of the city.

The health authorities, after inspecting the city very thoroughly from Lakeside to Smithville, find that many alleys, vacant lots and even occupied lots, are in such deplorable sanitary condition as to be extremely detrimental to the general health of the city, if not cleaned up immediately.

With insufficient funds at the disposal of the health department to properly clean the city, the administration has decided to do the best it can toward a general cleaning up, but is compelled, to a great extent, to depend on the cooperation of the citizens. If each resident will clean up the property owned or occupied by him on Arbor day, the city can be put in a reasonably good sanitary condition inside of twelve hours.

However, if the citizens generally do not take hold of the cleaning up proposition, it may cost considerable in the shape of doctors' bills later on. There is much smallpox, scarlet fever and other contagious diseases prevalent this spring, and physicians say that filthy alleys and lots are regular hot-beds of culture for the germs.

Mayor Hugo, recently speaking of the proposed day for cleaning up, said that he felt reasonably sure that the citizens would take hold of it. Many had expressed to him a desire to have such a day designated, and he expressed the belief that civic pride in the beauty and welfare of the city would, in itself, lead to a general observance of the day.

The day selected by the mayor seems most appropriate. By the governor's proclamation it is made a special day throughout the state, and in some cases it will be observed as a legal holiday. Some contend that Arbor and Bird day is a legal holiday, and an act of the 1899 legislature authorized the governor to designate such a day as a holiday, if he deemed it advisable.

The governor recommends that at least a portion of the day be devoted to the planting of forest trees and shrubs, to the end that homes and public grounds may be more pleasant and attractive. In the Duluth schools the day will be observed with special exercises aimed to teach pupils to appreciate the utility of trees and shrubs and the importance of preserving the harmless birds making their homes in this state. It is also expected that the teachers will urge the pupils to take a part in the general movement to clean up the city.

There is also some talk of requesting the ministers throughout the city to speak of the cleaning-up movement from their pulpits next Sunday. Last year many ministers made it a prologue to the sermon, while others preached sermons on city cleanliness. Unfortunately the movement last year was not as generally observed as it might be, and every effort will be made to stir up enthusiasm and civic pride for the campaign against filth and germ-generating garbage heaps a week from tomorrow.

Astonishing Discovery Made At City Hall.

City hall employes were rushed madly into a sea of shuddering discussion this morning by the discovery that one of their number had neglected to draw his salary for last July. His check had been up in the treasurer's office uncashed for the past eight months! This, too, while his fellow employes had been chasing many elusive bubbles of finance in a vain endeavor to keep from drawing their next month's pay in advance. Such carelessness is positively unprecedented, and the discovery created intense excitement for a few hours. Business, however, was not wholly suspended, and it was decided that for the sake of the young man's family his name should not be made public. The July salary which he forgot to draw was for work done in the assessor's office.

GOES TO CALIFORNIA.

Robert Whiteside May Negotiate For Trees.

Robert B. Whiteside, the lumberman, left this afternoon for California, and it is rumored that he is to dicker with the people of that state over the famous Calaveras big tree grove of sequoias that he purchased some time ago for $100,000, thereby stirring up no end of a hornet's nest from one end of the county to the other. Mr. Whiteside does not say what he is going for.

It will be remembered that when the purchase was made, and the Californians found out that the grove had slipped out of their hands, a mighty outcry arose from the West that spread all over the country. It was immediately assumed that Mr. Whiteside, being a lumberman, had no thought for the beautiful, and that the only view he ever took of timber was that it might be cut up into lumber. So it was assumed that he was going to proceed forthwith and put up a sawmill, under the deep shade of his grove of gigantic and aged sequoias, and turn them into lumber.

The matter got into congress, but like lots of other things that shared a like fate last winter, it was becalmed in a Saragosa of eloquence and entangled in a maize of wire-pulling, and got nowhere. An offer of $125,000 for the grove was made, but it was refused by Mr. Whiteside, and it was reported that he wanted $500,000.

It is expected that something definite will come out of his California trip, and that before his return the matter will be settled so that the Californians can settle back with a sigh of relief in the thought that their sequoias are secure from the ravenous grasp of the lumberman.

LeLonde In Trouble.

Charles LeLonde, former proprietor of the famous "Blue Light" saloon on the Bowery, was arrested this afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Gus Charrier and charging him with assault. This assault is alleged to have taken place in Safford's saloon at 612 West Superior street, last Tuesday.

Mr. LeLonde says that he hasn't even a dim recollection of assaulting any person on that day and says he does not even know who Charrier is. The hearing was set for tomorrow afternoon.

You can get boarders, help, tenants or partners by means of a Herald want ad.

MADE AN ARREST.

Bowery Habitue Arrested For Sidewalk Spitting.

The Bowery is likely to become as immaculate as one of the streets of Spotless town. Chief Crandall this morning notified the officers in that district that the city ordinance against spitting on sidewalks would have to be more strictly enforced. As a result at 1:30 this afternoon the first arrest for sidewalk spitting was made by Officer Mork. The prisoner was James Murpay.

The anti-spitting ordinance has been in effect for about a year. It provides against spitting in buildings, street cars or other public conveniences, and on sidewalks or crosswalks. There have been a great many arrests for spitting in street cars, but this is the first on record where a man was arrested for spitting on the sidewalk.

JENCKS HERE.

Manager of the New Boat Line Is Visiting Duluth.

General Manager Jencks of the Port Huron and Duluth Steamship company, a new boat line that will be established between Port Huron, Mich., and this port the coming season, was in the city today in company with T. C. Burgess, the Northwestern general agent of the Grand Trunk railway system, of which the new boat line is a part. The visit is said to have no special significance further than a desire on the part of Mr. Jencks to look over the situation and become familiar with a city that will form one of the terminals of the boat line of which he is also the principal owner. The company will put on two boats as soon as the season opens. Harry Hurdon will be the local agent of the company. This morning Mr. Jencks and Mr. Burgess were taken in charge by W. W. Broughton, assistant general freight agent; E. L. Brown, superintendent, and J. O. Dalzell, general agent of the Northern Pacific Railway company. The party had a special engine and coach and went all over the Northern Pacific terminals in this city and West Superior. Mr. Jencks left for Port Huron this afternoon.

TORRENS SYSTEM

The Law Is Now Applicable to St. Louis County.

Register Merrill of Hennepin County Talks of Law.

M. H. Alworth Not Sanguine as to Its Operation.

This county, in common with Hennepin and Ramsey counties, the other two most important counties of the state, has at last secured the Torrens sytem of land titles, which has been demanded for years. The bill providing for it is now a law, and within a short time it will be working in this county.

A. Lofgren, the register of deeds of this county, said this morning that while he was hearty in favor of the system he was not in a position to speak on the present law, because he was not familiar with its provisions. He did not know whether it was like those of Massachusetts and Illinois, so he could not presume to talk intelligently upon it before he had read the bill.

George C. Merrill, register of deeds, of Hennepin county and an abstractor of long experience, has given an interview in which he declares himself as being very much in favor of the system. He is said to be the best posted abstractor in the state, so his opinion is of considerable value. He says:

"There is not the least question that the plan is a good one," said he, "and if the law has been so framed as to guide the system past the rocks of mistake, the whole thing will be a benefit. There is no question but what the plan has worked well in Canada, and under the English government, but there they have different things to contend with from what we have in the United States.

"You know that English possessions do not operate under any constitution. Their houses are almost supreme and anything they may say goes. That is why they are not running up against constitutional provisions in operating things as we do in this country. In Illinois, where the system was tried, the legislature strove to make a law providing that after five years a statute of limitations should operate, and after that time no certificate could be contested.

"But there they ran against the judicial functions of the commonwealth. You see, American states are operated under three distinct prerogatives. There is the legislative, the judicial and the official. The legislative must not usurp the judicial function. The fact that a register of deeds could issue a certificate which would be noncontestable after five years was usurping the judicial. Consequently in Illinois, they ran aground.

"In the Minnesota bill they have guarded against that by providing that the district court orders the certificates, and practically passes upon the titles. Every first certificate embodies practically an action to quiet title, in which service is secured by publication. That makes the act a judicial one, and obviates the Illinois difficulty. As the bill stands, I see only these probabilities. The United States court may not recognince service by publication as against non-residents. Now, if the law will weather these two points, the fact of encroaching upon the judicial function, and can secure a service that will be recognized, then we will have a law that is a splendid thing for the people and will simplify land transfers immensely in the future."

M. H. Alworth, who has been in the abstract business here for a number of year does not think the system will prove to be very popular here. "The experience of Illinois does not indicate that it will be," said he this morning. "One of the leading attorneys of Chicago told me that the law there is a failure. He said that it cost all the way from $50 to $400 to get a piece of property certified and then it is hung up for two years afterward. If that is the effect of its operation, it may be all right for England and Australia and countries where land moves slowly, but in this country, where transfers of a single piece are made so frequently, the law will not work well."

Mrs. Rorer's Lecture.

The lecture by Mrs. Rorer yesterday was attended better than any of the week. The demonstrations were very good and the talk that accompanied her work was entertaining and instructive. The Boer War.

The latest news from South Africa indicates a speedy and peaceful termination of the conflict that has been raging for the past two years. War is a terrible thing and his slain thousands, but stomach troubles, we believe, have slain even more. When the stomach is out of order the entire system suffers and disease takes an easy hold. To insure health and long life keep the stomach in good condition by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The next time you are troubled with dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, or any other disorder of the stomach, do not fail to give it a trial. It will cure these ailments and prevent malaria, fever and ague. Insist on having the genuine with our private revenue stamp over the neck of the bottle.

RECEIVER ASKED

For Michigan Savings and Loan Association.

Deeroit, April 11.—In the United States court this afternoon, application was made for a receiver for the Michigan Savings and Loan association of Detroit. The application was made on behalf of a stockholder living in another state. Alleged poor management and heavy losses in the Galveston flood have embarrassed the association. Examiner Lord refuses at present to make any statement of the company's assets and liabilities, as his examination is not finished, but it is admitted that the embarrassment is serious.

DRAGGING.

Negotiations In China Are Making Slow Progress.

Washington, April 11.—There was no development over night in the situation at Pekin, so far as the state department is informed. The troublesome subject of indemnities is still engaging the attention of the ministers here, and not much progress is being made towards a final settlement. Incidentally exchanges are going on between the various foreign officers, in an irregular manner, and it is possible that these will eventuate in the arrangement of a basis of settlement. Some such course as this was found necessary to secure the original agreement upon which the ministers are now in negotiation with the Chinese envoys, the ministers themselves having failed to arrange a base for the negotiations.

BRITISH BEEF.

To Be Used Exclusively By English Government.

Washington, April 11.—The department of agriculture, has received a dispatch from a prominent packing company of Chicago, announcing that they have been just advised that the English government has excluded all beef except home beef from the British army contracts. This, it is stated, is to be effective June 1 next.

MAKES A NEW RULE

Public Examiner Requires Treasurer's Office to Issue Checks.

Separate One Must Be Drawn For Every Item.

Means Largely Increased Amount of Work For Office.

If any purchaser of county orders sends in a bunch of them, say fifty, and gets back from the county treasurer fifty checks instead of one for the total amount, as the custom has been in the past, he may know that it is because when Public Examiner Pope was here recently he required some radical changes in the methods of doing business at the court house.

The changes he required were because it is his purpose to see that a uniformity of methods prevails all over the state. He says that the law requires this, and on his recent visit here he was very positive in his requests that the county officers here conform to the system he suggested. In the past, when several claims came in to the county treasurer's office, it was the custom to pay them off in one check, or to turn over the cash. Often county officers have brought in checks to be cashed for their convenience. None of these things can be done any more. Everything must be paid in checks, and there must be a check for every item, no matter how small.

According to Treasurer Whipple, it is now taking the most of one man's time to write checks, and many of the checks issued are for small amounts, as little as 15 cents. The banks and others often buy up county orders, and when they are called in they will turn in quite a bunch at a time. In the past it was the custom to pay these all off with one check, but under the new system there will have to be a check for every order, no matter how many there are in the bunch.

Therefore the county officers and employes who have been having checks cashed in the treasurer's office will be able to do so no longer. No cash will be paid out, but every warrant that is paid will be paid in a check.

Another thing the public examiner objected to was keeping refund accounts with the general county account at the banks. For instance, very often an outsider will send in a sum of money to pay his taxes. Not knowing just what they are he will send too much, and there will be a refund due him. It has been the custom to turn the whole sum into the one account and check the refund against it. The public examner directs that the county treasurer shall keep a separate account at the bank for this, and the average shall not be turned in to the general account.

"We may get used to these innovations in time," said Mr. Whipple this morning, "and find them just as easy as the old ones. But at present it strikes us that it involves a good deal of extra work. We have been trying all along to simplify the system so as to get along with less clerk hire, but this will necessitate more, and it does not seem to us that it is going to make our accounts any clearer than before. We could keep tab on things just as easily before as we can now. I do not think that large companies should be classed the same as small ones, for methods that might be the best in a small office might be ponderous and cumbersome in large ones."

NOT CORRECT.

Ex-Senator Towne Not to Visit the Philippines.

The St. Paul Dispatch of last evening contained the following from its correspondent at Washington:

"It is reported in Washington today that ex-Senator Charles A. Towne is to go to the Philippines as special representative of the Anti-Imperialist league. Congressman J. Wesley Gaines of Tennessee said this afternoon: 'Yes, I understand Mr. Towne is going to Manilla, and I hope to be able to accompany him. Senator Bacon of Georgia is also going with the party.'"

Mr. Towne, when shown the statement this afternoon, said that it was not correct. Such an idea was suggested at one time, he said, but it never got beyond that point.

IS INSANE.

Further Confirmation of the Condition of Gen. DeWet.

London, April 11.—A news agency this morning publishes a dispatch from Cape Town received by the Frankfurter Zeitung purporting to be a true picture of the present situation in South Africa, and confirming a Reuter dispatch on the same subject cabled to the Associated Press yesterday. The dispatch says that Gen. De Wet is so distracted by the hopelessness of his cause that he can truthfully be described as insane. He goes in fear of his life amidst his own troops, and keeps himself surrounded night and day by a bodyguard of chosen adherents. From his own ranks voices are now more frequently heard calling imperatively for peace.

CATHOLICS OBJECT

To Educational Legislation of United States.

Chicago, April 11.—Educational legislation in the United tSates was attacked today in the discussions at the Roman Catholic education conference, as being unfair, partial and prejudical to the private rights of individuals and to religious institutions, in the tendency of the laws to absolute state control of schools. The educators urged combined and earnest action to extend and perfect the Roman Catholic educational system and to protect the institutions championing it, in order to win out in the competition between the secular and church institutions. It was claimed by the speakers that the present time is the most critical one to determine the supremacy or weakening of church educational system. The free text books, the bureau of education, the national educational association, the state control of private schools and colleges were discussed in connection with the subject.

BAD WRECK.

Several Killed In Accident to Atlantic Coast Express.

Pueblo, Colo., April 11.—Train No. 2 on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, known as the Atlantic coast express, which left here at 12:30 p. m., was wrecked at Eden, seven miles north. Several persons are reported to have been killed.

DECLINES.

Dr. Northrop Refuses McKinley's Recent Appointment.

Minneapolis, April 11.—Dr. Cyrus G. Northrup, president of the University of Minnesota, today decided to decline the appointment offered him by the president as delegate to the conference of American states at the City of Mexico. He found the date of the conference coincided with that of Yale's bi-centennial celebration, at which he had agreed to deliver an address. The president's commission arrived today and Dr. Northrop acted at once.

THE PLAGUE.

Ten Thousand Deaths Occurred In China Recently.

Pekin, April 11.—Robert M. McWade, United States consul at Canton, China, reports that 10,000 deaths from the plague have occurred there during the past six weeks and that there are thirteen cases of smallpox on board the United States monitor Monterey. Only one death has resulted on the Monterey and the other cases of smallpox are progressing favorably. The meetings of the foreign ministers at Pekin have been postponed at the request of M. De Giers on account of the Easter holidays.

LESS WATER.

The Flow In the Chicago River Is Ordered Cut.

Chicago, April 11.—The Post today says: Federal authorities have ordered the flow in the Chicago river reduced from 300,000 to 200,000 cubic feet a minute. Word to this effect came from Washington to the sanitary board today. The current will not be increased until the channel has been widened and deepened and existing obstructions to navigation have been removed.

Action on the part of the war department was brought about by the protest of local river interests and the Lake Carriers' association, which, since the opening of the big canal, have complained that 300,000 cubic feet provided by law was dangerous to navigation under present conditions. Local authorities are apprehensive of the effect it may have upon the St. Louis litigation. With the full flow to dilute the sewage carried down the canal from the Chicago river, the board had no fear of the charge that Chicago was polluting the water supply of St. Louis.

DECISION RESERVED.

Justice Jerome Remands Patrick Until Monday.

New York, April 11.—At the close of the arguments Justice Jerome said he would withhold his decision as to whether a case sufficiently strong had been presented to warrant the holding of Patrick on the charge of murder. Patrick was remanded until next Monday.

The defense waived examination in the forgery charges against Patrick, David L. Short and Maurice Meyer and they were held for the grand jury. Bail for Short and Meyer was fixed at $1000 each. The amount of Patrick's bail on the forgery charge was not fixed.

WORK OF VANDALS.

Hendricks Monument at Indianapolis Badly Damaged.

Indianapolis, April 11.—Serious damage was done to the Thomas A. Hendricks monument in the state house grounds during the night, presumably by metal thieves. One of the large granite ornaments, weighing about 100 pounds and surmounted by a heavy piece of bronze, was broken from its base and thrown to the ground, a bronze shield crossed with a piece of bronze representing a laurel leaf was forced from its place high up on the monument and carried away and the scales which the figure of justice held in her hand were stolen.

RECALLED SURVEYORS.

Indication of Passing of Burlington Control.

Chicago, April 11.—The Burlington has recalled its corps of surveyors which have been selecting a route from Guernsey, Wyo., to Salt Lake City.

"This action," said the Evening Post today, "is taken as showing that the managing authorities of the Burlington system have received, an intimation that the control of the road has practically passed to other hands, or is likely to do so."

OSCAR WILL ARBITRATE.

Washington, April 11.—King Oscar of Norway and Sweden, has accepted the post of arbitrator on the Samoan claims of the United States, Great Britain and Germany, although it has been made known that his illness thus far has prevened his giving active consideration to the subject.

NEW PAPER.

Milwaukee, April 11.—Articles of incorporation of the Milwaukee Free Press company were filed with the register of deeds today. The capital stock is placed at $100,000. The incorporators are Harry P. Myrick, Albert Huegin and Cassius M. Paine, all of Milwaukee. The articles call for the publishing of a daily, weekly, semi-weekly or tri-weekly papers. Messrs. Myrick and Huegin were editor-in-chief and business manager of the Milwaukee Sentinel prior to the recent change in ownership. The new paper is expected to issue its first number within a month or two. It will be Republican in politics and support the administration of Governor La Follette.

LOYAL LEGION.

Washington, April 11.—The congress and reunion of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion adjourned today to meet in San Francisco on the Wednesday succeeding the 5th day of April, 1905. Most of the session today was devoted to the consideration of amendments to the constitution, all being adopted. The most important of these broadens the scope of membership and is articularly designed to admit veterans of the Spanish-American war, who possess the other qualifications. It makes eligible to membership of the first-class those who served in the civil war as enlisted men or warrant ocers in the regular or volunteer army, navy or marine corps of the United States. Heretofore the "subsequent commissions" recognized have been restricted to those in the regular army.

WANT INFORMATION.

Chicago, April 11.—Swift & Co. have wired the agricultural department regarding the probable action of the English government excluding all but home bred beef from army contracts. A. H. Vreeder, general counsel for Swift & Co., said their London represtative had cabled to the above effect and they had immediately advised the department at Washington. They had also cabled London for further information. Mr. Vreeder was inclined to doubt that definite action had been taken by the British government. He expected further information tonight.

G. J. Brine, of Armour & Co. said his company had received a cablegram from its London agent stating that "it was rumored" that such action had been taken. Armour & Co. immediately telegraphed Secretary Gage asking for confirmation, but had no reply up to a late hour this afternoon.

Silberstein & Bondy Company

COPPER STOCK

35-CENTS PER SHARE-35

A limited number of $1.00 unassessable Shares in the Parry Sound Copper Mining Co., (limited), which Company owns about 4,000 acres of the most carefully selected Copper lands in the Parry Sound District.

Two of the company's properties, known as the "McGowan" and "Wilcox Mines," have now been sufficiently developed to warrant actual mining on a large scale the coming season.

Both mines were examined and reported upon very favorably last June by Prof. John F. Blandy, of Prescott, Arizona. At the end of his report Mr. Blandy says:

"I was at the Quincy at its start and it has since paid over eight millions in dividends.

"I was at the Calumet & Hecla at its start, and it has since paid over seventy millions in dividends.

"I was at the United Verde Mine at its start and it has since paid many millions in dividends.

"I was at the Copper Queen Mine and saw the openings; it has since paid many millions of dividends.

"And in conclusion will say, at none of these mines were the croppings to be compared with those of the Parry Sound Copper Mining Co., nor have any of them the wonderful natural facilities that the Parry Sound Copper Co. has."

These properties were also specially examined for us last February by Reginald W. Petre, Esq., formerly of Duluth, and now a prominent mining engineer at Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Petre's report is equally favorable to Prof. Blandy's and endorses all the professor says. Mr. Petre fully confirms Prof. Blandy's report and says in regard to the "McGowan Mines: "There is not the slightest question of the value of the "McGowan ore. It is doubtful whether there is anything to compare with it on the continent."

We personally visited these mines, in company with Mr. Petre, and in our opinion both Prof. Blandy and Mr. Petre are fully justified in the reports they have made. Our own judgment is that the properties are simply wonderful and of inestimable value. These properties are not mere prospects, but actual mines, with vast bodies of immensely rich ore, as has been proven by actual tests in laboratory and furnace.

READ THESE RETURNS from first experimental shipments of ore from the "McGowan" Mine to the Orford Copper Company, of New Jersey, within three months after commencement of exploration work with only 30 men. How will it be with larger crews and with smelting and refining works within easier reach? And this is one of the properties owned by the Parry Sound Copper Mining Co., whose stock is on sale by A. R. Macfarlane & Co.

We have been investigating this proposition for over a year, and now feel warranted in recommending the stock as a safe and profitable investment.

AN EXTRA SESSION

Member of Cabinet Suggested It But President Disapproved.

Administration Is Much Worried Over the Situation In Cuba.

Trouble In Porto Rico Also Makes President Uneasy.

Washington, April 11.—The gravity of the Cuban situation has led a member of the cabinet to suggest the advisability of calling an extra session of congress to deal further with the affairs of that island. The suggestion was promptly squelched by the president. He said that it would be unwise even to discuss a plan to call congress together until the Cubans had given a further indication of what they proposed to do. The member who made the suggestion explained that he believed congress ought to be permitted to shoulder all the responsibility for dealing with Cuba, especially as last Saturday's vote in the Cuban convention on the Platt amendments proves that it will be necessary to adopt more drastic measures to bring the Cubans to a realization of their own helplessness.

The cabinet views the situation in general with a feeling of alarm, but it is not yet prepared to make public confession of its fears. It was stated after the last cabinet meeting that in all probability congress would have to be called together in extra session before Aug. 1 to consider a demand from the Cubans peremptorily requesting the president to withdraw the American troops from the island. Information already in possession of the cabinet points to the conclusion that this demand is now being formulated and will be presented in the near future. The president will reject it and may even reinforce the troops now quartered in the island. Then it will become necessary for him to pass the whole matter up to congress for its determination.

Governor Allen, of Porto Rico, called on the president to explain the stories emanating from Porto Rico about the extraordinary conditions prevailing in that island. Mr. Allen is provoked by the pertinacity with which the authors of these stories are bobbing up and telling them in public after he has assured the president that he knows nothing about them. He is especially provoked at a newspaper dispatch from San Juan to the effect that Santiago Iglesias, an officer of the Porto Rican Federation of Labor, is bearing a petition from 6000 workingmen in Porto Rico urging the president to relieve the horrible condition that exists everywhere in the island. The governor dismisses this particular matter by simply saying that he knows nothing about Iglesias or his mission and about the other charges he reiterates simply that they cannot be substantiated.

He informed the president that the agitation now being conducted in Porto Rica was the work of a Spaniard who failed to secure an office. President McKinley does not like the Porto Rican situation and is not altogether satisfied with Governor Allen's explanations. He believes that there must be some truth in the charges that have been so freely made and is said to be disposed to order Allen back to San Juan without delay to make a more omplete investigation than has heretofore been made. Governor Allen wants to go to New England to spend a month, but may be forced to forego this plan if the president insists upon his return to San Juan.

GETS HER PRAYER BOOK.

May Buckley and the Moulton Flat Furniture.

New York, April 11.—May Buckley has escaped from the scramble for the furniture of Robert H. Moulton's flat with only a prayerbook and a policy on her life.

She did not even put in an appearance before Justice Murray, in the West Side civil court, the scene of the battle for Moulton's effects. Frederick Price, lawyer for the mortgage company which seized all the young man's valuables, appeared with a release from Miss Buckley.

The paper was signed by all the parties to the furniture transaction. The justice then turned the property over to the company.

Marshal Klune will return Miss Buckley's sare—the prayerbook and the insurance policy—to Miss Buckley. He found the prayerbook among Moulton's personal effects. Upon the flyleaf is inscribed:

"To May Buckley Clayton, from Eva."

"Let her have the prayerbook, by all means, marshal," said Justice Murray. "I believe in the teachings of that book."

In the prayerbook several passages are underlined—"Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not nor the years draw nigh, when you shall say, I have no pleasures in them;" "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where thieves do break through," etc.

hTe book is not worn.

PROFITS IN WAR.

Money to Cunarders In Transport Business.

London, April 11.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Cunard Line Steamship company today was marked by an unusual incident. A shareholder demanded that a committee of independent shareholders be appointed to inquire into the policy of the company, declaring that the profits were made solely from transport work and that another war and more butchering will be required to assure future dividends. The motion was not adopted, but the report recommending a 5 per cent dividend and a 3 per cent bonus was adopted.

BIG RUSH OF ELKS

Milwaukee Is Preparing to Provide For Large Crowd.

Thirty Thousand Elks and Many Friends Are Expected.

List of Prices By the Hotels For Carnival Week.

Milwaukee, April 11.—At a meeting of the Elks' executive committee Mayor Rose said he was of the firm belief that the people of Milwaukee would have their hands full to take careof the crowds that will surely head this way on account of the carnival under the auspices of the great social order. The mayor said it was no longer a question of providing amusement for the guests that might be expected, but of caring for the throngs. He added: "From all the advices which I have received, I believe we will have 30,000 Elks here at that time, and that in addition to this grand army from the membership of the order we will have 75,000 other visitors. Everybody is looking forward to lots of fun here next July, and they are coming to take a hand in it." His honor suggested that the committee request Waukesha hotel men to send literature showing the hotel accommodations of that place, and also something about their special attractions, that the committees may circulate it when the bulletins are sent out. E. J. Evans, a representative of the Waukesha Elks, was present and promised to lay the matter before the hotel people there.

Mayor Rose announced that he had asked for the use of the first and second floors of the Wells building as headquarters for the Milwaukee Elks during the carnival, as the lodge headquarters on Grand avenue would be entirely inadequate.

It was suggested by Joseph Clauder, of the committee on band concerts, that a contest be arranged for Wisconsin bands, and that $300 be appropriated for prizes. A letter was read from William MacLaren, secretary of the Milwaukee Carnival association, suggesting that electric floats be arranged for in the ghost parade. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

The Milwaukee Hotel association submitted the following prices for the carnival: Pfister, $3 to $5 a day, American plan; Aberdeen, $2, $2.50 and $3, American plan; Blatz, $1 to $3, European; Davidson, $1 to $3.50, European; Kirby, $2 to $2.50, American; Plankinton, $2.50 to $5, American; Republican, $2 to $3, American; Schlitz, 11, European; Atlas, $2, American; St. Charles, $2, $2.50 and $3, American.

A committee, consisting of David S. Rose, C. H. Hamilton and W. P. Schad, was appointed to take charge of the opening exercises of the grand lodge. Mrs. Clara Hague, of Jackson, Mich., will take part in the singing.

IN MICHIGAN.

A Fortune In Sight For Two Manistique Ladies.

Manistique—Mrs. John Diehl and Miss Essie Carpenter, heirs of the late Augustus C. Carpenter, seem to be the prospective recipients of a magnificent fortune. Just before Carpenter's death he was apprised that a bachelor uncle, who died forty years ago, had left him 600 acres of land in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania. In addition the uncle left some $6,000,000 in cash, the entire estate amounting to $40,000,000 or $50,000,000, there being some seventy heirs. Mrs. Diehl and Miss Carpenter will come in for Augustus Carpenter's share of the property.

Andrew P. Ekstrom, of Manistique, is no longer deputy revenue collector in the district he has been covering for some time past. His dismissal was the result of a determination to economize on the part of the government. He was the "new man" on the upper peninsula force, so his head was first to fall when the number of collectors was curtailed.

Iron Mountain—Charles Ewing, cashier of the National bank at Iron Mountain, has resigned to take a position with the Bankers' National bank of Chicago. Mr. Ewing announced his intention to leave Iron Mountain some time ago, and he has persisted in it despite the inducements offered to have him stay. He has found that the northern climate disagrees with his health. The new cashier is R. S. Powell, formerly of the Bankers' National, Chicago.

Escanaba—Superintendent Wesley E. Wells of the Escanaba & Lake Superior road, announces that ore traffic on that line to the new dock at North Escanaba will be commenced this week. The ore will be hauled to Channing, over the St. Paul road, and thence over the Erie & Lake Superior to the dock, which now has a capacity of 30,000 tons, but will probably be increased to twice that size during the coming summer. Fifty new ore cars and one new engine have been added to the rolling stock of the road preparatory to the opening of traffic, and trips from the mines to the docks will be made daily. A telegraph line along the new road has been completed and is now in charge of Train Dispatcher J. W. Ross, formerly of Menominee. As yet no estimate as to the amount of ore which the new road expects to move this summer has been made.

Escanaba has been compelled to get along without electric lights for the past week, the installation of a new 3000-light incandescent dynamo being in progress and tying up the municipal plant. When it was announced that the plant would have to suspend operations for a week or ten days there was a lively demand for lamps all over the city, and by strenuous hustling the householders and merchants managed to accumulate a sufficient number of kerosene burners to see them through the period when the plant was tied up.

According to a dispatch received at Berlin from Count von Waldersee, dated Pekin, April 8, Chinese robbers were surprised at Tang Shan, in Pe Chi Li province, April 2, and pursued by Capt. Meister, who killed twenty of their number.

At a banquet given in honor of the duke of Abercorn and the other members of the special British mission appointed to formally announce to Emperor William the death of Queen Victoria and the accession of King Edward VII, the German emperor proposed King Edwards' health in English. After dinner the emperor invited his guests to stay for a glass of beer and animatedly conversed with the company until nearly midnight.

At the annual meeting of Bell Bros., the Middlesborough steel firm, Sir Lowthian Bell announced the profits for the year to be £360,000. In spite of all that has been said about foreign competition, Sir Lowthian said he did not fear for the future of the iron and steel trades in Great Britain if they had anything like fair play.

A telegram received at Hong Kong from Amoy says that the French cable has been connected at Chapel Island and thence with Saigon. hTe Amoy end of the cable has not yet been hauled ashore but is ready to be so handled. No official explanations of the incident can be obtained.

A LEAF OF HISTORY.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Under date of July 3, 1863, Louis Napoleon, mounted upon a very high horse and surveying the broken fragments of the Union, engaged in what at that time seemed a possible war of extermination, wrote as follows to Gen. Forey:

"In the actual state of civilization of the world, the prosperity of America cannot be a matter of indifference to Europe. We are desirous that the republic of the United States be powerful and prosperous, but we are not desirous that she should make herself mistress of the Gulf or Mexico, dominate the Antilles and South America, and so be the sole dispenser of the products of the new world. If, on the contrary, Mexico preserve her independence and maintain the inntegrity of her territory, if a government be established there with the assistance of France, we shall have rendered to the Latin race on the other side of the ocean its strength and prestige; we shall have guaranteed security to our colonies and those of Spain; we shall have established our beneficent influence in the center of America, and that influence, in creating immense outlets to our commerce, will procure for us the materials indispensable to our industry. Today our military honor, the exigencies of our politics, the interests of our industry and our commerce, demand that we march upon Mexico, plant boldly our flag and establish there even a monarchy, if that be not incompatible with the national sentiment of the country."

Mark how a turn of the whirligig of military fortune put this epatronizing and braggadocio manifesto to shame and scorn. The government at Washington, once more impact, had only to intimate to the French emperor that his solicitude for civilization in America was misplaced, that the Latin race on this side of the Atlantic could be trusted to take care of itself and that the Monroe doctrine would brook no European intrusion, and, least of all, a Franco-Austrian monarchy in Mexico. The Maximilian scheme of Latin pride and European vanity vanished like a soap bubble. All that Mr. Seward said to Louis Napoleon with respect to Mexico the people of the United States are prepared to say to England with respect to the Nicaragua canal.

Chicago, April 11.—More than 300 young women, delegates to the eighth annual meeting of the International Kindergarten union, were present today when the second session of the convention was called to order. With three meetings daily, the convention program will not be completed until Saturday. Round table discussion and appointment of committees, occupied the time of the morning session.

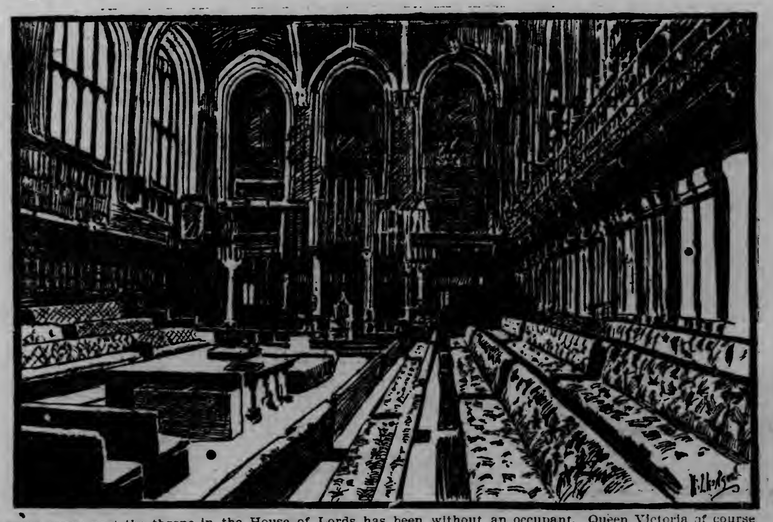
KING WILL SIT IN HOUSE OF LORDS.

Sovereign's Throne In Upper House Will In Future Have an Occupant.



For many years past the throne in the House of Lords has been without an occupant. Queen Victoria of course, never attended an opening of Parliament in person, but sent her message through a proxy. Now that the new King has come to his own, however, the single throne will be replaced by a double, and the King and his royal consort will honor the House of Lords with their august presence.

MAKE-UP OF TEAM

Meeting of Baseball Enthusiasts Not a Large One.

Stock Company Is Not to Be Organized.

Some of the Men Signed and In Prospect.

Only a few of the faithful thirty-third degree fans attended the baseball meeting at the St. Louis hotel last evening. There was enough enthusiasm, however, to give assurance of liberal support to a winning team.

Manager Hansell was entrusted with the organization of the team, and he reported that he had already secured a number of good men and had lines out for others.

It was decided that instead of organizing a stock company to govern the team, the backers of the organization will sell season tickets at $5, and in that way raise sufficient money to put the team in the field. This plan is said to have been tried in Superior and worked well.

The team this year may be made up from the following list of players:

Catchers—O'Malley, Sturgeon, or Matchett.

Pitchers—Brisbane, Glenney, or Bouch.

First base—"Cupid" Edwards.

Second base—Connors.

Third base—Emig.

Short stop—Sheppard.

Out fielders—Lambert, Hansell, Randall and Glenney.

Only a few of these men have been signed. But three of them have ever worn the Duluth uniform, and they are favorites. Notwithstanding flattering offers from the Western league teams, Sheppard and Lambert have decided to stay with Duluth. They have good positions here, which they would have to give up if they went into the Western league. Sheppard, at short stop, is considered one of the fastest outside the two big leagues, and it is very doubtful if there is any man in the Western league that can keep pace with him. The Des Moines team, which contains five of the men that played with Superior last season, has offered Sheppard considerable money, but he says that Duluth is plenty good enough for him.

Lambert will probably play his old position in center field during the coming season. He would make an exceptionally fast first baseman, but is too valuable in the outfield. He is fast and consequently covers much territory.

"Cupid" Edwards has played with Duluth part of two seasons, and is a great favorite with the fans. He is a good second baseman, but Manager Hansell says that he can play an equally good game at first. He was one of the steadiest batters on the team.

Glenney, who will undoubtedly do much of the work in the box, is a find of Hansell's. He brought him out with the Big Duluth team last season, and the latter has very still edged him. He is not only a good pitcher, but can play almost any positon in the infield, while as an outfielder he is fast and clever.

Hansell has not decided to play, but may do so, and in case of emergency he will certainly get into the game. He thinks well of Randall, the hard hitting outfielder of last year's Big Duluth team, and he will be given a good berth.

O'Malley and Sturgeon, the two catchers talked of, are Milwaukee men who played with Manager Hansell when he was handling one of the strong city league teams of that city a few years ago. Both are good men, but there is nothing sure of their signing. Matchett, the third catcher talked of, is from West Superior. He caught part of the season of 1899, and though a hard hitter he was very slow in throwing to bases.

Brisbane is a promising young pitcher from Waseca. It is understood that he would like to come to Duluth and, after a little experience here, get on with faster company next season. He pitched for Waseca last year and made quite a reputation for himself.

The star pitcher would undoubtedly be "Eddie" Bouch, of Milwaukee, providing he can be persuaded to sign. He is a graduate of Georgetown college, where he was considered one of the best pitchers in the Eastern colleges. He pitched for Georgetown the season that the Washington collegians defeated Yale, Harvard and Princeton, and he also pitched some very close games against the National league teams during their spring practice. He is at present studying law in Milwaukee, and has refused to sign with the American league, but may be prevailed upon to come up here for the summer, as he could play ball here without its seriously interfering with his law studies. Connors and Emig are also from Milwaukee.

There appears to be some danger of the Northwestern league proposition falling by the wayside if more interest is not taken in it by outside towns. For awhile Ashland, Virginia, Eveleth and Washburn seemed anxious to form the league, but now that Duluth and Superior are ready the other towns seem to be holding off.

SIXTH AVENUE THEATER.

North Bros. seem to have caught on. The crowds increase each night and the company is becoming popular with all classes. "Paradise Regained" was played well last night. CANNOT DO IT.

Missabe Road Must Pay Taxes to the State.

J. B. Cotton, attorney for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, says that it is impossible for that road to get out of the gross earnings tax system and its taxes to the county. This he holds because the road has entered into a contract with the state in the matter, from which neither can escape. In this opinion he is supported by Wilson G. Crosby, the county board's attorney, and City Attorney Mitchell. Mr. Cotton's statement issued yesterday afternoon is as follows:

"I believe, as a citizen of this county, that the county should have its fair share of the funds derived from railroad taxation, but, while I have not recently looked up or carefully considered the law, I do not see how the companies themselves can relieve the situation, as Commissioner Kugler has suggested. The gross earnings law was originally optional with the companies, and when the present owners of the Missabe road got control, it was found that the election had already been made on the 7th of March, 1892, to pay the gross earnings tax in lieu of all other taxation. I think that election made a contract with the state from which neither party is in position to, or can legally, withdraw. This, I believe, is the fact with every railroad in the state. I know of none which pays on any other basis. In fact the legislature passed a law in 1887 which provides that any line or lines of railroad in the state which had not accepted the gross earnings tax law should "become liable to pay and shall pay a percentage of its gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes" in accordance with the provisions of the former gross earnings law, which provides that the tax must be paid into the state treasury. In the decision of the case of the Duluth Belt Line Railway company (54th Minnesota, page 36), the law I have just mentioned was held to apply to all railroads, and in effect that a railroad company could pay taxes only in that way. If it were otherwise, and the acceptance of the law did not constitute a contract with the state, many opportunities would be offered for dodging taxation by repeated changes from one system to the other.

"This does not seem to be a very practical question, for the new Jacobson act of this legislative session provides flatly that all railroads shall pay a gross earnings tax to the state of 4 per cent. Under the constitutional amendment of two years ago, which provides for the submission to the people of all proposed changes in the gross earnings tax law, a referendum in fact, this act will be submitted to the people at the November, 1902, election, and, if adopted, will probably be effective in January, 1903. The best thing to be done, it seems to me, would be to urge the tax commission recently created by the legislature to recommend an equitable division of the gross earnings tax, whatever it may be, among the counties where the railroads are located. I believe something along this line should be done, and I should be glad to help the movement along."

TIME IS AT HAND

Summer Building Is Getting Well Under Way.

Amount Will Be Large But Not Extraordinarily So.

Cost of Building About as High as Last Year.

With the disappearance of frost from the ground building talk becomes more conspicuous and all architects are busy planning structures of various kinds. The amount done in Duluth the coming summer bids fair to be large and yet there will probably not be so much done as has been talked of. There are always many people who like to talk of building until it comes to the point of doing so and then back out on the excuse that it costs too much. Architects say that the men who talk least about building are the ones who build most.

There is no doubt that it costs money to build. Those who meant to do so last year, but postponed it until this year, are finding that they might just as well have built then and had one year more of rentals. There is very little difference between the cost of building now and what it was a year ago. Lumber is just about the same price as it was then. It was freely predicted that it would be much lower this year, but the coming of the Eastern buyer into this market this spring and his heavy purchases quickly removed that impression. Lumber is at about the same price as it was a year ago, after it had taken its sudden and very material advance.

Brick is high and there is a good prospect for a still further increase before the new crop comes in, which will be in June. Glass also is very nigh, probably the highest of all building materials. Iron is pretty well up, too. Plastering also costs more money for the plasterers are getting 10 per cent higher wages this year than last.

Contractors and architects all say, however, that the scale of prices to which Duluth had become accustomed was altogether too low and that they cannot expect to ever see them so low again.

These higher prices are only cutting off the uncertain builder, however. The property owner who really intends to build understands the condition of the material market and the approximate cost and he does not stagger when he gets the figures. A number of good-sized projects are going ahead at once and others are in the embryo stage with excellent prospect of going through.

The plans for the enlargement of the Duluth Brewing and Malting company's plans are practically complete. They have been prepared out of the city for the preparation of plans for breweries is really a specialty in itself. The plans for the iron work have reached here and will be put out for figures at once. The balance of the plans will be here within a few days.

The plans for the terrace to be erected by Dr. J. J. Eklund, at the corner of Fifteenth avenue east and Second street, are also ready to go to the contractors. There will be nine houses in the terrace, part facing on the avenue and part on the street. The houses will have seven rooms each and each will be fitted with an individual heating plant. Some will have furnace heat and some hot water.

There are a number of projects for flat buildings that are in contemplation and may materialize. One provides for twenty-four modern flats and if it goes through will be located in the East End. Duluth has very few flat buildings in comparison with other cities, and architects predict that there will be a great deal of building in that line for flats, as a rule, pay well.

BOER ENVOYS.

Lecture to Be at the Lyceum Next Thursday.

The citizens' committee having in charge the meeting for the reception of the Boer delegates, Messrs. Wessels and Viljoen, has completed all arrangements. The Lyceum has been engaged for Thursday evening, April 18. J. W. Reynolds will be chairman of the meeting and a short musical program will be given, a feature of which will be the singing of the Boer national anthem by a local quartet. Both of these representatives of the South African republics will speak and their lectures will be illustrated by stereopticon views showing fine original views of the Boers in their home life, their country and many realistic pictures of the battles which they have fought in the past year in their struggle for home and liberty.

Mr. Wessels is a special commissioner of the South African republics and has traveled extensively in South Africa and is very familiar with his country and people. He was a merchant at Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, and took part in various phases of political life.

Mr. Viljoen, a born colonial and former British subject, on account of his sympathies and patriotic feeling in behalf of his fellow struggling Boers, was elected by the burghers under Gen. Oliver a field cornet for Allwal North. He took part in several battles, was finally captured, but was released by Gen. De Wet. He relates his experience in a most stirring and pathetic manner and will appear here in his military uniform.

These men, who represent the republicans of South Africa, are laboring in the interest of the relief fund for the distressed women and children, who have lost their husbands and fathers in the struggle to save their country. The international committee in New York of the Boer Relief association is taking care of the fund on this side of the Atlantic.

TAXATION.

Economic League Discusses It and Hears Papers.

At the meeting of the Economic league last evening, "Taxation" was the subject of two papers and a subsequent discussion that was very interesting. The papers were read by Rev. Alexander Milne of the Pilgrim Congregational church, and Mayor T. W. Hugo. The discussion, while spirited was quite general, and was not so much in the line of expression of the convictions of the different speakers, as it was inquiries and suggestions on the subject. In view of the immense scope of the subject and the interest that seems to be awakened it was the sentiment of those attending last night that the subject be taken up again at a future meeting and some means devised of making the discussions even more interesting.

Rev. Mr. Milne, in his paper, talked at some length on the benefits and evils of the present systems of taxation and of the proposed new methods and from it drew the conclusion that an approximation to justice is the best we can hope for." The personal tax system he described as unworthy of the present age of enlightenment, that it is of the nature of a sham and humbug. He believes that its retention is only suggestive of one of two things, ignorance or inertia. In former times when society was in a simpler state the personal property tax was a good measure, but as society has grown more complex and the different kinds of property so numerous and difficult to ascertain at times, in order to make taxation equitable and just, the whole system seems now at fault. Rev. Mr. Milne believes that the breakers on which the general system of property taxation has gone to pieces are inequal assessments and the practical impossibility of collecting the personal property tax. At least he believes all efforts thus far along the line of correcting these evils have been unavailing. Human nature, said Mr. Milne cannot be beaten by law. Taxation on property should be actual and none of it allowed to escape. He suggested that cheaper rent conditions might follow the un-taxation of mortgages. He referred to the manner in which taxation of inheritances is becoming more general.

Mayor Hugo, the next speaker, illustrated his point by the means of an imaginary town, starting with a few families. These got along cheaply at first and accomplished what they needed for their necessities very easily, but as the community grew, new situations arose, other improvements were necessary, as waterworks, sewers, etc. Expenses of municipal government increased. From this condition, said the mayor, it is easy to see that it is the duty of every person who forms a part of a community to help in its support. Improvement to be permanent must be of slow growth. The speaker said that while the people may not be ready at the present time to say that all things that concern the public life of a private individual should be owned and operated by the public, yet the trend of thought is in the direction of experiment along that line. Just where the dividing line should come is a difficult matter to decide, and may never finally be solved, because as the communal instinct of the people devlops, so comes the enlarged belief in the idea that things that we acknowledge today are matters of purely private business will in the future become public matters.

Mayor Hugo believes that the nearest approach to the principles upon which taxes should be levied would seem to be a slight modification of the Australian land tax law, by which land is taxed according to its value, excluding personal property and improvements. In short, the Australian land value tax is simply a tax on the benefits or privileges which governments confer on land owners, in exact proportion to the benefits that they receive. The system, he said, does not interfere with or tax any industry in any of its processes, but leaves them free from any fines or burdens of the government. By the adoption of such a plan of taxation in connection with the other methods of raising money for municipal purposes, the much mooted problem of taxation of personal property and the unfair discriminations in the present real estate tax laws might be solved.

THE ROADS.

Opening of Spring Brings Them to the Front.

The opening of spring brings up the county roads, and before very long the board of county commissioners will be making appropriations to do the usual run of necessary spring work on them. At present no work is being done except cutting corduroy on several roads. Some time ago Commissioner Kauppi got the board to appropriate $800 for this purpose. It was considered to be cheaper to cut and haul the corduroy in the winter than in the summer, hence the appropriation. The work is being done, so when the time comes for doing the road work the coruroy will be ready for use.

Work will be begun shortly on the roads, but it will not be started until the frost is quite out of the ground, and out to stay. Then work that is actually necessary will be taken up. It cannot be very extensive this year, for while the board in making its levies cut as closely as it dared, it has been necessary since then to use about $800 of the levy to clean up an overdraft in the road fund. This will not leave a great deal of money for road work, and unless the fund is further overdrawn, which is not likely, the road work will not be extensive this year.

Road work is very pleasing to the farmers in more ways than one. Besides opening up their lands and giving them easy access to the market for the produce, it helps them directly, for it is the farmers that are the recipients of the wages paid out by the county. They do most of the work and get paid for it, and the sums they are able to earn in this way during the year help out on their incomes largely. So there is more than one reason why the farmers are heartily in favor of roads and more of them.

Though the roads of St. Louis county have been very expensive, as might be expected from the great area of the county and the nature of the territory included in its borders, some of them are very fine roads. The principal roads running out from the city of Duluth in various directions, tapping the farming districts near at hand, are all good roads, though the recent rush of the tie business has served to cut some of them up badly. On the Miller Trunk road, though hardly anyone uses it, there are some stretches of beautiful road on which it would be possible to lay ties and rails and run locomotives without any further work on the grade.

SELTZER DID IT.

A cigar lighter, a seltzer bottle, a girl with a head of blond hair, and a drug clerk made matters lively in an Evanston drug store, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. Miss June Whitfield, a "co-ed" in the Northwestern university, went into Wicke's drug store on Davis street and leaned against the cigar case. Behind her was a gas-flame cigar lighter. Miss Whitfield wears a long coiffure and this came in contact with the flame. William Hamilton, the drug clerk, says that he doesn't remember just what happened during the next sixty seconds, but a young man who was in the store at the time says that Hamilton is a hero.

When Miss Whitfield discovered that her hair was on fire she gave a scream, tore her hat from her head and started to run for the door. Hamilton ran from behind the counter, seized her and tried to put out the blaze with his hands, but that was more painful than effective. Soon most of the luxuriant locks were ruined, and the clerk saw that something must be done to save the girl from being severely burned. He jumped upon the counter in front of the soda fountain and reached for a seltzer bottle. Running to the girl, he pressed the lever and turned the stream into the flames. The young woman screamed and ran, but Hamilton followed her and played the stream into the locks. The blaze was soon extinguished, but the clerk kept the nozzle of the bottle directed at the young woman's head. She continued screaming and dodging. First the stream would strike her in the eyes and then in the car. When the bottle was drained Hamilton caught his breath and asked Miss Whitfield if she was badly burned.

The blond locks, which have excited the envy of all the young women in the Northwestern, were ruined, but beyond this the young woman was not hurt. She lamented the loss of her hair, however, and left the store crying.

THE DAKOTAS.

North Dakota Ball League Will Soon Be Organized.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo—Efforts to organize a baseball league in North Dakota will probably be successful. The schedule will be rather peculiar, however, as it is proposed to have the Devils Lake team put in the last of May and all of June on the road, and during July to play all the time at home. Fargo will have a strong team. If the league idea falls through, an independent one will be organized about the middle of next month.

About a month ago Mr. and Mrs. Carver, of Kindred, created some amusement by coming to the court house in Fargo and appling to one of the court officials for a divorce, saying that they had agreed to separate. As they had consulted no attorney, they were referred to one, and later it was stated that efforts were being made to effect a reconciliation. The martial troubles of the pair seem, however, to be now in a more violent form of eruption. The husband has had both Mrs. Carver and Station Agent Davis, of Davenport, arrested on the charge of adultery. The hearing was postponed till Monday. Friends of Davis are indignant, and assert that the charges against him are malicious. Business men of the town are backing up his case, and some assert the action is for the purpose of compelling Mrs. Carver to return home.

Huron—Mrs. M. J. Dineen, who sued the city for $7000 damages for injuries sustained by a fall on a defective sidewalk, was given a verdict for the amount asked. The case is likely to go to the supreme court.

Devils Lake—As a result of the great rush of immigrants to the western part of this state, the land office located in this city is doing an immense business. For the first week in April there were over 250 entries, embracing about 40,000 acres in Bottineau, Pierce and McHenry counties. The cash receipts were upwards of $7500.

Grand Forks—The old board of regents of the state university held its final meeting yesterday and passed on bills against the institution. Later the new board, consisting of President Bartlett, of Cooperstown; William Budge, of Grand Forks; A. J. Gronna, of Lakota; Stephen Collins, of Grand Forks, and G. W. Towle, of Park River, met and organized.

The matter of building a science hall in connection with the university was the most important business considered. It was decided that the new building should be erected. The structure will cost $20,000. Plans and specifications will be ordered immediately.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Aberdeen—The copper wire for the complete new metallic telephone system from Aberdeen to the Twin Cities will arrive in a few days and the line will soon be completed. The circuit will be a direct one from Aberdeen to Minneapolis. A line will be run from Britton to Lidgerwood and new exchanges will be put in at Britton, Wilmot and Bryant. The Huron exchange will be entirely rebuilt. The telephone company has bought a lot and will have its own building. About $1000 worth of new poles will be used in the improvements at Huron. Manager Zeitlow says that several other improvements and extensions will be made this year.

The city of Aberdeen will have a unique demonstration of municipal management of the common affairs of life if the public bath ordinance, recently initiated under the provisions of the state law allowing citizens to employ the initiative and referendum in submitting city ordinances, is carried at the election this month. The movement for a public bath was begun by the Social Democrats and is being pushed with great vigor. Their plan is to have the city put a certain sum of money into the enterprise and to supplement this fund with private contributions which it is thought may be easily raised. They seem to have confidence that the measure will carry at the polls.

Tyndall—Wheat seeding is completed in this section. The acreage is rather less than usual. Farmers are finding out that there is more money in corn, cattle and hogs.

Rapid City—Yesterday morning the different committees of the Western South Dakota Stock Growers' association were in session. The annual spring round-up will start May 15. The program was arranged and the business of the association practically finished. There was an afternoon of sport, which closed the ninth session of the association. There are 550 members, 350 being (present. The reports of committees showed that $220 had been collected from the sale of strays recovered for association members. The weather was wet.

HOW TO GO UPSTAIRS.

"The proper way to go upstairs," said the young ambulance surgeon, "is to hold the body erect and step leisurely, placing each foot firmly on the successive stairs," says the New York Telegraph.

He paused a moment as he pushed his chair back from the table and lit a perfecto that his host, the newspaper man, passed to him.

"Pshaw!" remarked the molder of public opinion. "I suppose you have just come from a lecture on hygiene, and that owl-faced professor has impressed you with the idea that he really knows what he is talking about. Now, my experience," he continued, with a grin, "proves that the best way to get upstairs is to take the elevator."

Both laughed at the alleged witticism, but stopped suddenly when the hostess remarked: "I suppose either way would be acceptable, but your usual way appears to be to take off your shoes and crawl up on all fours, so that no one hears you. Even that might be all right," she continued, "but why do you complete the transit by falling over a chair and waking up everybody within a block of the house with your side remarks? I should think that either of the methods you suggested would be an improvement on the style you apparently preferred last century."

The Growth of Population.

The census of Great Britain brings out speculation among the statisticians as to the future growth of the United Kingdom which will take on a more definite shape as soon as the figures of the present population are forthcoming. Whatever the outcome may be, it is universally conceded that great results in the future in the line of population, and in fact in all lines, are looked for in the United States, which is recognized as the most active, aggressive and enterprising nation in the world. There are those who believe that the population of the United States at the end of the present century will reach 300,000,000, or four times more than at present. O. P. Austin, chief of the United tSattes bureau of statistics, taking up the contention, estimates that at the end of the twentieth century the United States will have a population of 300,000,000 and will then be on an equality only with the productive nations of Europe. With this population the United States would not have as many people per square mile as Belgium or the Nether lands or Germany or England and Wales. In Java and Madura, where 26,000,000 people occupy an area about equal to that of the state of Alabama, there are 547 people per square mile. In Belgium there are 579; in the Netherlands, 401; in England and Wales, 498. In all of Europe, exclusive of Norway, Sweden and Russia, there are 293 persons to the square mile. If the United States, exclusive of our island territory and Alaska, were to have the same density of population as Europe we should have 902,000,000 people, or double the 300,000,000 promised for the end of the century. Applying the average population per square mile of the Netherlands, Belgium and England to the area of the United States would give us a population of 1,084,640,000. If the whole country had as dense a population as Rhode Island, we should have 1,173,150,000 people.

Losses By the St. Lawrence Route.

In view of the proposed utilization of the St. Lawrence river as a general waterway from the great lakes to the ocean it is well for underwriters, business men, shipowners and navigators to thoroughly understand the dangers to navigation now found in the river, and the great necessity for improvement on the St. Lawrence to the seaboard. At present is is full of danger in many forms. This, perhaps, is best shown by the statistics of marine losses on the St. Lawrence route. The Marine Underwriters' association of Canada has just made public the report of losses on that route from 1889 to 1899, and which were compiled but a month ago. The showing is not at all favorable to the safety of the Montreal route. The conditions beyond Montreal are all unfavorable. The underwriters acknowledge this when they say that it is well-known there is no point in the world to which comparison might be made with Montreal, and in connection therewith the navigation of the river and gulf of St. Lawrence. It appears from the report that the total exports by steamer from Montreal from 1889 to 1899, inclusive, were $411,813,749. At the rates charged by Montreal agencies during that period, the total premiums upon this sum would amount to $1,598,711. Allowing 20 per cent ($319,732) for the expenses of conducting business, there remains $1,278,969 to pay losses during the same period, which are shown to have amounted to $2,921,669, leaving, in round figures, a net loss to the underwriters of $1,600,000, the premiums and losses taken into account for exports only, the rate charged upon the Montreal outward business being those which have been chiefly criticized. It may be stated, however, that losses on inward cargoes since 1899 amount to some $1,500,000, while the losses on hulls, inward and outward (steamers only), are estimated at over $6,000,000. These together show total recorded losses of over $10,000,000 by the St. Lawrence route during a period of eleven years. The losses are divided as follows: Export—Hulls, $3,463,427, and cargo, $3,058,669. Imports—Hulls, $2,569,794, and cargo, $1,596,745, or a grand total of $10,618,575. Divided in losses incurred in the St. Lawrence river and Gulf, and losses incurred outside the river and Gulf, the figures are: St. Lawrence river and Gulf—Hulls, $4,423,221, and cargo $3,317,404; outside the Gulf—Hulls, $1,610,000, and cargo, $1,267,950.

TAXING THE MINES.

The terms of purchase of the iron ore properties in St. Louis county that have been taken into the United States Steel corporation, better known as the Morgan steel trust, have opened the eyes of the people of this county to the very high value of these properties and the ridiculously low figures at which they are assessed for the purposes of taxation. The Herald has, in a series of articles, drawn special attention to the existing inequality of taxation and to the urgent necessity of at once proceeding to raise the assessed valuation of the iron properties in order that they may be compelled to bear their fair proportion of the taxes. As matters now stand, all other real and personal property in the county is taxed outrageously high in comparison with what the iron mining companies are called upon to contribute. This injustice should be corrected without delay, and as the law provides a remedy for just such cases there should be no time lost in starting the proceedings required to raise the valuation of the iron mines and collect the additional taxes that they should pay into the county treasury.

At the present time the iron ore properties are assessed at less than $10,000,000.

The terms upon which these concerns are taken into the United States Steel corporation show that the very lowest figure at which they should be assessed is $75,000,000.

It is not improbable that a careful investigation would show that even a much higher valuation for taxation would be just and proper.

There is no desire on the part of anyone to unduly tax the iron ore industry in this state. All that is asked by The Herald and others taking an interest in this matter is that the iron mines be compelled to pay in the same proportion as other property. Surely it cannot be contended that the iron properties should pay less than their proportion—thus placing an unjust and oppressive burden on all other property in the county. It might, with justice, be contended that the taxation of iron mines should be higher proportionately than that of other property, because the iron ore is being steadily removed out of the state, and the iron railroads have themselves contended that they should be allowed to charge higher freight rates because the iron ore industry is a short-lived thing, and they must have high earnings now in order to get back their capital invested while the industry remains. If this be true, it follows that the state also, in order to be duly benefited by the wealth now within its borders, should collect higher taxes from the iron mines than from other forms of property.

But this is not asked. There is no demand that the mines pay more in proportion than is paid by other property. The fair and just claim is that the iron mines shall pay an equal proportion of the taxation. In order that they may be compelled to do this, it will be necessary to raise their assessed valuations from about $10,000,000 to at least $75,000,000.

The time has arrived for decisive action on this question.

VOTING MACHINES.

In the Annals of the American Academy there is published a summary of the results of the use of voting machines in the last general election. From this summary, it was learned that in New York state alone 337 machines were used in twenty-five different cities, including the large city of Buffalo, where votes were recorded at the rate of from eighty to 150 an hour in the various precincts, without any hitch or trouble. Out of a total of 66,600 votes in the city, over 70 per cent were voted before noon. In less than five minutes after the polls closed, at 5 p. m., reports from every precinct were on the way to the city hall, and the results were telegraphed to the presidential candidates and campaign managers before 6 o'clock. It was also proven that the machines accommodated the voters and accomplished their will; that split tickets were counted as accurately as straight ones. In Northampton, Mass., where seven machines were used, averaging 450 voters to the machine, it was observed that the number of blank votes decreased 50 per cent as compared with 1896. The city clerk of Ithaca, N. Y., the home of Cornell university, where 28,000 votes were polled, estimates that the machines will save the city $500 a year. There the result was fully known in fifteen minutes after the polls closed. The practical utility of the machine is thus summarized:

"It is fair, rapid, accurate, economical and as nearly fraud-proof as it is possible for any human device to be. The first and absolutely necessary step in all reform is to make sure that every election is an honest one—is a real expression of the people's will—and this the voting machine does without any uncertainty whatever. * * * The name of every candidate nominated appears plainly before the eye of the voter, where he cannot help seeing it, and all candidates are on exactly the same footing, because it is just as easy to move one indicator as another."

It is not expected that voting machines will come into universal use very rapidly, but it is morally certain that there will be a general and gradual increase in their use. Cleveland, Ohio, has already voted to adopt them, and in Chicago and Philadelphia the subject is receiving favorable consideration. Minnesota now has a law that permits the use of voting machines, but no municipality has yet availed itself of the opportunity to introduce this much-needed reform. While the first cost of the machines is large, the number of election officials can be reduced and the total expense of the election thus reduced considerably. It is cause for regret that the legislature refused to put in the primary election law a provision permitting the use of voting machines, but perhaps such an amendment may be secured at the next session.

THE NATION'S DRINK BILL.

Official statistics are cited to sustain the claim that prosperity has brought with it an increased demand for spirituous and malt liquors, while the use of non-alcoholic beverages shows a very small gain, and, in the case of coffee, a decrease. It is shown that out of $1,228,674,925 spent for beverages, about 86 per cent is spent for alcoholic stimulants, of which 50 per cent is for beer, 30 per cent for whisky, 4 per cent for wines. If the quantity of tea and coffee used is reduced to its equivalent as a beverage, we find that more gallons of coffee are consumed than any other sort of drink; amounting to 1,257,985,296 gallons, as against 1,221,500,160 gallons of beer—its greatest competitor. The following table, showing the per capita consumption of liquors in this country, is compiled from the latest report of the United States bureau of statistics:

	Spirits gallons.	Wine, gallons.	Beer, gallons.	Total gallons.
1891	1.43	.45	15.31	17.19
1892	1.51	.44	15.17	17.12
1893	1.52	.48	16.20	18.20
1894	1.34	.31	15.32	16.97
1895	1.13	.28	15.13	16.54
1896	1.01	.26	15.38	16.66
1897	1.02	.33	14.94	16.50
1898	1.12	.28	15.96	17.36
1899	1.17	.35	15.28	16.80
1900	1.27	.40	16.01	17.68

Bringing together into one group the cost of retail of all beverages, it is found that the United States consumed in 1900 alcoholic and non-alcoholic stimulants to the value of $1,228,674,925, as follows:

Alcoholic drinks	$1,059,787
Non-alcoholic stimulants:
Coffee	125,798,530
Tea	37,312,608
Cocoa	6,000,00
Total 1900	$1,228,674,925
Total, 1899	1,146,897,822
Total 1898	1,177,661,366

The above represents a yearly per capita expenditure for beverages of $16.17 for the 76,304,799 inhabitants of the United States, or little less than 4½ cents per day.

The quantities of the four leading beverages consumed for the year ending June 30, 1900, were as follows:

	Gallons.
Coffee	1,257,985,296
Beer	1,221,500,160
Tea	416,515,885
Spirits and wines	112,675,873

The above proves that coffee and beer are the favorite national beverages, and that coffee holds its supremacy over fermented liquors; that the consumption of alcoholic liquor increases in prosperous times, and that it was larger in 1900 than for any year since 1893. It is less per capita now than ten years ago, in spite of last year's gain.

A Sioux Falls woman has discovered that she has paid taxes for ten years on a house that did not exist. This peculiar condition of affairs was discovered when a petition was presented to the city council asking for a refund of taxes on a block of ground on one of the principal residence streets. The owner of the block is a woman, and from the records it was shown that for ten years past she had been paying taxes on the land and also on a house supposed to be on the land. Investigation proved that there had never been a sign of a building on the property. In fact, there had never been two boards nailed together on the property until within the past few months, when a sidewalk was placed in front of the land. It is a question whether the city does not need the money more than the woman who paid the tax without protest.

According to the report of one of the new trustees of the Indiana reform school for boys, step parents are a prollic cause of crime, by reason of unhappy homes and unpleasant surroundings. There are 371 boys in the institution from 13 to 20 years old. The great majority are of an average intelligence, and many have been sent to the school as much to rid their homes of them as because they were unruly. Nearly 400 were committed for minor offenses. Of the 571 inmates, 122 have stepfathers and 178 have stepmothers. A thorough investigation is to be made to determine as accurately as possible the results of parentage upon the boys sent to this institution.

Bishop Alexander Waters claims that 45 per cent of the illiteracy of the negro race in the United States has been eliminated since the date of emancipation. The negroes have raised for educational purposes during that period the sum of $15,065,000. They have accumulated in church property $40,000,000; in school property, $15,000,000. They have 150,000 farms, valued at $325,000,000, with personal property worth $165,000,000. There are now 250,000 negro children in the public schools, 45,000 in higher institutions, 30,000 learning trades and 35,000 who are engaged in teaching.

In the torpedo boat Perry the Union Iron works has failed to quite meet the contract requirements for 29 knots an hour. The official trial speed was 28.2 knots. This will make a difference of about $24,000 in the price of the vessel, but the record of the Oregon, surpassing its trial speed in actual service, indicates that the Perry may exceed 29 knots when thoroughly limbered up.

There is another delay in the celebrated Molineux case in New York, and meanwhile the condemned man stays in Sing Sing under sentence of execution. The case is to be argued before the court of appeals in June, and a decision is not expected before September. There is a possibility that the accused murderer may die of old age before his case is finally disposed of.

There is a prospect now that the scheme of the Twin City crowd that seeks to prevent the settlement of Northern Minnesota and turn it into a perpetual park or wilderness will be checkmated so far as action by the legislature is concerned. The memorials to congress are hung up at present and the Duluth delegation will try to keep them there.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer reminds its readers that the action of the school literary society in Ada, Ohio, in making a guy of a statue of Apollo by dressing the handsome marble gentleman in knickerbockers "is perhaps no worse than raising a hullabalioo over the Bacchante that shocked Dame Boston some time ago."

THE OLD COUNTRY BAND.

I mean the band of olden time, when you and I were boys;
When music, to be sweet to us, must drown all other noise,
When martial airs entranced our ears and every feeling fired;
When uniforms with golden braid were all our hearts desired.

Oh, how those fellows marched about on every holiday!
The "Square" was filled with music sweet, the streets with bright array.
The town folks stood upon their steps, the country folks, discreet,
With horses prancing to the tunes, drove up some other street.

The boys? Well, you can easy guess—we shall not try to hide it,
Whenever that old band was out we fellows marched beside it.
We kept the step the bandmen did and kept it quite as well;
And always held our corner up when it was time to yell.

Perhaps they made some discords—perhaps the side horns blew
About three times as strong and loud as they by right should do;
Perhaps the cymbals didn't clang exactly with the bass,
Perhaps the "B-flats" missed some notes and tooted out of place.

But what cared we when we were boys?—to our uncultured breast
"The Girl I Left Behind Me" was as good as Sousa's best;
Our little backs would straighten up, our thoughts would soar away—
The acme of our earthly bliss—to play a horn some day.

I've heard full many bands since then and paid to get a seat:
I've heard them play their loudest airs and softly, sadly sweet;
But never was my being thrilled with rapture more complete
Than when I heard ol' Strasburg band go marching down the street.

DAILY STORY.

A PORTIA IN MINIATURE

BY JOSEPH BAUGHER.

(Copyright, 1901, William R. Miller).

In a police court within a stone's throw of a city's great thoroughfare, the judge was disposing of a few minor cases with all the leniency the law allowed, for it was the eve of a universal festival.

Beside him in holiday attire sat his daughter. He had brought her down that he might help in making her purchases. In her arms rested an exquisitely dressed doll.

The last case called was that of a small girl, charged with belonging on the streets. Through broken shoes and torn stockings, her feet shone blue and pinched with cold. Over her head, and falling below her shoulders, was pinned a faded plaid shawl. Her dress was little more than rags and on her arm hung a basket containing several boxes of matches.

The children curiously eyed each other, but the match girl's admiration was divided between the judge's daughter and the doll.

"Were you begging?" asked the judge, not unkindly.

"No, sir; only a sellin' matches," she answered, as the tears rolled down her cheeks.

"Your honor," said the officer who had made the arrest, when called, "the child has been on the streets all day, and while a few pennies may have been dropped in her basket, I don't think she has sold a match. I am quite sure she had nothing to eat today, and as it has grown very cold, I brought her here where it was warm. And, your honor," he continued, with a sly twinkle in his eye, "I had to make some kind of a charge, you know." More than a promotion to that big officer was the grateful look the judge's daughter flashed at him.

"Where is your home, my child," asked the judge.

"Ain't got none; I lives wid me uncle," replied the little waif. And the judge's daughter shuddered.

"How much money have you?" Carefully unfolding a piece of paper, she counted out four pennies.

The judge's daughter opened her purse, while her father bowed his head on his desk. After a minute or two in deep thought, he turned to his daughter and said: "I think I will let you try this case, my child."

She was on her feet in an instant, and going over to where the street girl was, trembling she said:

"You were not begging?"

"No; only trying to sell matches."

"What is your name?"

"Elsa," said the match girl.

"Oh!" said the judge's daughter, smiling, "my name's Elsa, too."

An exchange of all the presents in the city would not have established a stronger bond between them.

"Papa," said the daughter as a squad of officers filed in the room, wondering at the unprecedented proceedings. "Papa," she repeated, when quiet was restored, "Elsa was not begging, but only trying to sell her matches. The policeman must take back—"

"Withdraw the charge?" sugested the judge.

"Withdraw the charge," she repeated, and running to the officer she cried: "And you will, won't you please, good, kind Mr. Policeman?"

"Bless your pretty face! I'd empty the jail for you if I could," he replied.

"All right," laughed the young judge. Then she became quite grave, and folding her hands she looked up to the ceiling, as was her father's habit, and said:

"As Elsa was unjustly arrested, I fine this court $5 to be paid her for damages, and I recommend for promotion the policeman who brought her in where it is nice and warm."

"This court sustains the rulings of the court below," laughed the judge, "and," he added, "I shall give the matron the sum stated, to be used for Elsa's needs."

"Come and see my presents tomorrow, and there shall be something for you," said the judge's daughter, handing the waif a card, under which was concealed a piece of silver.

The wondering child sobbed out her thanks, but when her eyes fell upon the doll again, she clasped her hands in ecstacy as if she would fall down and worship it.

"As Elsa was unjustly arrested, I fine this court five dollars, to be paid her for damages."

The judge's daughter then did an odd, a very odd thing—quite absurd—but wait —. She looked intently into the eyes of the match girl, and then long and lovingly at the doll. She kissed it, pressed it to her breast, and kissed it again; then she quickly placed it in the match girl's basket, and running to her father, she threw herself in his arms, crying as if her heart would break.

The next day dawned bright and sunny and in all the great city there was no happier child than Elsa, the match girl, except, perhaps, Elsa, the judge's daughter.

SAVE THE MINNESOTA.

Winona Herald and Republican: The old United States frigate Minnesota is about to be turned over to the navy department by the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the department of docks and yards is worrying what disposition to make of the old relic, which they say is in "pretty bad shape." The frigate has been used for years by the Massachusetts naval brigade as a drillship and headquarters. At the Charleston navy yard there is little room for this ancient ship. A report came from Washington that the Minnesota was needed at Newport, but upon examining her Naval Constructor Baxter said that he doubted whether the ship would be in safe condition to be towed to Newport without extravagant expense.

This is a chance for the hustling people of Duluth. We have no doubt the government would be very glad to turn the Minnesota over to them. The old frigate could be brought up through the lakes to Duluth and utilized for naval military training. It seems a pity to allow the good old ship to be dismantled and destroyed, but a better fate can hardly be hoped for her unless the people of the state whose name she bears offer her a snug harbor.

We are not advised of the details of her long service in the navy, but if we are not mistaken she bore a part in the famous battle of Hampton Roads, when the Merrimac sent to the bottom seven of the Union navy, only to succumb the next day to the "cheese box on a raft," the little Monitor. And if the part she played that day was somewhat inglorious, it was the inevitable result of the contest between wood and iron, and we doubt not there are pages in Minnesota's history that may be read with more pride.

EXPORTS AND RETALIATION

By Calvin Tomkins of the New York Reform Club.

Three recent events in relation to the tariff are worthy of note: First, the rapid growth of the country's exports; second, the recent consolidation of great manufacturing enterprises, and in particular that of the iron trades; third, the recent adverse tariff action on the part of Russia against the United States.

Manufacturing consolidations, aided by ample capital and under the stimulus of providing a market for these enormous outputs, have very greatly accelerated the export movement of merchandise from the United States. The opportunity has plainly outgrown the original purpose of the tariff, which can no longer be defended on the ground of the protection it affords to infant industries. Many of these industries now dominate the world's markets, and the sole relation of tariff to them consists in the aid it supplies to bolster up trusts at home, while enabling competition to be more successfully pushed abroad.

Attention has recently been directed to this phase of the question by two ex-attorney generals of the United States, Messrs. Harmon and Miller; and the bill introduced by Representative Babcock, which provides for the removal of tariff restrictions protecting trusts, also indicates the growth of popular discontent at home.

The discriminating tattitude of Russia against American products is the first formal effective protest on the part of a foreign nation against the policy of this country, which, while seeking to close its own ports against foreign goods, at the same time asks equal trading privileges abroad for its productions.

We are now brought face to face with the fact that existing tariff restrictions on the trade of the country are no longer of domestic importance in the old sense, but are rapidly assuming international significance.

In addition to the home market, we are coming to have command of the world's markets. As long as England was the leading commercial nation, her international relations were of necessity more extensive and complex than those of other countries; and, now that we are assuming her place in this role, we must—not as a matter of choice, but of necessity—assume larger international obligations, with their consequent responsibilities.

How will the United States meet this great international responsibility, which its natural rseources and the enterprise of its people have brought upon it? England gave up its policy of repression and exploitation after the American revolution had exposed the fallacy of such policy. It remains to be seen whether our country will promptly change its antiquated commercial laws for those in accord with prevailing tendencies, or whether this necessary change will be effected only as the result of disstrous experience. Trade movements work out results with astounding rapidity in these days, and Washington-made law cannot be expected to successfully compete with natural law, when in opposition to it.

It is becoming more and more apparent that there is no obligation more binding between nations than that of keeping open the highways of the world's commerce. Certainly no influence can so effectively arouse the spirit of local jealousy and call into existence narrow-minded national prejudices as the policy which we have been following, of exclusion at home, coupled with exploitation abroad.

The producing capacity of the country, enormous as it is at present, must continue to expand; and, as this process goes on, foreign resentment and domestic discontent will be directed with continually increasing force against the obstructions which the existing tariff offers to interstate and international trade.

CALVIN TOMKINS.

FIXING ORE BASE

The Decision Reached Is Generally Regarded as Conservative.

Considerable Sales of Non-Bessemer Ores Are Made.

Additional Furnaces Are Getting Ready to Blow In.

Cleveland, April 11.—The Iron Trade Review this week says: At the base of the iron trade the interesting event of the week has been the establishment of $4.25 as the price for old range Bessemer ore running 63 per cent in iron and .045 in phosphorous. This is $1.25 below last year's basis. The position of the United States Steel corporation is understood to have been a neutral one and the merchant ore men believe the decision will be generally regarded as conservative. The $4.50 base had some support from merchant interests, but there were no advocates of a lower price than $4.25. Some considerable sales of non-Bessemer ores, on which there is no agreement, have been made at $2.90 to $3, or $1.10 below last year's prices. Pig iron producers could make a good profit on the new ore basis, if they were guaranteed today's prices of iron, but the ore price has about fifteen months to run, while only a minority percentage of the pig iron output for the second half of the year has been sold.

The week has seen good activity in Bessemer and forge irons in the Pittsburg district, about 30,000 of the former and 25,000 tons of the latter being sold. The present basis is $16 valley furnace for Bessemer and $14 for forge. For delivery in the first half of the year. Additional furnaces are getting ready to blow in, and there is a prospect of a record-breaking production in April and May. The conditions in the foundry iron trade have been in fair balance. There is no buying in excess of known or well-estimated requirements, as in 1899, and the outlook is for sustained prices, but with no considerable advances. The feeling on both sides favors stability and the avoidance of excitement.

There is some contracting for good-sized lots, with deliveries running through the second half of the year, but as yet this is not general. Agricultural implement concerns are considering the placing of large requirements, and one contract for 50,000 tons of bars and other finished material is being figured on in the Chicago district. Chicago reports also inquiries for 50,000 tons of rails in the past week and the indications point to the largest tonnage for 1901 in many years.

LOVE IS OBSTINATE.

Miss Hichborn Becomes Engaged to Mr. Blaine.

Washington, April 11.—Miss Martha Hichborn announced at a luncheon which she attended yesterday that her marriage to James G. Blaine, Jr., would occur on June 4, probably in this city. This announcement caused intense surprise among Miss Hichborn's friends, as the engagement between the young people has never been acknowledged.

Admiral Hichborn has decided to live in New York now that he has been placed on the retired list, and the family expect to move to that city in the late spring. Miss Hichborn has positively refused to accompany her parents, and her decision to marry at this early date is probably prompted by this circumstance.

Admiral and Mrs. Hichborn are still opposed to their daughter's marriage with Mr. Blaine, and Miss Martha's relations with her parents have been considerably strained by her refusing to give up her admirer. Last night the Hichborns entertained a large dinner party of young people, friends of their son, Phil Hichborn, but neither Miss Martha nor her fiance were among the guests.

The doctor sometimes passes a harder sentence than the judge. But the sentence of the doctor is more often set aside or overruled than is that of the judge. In the case of Mrs. Reycraft given below, the doctor sentenced her to about eighteen years of physical punishment and misery. But she rebelled against the sentence, and commenced the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In a few weeks she was a well woman.

It's a peculiarity of the cures effected by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they are generally cures of chronic diseases. A woman suffers with diseases peculiar to her sex, she takes medical treatment, gets no better, and has no hope held out to her of improvement. Then in her discouragement she turns to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and finds a prompt and lasting cure. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Four years ago my health began to fail," writes Mrs. Nellie M. Reycraft, of Glenwood, Washington Co., Oregon. "I had a very heavy dragging and weight in the region of the uterus, pain in back and loins, could not lift anything heavy, rest at night very poor; stomach deranged. One physician said I was overworked, another said I had congestion and falling of uterus. He treated me nine months and said I would not be well until I had passed the change of life. I was only twenty-seven years old then. I became discouraged, and began using Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Took a teaspoonful three times a day; began feeling better right away. Am using my third bottle now, and feel I am in good health. I believe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has restored me to health. If suffering women would give it a fair trial they would give it praise."

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, whenever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria, Hydrastin and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslee, in speaking of the new catarrh cure, says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkable satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patent medicine, and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them, as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

Hill Issues Warning Note Against Reorganization.

Nashville, Tenn., April 11.—Representative Borum, of Shelby county, author of a resolution adopted by the general assembly extending an invitation to David B. Hill, of New York, to address that body, has received a reply. After extending thanks for the invitation, Mr. Hill says previously made arrangements prevents its acceptance. He warns the Tennessee people that there is much unnecessary discussion about the "reorganization" of the Democratic party, and that it is safest to adhere to the old-fashioned principles of democracy.

HIS HEAD CUT OPEN

Trial of an Iowa Woman For Her Husband's Murder.

Ax, Covered With Blood, Found Under the Granary.

Through Long Trial Defendant Has Shown Great Fortitude.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 11.—The most intense interest has hung over the closing hours of the Hossack murder trial at Indianola. In Warren county the public has been deeply stirred by the horrible tragedy and the dramatic nature of the developments. Great crowds have thronged the court room and thousands have been turned away from the doors. In Mrs. Margaret Hossack, the accused, a Scotch woman of over 60 years, stern, strong-minded and stoical, there has been sufficient mystery to whet the public appetite for the solution of what seems a strange and incomprehensible crime.

Strong as are the circumstantial facts that tend to show Mrs. Hossack the perpetrator of the murder, there is little or nothing to connect her with it directly. John Hossack, her husband, a well-to-do and respected farmer, was found in bed the morning of Dec. 24, with his head cut open with an ax. Mrs. Hossack's story of the tragedy was that along toward morning she was awakened by hearing a noise and that she got up from the bed she and her husband occupied and went into the sitting room. While there she saw a gleam of light on the wall and heard the front door close. She called to her daughters upstairs, but they told her to go back to bed and that nothing was the matter. Going back to the sleeping room, Mrs. Hossack heard her husband choking and breathing heavily. Then according to her story, she went again to the sitting room and to the stairs and called to the girls that their father was hurt. William, one of the boys, came down, followed by the girls, and going into the bedroom they found the murdered man lying in the bed. He was able to talk a few words when William attempted to adjust his pillow the old man replied he had not been hurt but was sick.

Hossack lived but a short time after he was found by the family. According to Mrs Hossack he was struck while she was in bed with him and while both were asleep. The ax, covered with blood and gray hairs, was found under the granary the morning of the murder. An under garment belonging to Mrs. Hossack was found with blood spots upon it. In the course of the trial the testimony showed the husband and wife had not lived happily, that they had often quarreled, that a year before they had nearly separated, that they had been married under peculiar circumstances, having been wedded in the fall of 1868, while their first child was born in August of that year, and that prior to the murder Mrs. Hossack had said it would be a blessing if her husband was removed.

The prosecution, by the aid of expert testimony, endeavored to show that Hossack, wounded as he was, could not have spoken for fully half an hour after the blow was struck. From this it was argued, Mrs. Hossack struck the fatal blow, and did not alarm the family for many minutes, waiting until she had carried the ax to the granary and until the fear that her husband by his talk would arouse the family before she herself gave the alarm. But one of the state's own experts testified that if Hossack spoke at all it was in a few minutes, thus tending to confirm Mrs. Hossack's story and making an important point for the defense.

According to the testimony, the family dog had been drugged, and this also conflicted with Mrs. Hossack's story that she heard the animal barking in the night. Strong evidence against the accused was introduced late in the trial by County Attorney Clammer. Mrs. Hossack had testified she was in bed, asleep and covered up, when the blow was struck. Calling attention to the fact there were no blood stains on the outer covers, the county attorney showed the stains on the sheet beneath, and asked how those came there if Mrs. Hossack was in bed and covered up when the blow was struck. This was one of the strongest points presented against the accused in the entire trial and its effect on the jury was perceptible.

The ablest attorneys in the county have been engaged in the trial. Ex-State Senator William Berry and John M. Henderson for the defense have been assisted by W. F. Powell. H. McNeal, one of the most eloquent attorneys in that part of the state, has assisted County Attorney Clammer in the prosecution. Through all the long trial Mrs. Hossack has shown remarkable fortitude. When others were nervous and excited she was cold, severe and composed. But few times in the long week has she shown more than a weak interest in any emotion. Public feeling has run strong against her, but in her favor has been her age and the fact that other members of the family did not live peacefully with Mr. Hossack. One of the sons had trouble with the father for years and there was at one time a violent family quarrel when he was ordered from home. This son was at home when the murder was committed.

LIKE A WRECK.

Mastodon's Skeleton Attracted a Party of Gold Seekers.

Fast aground for two days three miles off the shore of the St. Lawrence Islands, last July, the passengers of the Cape Nome steamer Robert Dollar anxiously scanned the horizon in quest of assistance. They saw no sign of man or man's handiwork but what looked through the glasses like a vessel stranded on the beach, with two bare spars stuck up. Some of the passengers were curious to see the wreck. They launched a boat and went ashore to find that the stranded vessel was the partial skeleton of a mastodon. The picture reproduced here was taken by Samuel Kean, manager of the Kean Alaska Manufacturing Company. He was aboard the Dollar. Indeed, but for him the grounded steamer would have been a hopeless wreck, and its crew and passengers had to play Robinson Crusoe on a desert island. The Dollar left Seattle for Cape Nome on July 9. For two days in the Bering sea she wandered in an impenetrable fog. At 10 o'clock on the night of July 24 the fog began to lift. It was still daylight in that Arctic latitude. Kean was on deck, and through the lifting fog he saw a mountain shoot. He raised an alarm, and the steamer was put hard about just as she grazed a rocky shore. But they only escaped the rocks to plunge into a sand bank which extended from a mountainous headland into the sea, and there the steamer lay imbedded for some forty hours.

In that region fierce storms suddenly arise. The next day it was thought best to make provision against complete wreckage by such a storm, and two tons of coal were conveyed in a boat to the island. While Kean and a few others were at this work, some of the passengers set off to take a look at what they thought was the stranded vessel, which lay not far away from where the coal was landed. Two doctors were in this party, and they immediately identified the remains as those of a mastodon. It was more like a bit of fire-swept forest than a stranded vessel. What had been taken for spars were bones which stood about fifteen feet high and nearly as thick as a man's body. They looked more like decaying tree trunks than ship spars, and against them had fallen other bones of nearly equal length. Mr. Kean, who took the picture of the skeleton, cannot tell what part of the animal the bones should be assigned to, excepting what were plainly a rib, about eight feet long, and hip bones, each half as long as a full-grown man. Some exploration was made of the island. In the course of this exploration against the side of a high mountain was found a rude hut built of driftwood gathered on the shore, for the land was utterly bare of trees. In the hut, with feet toward the embers of a long-cold fire, were found five human skeletons—four men and a boy. Evidently these unfortunates had been shipwrecked, and no help coming, had perished miserably of cold and hunger.

"Two of the skulls," said Mr. Kean, "were raised on sticks and carried in triumph by the discoverers to the shore. It was rather grewsome, the more so as the men who carried them did not know but that they might suffer the same fate."

Mr. Kean took several other pictures on the island, one of which, a view of the grounded vessel, is here reproduced. After four unsuccessful efforts to float the Dollar, she was at last pulled off the sand bar, and proceeded on her way to Nome.

Two of the men aboard were J. R. Young and Daniel Lampman, of Seattle. After the arrival at Nome, no gold in sight, they organized a party to go back for the mastodon bones, intending to bring them to Seattle and sell them to a college museum. They went ashore for the bones, taking a half day's provisions. They had hardly landed, before a wild southwestern tempest broke upon them. The sailing vessel was swept away, and for three days Lampman and Young lay on the island in exposure and hunger and in fear of death like that which overtook the unfortunate party whose skeletons were found in the hut. But this vessel found its way back. The bone seekers, however, were glad to get away with their lives, and they left the mastodon to rest in the peace which had not been broken for 10,000 years. In the tempest which swooped down on Cape Nome last September and wiped a large part of the mining settlement off the earth, one heap of coal containing 3000 tons was completely washed away. Of the 3000 tons not enough to make a fire was left.

A copy of the picture taken of the bones was given by Mr. Kean to Jesse Y. Burk, secretary of the university of Pennsylvania, who pronounced the bones to be undoubtedly those of a mastodon.

A STUDY OF DE WET

Regarded as Combination of Garibaldi, Wellington and Lincoln.

No Military Training Except That In the Present War.

But He Has Been Able to Astound the Tacticians.

Pretoria, March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Garibaldi, perhaps, is the only man to whom Christian De Wet is comparable in our modern serio-comic international melodrama. The man of the hour for South Africa, he has proved himself hero and statesman in one. He has been the Wellington of President Kruger. Outside of that there is a simple loyalty of thought and purpose expressed in his acting similar to that which was shown in the simple life and devotion of President Lincoln.

We who have known him have a thorough appreciation of the man. To look at Christian De Wet one would not think that he was anything out of the common run of humanity. Had events shaped themselves differently, he might have made a new page in history.

There is no doubt that his strategic work will be regarded as one of the masterpieces of military tactics.

Reports may get a little twisted over the cables concerning the character of his maneuverings. It may be alleged that he has punished men to the full extent of military law, not omitting the exacting of the full penalty. Left in supreme command, he is entitled to adopt that position. No international tribunal would adjudge him guilty of having exceeded his authority. Britain would not dare do so. Such action would be piquayune.

Has there been cause for asserting that De Wet acted unfairly in carrying out his purposes? Has he made a treacherous use of the white flag? Has he allowed his men to fire on ambulances loaded with the victims of his sharp-shooters? Has he taken unfair advantage of his foe in any way whatever that would not be classified as a justifiable act under the ordinary rules of war?

These are the questions to be answered that will undoubtedly be threshed out despite the pro-British sympathy of the press. We who know Christian De Wet do not believe that an inconsiderate act could be done by him. The unselfishness and humanity of the man is an absolute denial to such propositions.

One instance is enough to prove this. Three scouts belonging to a yeomanry regiment were captured by him. They had been captured before, and were liable to have met a short shrift at the hands of certain captors.

When they were brought before Gen. De Wet they were expecting that the end of their enemy's patience had been reached. The calm impassive eyes of their judge gave no sign of what he was contemplating. Finally he said: "My boys; will you take from me a message to your general?"

To men who imagined that they had reached the end of their rope this question created such a revulsion of feeling that they were speechless.

"I simply want to give you a letter for him which I shall trust to your honor to deliver," said the general.

He retired for a brief time and returned with an official document from the rear of his tent, where his private secretary was located.

The captives with surprise accepted their discharge under the conditions, and were soon on their way back to Gen. Rundle's camp.

Their immediate idea was that the Boer general had entrusted them with peace negotiations and had been only too glad of the opportunity to open them up in this way.

Upon reaching the presence of Gen. Rundle they were welcomed warmly. The general tore open the letter and read:

"Dear Gen. Rundle: This is the fourth time I have captured these raging devils of yours. Please chain them up. They annoy me. DE WET."

From the beginning of his career as a soldier De Wet has been the same man always. He received no military training beyond what he got in the present war and from the skilled soldiers of various nations that flocked to his service.

But with his command of the geographical situation of South Africa he was able to astound tacticians.

A dead shot with his own rifle, he has never quailed at any question. He has handled the troops he had with such facility that he has astonished the military experts of the world.

His personal stand so enthused the people of the Transvaal and all sympathizers with the Dutch movement that he has established a very decided hond of opinion throughout South Africa.

Uniting all the possibilities of the world in this direction, Christian De Wet stands out as a man who has seized the helm and has made the most and the best of his opportunities.

GEORGE STEVENS.

FROM PIRATE QUEEN.

Why Assemblyman O'Malley Is Hard to Beat.

There is a member of this assembly this year who boasts that he is a descendant of a queen, and, what may seem still more remarkable, of a private queen, says the New York Tribunal. The assemblyman is Edward R. O'Malley, of Erie county, and those who have heard him tell of his royal ancestor call him "Prince O'Malley," or, what is more frequently heard, "the prince."

The was never told better than by ex-Senator Ford the other evening in the parlor of the Tub. Mr. Ford is a relative of the Erie assemblyman, and he was sitting in that hostelry famous in Albany for the politicians and newspaper men who lodge there, and which is called the Tub, more because there are Turkish baths to be had there than because its proprietor is in any way a Diogenes. The ex-senator, as he spoke, addressed his remarks to ex-Assemblyman Oliver, better known as "Jimmy Oliver, of Paradise Park."

"Well," began Mr. Ford, "it is with pride that I can say that Ed here is the descendant of a queen. Her name was Queen Mell, and she ruled over a small island not far from the shores of the Emerald Isle. Her immediate subjects were pirates, and so loyal were they to her sceptre, and such good fighters were they, that she swept up and down the English channel, conquering and capturing every kind of craft that she encountered.

"It was in the time of Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh. Queen Elizabeth heard from one source and another of this wonderful pirate queen, and sent a fleet out to capture her and bring her to London in chains. But Queen Mell was too resourceful. When she heard that the fleet was coming, she held her brigands in hiding until the hostile ships had arrived and had moored near the island.

"Then at night she sent a merchantman that she had captured into the fleet with the crew instructed to act like the sailors of a peaceful trade ship. Well, the captain of the crew conferred with the admiral of the fleet, told him that the merchantman had almost been captured by the pirate queen, and offered to pilot the fleet where it could capture Queen Mell. The consequences were that the captain ran the whole fleet onto the rocks, admiral and all.

"For years after that Queen Mell was undisputed mistress of her island and the seas around. When Ireland quieted down, as it did occasionally, she would land some of her bands on its shores for a plundering tour, taking back to her own little island sheep and oxen enough for a hundred barbecues. Well the story got rather stale in the London evening papers, and finally Queen Elizabeth, finding that she was not the equal of her rival in war, sought to gain her favor by peaceful means. Accordingly she went to Ireland and set up her court on the shore opposite the island of Queen Mell. Then she sent envoys to the pirate monarch, offering her a part of the firm, green surface of Ireland if she would only settle down and behave herself."

"A most remarkable compromise for Queen Elizabeth,' remarked the ex-assemblyman.

"It was the only thing she could do," was the answer. "And the strangest part of it is that Queen Mell came ashore and took luncheon with the English sovereign. After luncheon it was agreed that Queen Mell should lay down her arms and burn her ships and make her home in Ireland, with a great strip of land for her estate. It appears, too, that the two queens took a great fancy to each other."

"I can understand that," remarked the ex-assemblyman again. "I guess they found much in each other that was congenial."

"And, what is more," said the ex-senator, "her descendant here has lost none of her fighting blood. The only way you can beat O'Malley is to make peace with him."

It will be sent by express paid on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or can be bought at all responsible Druggists. Book, "Motherhood," mailed free, containing sensible advice to expectant mothers.

With every undertaking; all goes wrong in business; irritable at home; no head to manage; an object of ridicule in society; a burden to self all thro' life. This explains the condition of some people. It's true they cannot get ahead—hampered all the time, the brain does not work properly, and instead of being bright, vivacious and intelligent, they grow more and more stupid, inactive and retrogressive. Why? Because the nervous system has been sapped and is drying up, and the brain is not getting its nourishment and has grown dormant.

But it can be re-vitalized, fed and nourished by the use of

A SHARP ADVANCE

Market Started Weak But Quickly Started Upward.

Government Report Not as Bearish as Many Looked For.

Light Northwest Receipts and an Improved Cash Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 11.—The wheat market opened weak this morning, but quickly took on strength and continued its upward course most of the morning with recessions now and then. The close was a little off from the high point. The government report showed a high condition of wheat, but yet was not quite as bullish as a large portion of the trade expected. A condition of .94 or .95 had been expected by many. The possibility of Hessian fly damage was seized upon by the bullish faction and was worked strongly. Chicago reported St. Louis and the Southwest buying considerably as though impressed with the Hessian fly reports. Missouri and Kansas were reported as sending reports of damage from bugs. The export and cash demand for wheat were good. The Price Current had this to say: "Favorable condition of wheat maintained. Government report of condition applied to area gives present promise 440,000,000 if conditions are maintained to harvest, against 375,000,000 bus last year on April 1; 375,000,000 May 1, and 230,000,000 bus at harvest. Rains in the West retarding field work and marketing of grain."

Liverpool opened ¼d lower and closed ½d lower. Primary receipts of wheat were 418,406 bus; last year, 407,000. Shipments, 448,604; last year, 232,207 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour were, 782,000 bus. At the seaboard yesterday exporters bought 34,000 bus of wheat; at Buffalo, 1,060,000 bus of low grade was closed c. i. f. to exporters.

Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis, 210 cars, against 269 last week and 282 cars last year. Chicago receipts, 35 cars, none of contract grade.

Trading in futures was active on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ¼c off at 71¼c, sold up to 72⅝c at 9:58, reacted to 72¼c at 10:05, recovered to 72⅝@¾c at 10:33, declined to 72½c at 10:42, bulged to 72⅞c at 11:31, reacted to 72½c at 1 and closed at 72⅝c, an advance of ⅜c. Chicago advanced 1c and Minneapolis ¾c. September sold in Duluth today at 72c and closed at 71¾c.

Corn was unchanged in price. Primary receipts were 253,051 bus; last year, 171,600 bus. Shipments, 114,000 bus; last year, 500,687 bus. Clearances of corn were 94,400 bus. Exporters bought 160,000 bus at the seaboard yesterday. George H. Phillips had this to say in Chicago yesterday, respecting the situation in corn:

"The elevator people got together last night and lowered their bids on corn 1¾c per bus west of the river. This was despite the fact that they had been unable to get any acceptances on the old bids during the last ten days. The idea was to weaken the farmer in his holdings. They probably would not get any corn at an advance of 1¾c per bus, let alone a decline of that amount. Every effort is being made to have the foreigner believe that the price here is being put up. This has kept him from coming here and paying the price for it just as the domestic buyer has been compelled to do. The result is that foreign and afloat stocks are run down and the foreigner is hard up against the time when he will have to come after certain corn. The bids sent out on corn west of the river averaged around 38¾c, as against an average of 40½c the preceding night. Those sending out the highest bids did not get a car load of corn, and there appears to have been no reason for the reduction of the bids."

Flax was strong today, closing 2½c up. Oats were off ½c and other coarse grains were unchanged.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73⅜c; to arrive, 74½c; May, 74⅝c. No. 1 northern, cash, 71⅝c; to arrive, 72½c; May, 72⅝c. July, 73½c. No. 2 northern, 69½@69¾c. No. 3 spring, 67⅜@67¾c. Oats, 27@28¼c. Rye, 50½c. Flax, cash, $1.61; to arrive, $1.61½. Corn 40½c; May, 41c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 15; oats, 17; flax, 1. Receipts—Wheat, 35,467; corn, 761; rye, 7342. Shipments—Wheat, 1002; barley, 1124.

WEARE'S REPORT.

Chicago, April 11.—The wheat market developed a surprise to the trade generally this morning not showing the effect of the government report, the crowd suddenly showing a spirit to buy wheat, which resulted in a very wild and erratic opening and instead of weakness, a very general covering by shorts and some investment buying has been the feature. Reports of cash demand have helped the market and also damage talk. Clearances were very large 791,000 bus. Local sales 100,000 bus with 30 loads at New York. Northwest reports a good export inquiry. The market closed ⅞c higher than yesterday and at one time showed an advance of 1⅜c. The steady decline experienced has apparently discounted the brilliant crop prospects and in the bear enthusiasm some bull features have been lost sight of. We think on breaks wheat is a good purchase, accepting profits, however, until the situation becomes more definite.

Trading in corn has not been large, mostly changing over into July. September is attracting more attention and trade is increasing in this option, selling today at about July price. Phillips is credited with selling a good deal but has bought deferred months against it. Market is without particular feature.

The oat market shows more buoyancy now that the heavy long interests are credited with being off the market. There has been a good deal of changing from May to July, cash is improving. Local sales today 250,000 bus. Mixed grades 1½c over the May. The seaboard cleared 90,000 bus, making 532,000 in four days.

Provisions—There have been generally light offerings of hogs which has improved the entire provision list. Shorts are nervous and covered. Trade, however, is mostly professional and does not show much breadth. Shipments of cut meats are liberal. Hogs West, 59,000, last year 71,000.

Milwaukee Story Concerning Frederick Hartley.

The following from the Milwaukee Wisconsin will be read with much interest by the friends of Frederick Hartley, formerly of Duluth and now on the stage:

"Miss Edith Evelyn, the leading lady of the Academy Stock company, doesn't seem to be breaking her heart over the report which comes from the East that Frederick Hartley, formerly of the stock company, has been married to Miss Anne Sutherland, who is now playing the role of Lady St. Azuline in "The Prince of Peace" at New York.

"Miss Evelyn admits that there was an engagement existing between herself and Mr. Hartley, but for only a short time, and she referred in displeased terms to the precipitate manner in which Hartley took out the license last fall for their marriage, the proceeding being, it is understood, quite without Miss Evelyn's consent. Her mother also strongly opposed the match, and Miss Evelyn declares that she hasn't written to Mr. Hartley for ever so long, and that the engagement was off before Hartley left the city last fall."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Activity In Wheat Followed the Crop Report.

Chicago, April 11.—A high wheat condition noted by the government crop report yesterday was followed today by marked activity in the market. Lower cables caused liberal selling at the start. May opening ⅛@¼c higher to ⅜@½c lower at 70⅝c to 69¾c. Heavy commission house buying and covering by big local shorts absorbed all covering and rallied May to 71⅛@¼c. Light Northwest receipts, reports of a greatly improved cash demand and the bullish possibilities of Hessian fly mentioned in the government report were factors in the reaction. Local receipts were 35 cars, none of contract grade, while Minneapolis and Duluth reported 210 cars against 269 last week and 282 a year ago.

Corn was only moderately active. May opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 43⅝@¾c and rallied to 43⅞@44c on extremely light country offerings and in sympathy with wheat. Receipts were 129 cars, 27 of contract grade.

Oats were quiet but steady in sympathy with other grains, May opened unchanged at 28¾c and advanced to 29c. Receipts were 165 cars.

Provisions opened irregular, but advanced on a scarcity of offerings due to higher hog prices. May pork opened unchanged at $13.37½ and sold to $13.45; May lard 5@7½c lower at $8.12½, advanced early to $8.22½, while May ribs, having opened 5s higher at $8.20, sold to $8.17½.

WEARE'S REPORT.

Chicago, April 11.—The wheat market developed a surprise to the trade generally this morning not showing the effect of the government report, the crowd suddenly showing a spirit to buy wheat, which resulted in a very wild and erratic opening and instead of weakness, a very general covering by shorts and some investment buying has been the feature. Reports of cash demand have helped the market and also damage talk. Clearances were very large 791,000 bus. Local sales 100,000 bus with 30 loads at New York. Northwest reports a good export inquiry. The market closed ⅞c higher than yesterday and at one time showed an advance of 1⅜c. The steady decline experienced has apparently discounted the brilliant crop prospects and in the bear enthusiasm some bull features have been lost sight of. We think on breaks wheat is a good purchase, accepting profits, however, until the situation becomes more definite.

Trading in corn has not been large, mostly changing over into July. September is attracting more attention and trade is increasing in this option, selling today at about July price. Phillips is credited with selling a good deal but has bought deferred months against it. Market is without particular feature.

The oat market shows more buoyancy now that the heavy long interests are credited with being off the market. There has been a good deal of changing from May to July, cash is improving. Local sales today 250,000 bus. Mixed grades 1½c over the May. The seaboard cleared 90,000 bus, making 532,000 in four days.

Provisions—There have been generally light offerings of hogs which has improved the entire provision list. Shorts are nervous and covered. Trade, however, is mostly professional and does not show much breadth. Shipments of cut meats are liberal. Hogs West, 59,000, last year 71,000.

FEVERISH TRADING

Declines and Advances In Stocks Were Not Uniform.

Sugar Manipulation Had Little Influence on Other Stocks.

Closing Was Rather Dull and Weak at the Lowest.

New York, April 11.—The market opened active and strong with United States Steel stocks, the Southern railroads and Amalgamated Copper showing notable strength. United States Steel, preferred, was run up 1¼ on heavy dealings, and Amalgamated Copper advanced 1¼ on running sales at the opening of 12,000 shares. There were large blocks taken of Wabash, preferred, Texas & Pacific and Kansas & Texas, preferred, at an advance of about a point each. Northern Pacific opened up ⅜ on the purchase of 1500 shares, and Burlington up½ on the purchase of 40000 shares, but both stocks ran off about a fraction on secondary sales. Consolidated Gas rose 2½ and there were gains approaching a point in other stocks.

Trading during the first hour presented the same "spotty" appearance as in yesterday. The declines and advances were not uniform, and wide fluctuations were frequent among the more active stocks. In some cases the opening advances were wiped out and important stocks such as Northern Pacific, Burlington, Atchison, Lackawanna, Tennessee Coal, New York Central and the smelting stocks were from a fraction to 2 points below yesterday's close. Coincident with these points of depression material progress was being made upward by Sugar, Tobacco, Consolidated Gas 5%, Northwest had sold off ¾ to 199, but when it was rushed up to 212 it pulled Burlington above 192 and carried St. Paul and Rock Island 1⅝ to ¾ above last night. The speculation was very feverish at 11 o'clock and top figures were not well held, re

VESSEL POOL.

Independent Owners to Have Strong Organization For Business.

Cleveland, April 11.—At the meeting held yesterday to perfect a pool of independent vessel owners, nearly all the leading vesselmen from all ports were represented. The plans showed that the organization will probably be effected within a week. J. C. Gilchrist presided. M. A. Bradley, Robert Rhodes, John Mitchell, J. C. Gilchrist, of Cleveland; Edward L. Smith, of Buffalo, and C. W. Elphicke, of Chicago, were appointed a committee to complete plans. The organization will be known as the Association of Vessel Owners. Fifteen directors were elected whose names will be given out later. An executive committee will be elected whose headquarters will be in Cleveland. A general manager, who will practically have entire supervision of the fleet, will be appointed. He will allot tonnage, do the chartering, fix time for starting vessels and see to other matters incident to the carrying of lake tonnage. Carrying charges on ore will be fixed, but will not be announced at present. It is said, however, that they do not differ greatly from present charges. Officers will be elected at next week's meeting.

AT CASS LAKE.

The Variety Theater Is Running Once More.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Lessard's Crystal Bay theater, which was closed on Monday night by Marshal Burns, is running again, a compromise having been effected whereby Mr. Lessard pays into the village treasury $20 per week, he in return receiving a license allowing him to run his show. Considerable feeling was engendered before the agreement was reached in the matter.

Joe Farr, of Phillip, Wis., an inspector, who has been here in the employ of the government checking up green timber purported to have been cut here by loggers who had "dead and down" contracts, had an experience Sunday that he will not soon forget. In company with a certain young lady who is stopping here he went out for a ride. In some manner the team got beyond his control and dashed into the green timber, spilling the occupants of the rig to the ground and damaging the rig considerably. Fortunately Farr and his companion were able to reach Cass Lake, and beyond a bad scare are none the worse for their experience.

MELBA IS JEALOUS.

Objects to De Reszke Receiving Floral Tributes.

Boston, Mass., April 11.—Mme. Melba stamped her fashionable mannish shoes back of the scenes at the Boston theater last night and declared that she was the only star in that aggregation of opera singers. Melba was jealous, they say, of Edouard de Reszke, who had a ton or so of flowers sent to him by admiring friends. De Reszke wanted to have the flowers bunched to him over the footlights at the close of part one of the third act, but Melba objected. Incidental to his operatic work Monday night De Reszke was celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his stage debut, and it had been the purpose of his friends to make some public recognition of the circumstance.

But Melba would not have it. She got after De Reszke like this: "I will not allow it. I will not go on the stage with a man and see him receive flowers when there are none for me. If you wish to accept the flowers over the footlights you must go alone, for I certainly shall not accompany you."

In the meantime the audience was applauding, and at the same time Mme. Melba was protesting. "There is no other star here above me, and I will not submit to the indignity."

And she had her way. Mr. De Reszke shrugged his shoulders after the manner of the French, and said: "Very well; have the flowers sent round to the stage."

FIELD GUNS.

An Important Test to Be Made at Proving Grounds.

Washington, April 11.—Preparations are making for quite an extensive and important test of field guns at Sandy Hook some time in May. At present the army is not well supplied with field guns, compared with other nations, and the war department wishes to obtain the very best guns possible for the equipment of this important branch of the service. The tests at Sandy Hook will be under the direction of the board of ordnance and fortifications composed of Lieut. Gen. Miles, commanding the army; Gen. Wilson, chief of engineers; Gen. Buffington, chief of ordnance; Col. Rodgers, artillery corps; Col. Randolph, chief of artillery; ex-Representative Henderson, the civilian member of the board, and two artillery officers yet to be assigned to the board.

The board not only will test such guns as may be presented by manufacturers and inventors, but it is expected that the new gun modelled on the plan of the French field gun and constructed under the direction of the board of ordnance and fortifications will be tested. The plans for the guns were obtained by an army officer who was sent abroad last summer and who claimed to have secured complete details of this gun, which artillery experts have asserted is the best in the world. The mechanism of this gun has been concealed and its secret carefully guarded by the French government.

The report that the United States army had obtained the plans of the French gun caused considerable comment at the time it was made public, and since then the proceedure of the department with reference to the gun have been watched with interest by ordnance experts. The French government has not not guarded more carefully the mechanism of its gun than the board of ordnance has the making of the new field gun which is expected to be tested in May.

NEW ENGINE INVENTED.

Mechanic Claims to Have Discovered Novel Principle.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 11.—An invention has been made by L. Kessler, a mechanic of this city, which, if the claims of its author are realized, is destined to revolutionize the manufactures of steam engines. The principle has not been applied to an engine of any large power as yet, but the inventor holds that it will be successful, no matter to what style of an engine it is applied. The new engine works on the vacuum principle, and uses the same water over and over again. It has no steam chest, or, rather, both the steam chest and boiler are combined in one. There being no exhaust, the same water is used as many times as desired, being converted into steam and condensed, then reconverted into steam and recondensed, and so on ad infinitum.

AFTER MINES.

Negotiations For the Purchase of Republic Property.

Cleveland, April 11.—A local paper says: Negotiations are pending for the sale of the Republic Iron mines property, either to the United States Steel corporation, or to the proposed foundry consolidation, both of which are bidders for it.

The management of the mining company is said to ask $3,000,000 for the mines. How near to this price the prospective buyers have offered is not known, but current rumors fix $2,500,000 as the price, which it is thought will be obtained.

BRADLEY TESTIFIES

Sensational Evidence In Trial of Ripley In Goebel Case.

Former Governor Brings Out New Points In Famous Murder.

Ripley Was In Command of Taylor's Troops at Capitol.

Frankfort, Ky., April 11.—Former Governor William O. Bradley, who was chief counsel for W. S. Taylor in the gubernatorial contest case before the legislature last year, gave sensational testimony yesterday morning in the trial of Capt. Garnett Ripley, who is charged with conspiracy, with others, to bring about the murder of William Goebel. Mr. Bradley detailed a conversation which he said he had had with Capt. Ripley while the latter was in charge of his military company during the occupancy of the state capitol by the Taylor troops last spring, in which Ripley told him of frequent conferences with Governor Taylor prior to the assassination. The witness said that Ripley told him he was in the executive office the day before the shooting and complained to Taylor because he had not called out his (Ripley's) company, and asked him when he should have the company ready. Taylor replied: "My God, haven't you brought them yet? Goebel will not live twenty-four hours, or cannot live twenty-four hours, I forget which," declared the witness.

W. J. Post, associate counsel with Bradley in the contest case, according to the witness, was present and heard the conversation.

In response to a question as to whether he (witness) heard of any conspiracy to kill Mr. Goebel, the witness stated that on Jan. 25, the day the train load of mountaineers arrived, someone, he could not recall who, told him that part of the crowd were waiting in front of the court house to kill Goebel.

"I said," continued the witness, "it shall be stopped. I will go into the senate chamber and come out with Goebel, and see that he is not hurt or insulted.

"I looked up and saw Wharton Golden and told him to get Finley, Culton and others and send them to me.

"I said: 'Goebel is not going to be hurt.' Culton and Finley told me it was a fake and that there was nothing in it. They condemned violence as I did."

"Why did you send for Culton, Finley and the other men?"

"Because I thought they knew the mountain men."

The witness was turned over to the defense.

The defense asked witness if he knew anything of any connection of Ripley with these occurrences. Governor Bradley said Ripley had none, so far as he knew.

He was asked if Ripley's company had not been disbanded at this time. Witness said he thought it was disbanded about that time.

W. P. Thorne was next called. Asked whether he had any conversation with Ripley prior to the day Goebel had been shot, he answered that he had had a few words in the depot at Eminence, Jan. 29, in the morning about 9 o'clock. Witness said:

"Ripley came in as I was about to take the train and asked me if my son Will was still in Frankfort. He told me, upon my replying in the affirmative, to send for him to return home. 'Take my advice and send for him,' said Ripley. Will did not come."

"Did Ripley say when you should send?"

"He said send right away," said the witness.

Witness stated that upon the next day, when he tried to telephone to Frankfort, someone was calling Eminence, and that the person at the Frankfort end of the telephone said that he was Gen. Collier and that he wanted Ripley. Witness did not know that Ripley went to Frankfort upon the day before or the day of the shooting, but does not think that he did.

A. Y. Hite, agent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, was introduced for the purpose of proving that a consignment of guns was shipped to Ripley at Eminence, and waybills showing the consignment were produced, but were ruled out on objection from the defense.

Adjt. Gen. Murphy testified as to the organization of Ripley's military company, and the defense undertook to show that it had been illegally formed under an order of Governor Taylor a short time before the assassination, but this was also ruled out.

Preceding these witnesses, Drs. Wells, Ely and Hunt testified as to wounds that caused Goebel's death, and Col. Eph Lillard, who, with Jack Chinn, accompanied Governor Goebel when he was assassinated, told over again the story of the shooting, but added nothing that had not been told on former trials.

CONFERENCE

Called Between Officials and Employes of the Jersey Central.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 11.—The feeling is strong here now that the grievances of the employes of the Central Railroad of New Jersey will be amicably adjusted, and that the grievance committee of the men now working on this division were summoned late last night to a conference with Vice President Warren, of the company in New York. The committee left here early this morning. It consists of G. E. Peck, of the engineers; E. L. Reilly, of the firemen; Fuller Tucker, of the conductors; H. F. Ryner, of the trainmen, and John Nellinger, of the telegraphers. The members of the committee believe that Mr. Warren has decided to settle the difficulties by meeting the committee in conference.

All the employes of the Central are still at work, but the Brotherhood men are only waiting the signal to strike. The firemen, who have the greatest number of grievances voted almost solidly for strike. It is said that no action will be taken now until after Chief Arthur is given a chance to examine closely the vote of the engineers. It is yet possible that Mr. Arthur may advise against a strike. Some of the Central engineers think he may find a way out.

Death of German Captain Somewhat Mysterious.

Berlin, April 11.—A dispatch from Pekin says Capt. Bartsch, of the Second Infantry (German), was found deal in the neighborhood of Pekin yesterday. An inquiry has been opened and the information so far obtained tends to show that the officer met with an accident. On the other hand, a dispatch from Pekin to the Lokal Anzeiger says Capt. Bartsch was shot while riding near the summer palace and that his horse disappeared.

FOR CHILDREN

Nothing, that comes in a bottle, is more important for children than Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

And "important" means that it keeps them in even health. Whenever they show the least disturbance of even balance of health, it promptly restores them.

It is to be used as a food, whenever their usual food does not quite answer the purpose of food.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

HE MADE BAD BILLS

Expert Counterfeiter In Hands of the New York Police.

Made Desperate Attempt at Suicide to Avoid Arrest.

Police Make a Big Raid and Capture Coin Plant.

New York, April 11.—It came to light yesterday that a man supposed to be Albert Jensen, who attempted to commit suicide by twice shooting himself in the head while being pursued by a crowd in West street is not Jensen at all and is wanted by the government authorities in this country and Sweden. He is really John Albert Skoog, a Swede, 30 years of age, born in Stockholm, and the son of prominent and wealthy parents. He early began a criminal career and is pronounced by officials of the secret service one of the most expert counterfeiters alive. In March of 1897 he escaped from the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., while serving a sentence there for making and passing counterfeit $20-bills and Chief Hazen, of the secret service department, has a bench warrant for Skoog's arrest, which had been issued from the United States court for the northern district of Illinois.

Skoog is wanted in Sweden for making and passing a large number of counterfeit 100-kroner notes, such as are issued by the Bank of Sweden. This work was done early in 1898, Skoog having gone to Sweden at once after his escape from Joliet.

Skoog was identified at the Hudson street hospital today by Chief Hazen. Yesterday the man attempted to pass counterfeit 50-kroner notes on the Bank of Copenhagen, a banking house on Lower Broadway. The notes, although dated 1897, were crisp and new. They were apparently good, however, and were accepted, Skoog being paid American money in exchange. A few moments after Skoog left another man entered and presented some similar notes. This looked suspicious and Skoog was recalled. He appeared nervous and started to walk away. "Stay here, or I'll call a policeman," an official of the banking house said to him. At the mention of the word policeman, Skoog turned and fled down Broadway. Two policemen and a crowd. Policeman Brady caught up with him in West street. Skoog in the meantime had drawn a pistol and as Brady caught up with him he turned the revolver on himself, sending two bullets through his head. He was taken to the hospital. Should he recover, as is thought likely, it is the intention to return him to Joliet.

One of the biggest raids in the history of the secret service was made last night by Chief Hazen as the result of the arrest of Skoog. Chief Hazen, after talking with Skoog and after reading a paper which he found in Skoog's pocket, went to a building in Grand avenue, Brooklyn, and arrested Emilio Moest, a Swede. One of the most complete counterfeiting plants ever found was discovered in the house. The long-sought plates for the 50-kroner notes of the Bank of Sweden and the 100-kroner notes of the Bank of Copenhagen were among those found. They were buried away with other plates for the making of £20 notes of the Bank of Scotland, which the secret service officials have been trying to run down.

STRANDS OF STEEL

Stretched For the New Bridge Across East River.

They Are the First Link In the Giant Structure.

Each Cable Two And a Half Inches In Diameter.

New York, April 11.—Three strands of steel have been stretched between Brooklyn and Manhattan. Under the waters of East river they made the first link in the giant structure soon to bind the two boroughs together at another point. These are the preliminary cables for the new East river bridge.

Reeling off from massive bobbins, constructed on a 100-foot float, towed by three tugs, the cables were stretched between Delancey street, Manhattan, and South street, Brooklyn. The tug captains got the cables across in just twelve minutes. Slack tide had been named as the hour for starting, so that the float, which had to be towed across broadside, could be taken in a straight line from tower to tower, but delay in getting the tugs ready made it necessary for the captains to tack upstream for fifty yards. This wasted a lot of wire and came very near exhausting the supply on the bobbin.

Warning was given by William Hildebrand, chief engineer of the Roebling Construction company, in time to save 300 yards of wire on the spools after the float was anchored on the Brooklyn shore—a sufficient length to enable the engineers to draw it over the Brooklyn tower, 332 feet high, and connect with the 65-horse power engines which will draw these wires taut.

At noon today the wires were attached to the engines. Traffic will be held up on the river while the wires are being stretched. One cable will have to be pulled in place at a time. Each cable measures two and a half inches in diameter. On them the foot bridge will be built. This foot bridge will not be completed until late in July, when the construction of the permanent cables will commence. These wires will be drawn across in midair one at a time, and will be twisted into the strands by an army of workmen on the bridge.

Mayor Van Wyck has been named by the bridge commission as the first person to cross the foot bridge. It will be a hazardous trip, but Lewis Nixon, who is a naval graduate and accustomed to dizzy heights, will accompany him. On the tugs pulling the float across were Col. Washington Roebling and Charles Roebling, whose father built the Brooklyn bridge.

DWARF WITHOUT HOPE.

Freak In Charge of Poor Relief Department.

New York, April 11.—Superintendent George Blair, of the outdoor relief department, has in charge a poor little human freak whose appearance has aroused great interest in his history. Charles Williams, 16 years old, three feet four inches tall, with the frame of a boy of 7 and the face of a man of 60, was sent to the department from the Jefferson market court because he was too old to be with the children's society and too helpless mentally and physically to be allowed at large. This boy, with a parchment skin and the blase air of a man weary of the world, proved such a puzzle to the department that further examination will be made in the endeavor to discover what freak of nature marked him so.

Young Williams can talk apparently only in gutturals. His eyes watch intently all about him and he is neither sullen nor idiotic. Two or three sentences at a time comprise his vocabulary and he evidently fails to comprehend all but the simplest words. The skin of his face resembdes that of a mummy, but his actions are those of an agile wild animal. He has no concern for the future and he showed no emotion when he said he didn't know where he was going or why he was being sent away.
